(d) Bonding. Radio equipment should be bonded to the airplane in order to provide a low resistance ground circuit and to minimize radio interference from static electrical charges. Nonconducting finishes, such as paint and anodizing films should be carefully removed from the attachment surface under the bonding terminal. Bonding jumpers should be as short as practicable and be installed in such manner that the resistance of each connection does not exceed 0.003 ohm. Where a jumper is for radio-noise prevention only and not for current carrying purposes, a resistance of 0.01 ohm is satisfactory. Aluminum alloy or tinned or cadmium plated copper jumpers[3] should be used for bonding aluminum alloy parts and copper, brass or bronze jumpers should be used to bond steel parts.

(e) Available power supply. To preclude overloading the electric power system of the airplane when additional equipment is added, an electrical load analysis should be made to determine whether the available power is adequate. Radio equipment should operate satisfactorily throughout the voltage range of the aircraft electrical system under taxi, takeoff, slow cruise, normal cruise, and landing operating conditions. If night and instrument flight is contemplated, the electrical load analysis should be computed for the above flight regimes under the most adverse temperature conditions with night and instrument flight.

(f) Elimination of engine ignition noise. (1) The most effective method of minimizing engine ignition interference is to shield the ignition system. This involves enclosing in metal all parts of the circuits which might radiate noise. Ignition wires having a metallic-braid covering and special end connectors should be used between the magneto and spark plugs. The primary leads to the magneto and the magneto switch itself should be shielded. Shielded type spark plugs and a shielded metal cover for the magneto, if it is not of a shielded type, should be provided. All connections in the shielding system should be tight metal to metal contact.

(2) If it is not feasible to shield the engine ignition system, the engine ignition noise may be suppressed by replacing the spark plugs with resistor spark plugs of a type approved for the engine.

(3) If it is found that despite shielding of the ignition wiring and plugs an intolerable noise level is present in the radio system, it may be necessary to provide a filter between the magneto and magneto switch to attenuate the noise. This may consist of a single bypass capacitor or a combination of capacitors and choke coils. When this is done, the shielding between the filter and magneto switch can usually be eliminated and the special shielded magneto switch need not be used.

Supporting brackets and wiring details for magneto filters should be in conformance with standard aircraft electrical practice. The reliability of the magneto filter installation should be at least equivalent to that of the remainder of the magneto ground lead installation.

(g) Antennas, general.[4] It is satisfactory to use one antenna for transmission and reception of communications provided such antenna is a satisfactory compromise for the frequencies to be used. In a single antenna installation of this type, the antenna should be connected to the receiver and be switched automatically to the transmitter when the microphone "push-to-talk" switch is actuated.

(1) Fixed and trailing wire antenna installations should be tailored to fit the particular type of aircraft. Other types of antennas are much more compact and may be installed as complete units on various types of aircraft.

(2) Masts used to support a fixed-wire antenna should be as long as practicable to separate the antenna from the fuselage and/or wings in order to provide an effective antenna. Masts should be firmly attached to the airplane structure. If an antenna is attached at the trailing edge of wings and leading edge of horizontal stabilizers, the attachment should be made to lugs firmly fixed to the structure. The lugs should be welded, riveted, clamped, or bolted, whichever method is most suitable to the structure.

(h) Range receiver antennas (200 to 400 kc). A "T", "L", or "V" type antenna should be used and mounted on the top or bottom of the airplane (see Figure 1) with an approximate clearance of one foot from the fuselage and wings. The main leg of the "T" or "L" and each leg of the "V" antenna should be a minimum of 6 feet long.[5] A whip antenna may also be used for range reception. However, since the signal output fed from such an antenna generally is less than that obtained from the other types of antennas mentioned above, a careful check should be made of the completed installation to insure that satisfactory operation will be obtained.

(i) Direction finding antennas (100 to 1750 kc). Manual or automatic loop type antennas are used with direction finder receivers. The loops are designed for use with a particular receiver. Connecting wires between the loops and receivers are also designed for the specific equipment. Accordingly, only components meeting the specification characteristics of the receiver manufacturer should be used.

(1) Loops enclosed in streamlined housings or exposed loops are satisfactory for external mounting on an airplane. Loops may also be installed internally in the airplane when proper attention is given to avoiding interfernece from metallic structure and skin of the airplane.

(2) The outstanding characteristic of a loop antenna is its directional sensitivity which makes it useful as an accurate navigational device. Various things can reduce this accuracy and should be avoided. Metallic base paints should not be used on the housing. Location of the loop near an engine which has poor ignition shielding should be avoided since this location makes it difficult to detect the "null." Loops should be mounted as far as practical from antennas and interfering metal structures. The preferred locations are on the fore-and-aft center line of the aircraft either above or below the fuselage. In determining the location, consider the space necessary both inside and outside of the fuselage, structural requirements, length of cables, location of the radio compass unit, and effect on operation and maintenance of the aircraft. Also choose the mounting location to provide a balanced quadrantal error. Quadrantal error is that installation error caused by the metal in the fuselage, wings, etc., distorting the electromagnetic field of a received signal and resulting in azimuth reading inaccuracies which are greatest between the four cardinal points with respect to the center line of the aircraft. When making an installation on the lower part of the fuselage, do not fasten the loop to a primary structural member since, in the event of a landing with landing gear retracted, the aircraft may be severely damaged. Mount the loop so that it will be level during normal flight.

(3) Following installation of the loop, it will be necessary to check the direction of the radio bearings every 45 degrees from the fore-and-aft axis of the aircraft (preferably every 15 degrees) in order to determine and compensate[6] for the deviations caused by distortion of the radio field pattern due to the wing, engine nacelle, antennas, and other parts of the aircraft. If the loop is of the type which includes compensating means, it is important that no compensation be present in the loop at the time this calibration is made. If the loop has no provision for adjustment of quadrantal error, the calibration data should be used for the preparation of a correction card to be mounted in the cockpit near the indicator to provide the pilot with corrected bearing information.

(i) The calibration may be made on the ground for installations in which the loop is on top of the aircraft, but the accuracy of the calibration should be checked in the air. However, for installations in which the loop is beneath the fuselage, the use of the flight method is necessary if accuracy is to be obtained.

(ii) Select a medium or high powered radio station between 25 and 100 miles distant from the locality at which the test is to be conducted. The radio station selected should not be on a congested channel or on a channel where high powered adjacent channel signals can, by slight mistuning, cause bearing errors. The station should normally provide good bearings with little or no fluctuation of the indicator pointer.

(iii) Select a day when the wind is less than eight miles per hour in order to avoid excessive drift angles and when the air is smooth to avoid errors in reading the bearing angles. Do not make the calibrations within two hours of sunrise or sunset or when wide fluctuations of bearings are noted.

(iv) Select a landmark or series of landmarks such as a road, railroad tracks, section lines, etc., which will provide a direct line toward the radio station. Since power lines or railroads on or adjacent to the landmarks can distort the radio path, make a check to determine whether or not distortion is present. This can be done by crossing the reference line at various angles while maintaining fixed courses by means of the directional gyro. If the bearing changes rapidly as the line is approaching, distortion is present and should be eliminated by flying at a higher altitude, or by selecting a new reference landmark.

(v) With the aircraft in level flight, fly directly towards the station along the reference line at an altitude low enough to avoid parallax error. When passing over some predetermined point or intersecting line to the reference, record simultaneously the indicator bearing and the directional gyro reading.

(vi) Repeat the above procedure until sufficient readings have been taken at all required bearings. Since the radio compass deviation changes to some extent with frequency, take calibration data at several frequencies to ensure greater accuracy in use.

(vii) Calibration data obtained for a particular type of airplane is usable without modification for all aircraft of that type if the location of the loop and other antennas is the same. Since all aircraft of the same type may not have the same radio installations, an accurate diagram with antenna dimensions and exact loop location will add to the usefulness of the recorded data.

(j) HF transmitting antenna—fixed. (1) Two basic types of fixed antennas are used. One of these, the Hertz type, is tuned to its resonant frequency or a higher harmonically related frequency by being designed to a specific length. The lowest frequency at which this type antenna will be resonant is its fundamental frequency. At this frequency the antenna is approximately one-half wave length. This length may be determined by the formula: ½ wave length (in feet) $= \frac{300{,}000{,}000 \times 3.28}{2 \times f}$ in which 300,000,000 is the velocity of the propagation of radio waves in meters per second; 3.28 is the conversion factor from meters to feet; f is the frequency in cycles per second.

(2) The other basic type of antenna is the Marconi. This type is readily adaptable for use on different frequencies and has one end grounded through the transmitter to the metallic aircraft structure. Thus, the aircraft acts as a part of the antenna and it is possible to use only one-quarter wave length in the antenna proper. This length may be computed by the formula: ¼ wave length (in feet) $= \frac{300{,}000{,}000 \times 3.28}{4 \times f}$. An antenna of this type shorter than ¼ wave length may be tuned to resonance with the transmitter frequency by connecting an induction or load coil having appropriate characteristics in series with the antenna. A continuously variable coil or a stepped variable coil may be used for transmission on several different frequencies on one antenna.

(k) VHF transmitting antenna—"Whip" and streamlined blade. (See Figure 2.) (1) The "whip" antenna is resonant through a narrow frequency band and may be used with equipment operating in the 118 to 136 mc band. The proper length in inches should be determined from the formula

$$\frac{11{,}218}{4 \times f\ (\text{mc})}.$$

(For 125 mc the length (¼ wave length) of the antenna would be approximately 22.5 inches.)

(2) When it is necessary to cover a broader frequency range than can be covered by the "whip" antenna, a blade type should be used, because it is resonant over a much broader frequency range. However, a broadband antenna is not as efficient as a small diameter "whip" antenna and, accordingly, should not be used with relatively low output transmitters (under 5 watts).

(3) Antennas of both these types should be located so that there is a minimum of structure between them and the ground radio stations. Thus, the location will usually be a compromise. The antennas may be mounted on the top or bottom of the fuselage or on the cowl forward of the cockpit.

(4) On fabric covered aircraft, or aircraft with other types of nonmetallic skin, the manufacturer's recommendations should be followed in order to provide the necessary ground plane. An acceptable method of accomplishing this is by providing a number of metal foil strips in a radial position from the antenna base and secured under the fabric or wood skin of the aircraft as shown in Figure 3.

(l) VHF navigation receiving antennas. Antennas for omnirange (VOR), and instrument landing system (ILS) localizer receivers should be located at a position on the airplane where they will have the greatest sensitivity for the desired signals and minimum response to undesired signals such as VHF energy radiated by the engine ignition system. The best location for the VOR-localizer receiving antenna on most small airplanes is over the forward part of the cabin. (See Figure 4.) The rigid "V" type antenna should be mounted so that the apex of the V points forward and the plane of the V is level in normal flight. A list of satisfactory antenna installations on some popular small airplanes, giving distance in inches aft of the windshield follows:

Piper	7	Swift	11
Ercoupe	26	Bellanca	4
Stinson	13	Luscombe	34
Cessna	10	Beech Bonanza	35

(m) Marker receiving antenna. The marker receiver operates at a frequency of 75 mc. In order to keep to a minimum the number of antennas on an airplane, the marker receiver may utilize the same antenna as the range receiver. However, both receivers should include provisions to permit simultaneous operation without interference. A "whip" or other vertical type of antenna should not be used for marker reception since the ground facility transmits from a horizontally polarized antenna.

(n) Glide slope receiving antenna. The glide slope receiver of the instrument landing system (ILS) utilizes a small, simple, dipole type antenna which should be mounted at right angles to the longitudinal axis of the airplane and near the forward part of the airplane. Several types of localizer and glide slope antennas are shown in Figure 5.

(o) Distance measuring antennas. Antennas for Vortac distance measuring elements or civil DME should be mounted at an unobstructed location on the underside of the fuselage near the trailing edge of the wing, preferably at the lowest point on the aircraft when in level flight. (See Figure 6.) During flight, the antenna should be as nearly vertical as possible. It should be mounted as far as possible from other antennas and at least 36 inches away from other obstructions. If separate antennas are used for transmission and reception, the antennas should be mounted on a line perpendicular to the longitudinal axis of the aircraft with a minimum spacing of two feet between antennas. Since transmission line losses are relatively high at these frequencies, the antenna connecting cables should be kept as short as possible (10 feet maximum unless special low loss cable is used).

This supplement shall become effective February 20, 1957.

Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

[3] When aluminum or its alloys are in contact with most metals (exceptions are magnesium and zinc), current will flow from the aluminum to the other metals. The result will be that the aluminum will corrode. In order to minimize such corrosion, metals other than magnesium and zinc when in contact with aluminum should be cadmium plated. Where contact between dissimilar metals cannot be avoided, care should be taken to minimize corrosion by putting a protective coating on the finished connection.

[4] Since all radio communication and navigation equipment necessitates the use of antennas for transmission or reception of radio frequency energy, care should be exercised in the design and installation of antennas and their coupling to the radio equipment. Consideration should be given to the fact that a transmitting antenna is a tuned circuit and that its ability to radiate radio frequency energy into space is governed primarily by the relationship between its length and the frequency of the power to be radiated. In general, the higher the frequency to be transmitted, the shorter the antenna necessary. Receiver antenna design and installation is controlled primarily by the degree of directivity necessary for the particular communication or navigation equipment.

[5] Excessively long antennas are unsatisfactory because they are more directive in reception than relatively short ones. A trailing wire type of antenna will not prove suitable when used with a range receiver because it is highly directive; may cause a loss of distinct "cone of silence"; and changes in the airplane direction which may occur often in range flying cause the antenna to "whip," resulting in breakage and loss of reception. The whipping action may also cause the course signals to shift continuously.

[6] Compensation of a loop for such error requires technical knowledge of the equipment and its operational use and should be accomplished by a qualified technician.

Sec.

725.805 Basis and purpose.
725.806 Findings and determinations with respect to the national marketing quota for fire-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957.
725.807 Findings and determinations with respect to the national marketing quota for dark air-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957.
725.808 Findings and determinations with respect to the national marketing quota for Virginia sun-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957.

AUTHORITY: §§ 725.805 to 725.808 issued under sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66, 7 U. S. C. 1375. Interpret or apply secs. 301, 312, 313, 52 Stat. 38, as amended, 46, as amended, 47, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1301, 1312, 1313.

§ 725.805 Basis and purpose. (a) Sections 725.805 to 725.808 are issued (1) to announce the reserve supply level and the total supply of fire-cured tobacco, dark air-cured tobacco, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco, respectively, for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1956; (2) to establish and proclaim the amounts of the national marketing quotas for fire-cured tobacco and dark air-cured tobacco, and to announce the amount of the quota for Virginia sun-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957; and (3) to apportion such national marketing quotas for the 1957–58 marketing year among the several States. The findings and determinations contained in §§ 725.806 to 725.808 have been made on the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government, and after due consideration of the data, views, and recommendations received from fire-cured, dark air-cured, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco producers and others, as provided in a notice (21 F. R. 7493) given in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003).

(b) Since fire-cured, dark air-cured, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco growers are making plans for their 1957 farming operations and will soon be preparing plant beds and purchasing fertilizer and other materials, it is hereby found that compliance with the 30-day effective date provision of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Therefore, the proclamation, announcement, and apportionment of the national marketing quotas for fire-cured, dark air-cured and Virginia sun-cured tobacco for the 1957–58 marketing year contained herein shall become effective upon the date of filing with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

§ 725.806 Findings and determinations with respect to the amount of the national marketing quota for fire-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957 [1]—(a) Reserve supply level. The reserve supply level for fire-cured tobacco is 175,600,000 pounds calculated as provided in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, from a normal year's domestic consumption of 38,000,000 pounds and a normal year's exports of 38,000,000 pounds.

(b) Total supply. The total supply of fire-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1956, is 204,800,000 pounds consisting of carryover of 137,700,000 pounds and estimated 1956 production of 67,100,000 pounds.

(c) Carryover. The estimated carryover of fire-cured tobacco at the beginning of the marketing year for such tobacco beginning October 1, 1957, is 128,900,000 pounds calculated by subtracting the estimated disappearance for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1956, of 75,900,000 pounds from the total supply of such tobacco.

(d) National marketing quota. The amount of fire-cured tobacco which will make available during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957, a supply of fire-cured tobacco equal to the reserve supply level of such tobacco is 46,700,000 pounds and a national marketing quota of such amount is hereby proclaimed. It is determined, however, that a national marketing quota in the amount of 46,700,000 pounds would result in undue restriction of marketings during the 1957–58 marketing year and such amount is hereby increased by 20 percent. Therefore, the amount of the national marketing quota for fire-cured tobacco in terms of the total quantity of such tobacco which may be marketed during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957 is 56,000,000 pounds.

(e) Apportionment of the quota. The national marketing quota proclaimed in paragraph (d) of this section is hereby apportioned among the several States pursuant to section 313 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and converted into State acreage allotments in accordance with section 313 (g) of the act as follows:

State:	Acreage allotment
Illinois	1
Kentucky	17,081
Tennessee	19,227
Virginia	8,747
Reserve [1]	113

[1] Acreage reserved for establishing allotments for new farms.

§ 725.807 Findings and determinations with respect to the amount of the national marketing quota for dark air-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957 [1]—(a) Reserve supply level. The reserve supply level for dark air-cured tobacco is 92,400,000 pounds calculated as provided in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, from a normal year's domestic consumption of 26,000,000 pounds and a normal year's exports of 10,000,000 pounds.

(b) Total supply. The total supply of dark air-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1956, is 109,200,000 pounds consisting of carryover of 80,800,000 pounds and estimated 1956 production of 28,400,000 pounds.

(c) Carryover. The estimated carryover of dark air-cured tobacco at the beginning of the marketing year for such tobacco beginning October 1, 1957, is 72,900,000 pounds calculated by subtracting the estimated disappearance for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1956, of 36,300,000 pounds from the total total supply of such tobacco.

(d) National marketing quota. The amount of dark air-cured tobacco which will make available during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957, a supply of dark air-cured tobacco equal to the reserve supply level of such tobacco is 19,500,000 pounds and a national marketing quota of such amount is hereby proclaimed. It is determined, however, that a national marketing quota in the amount of 19,500,000 pounds would result in undue restriction of marketings during the 1957–58 marketing year and such amount is hereby increased by 20 percent. Therefore, the amount of the national marketing quota for dark air-cured tobacco in terms of the total quantity of such tobacco which may be marketed during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957 is 23,400,000 pounds.

(e) Apportionment of the quota. The national marketing quota is hereby apportioned among the several States pursuant to section 313 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and converted into State acreage allotments in accordance with section 313 (g) of the act as follows:

State:	Acreage allotment
Kentucky	14,979
Tennessee	2,528
Indiana	52

[1] Acreage reserved for establishing allotments for new farms.

§ 725.808 Findings and determinations with respect to the national marketing quota for Virginia sun-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957 [2]—(a) Reserve supply level. The reserve supply level for Virginia sun-cured tobacco is 9,413,000 pounds calculated as provided in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, from a normal year's domestic consumption of 2,900,000 pounds and a normal year's exports of 600,000 pounds.

(b) Total supply. The total supply of Virginia sun-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1956, is 8,237,000 pounds consisting of a carryover of 4,589,000 pounds and estimated 1956 production of 3,648,000 pounds.

(c) Carryover. The estimated carryover of Virginia sun-cured tobacco at the beginning of the marketing year for such tobacco beginning October 1, 1957, is 5,186,000 pounds calculated by subtracting the estimated disappearance for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1956, of 3,051,000 pounds from the total supply of such tobacco.

(d) National marketing quota. The amount of Virginia sun-cured tobacco which will make available during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957, a supply of Virginia sun-cured tobacco equal to the reserve supply level of such tobacco is 4,227,000 pounds and a national marketing quota of such amount is hereby announced. It is determined, however, that a national marketing quota in the amount of 4,227,000 pounds would result in undue restriction of marketings for the 1957–58 marketing year and such amount is increased by 20 percent. Therefore, the amount of the national marketing quota for Virginia sun-cured tobacco in terms of the total quantity of such tobacco which may be marketed during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1957 is 5,072,000 pounds.

(e) Apportionment of the quota. Since Virginia sun-cured tobacco is grown only in the State of Virginia, the quota is apportioned only to that State under section 313 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended. The national marketing quota, less 13,000 pounds reserved for establishing allotments for new farms, becomes the State marketing quota for Virginia. The State marketing quota is hereby converted in accordance with section 313 (g) of the act into a State acreage allotment of 5,376 acres. Likewise, the reserve of 13,000 pounds for establishing allotments for new farms is hereby converted into 14 acres.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of January 1957. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

In the Matter of Sidney Ringler Fur Co., Inc., a Corporation; and Sidney Ringler, Samuel Ringler, and Morris Hudes, Individually and as Officers of Said Corporation

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging a corporate furrier and its officers in New York City with misbranding and false invoicing in violation of the Fur Products Labeling Act through failing to disclose on labels that certain fur products were dyed and otherwise failing to label fur products as required, and through invoicing which did not conform to requirements of the Act or which showed artificially colored fur in certain products as natural.

PART 13—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

SCHLOSSMANS, INC., ET AL.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: Sec. 13.30 Composition of goods; § 13.155 Prices: Bait; exaggerated as regular and customary.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Schlossmans, Inc., et al., New York City, N. Y., Docket 6576, Jan. 5, 1957]

In the Matter of Schlossmans, Inc., a Corporation, and Emanuel Schlossman, Sol Irwin, Louis Samet, and Dorothy Pregashin, Individually and as Officers of Schlossmans, Inc.

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging a corporate operator of department stores in New York City and its officers with representing falsely in bait advertising in newspapers that they were making bona fide offers to sell certain furniture and upholstery at greatly reduced prices, and with misrepresenting in such advertising the customary retail prices of certain furniture and the foam rubber and hair content of upholstery.

Following entry of an agreement between the parties containing a consent order, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist which became on January 5 the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Schlossmans Inc., a corporation, and its officers, and Emanuel Schlossman, Sol Irwin, Louis Samet and Dorothy Pregoshen, as individuals, and as officers of said corporate respondent, and respondents' agents representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of furniture, household furnishings, slip covers, mattresses, reupholstering, or any other articles of merchandise, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or indirectly:

1. That the aforesaid merchandise is offered for sale when such offer is not a bona fide offer to sell the merchandise so offered.

2. That respondents' regular retail selling price is any amount in excess of that at which said merchandise has been sold by respondents in the recent regular course of their business.

3. That slip covers are composed of or contain foam rubber when such is not the fact.

4. That mattresses are upholstered with hair when in fact they do not contain hair, or contain a higher proportion of hair than is the fact.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: January 4, 1957.

CRAFTSMAN INSURANCE CO.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 13.260 Terms and conditions: Insurance coverage.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Craftsman Insurance Company, Boston, Mass., Docket 6394, Jan. 14, 1957]

The Commission's complaint in this case charged an insurance company engaged in Boston, Mass., in selling accident and health insurance policies, with making misleading representations in advertising over radio and television, in newspapers, circulars, etc., concerning the duration of their policies, the medical examination or health requirements at the time of issuance of policies, the number of accidents and illnesses covered, the coverage for totally disabling accidents, and the amounts paid for hospital and surgical bills.

Following hearings in due course, during which respondent's motions to dismiss were denied, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist. The Commission, upon review, after modifying it in certain respects, on January 14, adopted the initial decision as modified as the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent, Craftsman Insurance Company, a corporation, and its officers, agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of any accident, health, hospital or surgical insurance policy, including any and all riders attached to and made a part of any such policy, do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or by implication:

1. That any such policy may be continued in effect by the insured upon payment of stipulated premiums, indefinitely or for any stated time, unless full disclosure of any other provision or condition of termination contained in the policy is made conspicuously, prominently, and in sufficiently close conjunction with the representation as will fully relieve it of all capacity to deceive.

2. That no medical examination is required, unless the respondent actually insures the policyholder without regard to his physical condition before or after issuance of the policy; or otherwise representing that the condition of the insured's health at the time of issuance of the policy will not be considered by the respondent in determining its liability thereunder, or that the respondent will not, as a claims practice, require proof of good health of the insured at the time of issuance of the policy.

3. That any such policy provides for indemnification against losses due to sickness or accident, unless a statement of all the conditions, exceptions, restrictions and limitations affecting the indemnification actually provided is set forth conspicuously, prominently, and in sufficiently close conjunction with the representation as will fully relieve it of all capacity to deceive.

4. That any such policy provides for payment in full or in any specified amount or for payment up to any specified amount for any medical, surgical or hospital service, unless the policy provides that the actual cost to the insured for that service will be paid in all cases up to the amount represented, or unless full disclosure of the schedule of payments for which the policy provides is made conspicuously, prominently, and in sufficiently close conjunction with said representation as will fully relieve it of all capacity to deceive.

5. That any such policy provides for the payment of certain benefits in addition to other benefits when such is not the fact.

It is further ordered, That the complaint be, and the same hereby is, dismissed as to the following allegations of Paragraph Three thereof: "Respondent has sold a substantial number of its said policies to insureds now residing in states other than those in which respondent has been duly licensed, as aforesaid, and respondent mails to such insureds or policyholders notices and receipts relating to the payment of renewal premiums and receives and accepts from such insureds or policyholders premiums mailed to it renewing the coverage purchased for the period of time covered by the premium submitted."

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is further ordered, That respondent, Craftsman Insurance Company, shall within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist contained in the initial decision as modified.

Issued: January 14, 1957.

ARCADE AND ATTICA RAILROAD CORP.

DIVERSION OR REROUTING OF TRAFFIC

In the opinion of Charles W. Taylor, Agent, the Arcade and Attica Railroad Corporation, because of flood conditions, is unable to transport traffic routed over its line.

It is ordered, That:

(a) Rerouting traffic. The Arcade and Attica Railroad Corporation, and its connections, are hereby authorized to divert or reroute such traffic over any available route to expedite the movement, regardless of routing shown on the waybill. The billing covering all such cars rerouted shall carry a reference to this order as authority for the rerouting.

(b) Concurrence of receiving roads to be obtained. The railroad desiring to divert or reroute traffic under this order shall confer with the proper transportation officer of the railroad or railroads to which such traffic is to be diverted or rerouted, and shall receive the concurrence of such other railroads before the rerouting or diversion is ordered.

(c) Notification to shippers. The carriers rerouting cars in accordance with this order shall notify each shipper at the time each car is rerouted or diverted and shall furnish to such shipper the new routing provided under this order.

(d) Inasmuch as the diversion or rerouting of traffic by said Agent is deemed to be due to carrier's disability, the rates applicable to traffic diverted or rerouted by said Agent shall be the rates which were applicable at the time of shipments on the shipments as originally routed.

(e) In executing the directions of the Commission and of such Agent provided for in this order, the common carriers involved shall proceed even though no contracts, agreements, or arrangements now exist between them with reference to the divisions of the rates of transportation applicable to said traffic; divisions shall be, during the time this order remains in force, those voluntarily agreed upon by and between said carriers; or upon failure of the carriers to so agree, said divisions shall be those hereafter fixed by the Commission in accordance with pertinent authority conferred upon it by the Interstate Commerce Act.

(f) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 5:00 p. m., January 23, 1957.

(g) Expiration date. This order shall expire at 11:59 p. m., February 14, 1957; unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended or annulled.

It is further ordered, That this order shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of all railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement and by filing it with the Director, Division of the FEDERAL REGISTER.

shares granted by the Director in accordance with paragraph (n) of this section; and to provide acreage to State Committees for establishing farm proportionate shares for producers whose sugar beet production in a local producing area in the period 1950–56 has been seriously and generally affected by drought, storm, flood, freeze, disease, insects, or similar abnormal and uncontrollable conditions in one State and who undertake in another State to continue sugar beet production and apply to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee of such other State on or before February 15, 1957, for a farm proportionate share. With respect to allocation of acreage from the reserve under the last condition provided above in this subparagraph, the State Committee shall compute a farm proportionate share for such producers in accordance with paragraph (i) of this section on the basis of the sugar beet production record of the land formerly operated by such producer or the personal production record of the operator or combination thereof as transmitted by the State Committee in the State where such operator formerly conducted sugar beet production operations. Each State Committee shall forward to the Director not later than March 1, 1957, a listing of the acreage of the farm shares computed as provided in this subparagraph, for approval and allocation from the reserve to the State Committee for the establishment of farm proportionate shares as approved by the Director.

(b) Instructions and forms. The Director shall cause to be prepared for issuance to Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committees such forms and internal management instructions as are necessary for carrying out the regulations of this section. Such instructions shall be approved and issued by the Deputy Administrator for Production Adjustment, Commodity Stabilization Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture (referred to in this section as "Deputy Administrator").

(c) Proportionate shares. The proportionate share of the 1957 crop of sugar beets for a farm shall be the acres established for the farm pursuant to this section within the allocation provided under paragraph (a) of this section for the State in which the base of operations for the farm is located, subject to any increase in acreage granted by the Director in accordance with paragraph (n) of this section.

(d) Administration of proportionate share program. In each State the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee (hereinafter referred to as "State Committee") shall establish individual farm proportionate shares in accordance with the provisions of this section. In carrying out the proportionate share program within the State, the State Committee may utilize the services of members of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committees and may cooperate with advisory committees consisting of sugar beet growers, representatives of sugar beet grower associations, representatives of sugar beet processors or combinations of these groups. The State Committee shall formulate the standards and procedures in written form for establishing proportionate shares within the State in accordance with the provisions of this section. Such standards and procedures shall be reviewed by the Director for conformity with the provisions of this section and to assure reasonable uniformity between adjoining areas in adjacent States, shall be subject to the approval of the Director, and shall be available for public inspection in State and county offices. The basic standards and procedures for each State shall become effective when published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(e) Requests for proportionate shares. Any operator (the producer who controls and directs the operations on the farm) or owner (or his representative) of a farm for the 1957-crop season desiring a proportionate share, shall file a written request therefor. A form for this purpose may be obtained from local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county offices, from fieldmen of sugar companies, or from such other source as the State Committee may designate. The State Committee shall publicize directions for filing such requests. To assure consideration in the initial distribution of acreage pursuant to paragraph (i) or (j) of this section, a request shall be filed on or before the date set forth below for the State: Provided, That a request may be accepted after such date for consideration with respect to available acreage, if the State Committee determines that the farm operator or owner was prevented from filing before such date because of absence, illness or other reason beyond his control, and provided, further, that requests may be accepted generally by the State Committee after such date if the total acreage covered by bona fide requests filed by such date by old producers (the operators of the farms for which bases are established pursuant to paragraph (i) of this section) is less than the acreage available for distribution to old producers, or if acreage is available within the area allotment, as established pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section:

Washington	Dec. 14, 1956
Wyoming	Feb. 1, 1957

(f) Waiver of requirements. If the requested and planted acreages in any State are less than the acreage available for distribution in such State, the requirements of paragraphs (g), (h), (i), (j), and (n) of this section shall not apply and the proportionate shares for individual farms in such State shall be established within the State allocation so as to coincide with the acreages of 1957-crop sugar beets planted on each farm.

(g) Set-aside acreage for new producers, appeals, and adjustments. Not less than two percent of the State acreage allocation shall be set aside for establishing proportionate shares for farms operated by new producers and not less than one percent shall be set aside for adjustments under appeals. Any acreage required to supplement the acreage available from initial proportionate shares in excess of requested acreages in making adjustments in initial proportionate shares pursuant to paragraph (i) (4) of this section may also be set aside.

(h) Subdivision of State acreage allocation. Before establishing individual farm proportionate shares, the State Committee may subdivide the State acreage allocation into allotments for areas within the State, such as an area served by a beet sugar company, a county, or a group of counties. In making any such subdivision, appropriate weightings, approved by the Director, shall be given to the past production of sugar beets and the ability to produce sugar beets. "Past production" shall be measured by the average planted acreage of the area for not less than three crop years during the period 1950 through 1954, except that if the State Committee determines that the inclusion of one or both of the 1955 and 1956 crop years would provide a more representative period, one or both of such crop years may be included upon prior approval of the Director. "Ability" shall be measured by the area's largest planted acreage during any of the crop years used to measure "past production" or by a combination of planted acreages for any such years. If the State acreage allocation is not subdivided, proportionate shares will be established directly from such allocation and the State shall be deemed to be one allotment area. Subject to the provisions of paragraph (k) of this section, unused acreage in any area may be reallotted by the State Committee among other areas within the State.

(i) Establishment of individual proportionate shares for old-producer farms—(1) General. In establishing proportionate shares for individual farms from area allotments, the State Committee shall consider the factors of past production of sugar beets and ability to produce sugar beets. These factors shall be measured as hereinafter provided in this paragraph by reference to the planted sugar beet acreage record of the farm, the "1956-crop share established for the farm", or if the farm operator is a tenant in an area where sugar beet production is organized around tenant-operators rather than around units of land, they may be measured by reference to the personal planted sugar beet acre-

(2) Acreage within the reserve of 2,500 acres may be allocated by the Director of the Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture (hereinafter referred to as "Director") to States not listed in this paragraph for the purpose of establishing proportionate shares for farms having sugar beet production records in the crop period 1950–54 or for new producers (as defined in paragraph (j) of this section) in such States; if necessary, to provide acreage for increases in proportionate age record of the farm operator within the State or allotment area, as specified in procedure formulated by the State Committee, or they may be measured by a combination of such farm and personal records. However, in an area where such personal records are utilized, the farm base for each farm whose operator is not a tenant or is a tenant with no such personal record shall be established solely from the farm record in the period of crop years used in measuring past production. In case of death or incapacity of a tenant, his personal sugar beet production record shall be credited to the administrator or executor of his estate or to a member of his family, if in the year of such death or incapacity, or in the following year, such administrator, executor, or family member continues as a tenant the customary sugar beet operations of the deceased or incapacitated tenant. As used in this paragraph, the term "1956-crop share established for the farm" shall mean either the 1956-crop share established for the farm, including adjustments made under appeals but excluding any downward adjustment made because the 1956-crop acreage planted on the farm was less than the share originally established for the farm and any upward adjustment made because the 1956-crop shares of other farms were not fully planted, or the initial 1956-crop share which would have been established pursuant to § 850.30, as amended, if it had been requested by the farm operator, except as a 1956-crop new producer.

(2) Farm bases. To give effect to the factors of past production and ability to produce, 1957-crop farm bases shall be established for all farms in the allotment area by one of two methods, as follows:

(i) The farm base for each farm will equal the 1956-crop share established for the farm, but if the operator of the farm is a tenant in an area where personal records of tenants will be utilized, as heretofore provided, it will equal the "1956-crop share established for the farm" operated by him for the 1956-crop year. The State Committee may provide under procedures formulated by it that a farm base will not be established as otherwise provided in this subdivision for a farm on which sugar beets were not planted during a specified period comprising at least the crops of 1954 through 1956 and if such a farm is in an area where personal production records are utilized and it is operated by a tenant, such tenant had no personal production record during such a period.

(ii) The farm base for each farm will be determined by applying a formula which gives consideration to the planted sugar beet record of the farm during not less than three crop years in the period 1950 through 1956, or in an area where personal records will be utilized as heretofore provided, to the personal sugar beet planted acreage record of the farm operator or a combination of such farm and personal records during the same selected years: Provided, That if such bases are determined solely from farm records, the farm base for a farm on which sugar beets were planted in either the 1955 or 1956 crop year under a new producer share shall not be less than the "1956-crop share established for the farm", and if such bases are determined by utilizing personal records, the farm base for a farm operated by a tenant who planted sugar beets in either the 1955 or 1956 crop year as a new producer within the State or allotment area, as specified in the procedure formulated by the State Committee, shall not be less than the "1956-crop share established for the farm" operated by him for the 1956 crop year.

(3) Initial shares. In any allotment area in which the total of farm bases is smaller than the area allotment less the set-asides of acreage made pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section, initial farm proportionate shares shall be established as follows: For farms for which the respective requested acreages are equal to or less than their farm bases, the initial shares shall coincide with the requested acreages; and for all other farms, initial shares shall be computed by prorating to such farms in accordance with their respective bases the area allotment less such set-asides and the total of the initial shares of the farms for which the requested acreages are equal to or less than their farm bases. In any allotment area in which the total of farm bases is in excess of the area allotment less the set-asides of acreage made pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section, initial farm proportionate shares shall be computed by prorating to the farms in accordance with their respective bases, the area allotment less such set-asides.

(4) Adjustments. Initial proportionate shares shall be adjusted by the State Committee to the extent determined by it to be necessary to establish a proportionate share for each farm which is fair and equitable as compared with proportionate shares for all other farms in the allotment area, by taking into consideration availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, availability of irrigation water (where irrigation is used), adequacy of drainage, availability of production and marketing facilities, and the production experience of the operator.

(j) Establishment of individual proportionate shares for new-producer farms. Within the acreage set aside for new producers from the State acreage allocation pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section and other unused acreage that the State Committee determines should be used for new producers, proportionate shares will be established in an equitable manner for farms which are to be operated by new producers during the 1957-crop year. For the purpose of this section, except where reference is made to new producers in connection with the 1955 or 1956 crop year, the term "new producer" shall mean the operator of a farm for which a 1957-crop farm base may not be established pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (i) of this section. In determining proportionate shares for new producers, the State Committee shall take into consideration availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, availability of irrigation water (where irrigation is used), adequacy of drainage, availability of production and marketing facilities and the production experience of the operator. The entire acreage set-aside for new producers shall be allotted to new producers, if requested, unless the State Committee finds that new producers would then be allotted shares out of proportion to the shares established for old producers and such committee obtains the approval of the Director to allot a lesser acreage. Any acreage set aside for new producers and not requested and any acreage allotted to new producers and remaining unused, shall be available for distribution to other farms.

(k) Redistribution of unused proportionate share acreage. Adjustments in proportionate shares may be made within the State acreage allocation in accordance with procedures established by the State Committee to offset underplanting and failure to plant: Provided, That in case of a disagreement between producers and a sugar beet processor with respect to the sugar beet purchase contract to be effective in the settlement area, or where no company offers a contract to producers to cover fully the shares established for their farms, the shares allotted to the farms operated by such producers shall not be reduced unless the affected producers voluntarily agree to reductions in their respective proportionate shares or the State Committee determines that such shares should be reduced because of unusual circumstances and for good cause.

(l) Small producers, cash tenants, share tenants, and sharecroppers. In establishing proportionate shares, the State Committee shall, insofar as practicable, protect the interests of small producers and the interests of producers who are cash tenants, share tenants, or sharecroppers.

(m) Notification of proportionate shares. Each farm operator filing a request shall be notified in writing on behalf of the State Committee of the proportionate share established in response to his request, even if the acreage established is "none" and such notice shall inform him of his right to appeal under paragraph (n) of this section. In any State to which the provisions of paragraph (f) of this section apply, producers may be furnished a general notice informing them that their proportionate shares will coincide with their respective planted acreages, notwithstanding any prior notices to the contrary.

(n) Appeals. A farm operator who believes that the proportionate share established for his farm pursuant to this section is inequitable, may file a written appeal for reconsideration of such proportionate share at the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county office, not later than the date shown in the notification of proportionate share, as established by the State Committee. The appeal shall be accompanied by a statement of facts constituting the basis for such appeal. The appeal shall be reviewed in such county office and forwarded with recommendations to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation

State Office. The appeal shall be reviewed and acted upon by the State Committee, or in lieu thereof, by a sugar beet appeals committee to be designated by the State Committee and to be composed of three members, including the State Administrative Officer. Each of the two other members shall be a State committeeman or an employee of the ASC State Office. Any increase in the proportionate share approved by reason of the appeal shall be within the acreage set aside for appeals pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section and any other acreage remaining unused within the State allocation. The operator shall be notified in writing as soon as possible regarding the decision in his case. If the farm operator is dissatisfied with the decision in his case, he may appeal in writing to the Director, whose decision shall be final. In acting upon the appeal, the State Committee, the Sugar Beet Appeals Committee, or the Director shall consider only such matters as under the provisions of this determination are required or permitted to be considered by the State Committee in the establishment of the farm proportionate share to be reviewed.

(o) Eligibility for payment under the act. For any producer of 1957-crop sugar beets on the farm to be eligible for payment under the act, the acreage of sugar beets grown on the farm and marketed (or processed) for the production of sugar or liquid sugar shall not exceed the proportionate share determined for the farm in accordance with this section, except that any sugar beets grown on acreage in excess of such proportionate share may be marketed (or processed) for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar for livestock feed or for the production of livestock feed, if the operator-producer on the farm furnishes to the county committee weight tickets evidencing that such sugar beets were sold by him, or were processed by or for him, for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar for livestock feed, or the production of livestock feed, and if so sold, were purchased by the processor for such purpose. Also, the requirements of the act with respect to child labor shall have been met, except that such requirements shall not be applicable to any sugar beets marketed (or processed) from an acreage in excess of the proportionate share for the farm for the production of sugar or liquid sugar for livestock feed or for the production of livestock feed if the producer furnishes proof which the county committee finds acceptable and adequate that the work performed by any child subject to such requirements was related solely to such sugar beets. In addition, the requirements of the act and of the regulations issued pursuant thereto with respect to wage rates and, in the case of a processor-producer (a producer who is also a processor), prices paid for sugar beets shall have been met.

(p) Filing application for payment. Application for payments authorized under Title III of the act with respect to sugar beets planted on a farm for harvest during the 1957-crop season shall be made on form SU-110 by the producer on the farm, or his legal representative, who must sign the form and file it in the county office for the county where the farm or major portion thereof is located or with a representative of such office no later than December 31, 1959.

(q) Determination of eligibility and basis for payment; and appeals for review thereof. Except as otherwise provided in regulations relating to conditional payments, compliance with the conditions prescribed by the act and regulations for any payment authorized under Title III of the act, the facts constituting the basis for any such payment, and the amount thereof, shall be determined by the county committee. Determinations by the county committee shall be made and decided in accordance with the applicable provisions of the act and regulations issued by the Secretary thereunder and on the basis of the facts in the individual case. Within 15 days after notice of such a determination is forwarded to or made available to a producer, he may request the county committee in writing to reconsider such determination. The county committee shall notify him of its decision in writing. If the producer is dissatisfied with the decision of the county committee, he may, within 15 days after the date of mailing of the decision to him, appeal in writing to the State Committee. The State Committee shall notify him of its decision in writing within 30 days after the submission of his appeal. If the producer is dissatisfied with the decision of the State Committee, he may, within 15 days after the date of mailing of the decision to him, request the Secretary to review the decision of the State Committee. The decision of the Secretary shall be final.

(r) Obtaining information regarding eligibility for payment. For the purposes of obtaining information, where necessary, to assist the county committee in determining compliance with the conditions prescribed by the act and regulations for payment authorized under Title III of the act, the facts constituting the basis for any such payment, or the amount thereof, or for the purposes of assisting, where necessary, the State Committee or the Secretary in reviewing, upon appeal, any such determination by the county committee, any employees of the county committee designated by the county office manager to be qualified to carry out the duty of ascertaining such information, or any employees of the State Office who are determined by the State Administrative Officer to be qualified to perform such duties, shall visit any farm with respect to which application for such payment is made and enter thereon if such entry will facilitate the acquisition of the required information. Where measurement by an employee of the county committee or State Office is required with respect to the extent of sugar beet acreage growing, harvested, abandoned, or otherwise disposed of on any farm for which application is made for any payment authorized under Title III of the act, the employee of the county committee or the State Office as the case may be, designated as provided in this paragraph, shall measure such acreage by identification of fields or parts of fields by use of a map, aerial photography, or by use of a steel or metallic tape, or by a combination of these methods. In this connection, remeasurements, rechecks and spot checks thereof may be made by the county office manager, county performing supervisor, district performance supervisor or any other employees of the State Office who are determined by the State Administrative Officer to be qualified to perform such duties. If a producer of a sugar beet crop, or the operator (or his representative) of any farm, with respect to which application is made for any payment authorized under Title III of the act, prevents the county committee from obtaining information necessary to determine compliance with the conditions for any such payment or to determine the facts constituting the basis for any such payment or the amount thereof, the conditions prescribed by the act and regulations for any such payment shall be deemed not to have been met until such producer, farm operator (or his representative) permits such information to be obtained.

Statement of bases and considerations. This revision consolidates the provisions of the original determination, issued September 25, 1956, which are to remain in effect, with those made effective by amendments 1 and 2, issued December 7, 1956, and January 2, 1957, respectively, redesignates certain paragraphs, and incorporates the increase in the national limitation from 932,000 to 950,000 acres, as announced by the Department in its press release of January 11, 1957.

On January 2, 1957, the national limitation for the 1957 crop of sugar beets was increased from 885,000 acres to 932,000 acres to make available a supply of sugar which would enable the area to meet the then existing quota, as well as carryover requirements. At that time, the total 1957 quotas for the continental United States amounted to 8,800,000 tons and the quota for the beet area was 1,909,188 tons. Due to changes in the sugar supply situation, the total 1957 quotas were increased to 9,000,000 tons on January 11, 1957, and the quota for the beet area was increased to 1,953,952 tons. At the same time, the Department also announced an increase in the national limitation to 950,000 acres for the 1957 crop.

The increase of 18,000 in the 1957 national acreage limitation provided herein will permit the planting of sufficient additional acreage to replace the sugar marketed under the increased quota for the area. The 1957 national acreage limitation of 950,000 acres should provide sufficient sugar supplies to meet the beet sugar quota and provide a normal carryover.

The increase in acreage has been prorated to the sugar beet producing States on the basis of the allocations heretofore established. This affords an equitable basis, since the allotments made previously gave recognition to the factors specified in the act.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the aforestated determination will effectuate the applicable provisions of the act.

[Orange Reg. 309]

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 933.826 Orange Regulation 309—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of all Florida oranges, including Temple oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of all oranges, including Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, are presently subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on January 29, 1957, such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of all oranges, including Temple oranges, and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of the persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) Terms used in the amended marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said amended marketing agreement and order; and terms relating to grade, standard pack, and standard box, as used herein, shall have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in the United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos (7 CFR 51.1140–51.1186).

(2) Orange Regulation 308 (§ 933.823; 22 F. R. 389) is hereby terminated at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 1, 1957.

(3) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 1, 1957, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., February 18, 1957, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any oranges, including Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which do not grade at least U. S. No. 1 Bronze;

(ii) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than 2$^{8}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, which shall be the largest measurement at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of oranges smaller than such minimum diameter shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances, specified in the United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos (§§ 51.1140–51.1186 of this title): Provided, That in determining the percentage of oranges in any lot which are smaller than 2$^{8}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on those oranges in such lot which are of a size 2$^{7}/_{16}$ inches in diameter and smaller; or

(iii) Any Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than 2$^{8}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, which shall be the largest measurement at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of Temple oranges smaller than such minimum diameter shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances specified in the United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos (7 CFR 51.1140–51.1186).

PART 1002—MILK IN GREATER WHEELING MARKETING AREA

ORDER SUSPENDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act", and of the order, as amended (7 CFR, Part 1002), regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Wheeling marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order", it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The following provisions of § 1002.51 (a) of the order will not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act for the delivery period of February 1957: "Provided, That this Class I price shall be increased or decreased by the amount of any 'supply-demand adjustment' effective in the calculation of the Class I price for the preceding month under the terms of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Stark County, Ohio, marketing area (Order No. 63, Part 963 of this chapter); and".

(b) Notice of proposed rule making, public procedure thereon, and 30 days notice of the effective date hereof, are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) The information on which this action is based did not become available in time sufficient for such compliance;

(2) Producers of more than 50 percent of the milk produced for this market have requested that these provisions be suspended;

(3) It is found necessary to issue and make effective this suspension order to reflect current marketing conditions and to facilitate, promote, and maintain orderly marketing conditions in this marketing area;

(4) The effect of this suspension is to eliminate a negative supply-demand adjustment which would not be in line with supply and demand conditions in this market and would result in misalignment of the price in this market with related markets; and

(5) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to its effective date.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective February 1, 1957.

It is therefore ordered, That the following provisions of § 1002.51 (a) of the order be and hereby are suspended for the delivery period of February 27: "Provided, That this Class I price shall be increased or decreased by the amount of any 'supply-demand adjustment' effective in the calculation of the Class I price for the preceding month under the terms of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Stark County, Ohio, marketing area (Order No. 63, Part 963 of this chapter); and".

Assistant Secretary.

PART 1009—HANDLING OF MILK IN CLARKSBURG, W. VA., MARKETING AREA

ORDER SUSPENDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act", and of the order, as amended (7 CFR, Part 1009), regulating the handling of milk in the Clarksburg, West Virginia, marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order", it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The following provisions of § 1009.51 (a) of the order will not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act for the delivery period of February 1957: "Provided, That this Class I price shall be increased or decreased by the amount of any 'supply-demand adjustment' effective in the calculation of the Class I price for the preceding month under the terms of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Stark County, Ohio, marketing area (Order No. 63, Part 963 of this chapter); and".

(b) Notice of proposed rule making, public procedure thereon, and 30 days notice of the effective date hereof, are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) The information on which this action is based did not become available in time sufficient for such compliance;

(2) Producers of more than 50 percent of the milk produced for this market have requested that these provisions be suspended;

(3) It is found necessary to issue and make effective this suspension order to reflect current marketing conditions and to facilitate, promote, and maintain orderly marketing conditions in this marketing area;

(4) The effect of this suspension is to eliminate a negative supply-demand adjustment which would not be in line with supply and demand conditions in this market and would result in misalignment of the price in this market with related markets; and

(5) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to its effective date.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective February 1, 1957.

It is therefore ordered, That the following provisions of § 1009.51 (a) of the order be and hereby are suspended for the delivery period of February 1957: "Provided, That this Class I price shall be increased or decreased by the amount of any 'supply-demand adjustment' effective in the calculation of the Class I price for the preceding month under the terms of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Stark County, Ohio, marketing area (Order No. 63, Part 963 of this chapter); and".

DEPENDENCY AND INDEMNITY COMPENSATION

GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE

§ 4.420 General. Effective January 1, 1957, the provisions of these dependency and indemnity compensation regulations are applicable to the payment of compensation for death due to service under the provisions of Public Law 881, 84th Congress, approved August 1, 1956.

(a) Dependency and indemnity compensation shall be payable:

(1) Where death occurred on or after January 1, 1957, or

(2) Where death occurred prior to January 1, 1957, and the claimant was receiving or eligible to receive death compensation on December 31, 1956 (or as to a parent, would have been eligible except for his income), under laws in effect on that date or who subsequently becomes eligible by reason of a death which occurred prior to January 1, 1957.

(b) No person eligible for dependency and indemnity compensation by reason of a death occurring on or after January 1, 1957, shall be eligible by reason of such death for death compensation or pension under any other law administered by the Veterans Administration.

(c) No dependency and indemnity compensation shall be paid, but death compensation may be paid at the rates specified in § 4.122 or 4.124, whichever is applicable, to the widow, children, or parents where an individual dies on or after May 1, 1957, and at the time of death has in effect a policy of National Service life insurance or United States Government life insurance under waiver of premiums under section 622 of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 as amended. This paragraph is not applicable if the deceased person was eligible to waiver of premiums under the first proviso of section 622 (a) of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, as amended, and his death occurred prior to his return to military jurisdiction or within 120 days thereafter.

(d) No dependency and indemnity compensation or death compensation shall be paid to any widow, child, or parent based on the death of a commissioned officer of the Public Health Service or Coast and Geodetic Survey whose death occurs on or after May 1, 1957, if any amounts are payable under the Federal Employees Group Life Insurance Act of 1954 (Pub. § 4.421 Administrative provisions. Except as otherwise provided, the administrative, definitive, and regulatory provisions of Public Law 2, 73d Congress, as amended, are for application.

COMMENCING DATES

§ 4.445 Commencing dates of original awards of dependency and indemnity compensation—(a) Deaths prior to January 1, 1957—(1) General. Payment of dependency and indemnity compensation based on a death which occurred before January 1, 1957, shall be effective as of the date a claim is filed; however, payment of such benefit shall become effective as of January 1, 1957, if the claim is filed:

(i) On or before July 1, 1957, or

(ii) Within 1 year after the date of death.

(2) Prospective claims. Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, payment of dependency and indemnity compensation shall be effective after January 1, 1957, as of the date when the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation becomes greater than the monthly payment of death compensation or servicemen's indemnity, or both, provided the claim is filed within a reasonable period (generally not to exceed 120 days) before that date.

(3) Child; widow elects dependency and indemnity compensation. Where dependency and indemnity compensation is payable to or for a child by reason of a widow's election of this benefit, the commencing date of dependency and indemnity compensation to or for a child for whom death compensation was payable on December 31, 1956, and who was under 18 years of age and not in the widow's custody or who attained the age of 18 years prior to January 1, 1957, shall be the commencing date of the award of dependency and indemnity compensation to the widow. The commencing date of an award of dependency and indemnity compensation to or for a child who is over 18 years of age and who attained that age on or after January 1, 1957, is subject to the requirement of paragraph (d) (1) of this section as to the filing of an application.

(4) Child; right to servicemen's indemnity in suspension. The commencing date of an award of dependency and indemnity compensation to or for a child who becomes entitled by reason of the provisions of § 4.429,[1] shall be the date the monthly rate of dependency and indemnity compensation becomes greater than monthly installments of servicemen's indemnity. A claim is not required for this purpose.

(b) Deaths on or after January 1, 1957. Dependency and indemnity compensation based on a death which occurs on or after January 1, 1957, shall commence the day following the date of the veteran's death, provided claim is filed within 1 year from date of death, otherwise from date of filing application.

(c) Contingency. Payment of dependency and indemnity compensation shall not be made for any period prior to date of happening of the contingency on which entitlement is established.

(d) Child—(1) General. Dependency and indemnity compensation which is payable to or for a child by reason of a contingency which arises on or after January 1, 1957, shall commence as of the date on which the child's entitlement arises if application is filed within 1 year from that date; otherwise from the date of filing application.

(2) Posthumous child. In those cases in which an increased amount of dependency and indemnity compensation is payable under the provisions of § 4.447 (c) to a widow because of the birth of a posthumous child, the commencing date of such increase, if otherwise in order, will be the date of the child's birth, provided notice of the expected or actual birth of the child, meeting the requirements of an informal claim, is received within 1 year from the date of the veteran's death and proof of birth is received within 1 year from the date of request.

(e) Missing cases. Where a report of death or finding of death has been made by the Secretary of the service department concerned as to a person who was on active duty status at the time of death and the person was reported missing or missing in action, interned in a neutral country, captured by an enemy, beleaguered, or besieged, as contemplated by Public Law 490, 77th Congress, as amended, or the claim for dependency and indemnity compensation was filed more than 1 year after the date of (actual) death, an original award of dependency and indemnity compensation shall commence:

(i) The day following the date fixed by the Secretary as the date of death (actual) in such report: Provided, That claim is filed within 1 year after the date the report of death is made; otherwise the date of filing claim. However, in no event shall dependency and indemnity compensation be paid to a dependent for any period prior to the date the report of death was made for which such dependent has received or is entitled to receive an allowance, allotment, or service pay of the deceased.

(2) The day following the date of death (presumptive) fixed by the Secretary in such finding: Provided, That claim is filed within 1 year after the date finding of death is made; otherwise, the date of filing claim.

(3) In determining the commencing date of awards of dependency and indemnity compensation under this paragraph, the 1-year time limitation for filing of claim shall commence the date of the finding of (presumptive) death or the date the initial report of (actual) death was made, whichever is the earlier (Pub. Law 419, 78th Congress and sec. 501 (p), Pub. Law 881, 84th Cong.).

(f) Death due to hospital treatment, etc. Where the veteran's death is due to circumstances outlined in section 31, Public Law 141, 73d Congress, as amended by section 12, Public Law 866, 76th Congress, section 2, Public Law 16, 78th Congress (par. 4, Part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), (38 U. S. C. ch. 12A)), or Public Law 894, 81st Congress, dependency and indemnity compensation shall be paid provided a claim is filed within 2 years after the date of death and shall commence the day following the date of the veteran's death if claim is filed within 1 year from that date, otherwise from date of claim.

(g) Correction of military records. (1) The date of commencement of original awards of dependency and indemnity compensation payable solely as a result of the finding of a board of review or a board for correction of military (or naval) records will be the date authorized by the law under which such compensation is payable but not prior to:

(i) The date of the finding of a board of review established under section 301, Public Law 346, 78th Congress, or if the finding was approved by the Secretary of the service department concerned, the date of such approval;

(ii) The date on which application was filed with the service department for correction of the record when the award of dependency and indemnity compensation is based on a finding of a board for correction of military (or naval) records established under section 207, Public Law 601, 79th Congress, as amended by Public Law 220, 82d Congress. (See also § 4.431.[1])

(2) The date of commencement of original awards of dependency and indemnity compensation payable solely as a result of an administrative determination made by the service departments, other than through boards of review or corrections, based on new evidence or change in policy and views, or both, involving character of discharge, active duty status, line of duty or willful misconduct, will be the date authorized by the law under which dependency and indemnity compensation is payable but not prior to the date of the corrected report or date of recertification.

(h) Bureau of Employees Compensation cases. Where death occurred prior to January 1, 1957, and payments have been made by the Bureau of Employees Compensation based on military or naval service, and the claimant is otherwise eligible to receive dependency and indemnity compensation, the commencing date of such benefit shall be the date specified in paragraph (a) of this section but in no event prior to the day following the date of last payment by the Bureau of Employees Compensation.

RATES

§ 4.447 Widows—(a) Basic rate. The monthly rate of dependency and indemnity compensation for a widow is $112 plus 12 percent of the basic pay of the deceased veteran. This rate is subject to increase as provided in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section.

(b) "Basic pay." The basic pay is the amount certified by the Secretary concerned, provided that if death occurs after separation from service and is due to active duty, the certification shall be based on the veteran's rank and years of service on the date of his last separation from service under conditions other than dishonorable. The certification of the Secretary concerned is binding on the Veterans Administration.

(c) Increase for children. If there are two or more children under the age of 18 (including a child who is not in the actual or constructive custody of the widow and a child who enters active military or naval service), the amount payable to the widow shall be increased by $25 monthly for each child under 18 in excess of one, but the total of such increase shall not exceed the difference between the amount which would be payable if the deceased veteran's average monthly wage for the purpose of section 202 of the Social Security Act had been $160 (after reduction under sec. 203 (a) of such act but without regard to deduction provisions of such sec. 203) and the amounts to which the widow or such children under the age of 18 are or would be entitled under:

(1) Section 405 of Public Law 881, 84th Congress;

(2) Section 202 of the Social Security Act (after reduction under sec. 203 (a) of such act but without regard to the deduction provisions of sec. 203) on the basis of the deceased veteran's earnings;

(3) Section 5 of the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937 (after reduction under sec. 4 (i) and sec. 5 (h) of such act) on the basis of such deceased veteran's earnings.

The amounts referred to in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph will be the amounts certified by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare or the Railroad Retirement Board, as the case may be.

(d) Rate payable. Where the amount determined to be payable under this section involves a fraction of a dollar, the amount shall be increased to the next higher dollar.

(e) Awards to minor widows. Payment of dependency and indemnity compensation may be made direct to a widow notwithstanding that she may be a minor (sec. 2, Pub. Law 144, 78th Cong. and sec. 209 (a), Pub. Law 881, 84th Cong.) and notwithstanding that she may have remarried. Direct payment is permissive and not mandatory, and the appointment of a fiduciary for a minor widow may be required if circumstances indicate that this action is advisable.

§ 4.448 Apportionment—(a) Conditions under which apportionment may be made. Dependency and indemnity compensation will be apportioned where there is a widow and a child or children under 18 years of age and the child or children are not in the actual or constructive custody of the widow. No apportionment will be made for any child solely by reason of the child's entrance into the active military or naval service of the United States; or where the child or children are separated from the widow, due to her incompetency, and a fiduciary has been appointed for the widow, who is providing properly for the children from the widow's estate or income voluntarily or pursuant to a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(b) Effective dates of apportionment. The effective date of the apportionment will be the first day of the month (in cases involving one or more payees residing in the Philippines, the first day of the second month) next succeeding that in which notice was received in the Veterans Administration that the child or children are not in the actual or constructive care and custody of the widow: Provided, That where prior to the initial award to the widow the lack of custody in the widow is shown, the benefit will be apportioned in accordance with the facts found for all periods affected.

(c) Rates payable. (1) Except as provided in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph the total amount payable under § 4.447 will be apportioned as follows: The share for each of the children, including those in the widow's custody as well as those who are not in her custody, will be $35 per month. The share for the widow will be the difference between the children's shares and the total amount payable under § 4.447. In the application of this rule, however, the widow's share will not be reduced to an amount less than 50 percent of that to which she would otherwise be entitled, or less than $65, whichever is greater. The balance will be the children's share. In all cases, the share determined for the children will be equally divided among them, and the shares of any child or children in the widow's custody will be added to the widow's share.

(2) Where an additional amount is payable under § 4.447 (c), the additional allowance will be equally divided between the children.

(3) Where the death occurred prior to January 1, 1957, and the widow has elected to receive dependency and indemnity compensation, the share of dependency and indemnity compensation for the children will be whichever is the greater:

[1] To be published soon.

[1] To be published soon.

(i) The apportioned share computed under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, or

(ii) The share which would have been payable as death compensation but not in excess of the total dependency and indemnity compensation which is authorized under § 4.447.

(d) Rate for additional beneficiary. In any case wherein dependency and indemnity compensation is being currently paid and claim is filed by or for an additional dependent of the veteran, who is entitled to an apportioned share, no reduction will be made in the current award for any period prior to the first of the month (in cases involving one or more payees residing in the Philippines, the first day of the second month) next succeeding that in which the changed award is approved. The amount payable during such period to or for the additional dependent will be the difference between the amount of dependency and indemnity compensation currently being paid and the total amount payable by reason of including the additional dependent. On and after the first day of the month (in cases involving residence in the Philippines, the first day of the second month) next succeeding that in which the changed award is approved, the total amount of compensation or pension will be apportioned as provided in paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) Special apportionments. In any case wherein it is clearly shown by competent evidence that the application of the foregoing provisions of paragraphs (a) through (d) of this section will result in undue hardship upon the widow or children, and relief can be afforded without undue hardship to other persons at interest, the director of claims activities in district office and Veterans Benefits Office cases and the adjudication officer in regional office cases shall determine, without regard to the foregoing provisions of paragraphs (a) through (d) of this section, the exact amount to be apportioned to each individual.

(f) Discontinuance of apportionments; effective dates. In those cases where dependency and indemnity compensation is apportioned between the widow and a child or children, and payments have been or are being made to such dependents subsequent to the date of cessation of the condition on which it is predicated, the effective date of discontinuance of the apportioned benefit to the child or children shall be the date of last payment, and the award to the widow will be adjusted accordingly: Provided, That in the event of one of the contingencies cited in §§ 4.462 and 4.463,[1] the discontinuance shall be effective as provided in such sections.

(a) Children under 18; no widow.

One child, $70.
Two children, $100.
Three children, $130.
Plus $25 monthly for each additional child.
Total payable equally divided.

(b) Children over 18.

Helpless child, and widow (see note), $70 each child.
Helpless child, no widow, rate under paragraph (a) of this section plus $25 for each child.
School child, and widow (see note), $35 for each child.
School child, no widow, rate under paragraph (a) of this section.

NOTE: Payments to a child will be made direct if the child is competent and has attained majority, otherwise to a fiduciary (see § 4.353), notwithstanding that the child may be in the custody of the widow.

(c) Other children receiving death compensation. If children are receiving death compensation and all such children have not applied for dependency and indemnity compensation, the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation for a child shall not exceed the amount which would be paid if all children had applied for dependency and indemnity compensation; and the rate of death compensation shall not exceed the amount which would be paid if all children were receiving this benefit.

(d) Other children receiving servicemen's indemnity. Where there is a child or children in receipt of servicemen's indemnity under the circumstances outlined in § 4.429 (b),[1] the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation for another child or children shall not exceed the amount which would be paid if all children were receiving dependency and indemnity compensation.

§ 4.450 Parents. The following monthly rates of dependency and indemnity compensation are payable:

(a) One parent alone.

Column I — Total annual income		Column II — Monthly rate

----------	$750	$75

[1] No amount payable.

(d) Remarried parents—(1) Living with spouse. For the purposes of paragraph (c) of this section the total combined income of the parent and his or her spouse will determine the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation payable to the parent. The provisions of paragraph (c) of this section are equally applicable where both parents have remarried and each is living with his or her spouse.

(2) Not living with spouse. If the remarriage of a parent has been terminated, or the parent is not living with his or her spouse, the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation will be determined under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, whichever is applicable. (See § 4.444.[1])

(e) One parent does not file claim. Where there are two parents living and only one parent has filed claim, the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation will be determined under paragraph (b) or (c) of this section, whichever is applicable.

(f) Other parent receiving death compensation. If one parent is receiving death compensation the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation for another parent shall not exceed the amount which would be paid if both parents had applied for dependency and indemnity compensation; and the rate of death compensation shall not exceed the amount if both parents were receiving this benefit.

§ 4.451 Death due to hospital treatment, etc. Where the veteran's death is due to circumstances outlined in section 31, Public Law 141, 73d Congress, as amended by section 12, Public Law 866, 76th Congress, section 2, Public Law 16, 78th Congress (par. 4, Part VII, Vet. Reg. 1 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12A)), or Public Law 894, 81st Congress, the rates outlined in §§ 4.447 to 4.450, as applicable, shall be payable.

§ 4.452 Philippine service cases. The rate of dependency and indemnity compensation for widows, children, and parents, as well as amounts of annual income applicable to parents, will be computed on the basis of one Philippine peso for each dollar in cases involving service in the Commonwealth Army of the Philippines or as a guerrilla or in the Philippine Scouts where the veteran was enlisted under section 14, Public Law 190, 79th Congress (Pub. Laws 301 and 391, 79th Cong., as amended by sec. 501 (i), and (j), Pub. Law 881, 84th Cong.)

[1] To be published soon.

§ 4.453 Awards where widow and/or children do not file claim on the same date—(a) General. In any case where claim has not been filed by or on behalf of the widow or all children who may be entitled, the awards (original or amended) for the widow or children who have filed claim will be made for all periods affected at the rates and in the same manner as though there were no other such dependents: Provided, however, That if the file reflects that there is a child or children under 18 years of age for whom no claim has been filed, the award will be made only at the apportioned rate, if as to such children it is possible for a claim to be filed under which benefits may be awarded for a period prior to date of filing claim. If, at the expiration of the period allowed, claims for such additional children have not been filed, the award to the widow or child will be amended to provide for payment at the full rate over the periods affected.

(b) Computation of rate for additional dependent. In any case wherein dependency and indemnity compensation is being currently paid and claim is filed by or for an additional dependent, a retroactive adjustment in the current award will be made, provided no overpayment will result. If an overpayment would result, the current award will be reduced as of the first of the month (in cases involving one or more payees residing in the Philippines, the first of the second month) next succeeding that in which the changed award is approved, and the amount payable prior to the date of reduction to or for such additional dependent will be the difference between the amount of dependency and indemnity compensation currently being paid and the total amount payable by reason of including the additional dependent. On and after the first day of the month (in cases involving residence in the Philippines, the first of the second month) next succeeding that in which the changed award is approved, the additional dependent will be entitled to his full share. (For apportioned awards, see § 4.448 (d).)

§ 4.454 Fractions of 1 cent, in awards. In all cases where the amount to be paid under any award involves a fraction of a cent, the fractional part will be excluded.

READJUSTMENT IN RATES

§ 4.455 Readjustment in rates. (a) In any case in which a payee becomes entitled to receive a greater rate of dependency and indemnity compensation because payment of dependency and indemnity compensation to another payee in the same class has been discontinued, the increased rate will be allowed without the filing of a new application and will be effective the day following the discontinuance of payments to the other payee, provided the evidence necessary to effect the adjustment is received in the Veterans Administration within 1 year from the date of request; otherwise, the increased rate will be effective the date of receipt of the evidence.

(b) If a widow with a child or children under 18 years of age in her custody has been paid dependency and indemnity compensation subsequent to her remarriage and dependency and indemnity compensation is payable on behalf of the child or children from the day following the widow's remarriage (see §§ 4.431 (d)[1] and 4.445 (d)), payments will be adjusted as follows:

(1) If the widow received dependency and indemnity compensation at a rate in excess of that to which the child or children were entitled in their own right, an amended award will be made to the widow authorizing the rate payable to her prior to the date of remarriage and the rate to which the child or children were entitled from the date of remarriage to the date of last payment. The award for the child or children will be made to commence the day following the date of last payment to the widow.

(2) If the rate payable for children in their own right is in excess of that paid to the widow, her award will be discontinued effective date of last payment. The award for the children will be made to commence the date of the widow's remarriage. The rate payable for the children for any period after the date of the widow's remarriage and prior to the date of last payment to her will be the difference between the rate paid to the widow and the rate for the children in their own right, the available balance being equally divided. The full rate for each child will be awarded commencing the day following the date of last payment to the widow.

CONCURRENT PAYMENTS

§ 4.458 Benefits based on other deaths. Except as provided in § 4.459, the receipt of pension, compensation, or dependency and indemnity compensation by a widow, child, or parent on account of the death of any person, or receipt by any person of pension or compensation on account of his own service, shall not bar the payment of pension, compensation, or dependency and indemnity compensation on account of the death or disability of any other person.

§ 4.458a War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act of 1956. Election of benefits under Public Law 634, 84th Congress, is a bar in the same or any other case to further payments of dependency and indemnity compensation after age 18 because of approved school attendance. Election of benefits under Public Law 634, 84th Congress, is final after one payment has been made under that act to or for the child or as an administrative allowance to the school.

§ 4.459 Children; two parents in same parental line—(a) General. If a child receives or there is paid on account of a child dependency and indemnity compensation, or death compensation under any law administered by the Veterans Administration, by reason of the death of a parent, dependency and indemnity compensation by reason of the death of another parent in the same parental line may not be paid to or on account of such child.

(b) Election. For the purposes of this section, the child (through his fiduciary if the child has not attained majority) may elect to receive benefits based on the service of either veteran. An election of dependency and indemnity compensation based on the service of one parent places the right to dependency and indemnity compensation based on the service of another parent in suspension. The suspension may be lifted at any time by making another election.

(c) Widow receiving dependency and indemnity compensation. The receipt of dependency and indemnity compensation by a widow shall not preclude the payment of dependency and indemnity compensation or death compensation to or for a child in her custody who is eligible to receive such benefits based on the service of another father. A child who is not in the widow's custody may not receive an apportioned share of dependency and indemnity compensation in that case and dependency and indemnity or death compensation based on the service of another father in the same parental line.

(d) Rate for other dependents. Where a child receives dependency and indemnity compensation or death compensation based on the death of one parent, the rate of dependency and indemnity compensation or death compensation payable to the widow or other children based on the death of another parent in the same parental line shall not exceed the amounts which would be payable if the child were receiving or an additional allowance were being paid for such child in the second case: Provided further, That no increase shall be allowed to a widow under the provisions of § 4.447 (c) by reason of a child who is receiving dependency and indemnity compensation or death compensation based on the death of another father.

(e) Adjustments. If dependency and indemnity compensation is payable based on the service of one parent, an award of dependency and indemnity compensation or death compensation to or on account of a child will be made subject to any payments of dependency and indemnity compensation or death compensation made to or on account of that child over the same period of time based on the service of another parent in the same parental line.

FORFEITURES

§ 4.467 Forfeitures incurred prior to January 1, 1957. Any person who forfeited rights to death benefits under laws in effect prior to January 1, 1957, shall not be entitled to dependency and indemnity compensation.

§ 4.468 Fraud. The penal and forfeiture provisions of section 15, Public Law 2, 73d Congress, are made applicable to Public Law 881, 84th Congress, by section 501 (n) of that act.

§ 4.469 Forfeiture of benefits by a veteran. Forfeiture of benefits by a veteran under the provisions of section 504, World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, or section 15 of Public Law 2, 73d Congress, shall not preclude payments of dependency and indemnity compensation benefits: Provided, That no dependency and indemnity compensation shall be paid to any dependent who has participated in the fraud for which the forfeiture was imposed.

§ 4.470 Treasonable acts. Any person shown by evidence satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs to be guilty of mutiny, treason, sabotage, or rendering assistance to an enemy of the United States or of its allies, shall forfeit all accrued or future benefits under laws administered by the Veterans Administration pertaining to gratuities for veterans and their dependents: Provided, That any part of such benefits may be apportioned and paid to the dependents of such person, not exceeding the amount to which each dependent would be entitled if such person were dead (sec. 4, Pub. Law 144, 78th Cong., act of July 13, 1943). The foregoing is not applicable as to a child or children, regardless of age, who are in the widow's custody and for whom an additional amount is payable to her. Forfeiture by a veteran does not preclude payment of dependency and indemnity compensation which may otherwise be payable to or for a surviving dependent. Any claimant who in time of war resided in territory of or under the military control of an enemy of the United States or of its allies will be required to execute VA Form 8–508.

§ 4.471 Homicide. Any person who has wrongfully and intentionally caused the death of another person shall not be entitled to receive dependency and indemnity compensation or increased dependency and indemnity compensation by reason of such death.

GUARDIANSHIP

§ 4.473 General. Payment of benefits on behalf of a person who is mentally incompetent or who is a minor (other than a person who is serving in or has been discharged from the military forces of the United States or a minor widow) will be made to a duly appointed fiduciary: Provided, That where the total amount payable on behalf of a child or children who are in the widow's custody does not exceed $100 for each child, payment will be made to the widow as legal custodian without reference to the Chief Attorney. (See § 4.447 (e) and § 13.200 of this chapter.)

§ 4.474 Limitation on payments to a fiduciary for a minor child. Awards will not be authorized to a fiduciary recognized or appointed for a child, by reason of its minority, for any period subsequent to the day preceding the date on which the child will attain its majority under the law of the State in which the child resides. Payments on and after that date, if otherwise in order, will be made direct to the child, if competent, or, if incompetent, to a fiduciary recognized or appointed for the child as a mentally incompetent adult.

§ 4.475 Identity in guardianship cases. When the name of the ward as it appears in the letters of guardianship or Chief Attorney's certification, etc., is not the same as that under which the claim was filed and there is no question of identity, the awards will be made in the name as shown in the letters of guardianship.

§ 4.476 Letters of guardianship received from other than Chief Attorney. When letters of guardianship are received from a person other than the Chief Attorney, payments being made direct to the beneficiary concerned will be suspended, and the letters will be forwarded to the proper Chief Attorney for his certification as to the legality of the appointment and adequacy of bond.

§ 4.477 Payee reported to be incompetent—(a) Notice of commitment of payee or appointment of guardian. If notice is received that a payee has been committed to a hospital for the insane or that a guardian has been appointed and letters of guardianship have not been forwarded, payments being made direct to the dependent will be suspended. The Chief Attorney will be informed of such suspension, and the amount of benefits payable. He will be requested to obtain the appointment of a fiduciary, or to obtain evidence of the appointment of the fiduciary and to forward it with his certificate relative to the adequacy of bond and legality of the appointment. If the dependent is in a hospital for the insane and a guardian has not been appointed, the request will be addressed to the Chief Attorney of the area in which the institution is located.

(b) Evidence of incompetency other than notice of commitment or of appointment of guardian. If information other than that described in paragraph (a) of this section is received which indicates that a dependent may be incompetent or that he is not receiving or is being deprived of the full benefits being paid, and an inquiry is desirable to determine whether a fiduciary should be appointed, the information received will be referred to the Chief Attorney of the area in which the beneficiary resides, together with a statement of the kind and amount of benefits being paid, the amount of benefits accrued, if any, the address of the dependent, and whether or not payments have been suspended. Payments will not be suspended pending receipt of a report from the Chief Attorney, unless it is obvious that suspension is necessary as a protective measure. Upon receipt of such information, the Chief Attorney will ascertain the facts by field examination and report them to the office having jurisdiction of the XC-folder, with his recommendation whether a fiduciary should be appointed, whether a neuropsychiatric examination should be authorized, and whether payments, if being made, should be suspended. The Chief Attorney's report will be referred to the rating board for a determination of incompetency or competency pursuant to §§ 3.173 and 3.174 of this chapter. It is the policy of the Veterans Administration not to insist upon the appointment of a guardian in cases of persons of advanced age unless such procedure is absolutely necessary to protect their interests.

§ 4.478 Marriage of female fiduciary—(a) Guardian. Upon receipt of notice of the marriage of a female guardian who is receiving benefits in her fiduciary capacity, payments will be suspended, and the Chief Attorney will be requested to ascertain whether the guardianship will remain in effect and, if so, whether an order will be made changing the name of the guardian and to furnish a certified copy of any such order; and if no such order will be issued, her statement setting forth the fact of remarriage and her present name shall be accepted.

(b) Legal custodian. Where a female custodian has remarried subsequent to such appointment, her statement setting forth the fact of remarriage and her present name shall be accepted. Notice of the change of name will be furnished to the Chief Attorney.

§ 4.479 Awards where more than one guardian has been appointed. Certificate showing discharge of a former guardian is not necessary when letters of guardianship show appointment by the same court of a new guardian in place of the former one.

[1] Under application from an individual having statutory preference.

5. Persons who have previously acquired a tract under the Small Tract Act are not qualified to purchase a tract at the sale unless they can make a showing satisfactory to the Bureau of Land Management that the acquisition of another tract is warranted in the circumstances.

6. The above described tracts, except those for which the statutory preference claimant exercises his right, will be sold at public auction at a public sale to be held at the Land Office, Federal Court House Building, Federal Place, Santa Fe, New Mexico, at 10:30 a. m., May 31, 1957. Bids may be made personally by the applicant or his agent at the sale or may be mailed. Bids sent by mail will be considered only if received at the Sante Fe Land Office prior to 10:30 a. m., May 31, 1957. No bid will be accepted if it is less than the appraised value of the tract. See Paragraph 4 for appraised values.

7. Each bid sent by mail must clearly show (a) the name and post office address of the bidder, (b) Classification Order No. 46, (c) the land description of the tract for which the bid is made, described in accordance with paragraph 4 of this order, (d) whether the bidder is entitled to veterans' preference in accordance with paragraph 8 of this order. Each bid must be accompanied by the full amount bid in the form of a certified or cashier's check, post office money order, or bank draft made payable to the Bureau of Land Management. Each bid must be enclosed in a separate envelope, but payment need only accompany the highest bid, providing all other bids designate the envelope containing the payment. Each envelope must carry on its reverse the following information and nothing else: (a) Classification Order No. 46, January 23, 1957, (b) "Veterans' Preference", if the bidder is entitled to veterans' preference in accordance with paragraph 8, and (c) the description of the tract for which the bid is made, described in accordance with paragraph 4 of this order.

8. All valid applications filed prior to May 31, 1957, will be granted the preference rights provided for by 43 CFR 257.5 (a). In accordance with 43 CFR 257.14 (e), each tract will be awarded to the highest bidder among persons entitled to veterans' preference, and if there be none, to the highest bidder among nonpreference bidders. No person will be awarded more than one tract. Persons entitled to veterans' preference, in brief, are (a) honorably discharged veterans who served at least 90 days after September 15, 1940, (b) surviving spouse or minor orphan children of such veterans, and (c) with the consent of the veteran, the spouse of living veterans. The 90-day requirement does not apply to veterans who were discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty or to the surviving spouse or minor children of veterans killed in the line of duty. Successful bidders among preference claimants will be called upon for proof of the military service upon which their claim is based.

9. All inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, P. O. Box 1251, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

SMALL TRACT OPENING

JANUARY 23, 1957.

1. Pursuant to authority delegated to me by the California State Supervisor, Bureau of Land Management, under Part II, Document 4, California State Office, dated November 19, 1954 (19 F. R. 7697), I hereby classify the following described public lands totaling 960 acres in San Bernardino County, California, as suitable for lease and sale for residence purposes under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609; 43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended:

SAN BERNARDINO BASE AND MERIDIAN

T. 7 N., R. 4 W.,
Sec. 30: SE¼, SE¼NE¼;
Sec. 31: NE¼, N½SE¼, SE¼SE¼;
Sec. 32: N½, N½S½.

Containing 960 acres, subdivided into 192 small tracts, of which 32 are covered by applications from persons entitled to preference under 43 CFR 257.5 (a).

2. Classification of the above-described lands by this order segregates them from all appropriations, including locations under the mining laws, except as to applications under the Small Tract Act and applications under the mineral leasing laws.

3. The lands are located approximately 10 miles north of Victorville, California. Fair access to the lands is had by three auto trails that lead from U. S. Highway 66–91, which passes within ¼ mile of the westerly edge of the lands.

The topography is characterized by rough, broken, and rolling terrain, situated at elevations ranging from 2,700 to 3,000 feet. Several dry washes run through the area in an east-west direction. The soil is of light texture, varying from loamy sand to rocky sand. The vegetation is desert shrub type, comprised mainly of creosote bush, yucca, and desert sage.

4. The lands will be leased and sold in rectangular tracts of five (5) acres each, more or less, 330 x 660 feet in size, and described as aliquot parts of the section. The appraised value of each tract is $125. The advance three year rental is $30. The tracts will be subject to all existing rights-of-way and rights-of-way for roads and public utilities as described below. Such rights-of-way may be utilized by the Federal Government, or the State, County, or municipality in which the tract is located, or by any agency thereof.

Sec. 30: 33 feet along the interior boundary of the north, east, and south lines of SE¼ NE¼, the north, east, and south lines of SE¼, the south line of N½SE¼, and the north line of S½SE¼;
Sec. 31: 33 feet along the interior boundary of the north, east, and south lines of NE¼, the south line of N½NE¼, the north line of S½NE¼, the north and east lines of SE¼, the north and south lines of SE¼ SE¼, and the south line of N½SE¼;
Sec. 32: 33 feet along the interior boundary of the north, south, and west lines of N½, the south line of N½N½, the north line of S½N½, and the north, south, and west lines of N½S½.

5. Leases will be issued to qualified applicants for a term of three years and will contain an option to purchase in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13. Lessees who comply with the general terms and conditions of their leases will be permitted to purchase their tracts at the price listed above providing that during the period of their leases they either (a) construct the improvements specified in paragraph 7 or (b) file a copy of an agreement in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13 (d). Leases will be renewable at the discretion of the Bureau of Land Management and the renewal lease will be subject to such terms and conditions as are deemed necessary in the light of the circumstances and the regulations existing at the time of renewal. However, a lease will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvements is justified under the circumstances and nonrenewal would work an extreme hardship on the lessee. All minerals in the lands will be reserved to the United States.

6. Persons who have previously acquired a tract under the Small Tract Act are not qualified to secure a tract under this order unless they can make a showing satisfactory to the Bureau of Land Management that the acquisition of another tract is warranted in the circumstances.

7. To maintain their rights under their leases, lessees will be required either (a) to construct substantial improvements on their lands, or (b) file a copy of an agreement with their neighbors binding them to construct substantial improvements on their lands. Such improvements must conform with health, sanitation, and construction requirements of local ordinances and must, in addition, meet the following standards:

The residence must be suitable for year-round use, on a permanent foundation, and with a minimum of 400 square feet of floor space. It must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive materials properly finished. Adequate disposal and sanitary facilities must be installed. Conventional concrete or cement slab foundations are acceptable. Concrete piers are not acceptable as foundations.

8. The lands are now open to filing of drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) only by persons entitled to veterans' preference. In brief, persons entitled to such preference are (a) honorably discharged veterans who served in the armed forces of the United States for a period of at least 90 days after September 15, 1940, (b) surviving spouse or minor orphan children of such veterans, and (c) with the consent of the veteran, the spouse of living veterans. The 90-day requirement does not apply to veterans who were discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty or the surviving spouse or minor children of veterans killed in the line of duty. Drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) are available upon request from the Manager, Land Office, 5th Floor Bartlett Building, 215 West Seventh Street, Los Angeles 14, California.

Drawing-entry cards will be accepted if filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and with the above-named official prior to 10:00 a. m., May 30, 1957. A drawing will be held on that date or shortly thereafter. Any person who submits more than one card will be declared ineligible to participate in the drawing. Tracts will be assigned to entrants in the order that their names are drawn. All entrants will be notified of the results of the drawing. Successful entrants will be sent copies of the lease forms (Form 4–776), with instructions as to their execution and return and as to payment of fees and rentals.

9. All valid applications filed prior to January 23, 1957, will be granted the preference right provided for by 43 CFR 257.5 (a).

INDEPENDENT BROADCASTERS ET AL.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of C. E. Wilson and P. D. Jackson, d/b as Independent Broadcasters, Redding, California, Docket No. 11917, File No. BP–10,313; Donnelly C. Reeves, John E. Griffin and A. Judson Sturtevant, Jr., d/b as Placer Broadcasters, Auburn, California, Docket No. 11918, File No. BP–10,560; Charles Everett Halstead, Jr., tr/as Golden State Broadcasters, Auburn, California, Docket No. 11919, File No. BP–10,714; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of January 1957;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned applications for construction permits for new standard broadcast stations by C. E. Wilson and P. D. Jackson, d/b as Independent Broadcasters, to operate on 950 kilocycles with a power of 1 kilowatt, daytime only, at Redding, California, File No. BP–10,313; by Donnelly C. Reeves, John E. Griffin and A. Judson Sturtevant, Jr., d/b as Placer Broadcasters, to operate on 950 kilocycles with a power of 500 watts, directional antenna, daytime only, at Auburn, California, File No. BP–10,560; and by Charles Everett Halstead, Jr., tr/as Golden State Broadcasters, to operate on 930 kilocycles with a power of 500 watts, daytime only, at Auburn, California, File No. BP–10,714:

It appearing that Charles Everett Halstead, Jr. is legally, financially and technically qualified and that Placer Broadcasters and Independent Broadcasters are legally, financially, technically and otherwise qualified, except as may appear from the issues specified below, to construct and operate their proposed stations, but that operation of the stations as proposed by Placer Broadcasters and Golden State Broadcasters and operation of the stations proposed by Placer Broadcasters and Independent Broadcasters would result in mutually destructive interference; that the operation proposed by Placer Broadcasters would involve interference with Station KROW, Oakland, California; that the operation proposed by Golden State Broadcasters would cause interference to Stations KLX, Oakland, California; KOLO, Reno, Nevada; and KFRE, Fresno, California; and would receive interference from Stations KOLO, KFRE and KIEM, Eureka, California, which interference may affect more than 10 percent of the population in the proposed station's normally protected primary service area in contravention of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; that in the application of Golden State Broadcasters datum has not been submitted concerning area and population within the pertinent contours as required by paragraph 12 of section V–A; and

It further appearing that on February 4, 1953, the Commission designated for hearing the application of Charles E. Halstead, tr/as Diamond H. Ranch Broadcasters, for a renewal of license of Station KDIA, Auburndale, California, File No. BR–2544, Docket No. 10405, on issues of whether paid political broadcasts over Station KDIA had not been announced as such, whether programs of other stations had been rebroadcast by KDIA without authorization, whether program and operating logs for KDIA from March 1952 to 1953 had been properly maintained, whether the KDIA antenna tower had been properly maintained with particular respect to painting and lighting, whether annual financial and ownership reports for KDIA were properly filed, whether Charles E. Halstead was qualified to remain licensee of Station KDIA and whether a grant of the application for renewal of license would serve the public interest; that in a letter received by the Commission on July 31, 1953, Mr. Halstead stated that he would not appear at the above-referenced hearing and that he had discontinued the operation of KDIA; that on August 5, 1953, the Commission ordered the application for renewal of license of KDIA dismissed and Station KDIA deleted immediately; and that since Mr. Halstead did not appear at this hearing to present evidence on the issues therein, the questions with respect to his qualifications to be a licensee still obtain; and

It further appearing that, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, these applicants were advised by letter dated October 9, 1956, of the aforementioned deficiencies and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of any one of the applications would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that timely replies were filed by Placer Broadcasters and Independent Broadcasters indicating that they would appear at a hearing on their applications; and

It further appearing that on December 27, 1956, Charles E. Halstead, Jr., filed a reply in which, inter alia, he made a request for a grant without hearing of his application for a construction permit for a new station at Auburn, California, and in support thereof stated that no contravention of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules would obtain and further stated, in an engineering affidavit, that his proposed operation would involve no interference with any existing or other proposed operation, but he submitted no engineering data to substantiate the statements; and

It further appearing that after consideration of the replies the Commission is of the opinion that a hearing on these applications is necessary;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the operations proposed herein, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the operation proposed by Placer Broadcasters would involve objectionable interference with Station KROW, Oakland, California, or any other existing station, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the operation proposed by Golden State Broadcasters would involve objectionable interference with Stations KLX, Oakland, California; KOLO, Reno, Nevada; and KFRE, Fresno, California; or any other existing station, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

4. To determine whether the operation proposed by Golden State Broadcasters would receive interference from Stations KOLO, KFRE and KIEM, Eureka, California; whether the interference received from these stations would affect more than 10 percent of the population in the normally protected primary service area of the operation proposed by Golden State Broadcasters in contravention of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; and, if so, whether circumstances exist which would here warrant a waiver of § 3.28 (c).

5. To determine the qualifications, other than legal, financial and technical, of Charles Everett Halstead, Jr., to be licensee of a station, with particular reference to the following matters which allegedly occurred while he was licensee of Station KDIA, Auburndale, California:

a. Whether programs were broadcast over facilities of Station KDIA as paid political broadcasts by individuals who were not identified over the station's facilities and were unknown to the licensee, in violation of Section 316 of the Communications Act and §§ 3.119 and 3.120 (d) of the Commission's rules, with particular reference to the broadcast of January 21, 1952, at 10:30 p. m.

b. Whether programs of other broadcast stations were rebroadcast over the facilities of Station KDIA in contravention of the provisions of section 325 (a) of the Communications Act and § 3.121 (b) of the Commission's rules, with particular reference to programs of Stations KFRC, San Francisco, California, and KSBR, San Bruno, California.

c. Whether program and operating logs were maintained for Station KDIA in accordance with the requirements of § 3.111 through § 3.113 and § 3.114 of the Commission's rules, with particular regard to the period from March 1, 1952, to March 2, 1953.

d. Whether the antenna tower of Station KDIA was maintained in accordance with the requirements of § 3.45 (d) of the Commission's rules, with particular reference to the painting and lighting of the tower.

e. Whether annual financial reports (Forms 324) and annual ownership reports (Forms 323) were timely filed by the licensee of Station KDIA in accordance with the requirements of §§ 1.341 and 1.343 of the Commission's rules, and, if not, whether such reports were subsequently filed.

6. To determine in light of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, whether the proposal for Redding, California, or one of the proposals for Auburn, California, would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

7. To determine, in the event that one of the proposals for Auburn, California, is favored under Issue 6, which of the applications of Placer Broadcasters and Golden State Broadcasters would better serve the public interest in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues and record made with respect to the significant differences between the applicants as to:

a. The background and experience of each of the two applicants to own and operate the proposed stations.

b. The proposal of each of the two applicants with respect to management and operation of the proposed stations.

c. The programming service proposed in each of the two applications.

8. To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which, if any, of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the Tribune Building Company; KROW, Inc.; Western Broadcasting Company; and California Inland Broadcasting Company; licensees of Stations KLX, Oakland, California; KROW, Oakland, California; KOLO, Reno, Nevada; and KFRE, Fresno, California; respectively, are made parties to the proceeding; and

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants herein and the above parties hereto, shall, pursuant to § 1.387 of the Commission's rules, in person or by an attorney, within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

[Docket No. G-11800]

UNITED GAS PIPELINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

JANUARY 25, 1957.

Take notice that on October 25, 1956, United Gas Pipe Line Company (Applicant) filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain facilities to enable Applicant to receive, into its existing system, natural gas from Magnolia Petroleum Company (Magnolia) from the Green Field, Karnes County, Texas. Applicant subsequently revised its application by its supplemental filing of November 15, 1956, and as a result now seeks authority to:

Construct and operate a purchase meter station and appurtenant facilities on Applicant's existing 10-inch pipeline in the George Hobbermahar Survey, Abstract 591, Bee County, Texas, together with other facilities required from time to time to connect or to take additional deliveries from wells in the Green Field.

Applicant states that the estimated total cost of the above facilities is $2,796, which cost is to be financed out of Applicant's current working funds.

Applicant further states that the above facilities will be used to enable Applicant to take delivery of certain undetermined daily volumes of gas from the Green Field under a purchase contract with the producer, Magnolia, dated September 24, 1956, as amended November 8, 1956. The estimated total volume of proven reserves in place in the Green Field is 6,776,156 Mcf, and of this amount there are under contract to United 5,789,816 Mcf @ 14.73 psia; and the daily capacity of the proposed metering facilities will be approximately 3,204 Mcf at a pressure of 400 psig.

Applicant will receive the gas from the Green Field into its main system, and commingled with Applicant's other supplies will be transported in interstate commerce for resale.

Applicant alleges that it has designated no particular market for the gas to be acquired from this source but states that such gas will help to assure the continued an uninterrupted flow of natural gas to its customers and the construction of the proposed facilities will commence as soon as a certificate is issued. Said facilities can be completed one month therefrom.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on February 27, 1957, at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will not be necessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. [File No. 70-3549]

AMESBURY ELECTRIC LIGHT CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING REGARDING MERGER OF SUBSIDIARIES OF REGISTERED HOLDING COMPANY AND ACQUISITION BY MERGED COMPANY OF CERTAIN PROPERTIES OF AFFILIATED COMPANY

JANUARY 25, 1957.

In the matter of Amesbury Electric Light Company, Essex County Electric Company, Haverhill Electric Company, The Lowell

Electric Light Corporation, New England Power Company, New England Electric System.

Notice is hereby given that New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, and six of its public utility subsidiaries, namely, Amesbury Electric Light Company ("Amesbury"), Essex County Electric Company ("Essex"), Haverhill Electric Company ("Haverhill"), Lawrence Electric Company ("Lawrence"), The Lowell Electric Light Corporation ("Lowell") and New England Power Company ("NEPCO"), have filed a joint application-declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"). Applicants-declarants have designated Sections 6, 7, 9, 10, 12 (d), 12 (e), and 12 (f) of the act and Rules U-43, U-44 and U-62 promulgated thereunder as being applicable to the transactions embraced therein which are summarized as follows:

It is proposed that Amesbury, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell, all electric utility companies distributing electric energy at retail in northeastern Massachusetts, be merged into Essex, an electric utility company also serving electric energy at retail in this same general area, the name of which will be changed to Merrimack-Essex Electric Company. At September 30, 1956, NEES owned 99.7 percent of the capital stock of Amesbury, 68.3 percent of the capital stock of Haverhill, 90.4 percent of the capital stock of Lawrence, 59.4 percent of the capital stock of Lowell, and 97.4 of the capital stock of Essex. Since Massachusetts law requires the approval of at least two-thirds in interest of the stockholders of each of the merging companies and NEES now holds less than such interest in Lowell, it is proposed to solicit authorizations from the public holders of stock of Lowell to effectuate the proposed merger.

The proposed merger is to be effected through an exchange of stock of Essex for the stock of Amesbury, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell and the assumption by Essex of the liabilities of such companies, including $2,750,000 principal amount of first mortgage bonds of Lawrence and $6,000,000 principal amount of the debenture bonds of Lowell. By the terms of the proposed merger, shares of Essex will be exchanged for shares of the merging companies on the following bases:

1.625 shares of Essex for each share of Amesbury now held;

1.875 shares of Essex for each share of Haverhill now held;

1.25 shares of Essex for each share of Lawrence now held;

2.5 shares of Essex for each share of Lowell now held.

NEES proposes to transfer its investment in shares of the merging companies other than Essex into its investment in Essex.

Immediately following the merger Essex will purchase certain 23 KV transmission lines and materials and supplies from NEPCO which are now being used for delivery of electricity from NEPCO's high tension system to the distribution areas of the merged companies. The purchase price of these properties will be at their net book cost at the date of closing. As of September 30, 1956, the cost aggregated approximately $450,000.

In order to finance this acquisition, Essex proposes to borrow from NEES, not in excess of $450,000. These borrowings are to be evidenced by a promissory note of Essex due less than one year from the date of issuance and bearing interest at the prime rate prevailing at the time of the borrowing.

It is stated in the filing that the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities has jurisdiction over the proposed merger, the sale of the 23 KV transmission line by NEPCO and the acquisition thereof by Essex. It is further stated that, if approval of this Commission is obtained, the applicant companies, other than NEES, will file a petition with the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities seeking approval of the transactions within its jurisdiction. It is also represented that the Federal Power Commission has jurisdiction over certain phases of the proposed transactions and that a petition relating thereto will be filed with that Commission by certain of the applicant companies.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a public hearing be held with respect to this matter and that the application should not be granted or declaration permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of the Commission:

It is ordered, That a hearing on said joint application-declaration, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Act and the Rules of the Commission, be held on February 20, 1957, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., at the offices of the Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. On said date the Hearing Room Clerk will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in this proceeding is directed to file with the Securities and Exchange Commission on or before February 18, 1957, a request relative thereto as provided in Rule XVII of the Commission's Rules of Practice.

It is further ordered, That James G. Ewell, or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such hearing. The officer or officers so designated to preside are hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a Hearing Officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Division of Corporate Regulation having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the joint application-declaration and that upon the basis thereof the following matters and questions are presented for consideration, without prejudice to the specifying of additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether the proposed acquisitions by Essex of the properties of Amesbury, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell and the 23 KV transmission lines of NEPCO satisfy the provisions of section 10 of the act, particularly whether such acquisitions will serve the public interest by tending towards the economical and efficient development of an integrated public-utility system.

2. Whether the acquisition by NEES of the additional shares of common stock and the short-term promissory note of Essex satisfies the provisions of section 10 of the act, particularly whether such acquisitions serve the public interest by tending towards the economical and efficient development of an integrated public-utility system.

3. Whether the consideration to be paid by Essex for the utility assets of the merging companies is not reasonable or does not bear a fair relation to the sums invested in or the earning capacity of such utility assets.

4. Whether the terms of the proposed merger, particularly the number of shares of Essex which are to be exchanged for shares of the merging companies, are fair to NEES and to the holders of the stock of the merging companies.

5. Whether the proposed issuances by Essex of its capital stock and short-term promissory note and its assumption of the liabilities of the merging companies satisfy the standards of section 7 of the act.

6. Whether, in connection with such acquisitions and assumptions of liability, the Commission should impose any terms or conditions in the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers.

7. Whether the proposed solicitation material to be sent to the stockholders of Lowell is in conformity with the standards of section 12 (e) of the act and Rule U-62 promulgated thereunder.

8. Whether the accounting entries proposed to be recorded in connection with the proposed transactions are proper, conform to sound accounting principles, and meet the standards of the act and rules and regulations thereunder.

9. Whether the fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions are not reasonable.

10. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act, and the rules and regulations thereunder, and if not, what modifications or terms and conditions should be required or imposed to meet such requirements.

It is further ordered, That particular attention be directed at the public hearing to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of this Commission shall give notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing copies of this notice and order by registered mail to the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, The Federal Power Commission, NEES, Amesbury, Essex, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell and NEPCO, and that notice to all other persons shall be given by publication of this Notice and Order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by a general release of this Commission in respect of this Notice and Order which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the persons appearing on the mailing list of the Commission for releases under the act.

It is further ordered, That New England Electric System shall cause a copy of this notice and order to be mailed to each of the stockholders of the companies being merged (in so far as the identity of such security holders are known) at least 15 days prior to the hearing date on the application-declaration.

NORTHWEST OIL AND REFINING CORP.

ORDER, TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JANUARY 25, 1957.

I. Northwest Oil and Refining Corporation ("Northwest"), a Delaware corporation, 120 North 30th Street, Billings, Montana, filed with the Commission on December 26, 1956, a notification, and subsequently filed an amendment thereto, relating to an offering of 150,000 shares of its common stock, par value $1.00, at $2.00 per share, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

II. The Commission has reasonable cause to believe that the notification contains untrue statements of material facts and omits to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements made in the light of the circumstances under which they are made not misleading in that:

1. The offering circular omits:

a. To set forth the amount to be paid each of the sellers of properties.

b. To set forth clearly the interests York Montana Company has in the producing properties.

c. To give adequate information as to the operating history and earnings of the refinery.

d. To set forth adequate information relative to the average of and range of operating costs per barrel of crude oil produced from the various leases.

e. To set forth the average of and range of the API gravity of the oil produced and the average price received per barrel.

f. To set forth the percentage of water in the fluid produced in each well.

g. To set forth the terms of Northwest's contract to purchase, including

(1) What rights Northwest will have to commence operations prior to December 31, 1960, the date for the completion of the payments thereunder.

(2) What forfeiture provisions are contained in the contract of purchase.

h. To show, in connection with the interests which Northwest has contracted to purchase:

(1) The manner in which John Stuart acquired the rights assigned to Northwest.

(2) The terms of the agreement to purchase assigned by Stuart to Northwest.

i. To show the relationship between the Hanlon Oil Company and Northwest.

j. To furnish adequate financial statements of the issuer's predecessor, the Hanlon Oil Company.

2. The offering circular is inaccurate and misleading:

a. By inclusion of a reserve report nearly one year old without any deduction for oil produced between the date of such report and the present date, either by a supplemental note to such report or by any statement elsewhere in the offering circular.

b. By inclusion of a reserve report covering certain interests which, according to the offering circular, are not to be owned by the issuer.

c. By implying in the description of properties that a 100 percent interest was held in certain properties, when it appears only a 51-percent interest was obtained.

d. By inclusion of an operation statement showing the total net income from 100 percent interests in properties, when the issuer does not have the 100 percent interest in some of the properties. A footnote to the schedule only partly shows the actual interests.

III. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 261 of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, temporarily suspended.

Notice is hereby given to Northwest Oil and Refining Corporation and to any person having any interest in the matter that this order has been entered, that the Commission upon receipt of a written request within thirty days after the entry of this order will, within twenty days after the receipt of such request, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether to vacate the order or to enter an order permanently suspending the exemption without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing, that if no hearing is requested and none is ordered by the Commission, the order shall become permanent on the thirtieth day after its entry and shall remain in effect unless or until it is modified or vacated by the Commission, and that notice of the time and place for any hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

By the Commission.

lished as provided in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section. In order to receive payment at the announced rate in effect at the time of sale, it is important that the exporter give timely Notice of Sale as required by § 483.135 (a) and present documentary evidence that the sale was entered into at such time.

* * * * *

(g) If the time of day at which the sale was entered into is not established and two payment rates are in effect on the day the sale was entered into, the time of sale will be deemed to occur at the time the lower of the two rates was in effect.

4. Section 483.137 Declaration of sale and evidence of sale is further amended by renumbering paragraph (b) (15) as (b) (16) and adding a new paragraph (b) (15) which will read as follows:

(b) Information required. * * *

(15) Where the exporter intends to ship, transship, or cause wheat to be shipped or transshipped to one or more of the countries or areas identified in § 483.106 (b) (1), (2) and (3), the license issued by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce, for such movement, shall be identified. With respect to any such movement to Hong Kong not requiring a specific license, the exporter shall state that a specific license is not required.

5. Section 483.145 is amended to read as follows:

§ 483.145 Application for Wheat Export Payment. An original and two (2) copies of Application for Wheat Export Payment, CCC Form 357, must be prepared and submitted together with the evidence of exportation, as provided in § 483.147, to the CSS Commodity Office shown on the acknowledged copy of the Declaration of Sale which is returned to the exporter. Applications for certificates earned on shipments in connection with which the exporter purchased wheat from CCC for simultaneous loading as provided in § 483.158 (b) (3), shall be annotated to show that the transaction was a simultaneous loading and to identify the sales contract number assigned by CCC to the sale of wheat for simultaneous loading. Exporter should submit application as soon as possible after exportation as the face value of the certificate is subject to discount as provided in § 483.146 (b). Supplies of CCC Form 357 and detailed instructions regarding the preparation and submisison of the form may be obtained from the CSS Commodity Offices in Chicago, Dallas and Portland (Oregon).

The last sentence of paragraph (d) of § 483.146 Description of certificate is amended by inserting following the word "restrictions" the words "contained in § 483.146 and in the sections beginning with § 483.155 through the end of this subpart applicable to the person or firm to whom it was originally issued." The amended paragraph reads as follows:

(d) General provisions. The Wheat Export Payment Certificate will be redeemable in wheat which Commodity Credit Corporation makes available from its stocks. The certificate may be presented to the Chicago, Dallas or Portland offices of Commodity Stabilization Service, as provided in § 483.155, for wheat handled by the office to which submitted. The certificate may be transferred by endorsement subject to all terms, conditions and restrictions contained in § 483.146 and in the sections beginning with § 483.155 through the end of this subpart, applicable to the person or firm to whom it was originally issued.

Section 483.147 (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 483.147 Documents required as evidence of exportation. (a) Each application for Wheat Export Payment (CCC Form 357) must be supported by the following documents as applicable unless otherwise approved by the Director.

(1) If the exportation is by water, a non-negotiable copy of the applicable on-board ship ocean bill of lading signed by an agent of the ocean carrier, which shows the weight of the wheat, the name of the vessel, and that the wheat is destined for the foreign buyer(s) and the country of destination identified on the Declaration of Sale. In the case of bagged wheat, ocean bill of lading showing the gross weight of the wheat and the number of bags may be furnished, provided the ocean bill of lading also shows the weight of the bags or the exporter furnishes an acceptable certification as to the weight of the bags. Where loss, destruction or damage to the wheat occurs subsequent to loading aboard the ocean carrier but prior to issuance of on-board ship bill of lading one copy of a loading tally sheet or acceptable similar document may be substituted for the ocean bill of lading. If the country of destination shown on the ocean bill of lading differs from that shown on the Declaration of Sale, the exporter shall also furnish one copy of Shipper's Export Declaration, authenticated by the appropriate United States Custom official, showing that the country of destination is, in fact, the country named in the Declaration of Sale or, with the approval of the Director, a certification by the exporter that the country of destination is, in fact, the country named in the Declaration of Sale.

(2) If exportation is by rail or truck, one copy of Shipper's Export Declaration, authenticated by the appropriate United States Customs official, which identifies the shipment(s), the date of clearance into the foreign country and the weight of the wheat, or if bagged, the weight of the wheat less the weight of the bags.

(3) One copy of an Export Grain Inspection Certificate issued by an inspector licensed under the United States Grain Standards Act. If the Inspection Certificate shows mixed wheat, it will be necessary for the grade designation to show the approximate percentage of each class of wheat which constitutes more than 10 percent of the mixture.

(4) On bulk wheat, a copy of the official loading weight certificate.

(5) Where shipment is exported from a Canadian port,

(i) One signed or certified true copy of the bill of lading or other document covering the movement of the wheat from the United States to Canada, and

(ii) One signed or certified true copy of the document evidencing the holding of the wheat in customs bond in Canada.

8. Section 483.158 (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 483.158 Payment terms and financial arrangements. (a) The amount due CCC for wheat purchased hereunder shall be paid by the purchaser by surrender to CCC of properly endorsed Certificate(s) earned prior to the date of sale by CCC, or in the case of simultaneous loading, as provided in paragraph (b) (3) of this section, with certificates earned on such simultaneous loading. If the purchaser does not make payment in such manner, such purchaser may be denied the right to continue participating in the program. If certificates having a value in excess of the purchase price are surrendered by the purchaser to CCC, unless otherwise requested by the purchaser the certificates having the earliest dates of export shall be applied first to the purchase and any certificates not applied shall be returned to the purchaser. If the value of certificates applied to the purchase exceeds the purchase price, such excess will be adjusted by issuance and delivery to the purchaser of a balance certificate which may be used on a subsequent purchase from CCC. The date of export shown on the balance certificate will be the date shown on the original certificate, or if more than one certificate is applied to the purchase, the date of export shown on the balance certificate will be the latest date of export shown on a certificate applied to the purchase, unless otherwise requested by the purchaser. The purchaser may request that the balance certificate be issued with the date of export shown on any certificate submitted provided the face value of such certificate exceeds the face value of the balance certificate. The face value of the balance certificate will be determined by deducting from the face value of certificates surrendered to CCC in connection with the purchase of wheat the amount of the purchase price of the wheat and any discount applicable to the portion of the certificates being applied to the purchase under § 483.146.

9. Section 483.161 (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 483.161 Export requirements. (a) The purchaser shall, within 60 days after delivery of the wheat to him or within such extension of that period as may for good cause be authorized by CCC in writing before or after expiration of such 60-day period, cause exportation to a designated country as defined in § 483.106 of wheat equal in quantity and of the same class and from the same coast in the United States as the wheat delivered by CCC. The requirement that wheat of the same class be exported may be satisfied by exporting a quantity of mixed wheat which contains, as evidenced by the Export Grain Inspection Certificate, a quantity of wheat at least equal in of Sale, or (b) a 1 percent tolerance if no loading tolerance is shown on the Declaration of Sale. A new Declaration of Sale and a new Notice of Registration are required for any additional quantity loaded.

3. Paragraphs (d) (e) and (g) of § 483.131 Determination of rates are amended to read as follows:

(d) Sales may be made through a third principal party but for the purpose of this subpart the third principal party will be considered as an agent or intermediary and the sale as being between the exporter and the foreign buyer. The time of sale shall be determined by reference to the factors listed elsewhere in this section. The evidence of sale required by § 483.137 (d) shall include documents exchanged between the exporter, the foreign buyer, and the intermediate third party.

(e) A sale shall not be considered as entered into until the purchase price has been established, and time of sale shall be the earliest time on which a firm contract exists between the foreign buyer and the exporter and on which a firm dollar and cent price has been estabquantity and of the same class as that delivered by CCC.

10. Section 483.162 is amended to read as follows:

§ 483.162 Proof of exportation. (a) Proof of exportation shall be furnished within the period specified above and shall consist of:

(1) In the case of wheat exported by water, a non-negotiable copy, certified by the exporter as true and correct, of the applicable on-board ship ocean bill of lading, signed by an agent of the ocean carrier, showing the weight of the wheat, the date and place of loading, the name of the vessel, the name and address of the purchaser and the consignee, the destination, and the CCC sales contract number. In the case of bagged wheat, ocean bill of lading showing the gross weight and number of bags may be furnished, provided the ocean bill of lading also shows the weight of the bags or the exporter furnishes an acceptable certification as to the weight of the bags. Where loss, destruction, or damage to the wheat occurs subsequent to loading aboard the ocean carrier but prior to issuance of on-board bill of lading one copy of a loading tally sheet or acceptable similar document may be substituted for the ocean bill of lading.

(2) If exportation is by rail or truck, one copy of Shipper's Export Declaration, authenticated by the appropriate United States Customs official, which identifies the shipment(s), the date of clearance into the foreign country, the weight of the wheat, or, if bagged, the weight of the wheat less the weight of the bags, and the CCC sales contract number.

(3) A copy of an Export Grain Inspection Certificate issued by an inspector licensed under the U. S. Grain Standards Act, showing the class and grade of wheat exported. If the Inspection Certificate shows Mixed wheat, it will be necessary for the grade designation to show the approximate percentage of each class of wheat which constitutes more than 10 percent of the mixture.

(4) On bulk wheat a copy of the official loading weight certificate.

(5) Such additional proof of exportation as may be required by CCC.

11. Section 483.187 is amended to read as follows:

§ 483.187 Wheat. "Wheat" means wheat grown in the United States and as defined in the official Grain Standards of the United States. The quantity of wheat exported which is eligible for export payment and which satisfies the exportation requirements of this subpart, shall be determined by deducting from the weight of the wheat (which shall not include the weight of any bags) any dockage indicated on the inspection certificate issued at the time of loading for export.

APPENDIX—NOTICE TO EXPORTERS

The Department of Commerce, Bureau of Foreign Commerce (BFC) pursuant to the regulations under the Export Control Act of 1949, prohibits the exportation or re-exportation by anyone of any commodities under this program to Macao, Hong Kong, the Soviet Bloc, or Communist-controlled areas of the Far East including Communist China, North Korea and Communist-controlled areas of Vietnam and Laos, except under license issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Foreign Commerce. These regulations further require that persons exporting, in the form acquired or in a processed form, under general license to friendly countries, commodities which are obtained directly or indirectly from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) or commodities which are in substitution for commodities so obtained from CCC or commodities which are subsidized for export by CCC either through cash payment or payments in kind file with the Collector of Customs (in addition to any copies required for other purposes) one copy of the Shipper's Export Declaration for forwarding to BFC and send to BFC, Washington 25, D. C., one copy of the On-Board Ocean Bill of Lading (for exportations by rail, one copy of the Railroad Bill of Lading), for each shipment, regardless of value, involving sales of cotton textiles, other than cotton waste, of $10,000 or more and involving sale of all other commodities, including cotton waste, of $100,000 or more: Provided, That copies of the Shipper's Export Declaration and the Bill of Lading for BFC are not required to be submitted covering any shipments to Group O countries of cotton textiles other than cotton waste.

In the case of commodities purchased from CCC, or commodities being exported as "substitute" for such commodities, the $100,000 figure applies to the sales contract between the CCC and the U. S. purchaser. For commodities being exported under CCC Export subsidy programs, the $10,000 figure for cotton textiles (other than cotton waste) and the $100,000 figure for all other commodities (including cotton waste) apply to the sale contract between the U. S. seller and the foreign purchaser. Each of the documents for BFC must bear the notation "FC–2610" in the upper right-hand corner. The Bill of Lading for BFC must also bear the number of the corresponding Shipper's Export Declaration and the CCC identification number (CCC sales contract number or CCC subsidy registration number).

For all exportations of commodities covered by the program announcement, instrument or document which this Notice accompanies, the following statement is required to be placed on all copies of the Shipper's Export Declaration, all copies of the Bill of Lading and all copies of the commercial invoice to the foreign purchaser:

"U. S. law prohibits disposition of these commodities to the Soviet Bloc, Communist China, North Korea, Communist-controlled areas of Vietnam and Laos, Macao, or Hong Kong, except as authorized by the U. S."

The U. S. Commerce Department export control regulations also require that exporters, in or in connection with their contracts with foreign purchasers, where the contract involves $10,000 or more and exportation is to be made to a Group R country, obtain from the foreign purchaser a written acknowledgment of his understanding of (1) U. S. Commerce Department prohibitions (Comprehensive Export Schedule, Sections 371.4 and 371.8) against sale or resale for re-export of said commodities or any part thereof, without express Commerce Department authorization, to Macao, Hong Kong, the Soviet Bloc, a Communist-controlled area in the Far East including Communist China, North Korea and Communist-controlled areas of Vietnam and Laos, and (2) the sanction or denial of future U. S. export privileges that may be imposed against any foreign purchaser for violation of the Commerce Department regulations. Exporters who have a continuing and regular relationship with a foreign purchaser may obtain a blanket acknowledgment from such purchaser covering all transactions involving surplus agricultural commodities and manufacturers thereof purchased from CCC or subsidized for export by that agency.

Where commodities are to be exported by a party other than the original purchaser of the commodities from the CCC the original purchaser should inform the exporter in writing of the requirement, for (1) obtaining the signed acgnowledgment from the foreign purchaser, and (2) for submitting the additional copy of the Shipper's Export Declaration and the Bill of Lading.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Navel Orange Reg. 103, Amdt. 1]

PART 914—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF HANDLING

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 14, as amended (7 CFR Part 914; 21 F. R. 4707), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective September 22, 1953, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (i) and (ii) of § 914.403 (Navel Orange Regulation 103, 22 F. R. 521) are hereby amended to read as follows:

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Civil Aeronautics Manual 1, Suppl. 1.]

PART 1—CERTIFICATION, IDENTIFICATION, AND MARKING OF AIRCRAFT AND RELATED PRODUCTS

FABRICATION INSPECTION SYSTEM

A new § 1.55–3 is added to require manufacturers to establish a fabrication inspection system within six months from the date of initial production of replacement or modification parts to assure that such parts are in conformity with the design data and safe for installation on type certificated products. Standards for the inspection system are also set forth.

Proposed rules were published in 21 F. R. 8820, on November 14, 1956. All interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to submit written views, data or argument and consideration has been given to all relevant data presented.

Accordingly, a new § 1.55–3 is added to read as follows:

§ 1.55–3 Fabrication inspection system (CAA rules which apply to § 1.55). Section 1.55 requires the manufacturer of replacement or modification parts to comply with § 1.15 (d) and thereby establish an inspection system. Persons manufacturing replacement or modification parts for sale shall establish within six months from the date of initial production of the parts and thereafter maintain a fabrication inspection system to assure that such parts are in conformity with the design data and safe for installation on type certificated products.

(a) Inspection system standards. The inspection system shall provide assurance for the following, where appropriate:

(1) That all incoming materials used in the finished part are as specified in the design data.

(2) That all incoming material is properly identified when physical and chemical properties cannot otherwise be readily and accurately determined.

(3) That all materials subject to damage and deterioration are suitably stored and adequately protected.

(4) That all processes affecting quality and safety of the finished product are accomplished in accordance with acceptable specifications.

(5) That parts in process are inspected for conformity with the design data at points in production where accurate determination can be made. Statistical quality control procedures may be employed where it is shown that a satisfactory level of quality will be maintained for the particular part involved.

(6) That current design drawings are readily available to manufacturing and inspection personnel, and used when necessary.

(7) That major changes to the basic design are adequately controlled and approved before being incorporated in the finished part.

(8) That rejected materials and components are segregated and identified in such a manner as to preclude their use in the finished part.

(9) That inspection records are maintained, identified with the completed part, where practicable, and retained in the manufacturer's file for a period of at least two years after the part has been completed.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984 as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 603, 52 Stat. 1007, 1009 as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 553)

Should any air show be performed near an area of exceptionally high real estate values, property damage insurance should be increased proportionately.

(d) Extent of coverage. The insurance policy must state clearly the intent to cover accidents caused by or resulting from the maintenance, use, or operation of aircraft or equipment material, owned by the United States Government and officers or employees of the United States Government acting within the scope of their employment. (i) An officer, except an officer of the Retired Reserve, who is not on orders to report for extended active duty or active duty for training, may apply for appointment as a commissioned or warrant officer or for enlistment in another service or any component thereof without jeopardizing his current status provided that a conditional release from his status as a Reserve officer of the Air Force is obtained. Upon approval of a request for conditional release, the Commander, Continental Air Command, will advise the officer in writing that appropriate action will be taken to announce the termination of his appointments in the United States Air Force upon receipt of documentary evidence from the gaining service of the date the officer enlisted or accepted appointment in the other service or in any component thereof.

(ii) Upon receipt of documentary evidence from the gaining service that an officer has been inducted, has enlisted, or accepted appointment in any of the services outlined in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph or in any component thereof, action will be taken to announce termination of the officer's appointments in the United States Air Force effective as of the date immediately preceding date of induction, enlistment, or acceptance of appointment in gaining service. If the officer has unfulfilled service obligations the letter of notification will also contain a statement that the records of the officer show, that as of the date his appointments in the United States Air Force were terminated, he had completed (years, months, and days) service toward fulfillment of his service obligations as outlined in § 861.851 (e). It will also contain a statement that termination of his appointments in the United States Air Force under this section does not constitute fulfillment of his service obligations. (3) Acceptance of an appointment as a commissioned officer in the Regular Air Force or of an appointment as a Reserve commissioned officer of the Air Force automatically vacates any appointment currently held as a Reserve warrant officer of the Air Force.

(4) Officers of the Air Force Reserve who become federally recognized officers of the Air National Guard in the same grade in which they are appointed as Reserve officers of the Air Force cease to be members of the Air Force Reserve but they are not separated from their appointments as Reserve officers of the Air Force. Officers of the Air Force Reserve who are found qualified for Federal recognition in the Air National Guard in a grade other than the grade in which they are currently appointed as Reserve officers of the Air Force upon acceptance of new appointments as Reserve officers of the Air Force and extension of Federal recognition in the latter grade, automatically vacate their prior appointments as Reserve officers of the Air Force and also cease to be members of the Air Force Reserve.

§ 861.853 Reasons for discharge. Any officer, including an officer who has a service obligation as outlined in § 861.851 (e) unless otherwise indicated, whose retention in the Air Force Reserve becomes incompatible or inconsistent with the best interest of the Air Force will be discharged. Additionally, current legislation provides that officers will be mandatorily discharged from the service when certain conditions as outlined therein are met. Also, other conditions may exist or arise which will require that they be discharged from the service. (VETERINARY AND MEDICAL SERVICE OFFICERS)

In Part 887, §§ 887.151 to 887.156 are revised to read as follows:

Sec.
887.151 Purpose.
887.152 Policy.
887.153 Definitions.
887.154 Grade determination.
887.155 Eligibility.
887.156 Periods.

AUTHORITY: §§ 887.151 to 887.157 issued under R. S. 161, sec. 202, 61 Stat. 500, as amended; 5 U. S. C. 22, 171a. Interpret or apply 70 Stat. 582.

DERIVATION: AFR 36–31, September 13, 1956.

§ 887.151 Purpose. Sections 887.151 to 887.157 establish the eligibility requirements and the procedure for application and appointment of commissioned officers (male and female) in the Regular Air Force with a view to designation for the performance of veterinary and medical service duties. Selection for such appointment will be based upon professional background and experience.

§ 887.152 Policy. The policy of the Air Force is to conduct an orderly build-up of the Regular Air Force toward authorized officer strength. This build-up will be accomplished by tendering Regular Air Force appointments in the grades of second lieutenant through lieutenant colonel to those persons who possess officer qualities, ability, and experience required by the Air Force. Vacancies exist in the Regular officer structure in promotion list service groups. Accordingly, applications will be considered for existing vacancies in promotion list service groups. At the time of appointment, any person, who would be entitled to a permanent grade in the Regular Air Force which is higher than the temporary or Reserve grade in which serving on active duty, is not eligible for appointment under §§ 887.151 to 887.157; this determination will be made by Headquarters USAF. Final selections of applicants will be accomplished by a board of officers at Headquarters USAF. Those applicants considered best qualified to meet the requirements of the Air Force will be selected. Such factors as manner of performance, breadth of experience, type of assignments, technical competence, and any substantiated derogatory information will be evaluated. The recommendations of the Headquarters USAF selection board will be final.

§ 878.88 Gold star lapel buttons. This lapel button is made up of a gold star one-fourth inch in diameter mounted on a purple disc three-fourths inch in diameter. The star is surrounded by a wreath of gold laurel leaves five-eighths inch in diameter. The opposite side bears the inscription, "United States of America, Act of Congress, August 1947," and has space for engraving the recipient's initials. It has either a pin or clutch type fastening device.

(a) To whom awarded. The Gold Star Lapel Button is awarded to widows, widowers, parents and certain other relatives of members of the United States Armed Forces who lost their lives in the armed services of the United States during World War I (April 6, 1917 to March 3, 1921); World War II (September 8, 1939 to July 25, 1947 at 12 o'clock noon); Korean Operation (June 27, 1950 to July 27, 1954). It also may be awarded to the next of kin of members who lose their lives during any future war or period of armed hostilities in which the United States may be engaged.

(1) Initial issue (without cost). One Gold Star Lapel Button is furnished without cost to the widow or widower (re-married or not), and to each parent (mother, father, stepmother, stepfather, mother through adoption, father through adoption and foster parents who stood in loco parentis).

(2) Initial issue (at cost). One button is furnished, at cost, to each child, brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister, step-child and adopted child.

(3) Replacements. Relatives may obtain, at cost, replacements for Gold Star Lapel Buttons that have been lost, destroyed or rendered unfit for use through no fault or neglect of the persons to whom they were furnished.

(4) Source of supply. Gold Star Lapel Buttons, either the initial issue or replacement, may be obtained by writing to the Director, Air Force Records Center, Defense Military Personnel in line of duty while honorably serving in the Air Force.

§ 878.90 Favorable communications. A favorable communication is any letter, memorandum or similar communication which cites some unusual achievement or service that does not meet the requirements for awarding a decoration. PART 887—APPOINTMENT OF OFFICER PERSONNEL

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS IN THE REGULAR AIR FORCE

(VETERINARY AND MEDICAL SERVICE OFFICERS)

In Part 887, §§ 887.151 to 887.156 are revised to read as follows:

Sec.
887.151 Purpose.
887.152 Policy.
887.153 Definitions.
887.154 Grade determination.
887.155 Eligibility.

AUTHORITY: §§ 887.151 to 887.157 issued under R. S. 161, sec. 202, 61 Stat. 500, as amended; 5 U. S. C. 22, 171a. Interpret or apply 70 Stat. 582.

DERIVATION: AFR 36-31, September 13, 1956.

§ 887.151 Purpose. Sections 887.151 to 887.157 establish the eligibility requirements and the procedure for application and appointment of commissioned officers (male and female) in the Regular Air Force with a view to designation for the performance of veterinary and medical service duties. Selection for such appointment will be based upon professional background and experience.

§ 887.152 Policy. The policy of the Air Force is to conduct an orderly build-up of the Regular Air Force toward authorized officer strength. This build-up will be accomplished by tendering Reg-

However, the President may remove from the recommended list the name of any officer who has been selected for appointment by Headquarters USAF selection board, but who, in his opinion, is not qualified for appointment.

§ 887.153 Definitions—(a) Organization commander. The commander of the organization to which the applicant is actually assigned for administrative purposes.

(b) Test control officer. The officer responsible for administering personnel research tests.

(c) Major air commander. The commander responsible for the operation and administration of any organization designated a major air command who reports directly to the Chief of Staff, USAF.

(d) Regular officer selection test. The Air Force Personnel Research Test 423 for a male or Air Force Personnel Research Test 424 for a female is used to measure certain qualities which are important to success as a commissioned officer.

(e) Headquarters USAF. Refers to the Director of Personnel Procurement and Training, Headquarters USAF, attention: AFPTR–P–3A, Washington 25, D. C.

(f) Promotion list service credit. That credit awarded for the purpose of determining grade, position on a promotion list, seniority in his grade in the Regular Air Force, and eligibility for promotion.

(g) Special effectiveness report. That special USAF Officer Effectiveness Report (AF Form 77) furnished by the applicant's commander and submitted as part of the application for a Regular Air Force appointment.

§ 887.154 Grade determination—(a) Service credit. (1) For the purpose of determining grade, position on a promotion list, seniority in his grade in the Regular Air Force, eligibility for promotion, and mandatory retirement or elimination under the Officer Personnel Act of 1947, as amended pursuant to section 8296 of Title 10, United States Code, a person appointed under §§ 887.151 to 887.157 will be credited at the time of his appointment with the active Federal commissioned service in the Armed Forces that he performed after becoming 21 years of age and before his appointment. In addition and for the same purposes, a person may be credited by Headquarters USAF with not more than 2 years of constructive service.

(2) Each person appointed with a view to designation for the performance of duty as a veterinary officer will be credited at the time of his appointment, in addition to the service with which he is credited under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and for the purposes of determining grade, position on the promotion list, seniority in Regular grade, and eligibility for promotion, with 2 years of service.

(3) A person appointed with a view to designation as a medical service officer, and who, at the time of appointment holds a degree of doctor of philosophy or a comparable degree in a science allied to medicine, so recognized by the Surgeon General, USAF, will be credited at the time of his appointment, in addition to the service with which he is credited under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and for the same purposes, with 3 years of service.

(b) Permanent grades. (1) Based on promotion list service credit as outlined in paragraph (a) of this section, commissioned grade of appointment will be as follows:

Promotion list service credit:	Grade
Less than 3 years	Second lieutenant.
3 but less than 7 years.	First lieutenant.
7 but less than 14 years.	Captain.
14 but less than 21 years	Major.
21 or more years	Lieutenant colonel.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no person, who was a cadet at the United States Air Force Academy or the United States Military Academy, or a midshipman at the United States Naval Academy, may be originally appointed in a commissioned grade in the Regular Air Force before the date on which his classmates at that Academy are graduated and appointed as officers. No person, who was enrolled at, but did not graduate from, an Academy, may be credited, upon appointment as a commissioned officer of the Regular Air Force, with longer service than that credited to any member of his class at that Academy whose service in the Air Force, or in the Army and the Air Force has been continuous since graduation.

(2) To prevent loss of seniority among newly appointed Regular officers and to eliminate a delay in promoting those Regular officers already on the promotion list, the appointment of an officer, who is within 6 months of becoming eligible for appointment in the next higher grade in the Regular Air Force at the time of selection, will be delayed until after the date on which he completes the necessary service for appointment in the next higher grade.

(3) The name of each person appointed under §§ 887.151 to 887.157 will be placed on the promotion list immediately below the most junior officer of the same grade who has the same or next greater amount of service credit, and will be awarded the appropriate date of rank in permanent grade.

(c) Temporary grade. Appointment in the Regular Air Force will not affect grade or date of rank in temporary grade held by appointee. A Reserve of the Air Force commission or Regular warrant officer appointment will be vacated on the day before the date of execution of oath of office as a Regular Air Force officer. An officer accepting a Regular Air Force appointment, who is serving in his Reserve of the Air Force grade equivalent to or higher than his Regular Air Force grade, will be tendered a temporary United States Air Force appointment in the equivalent or higher grade with no change in current active duty date of rank.

§ 887.155 Eligibility. Each person applying under §§ 887.151 to 887.157 must meet the eligibility requirements contained in paragraphs (a) through (g) of this section. Waivers are not authorized except as provided for in paragraphs (b) and (c) (4) of this section.

(a) Current status. An applicant must hold a valid appointment as a Reserve of the Air Force officer or USAF temporary officer and must be serving as a commissioned officer in the active military service, and currently designated to perform medical service or veterinary duties pursuant to sections 8067, 8211, 8296, 8574 of Title 10, United States Code. In the event that an officer's established date of separation occurs before receipt of appointment, he may apply for indefinite active duty status, or, he may, upon approval of his organization commander, sign a specified period of time contract extending his date of separation until June 30, 1958, unless sooner released from extended active duty for the convenience of the Government. A person, released from active duty for any reason after submission of application, will no longer be considered for a Regular Air Force appointment.

(b) Age. At time of appointment, a person may not exceed the age of 30 by more than the number of years, months, and days he has served on active duty as a commissioned officer in the Armed Forces of the United States after attaining the age of 21. The Secretary of the Air Force may waive the above age limitation when, in his opinion, there is an inadequate number of officers with the required qualifications; but no person may be appointed if he is above the age which would permit him to complete 20 years of active Federal commissioned service before he attains his 55th birthday. Therefore, any person, who could complete a total of 20 years' active Federal commissioned service before reaching his 55th birthday may apply.

(c) Education—(1) Veterinary. Each applicant must be a graduate of a veterinary school acceptable to the Surgeon General, USAF, and legally authorized to confer the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, or its equivalent.

(2) Medical service officers. While not mandatory, a baccalaureate degree or higher degree in business or hospital administration, engineering, management, or its related fields or in the sciences, is desirable. An applicant must have been granted a minimum of 60 semester hours (90 quarter hours) credit toward a baccalaureate degree from a college or university listed by the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in part 3 of the Education Directory, Higher Education published annually, or Accredited Higher Institutions, as having either:

(i) Nationwide accreditation.

(ii) Regional accreditation.

(iii) Accreditation by a national professional association.

(iv) Unconditional admission to the graduate school of a State university, or

(v) Full transfer credit to a State university.

(3) An applicant whose credits are from a college or university which does not meet the criteria outlined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph will be considered as meeting the educational requirement, provided that he obtains a written statement from any nationally or regionally accredited college or university, indicating that a sufficient number of his credits are acceptable for admission to at least full junior standing.

(4) An applicant may request, in writing, waiver of the requirements in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph. Such waiver will be subject to final approval by Headquarters USAF.

(d) Citizenship. An applicant must be a citizen of the United States. An applicant who is not a citizen by birth must furnish a certificate by an officer, notary public, or any other person authorized by law to administer oaths, giving the following information:

I certify that I have this date seen the original Certificate of Citizenship Number ----------(or certified copy of court order establishing citizenship) stating that ---------- was admitted to United States citizenship by the ------- Court of----------, (District or county)
---------- on ----------
(State) (Date)
The following person was named in the certificate as a minor child: ----------
age ----------.

NOTE: Facsimiles or copies, photographic or otherwise, will not be made of naturalization certificates under any circumstances. Act of 25 June 1948 (62 Stat. 767; 18 U. S. C. 1426 (h)) provides that "whoever, without lawful authority, prints, photographs, makes or executes any print or impression in the likeness of a certificate of arrival, declaration of intention to become a citizen, or certificate of naturalization or citizenship, or any part thereof, shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both."

(e) Medical. An applicant must be medically qualified. Standard Form 88, "Report of Medical Examination," and Standard Form 89, "Report of Medical History," will not be submitted with the application, but will be requested before appointment.

(f) Background. An applicant must be of such background, character, and reputation to insure that his appointment into the Regular Air Force would be clearly consistent with the interests of the Air Force. Each applicant selected for appointment must be the subject of a favorable National Agency Check before the date of official tender of appointment. Any person, who is or has been a conscientious objector, may not be commissioned in the Regular Air Force.

(g) Dependents. A male applicant is not restricted with regard to dependents. However, a female applicant, who is the parent by birth or adoption of a child under 18 years of age of whom she has personal or legal custody; is the stepparent of a child under 18 years of age and the child is within her household for a period of more than 30 days a year; or has or assumes personal custody of any child under 18 years of age, may not be appointed.

§ 887.156 Periods—(a) Probationary period. The appointment of any person under §§ 887.151 to 887.157 is probationary for 3 years and may be revoked by the Secretary of the Air Force at any time before the third anniversary of the acceptance of such appointment.

(b) Application period. An application may be submitted during the period October 15, 1956, to March 14, 1957. An application submitted after March 14, 1957, will be returned by the organization commander to the applicant. An application submitted under §§ 887.151 to 887.157 will remain valid until a new application period is announced by Headquarters USAF.

§ 887.157 Application. An applicant must comply with the following instructions:

(a) Submitting applications. The application will be submitted to the applicant's organization commander and will consist of the following completed documents:

(1) Two copies of AF Form 17, "Application for Appointment in the Regular Air Force." Each applicant will plainly mark at the top of the application form "Veterinary or Medical Service Officer."

(2) Original or photostat of authenticated transcripts substantiating education, or, if applicable, a written statement from any nationally or regionally accredited college or university, indicating that a sufficient number of his credits are acceptable for admission to at least full junior standing or a written request for waiver of educational requirement.

(3) Certificate from an officer verifying citizenship by naturalization as required in § 887.155 (d), if applicable.

(4) Five copies of DD Form 398, "Statement of Personal History," and one completed FBI Applicant Fingerprint Card, if applicant has not been the subject of a favorable National Agency Check or complete background investigation during current tour of active duty.

(5) Any other papers or statements considered relevant by the applicant.

(b) Testing. Veterinary officers, Medical Service officers with a baccalaureate degree or higher degree in business or hospital administration, engineering, management or related fields, or in the sciences, and officers with 5 or more years of active Federal commissioned service as of December 31, 1957, need not be tested. All other applicants will report for testing at the designated time and place, or make prior arrangements which are satisfactory to the appropriate commander.

(c) Distinguished graduates. An applicant, who has been designated a Distinguished Aviation Cadet graduate, Distinguished Officer Candidate graduate, or Distinguished Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps graduate, should attach to his application a copy of the letter, designating him as such, to insure that special consideration is given for such achievement.

(d) Change of address. The military address furnished on the application will be used for contacting an applicant. The applicant must give immediate notice to the Director of Personnel Procurement and Training, Headquarters USAF, Attention: AFPTR–P–3A, Washington 25, D. C., of any permanent change of address, between submission of application and notification of final action.

(e) Replying to communications. An applicant, who does not promptly reply to and/or comply with all communications and instructions regarding his application and testing, will be considered as being no longer interested in a Regular commission and his application will be considered abandoned.

(f) Returning application. Application and supporting documents, which are forwarded to Headquarters USAF, will not be returned to an applicant, except as provided for in paragraph (g) of this section.

(g) Withdrawing application. A person may withdraw his application at any time before acceptance of a Regular appointment by submitting a written request to the Director of Personnel Procurement and Training, Headquarters USAF, Attention: AFPTR–P–3A, Washington 25, D. C. Application and allied papers will be returned.

(h) Compromising test questions. An applicant must not discuss the contents of the Regular Officer Selection Test after its completion. Since officers are selected for Regular appointment on a competitive basis, any applicant who has advance information concerning test questions will be at a decided advantage over all other applicants.

GENERAL RULES

EFFECTIVE DATE AND RELATED PROVISIONS

301.7851 Statutory provisions; applicability of revenue laws.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 301.7501 Statutory provisions; liability for taxes withheld or collected.

SEC. 7501. Liability for taxes withheld or collected—(a) General rule. Whenever any person is required to collect or withhold any internal revenue tax from any other person and to pay over such tax to the United States, the amount of tax so collected or withheld shall be held to be a special fund in trust for the United States. The amount of such fund shall be assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations (including penalties) as are applicable with respect to the taxes from which such fund arose.

(b) Penalties. For penalties applicable to violations of this section, see sections 6672 and 7202.

§ 301.7502 Statutory provisions; timely mailing treated as timely filing.

SEC. 7502. Timely mailing treated as timely filing—(a) General rule. If any claim, statement, or other document (other than a return or other document required under authority of chapter 61), required to be filed within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of the internal revenue laws is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the agency, officer, or office with which such claim, statement, or other document is required to be filed, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the cover in which such claim, statement, or other document is mailed shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subsection shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of the claim, statement, or other document, determined with regard to any extension granted for such filing, and only if the claim, statement, or other document was, within the prescribed time, deposited in the mail in the United States in an envelope or other appropriate wrapper, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the agency, office, or officer with which the claim, statement, or other document is required to be filed.

(b) Stamp machine. This setcion shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States Post Office only if and to the extent provided by regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate.

(c) Registered mail. If any such claim, statement, or other document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that the claim, statement, or other document was delivered to the agency, office, or officer to which addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date.

(d) Exception. This section shall not apply with respect to the filing of a document in any court other than the Tax Court.

§ 301.7502-1 Timely mailing treated as timely filing—(a) General rule. Section 7502 provides that, if the requirements of such section are met, a document shall be deemed to be filed on the date of the postmark stamped on the cover in which such document was mailed. Thus, if the cover containing such document bears a timely postmark, the document will be considered filed timely although it is received after the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing such document. Section 7502 does not apply to the payment of any tax. Section 7502 is applicable only to those documents which come within the definition of such term provided by paragraph (b) of this section and only if the document is mailed in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section and is delivered in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section.

(b) Document defined. (1) The term "document", as used in this section, means any claim, statement, or other document required to be filed within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of the internal revenue laws, except as provided in the following subdivisions of this subparagraph:

(i) The term does not include any return required under authority of any internal revenue law or any other document required under authority of chapter 61. Thus, for example, such term does not include the income tax returns required by section 6012, the declarations of estimated income tax by individuals and corporations required by sections 6015 and 6016, and the estate tax and gift tax returns required by sections 6018 and 6019. Nor does the term include any return required under authority of subtitle E, relating to alcohol, tobacco, and certain other excise taxes.

(ii) The term does not include any document filed in any court other than the Tax Court, but the term does include any document filed with the Tax Court, including a petition for redetermination of a deficiency and a petition for review of a decision of the Tax Court.

(iii) The term does not include any document which is required to be filed with a bank or other depositary pursuant to section 6302 (c).

(2) A return may contain, or have attached to it, a statement which sets forth an election under the internal revenue laws. In such a case, section 7502 is applicable to the statement if the conditions of such section are met, although it does not apply to the return. Moreover, in the case of certain taxes, a return may constitute a claim for refund or credit. In such a case, section 7502 is applicable to the claim for refund or credit if the conditions of such section are met, irrespective of whether the claim is also a return.

(c) Mailing requirements. (1) Section 7502 is not applicable unless the document is mailed in accordance with the following requirements:

(i) The document must be contained in an envelope or other appropriate wrapper, properly addressed to the agency, officer, or office with which the document is required to be filed.

(ii) The document must be deposited in the mail in the United States with sufficient postage prepaid. For this purpose, a document is deposited in the mail in the United States when it is deposited with the domestic mail service of the United States Post Office. The domestic mail service of the United States Post Office, as defined by the postal regulations, includes mail transmitted within, among, and between the United States, its Territory and possessions, and Army-Air Force (APO) and Navy (FPO) post offices (see 39 CFR 2.1). Section 7502 does not apply to any document which is deposited with the mail service of any other country.

(iii) (a) If the postmark on the envelope or wrapper is made by the United States Post Office, such postmark must bear a date on or before the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document. If the postmark does not bear a date on or before the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document, the document will be considered not to be filed timely, regardless of when the document is deposited in the mail. Accordingly, the sender who relies upon the applicability of section 7502 assumes the risk that the postmark will bear a date on or before the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document, but see subparagraph (2) of this paragraph with respect to the use of registered mail to avoid this risk. If the postmark on the envelope or wrapper is not legible, the person who is required to file the document has the burden of proving the time when the postmark was made.

(b) If the postmark on the envelope or wrapper is made other than by the United States Post Office, (1) the postmark so made must bear a date on or before the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document, and (2) the document must be received by the agency, officer, or office with which it is required to be filed not later than the time when a document contained in an envelope or other appropriate wrapper which is properly addressed and mailed and sent by the same class of mail would ordinarily be received if it were postmarked at the same point of origin by the United States Post Office on the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document. If the envelope has a postmark made by the United States Post Office in addition to the postmark not so made, the postmark which was not made by the United States Post Office shall be disregarded, and whether the envelope was mailed in accordance with this subdivision shall be determined solely by applying the rule of (a) of this subdivision.

(2) If the document is sent by United States registered mail, the date of registration of the document shall be treated as the postmark date. Accordingly, the risk that the document will not be postmarked on the day that it is deposited in the mail may be overcome by the use of registered mail.

(3) As used in this section, the term "the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document" includes any extension of time granted for such filing. When the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, section 7503 is also applicable, so that, in applying the rules of this paragraph, the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday shall be treated as the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document.

(d) Delivery. (1) Section 7502 is not applicable unless the document is delivered by United States mail to the agency, officer, or office with which it is required to be filed. However, if the document is sent by registered mail, proof that the document was properly registered and that the envelope or wrapper was properly addressed to such agency, officer, or office shall constitute prima facie evidence that the document was delivered to such agency, officer, or office.

(2) Section 7502 is applicable only when the document is delivered after the last date, or the last day of the period, prescribed for filing the document. However, section 7502 is also applicable when a claim for credit or refund is delivered after the last day of the period specified in section 322 (b) (2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 or in any other corresponding provision of law relating to the limit on the amount of credit or refund that is allowable. For example, taxpayer A was required to file his income tax return for 1953 on or before March 15, 1954, but he secured an extension until June 15, 1954 to file such return. His return was filed on June 15, 1954, but no tax was paid at such time because the tax liability disclosed by the return had been completely satisfied by the income tax that had been withheld on his wages and by the payments of estimated tax. On March 14, 1957, A mailed in accordance with the requirements of this section a claim for refund of a portion of his 1953 tax. The envelope containing the claim was postmarked on such day, but it was not delivered to the district director's office until March 18, 1957. Under section 322 (b) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, A's claim for refund is timely if filed within three years from June 15, 1954. However, as a result of the limitation of section 322 (b) (2) of the 1939 Code, if his claim is not filed within three years after March 15, 1954, the date on which he is deemed under section 322 (e) of the 1939 Code to have paid his 1953 tax, he is not entitled to any refund. Thus, since A's claim for refund was mailed in accordance with the requirements of this section and was delivered after the last day of the period specified in such section 322 (b) (2), section 7502 is applicable, and the claim is deemed to have been filed on March 14, 1957.

(e) Applicability. Section 7502 and this section are applicable with respect to any document which is mailed and delivered in accordance with the requirements of this section and which is mailed in an envelope having a postmark bearing a date after August 16, 1954, irrespective of whether the postmark is made by the United States Post Office, and irrespective of whether the tax to which the document pertains is imposed by the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 or a prior internal revenue law.

§ 301.7503 Statutory provisions; time for performance of acts where last day falls on Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday.

SEC. 7503. Time for performance of acts where last day falls on Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday. When the last day prescribed under authority of the internal revenue laws for performing any act falls on Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday. For purposes of this section, the last day for the performance of any act shall be determined by including any authorized extension of time; the term "legal holiday" means a legal holiday in the District of Columbia; and in the case of any return, statement, or other document required to be filed, or any other act required under authority of the internal revenue laws to be performed, at any office of the Secretary or his delegate, or at any other office of the United States or any agency thereof, located outside the District of Columbia but within an internal revenue district, the term "legal holiday" also means a Statewide legal holiday in the State where such office is located.

§ 301.7503–1 Time for performance of acts where last day falls on Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday—(a) In general. Section 7503 provides that when the last day prescribed under authority of any internal revenue law for the performance of any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, such act shall be considered performed timely if performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday. For this purpose, any authorized extension of time shall be included in determining the last day for performance of any act. Section 7503 is applicable only in case an act is required under authority of any internal revenue law to be performed on or before a prescribed date or within a prescribed period. For example, if the 2-year period allowed by section 6532 (a) (1) to bring a suit for refund of any internal revenue tax expires on Thursday, November 22, 1956 (Thanksgiving Day), the suit will be timely if filed on Friday, November 23, 1956, in the Court of Claims, or in a district court. Section 7503 applies to acts to be performed by the taxpayer (such as, the filing of any return of, and the payment of, any income, estate, or gift tax; the filing of a petition with the Tax Court for redetermination of a deficiency, or for review of a decision rendered by such Court; the filing of a claim for credit or refund of any tax) and acts to be performed by the Commissioner or a district director (such as, the giving of any notice with respect to, or making any demand for the payment of, any tax; the assessment or collection of any tax).

(b) Legal holidays. (1) For the purpose of section 7503, the term "legal holiday" includes the legal holidays in the District of Columbia. Such legal holidays are—

(i) January 1, New Year's Day (D. C. Code, Title 28, sec. 616),

(ii) January 20, when such day is Inauguration Day (D. C. Code, Title 28, sec. 616),

(iii) February 22, Washington's Birthday (D. C. Code, Title 28, sec. 616),

(iv) May 30, Memorial Day (D. C. Code, Title 28, sec. 616),

(v) July 4, Independence Day (D. C. Code, Title 28, sec. 616),

(vi) First Monday in September, Labor Day (5 U. S. C. 87),

(vii) November 11, Veterans' Day (5 U. S. C. 87a, as amended),

(viii) Fourth Thursday in November, Thanksgiving Day (5 U. S. C. 87b), and

When a legal holiday in the District of Columbia falls on a Sunday, the next day is a legal holiday in the District of Columbia (see D. C. Code, Title 28, sec. 616).

(2) In the case of any return, statement, or other document required to be filed, or any other act required under the authority of the internal revenue laws to be performed, at any office of the Internal Revenue Service, or any other office or agency of the United States, located outside the District of Columbia, but within an internal revenue district, the term "legal holiday" includes, in addition to the legal holidays enumerated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, any State-wide legal holiday of the State where the act is required to be performed. If the act is performed in accordance with law at an office of the Internal Revenue Service or any other office or agency of the United States located in a Territory or possession of the United States, the term "legal holiday" includes, in addition to the legal holidays described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, any legal holiday which is recognized throughout the Territory or possession in which the office is located. Accordingly, if a resident of Alaska files his return with the District Director at Seattle, Washington, the extension provided by section 7503 is applicable in case the last day for filing the return is a legal holiday in the District of Columbia or in the State of Washington. However, if he files his return with an office of the Internal Revenue Service located in Alaska, such extension is applicable in case the last day for filing the return is a legal holiday in the District of Columbia or in Alaska.

(c) Applicability. Section 7503 and this section are applicable in any case when the last day prescribed under authority of any internal revenue law for the performance of any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, which occurs after August 16, 1954, irrespective of whether the tax in connection with which the act is required to be performed is imposed by this title or a prior internal revenue law.

SEC. 7504. Fractional parts of a dollar. The Secretary or his delegate may by regulations provide that in the allowance of any amount as a credit or refund, or in the collection of any amount as a deficiency or underpayment, of any tax imposed by this title, a fractional part of a dollar shall be disregarded, unless it amounts to 50 cents or more, in which case it shall be increased to 1 dollar.

§ 301.7505 Statutory provisions; sale of personal property purchased by the United States.

SEC. 7505. Sale of personal property purchased by the United States—(a) Sale. Any personal property purchased by the United States under the authority of section 6335 (e) (relating to purchase for the account of the United States of property sold under levy) may be sold by the Secretary or his delegate in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate.

(b) Accounting. In case of the resale of such property, the proceeds of the sale shall be paid into the Treasury as internal revenue collections, and there shall be rendered a distinct account of all charges incurred in such sales.

§ 301.7505–1 Sale of personal property purchased by the United States—(a) Sale—(1) In general. Any personal property (except bonds, notes, checks, and other securities) purchased by the United States under the authority of section 6335 (e) (relating to purchase for the account of the United States of property sold under levy) or the corresponding provisions of prior law may be sold by the district director who purchased such property for the United States. United States Savings Bonds shall not be sold by the district director but shall be transferred to the Division of Loans and Currency, Treasury Department, for redemption. Other bonds, notes, checks, and other securities shall be disposed of in accordance with instructions issued by the Commissioner.

(2) Time, place, manner, and terms of sale. The time, place, manner, and terms of sale of personal property purchased for the United States shall be as follows:

(i) Time, notice, and place of sale. The property may be sold at any time after it has been purchased by the United States. A public notice of sale shall be posted at the post office nearest the place of sale and in at least two other public places. The notice shall specify the property to be sold and the time, place, manner, and conditions of sale. In addition, the district director may use such other methods of advertising as he believes will result in obtaining the highest price for the property. The place of sale shall be within the internal revenue district where the property was originally purchased for the United States. However, if the district director believes that a substantially higher price may be obtained, the sale may be held outside his district.

(ii) Rejection of bids and adjournment of sale. The internal revenue officer conducting the sale reserves the right to reject any and all bids and withdraw the property from the sale. When it appears to the internal revenue officer conducting the sale that an adjournment of the sale will best serve the interest of the United States, he may order the sale adjourned from time to time. If the sale is adjourned for more than 30 days in the aggregate, public notice of the sale must again be given in accordance with subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Liquidated damages. The notice shall state whether, in the case of default in payment of the bid price, any amount deposited with the United States will be retained as liquidated damages. In case liquidated damages are provided, the amount thereof shall not exceed $200.

(3) Agreement to bid. The district director may, before giving notice of sale, solicit offers from prospective bidders and enter into agreements with such persons that they will bid at least a specified amount in case the property is offered for sale. In such cases, the district director may also require such persons to make deposits to secure the performance of their agreements. Any such deposit, but not more than $200, shall be retained as liquidated damages in case such person fails to bid the specified amount and the property is not sold for as much as the amount specified in such agreement.

(4) Terms of payment. The property shall be offered for sale upon whichever of the following terms is fixed by the district director in the public notice of sale—

(i) Payment in full upon acceptance of the highest bid, without regard to the amount of such bid, or

(ii) If the aggregate price of all property purchased by a successful bidder at the sale is more than $200, an initial payment of $200 or 20 percent of the purchase price, whichever is the greater, and payment of the balance (including all costs incurred for the protection or preservation of the property subsequent to the sale and prior to final payment) within a specified period, not to exceed one month from the date of the sale.

(5) Method of sale. The property may be sold either—

(i) At public auction, at which open competitive bids shall be received, or

(ii) At public sale under sealed bids.

(6) Sales under sealed bids. The following rules, in addition to the other rules provided in this paragraph, shall be applicable to public sales under sealed bids:

(i) Invitation to bidders. Bids shall be solicited through a public notice of sale.

(ii) Form for use by bidders. A bid shall be submitted on a form which will be furnished by the district director upon request. The form shall be completed in accordance with the instructions thereon.

(iii) Remittance with bid. If the total bid is $200 or less, the full amount of the bid shall be submitted therewith. If the total bid is more than $200, 20 percent of such bid or $200, whichever is greater, shall be submitted therewith. Such remittance shall be by a certified, cashier's, or treasurer's check drawn on any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of the United States or under the laws of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or by a United States postal, bank, express, or telegraph money order.

(iv) Time for receiving and opening bids. Each bid shall be submitted in a securely sealed envelope. The bidder shall indicate in the upper left hand corner of the envelope his name and address and the time and place of sale as announced in the public notice of sale. A bid will not be considered unless it is received by the internal revenue officer conducting the sale prior to the opening of the bids. The bids will be opened at the time and place stated in the notice of sale, or at the time fixed in the announcement of the adjournment of the sale.

(v) Consideration of bids. The internal revenue officer conducting the sale shall have the right to waive any technical defects in a bid. After the opening, examination, and consideration of all bids, the internal revenue officer conducting the sale shall announce the amount of the highest bid or bids and the name of the successful bidder or bidders, unless in the opinion of the officer a higher price can be obtained for the property than has been bid. In the event the highest bids are equal in amount (and unless in the opinion of the internal revenue officer conducting the sale a higher price can be obtained for the property than has been bid), the officer shall determine the successful bidder by drawing lots. Any remittance submitted in connection with an unsuccessful bid shall be returned to the bidder at the conclusion of the sale.

(vi) Withdrawal of bids. A bid may be withdrawn on written or telegraphic request received from the bidder prior to the time fixed for opening the bids. A technical defect in a bid confers no right on the bidder for the withdrawal of his bid after it has been opened.

(7) Payment of bid price. All payments for property sold pursuant to this section shall be made by cash or by a certified, cashier's, or treasurer's check drawn on any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of the United States or under the laws of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or by a United States postal, bank, express, or telegraph money order. If payment in full is required upon acceptance of the highest bid, the payment shall be made at such time. If payment in full is not made at such time, the internal revenue officer conducting the sale may forthwith proceed again to sell the property in the manner provided in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph. If deferred payment is permitted, the initial payment shall be made upon acceptance of the bid, and the balance shall be paid on or before the date fixed for payment thereof. Any remittance submitted with a successful sealed bid shall be applied toward the purchase price.

(8) Delivery and removal of personal property. The risk of loss is on the purchaser of the property upon acceptance of his bid. Possession of any property shall not be delivered to the purchaser until the purchase price has been paid in full. If payment of part of the purchase price for the property is deferred, the United States will retain possession of such property as security for the payment of the balance of the purchase price and, as agent for the purchaser, will cause the property to be cared for until the purchase price has been paid in full or the sale is declared null and void for failure to make full payment of the purchase price. In such case, all charges and expenses incurred in caring for the property after acceptance of the bid shall be borne by the purchaser.

(9) Certificate of sale. The internal revenue officer conducting the sale shall issue a certificate of sale to the purchaser upon payment in full of the purchase price.

(b) Accounting. In case of the resale of such property, the proceeds of the sale shall be paid into the Treasury as internal revenue collections, and there shall be rendered by the district director a distinct account of all charges incurred in such sale. For additional accounting rules, see section 7809 and the instructions thereunder.

§ 301.7506. Statutory provisions; administration of real estate acquired by the United States.

SEC. 7506. Administration of real estate acquired by the United States—(a) Person charged with. The Secretary or his delegate shall have charge of all real estate which is or shall become the property of the United States by judgment of forfeiture under the internal revenue laws, or which has been or shall be assigned, set off, or conveyed by purchase or otherwise to the United States in payment of debts or penalties arising under the laws relating to internal revenue, or which has been or shall be vested in the United States by mortgage or other security for the payment of such debts, and of all trusts created for the use of the United States in payment of such debts due them.

(b) Sale. The Secretary or his delegate, may, at public sale, and upon not less than 20 days' notice, sell and dispose of any real estate owned or held by the United States as aforesaid.

(c) Lease. Until such sale, the Secretary or his delegate may lease such real estate owned as aforesaid on such terms and for such period as the Secretary or his delegate shall deem proper.

(d) Release to debtor. In cases where real estate has or may become the property of the United States by conveyance or otherwise, in payment of or as security for a debt arising under the laws relating to internal revenue, and such debt shall have been paid, together with the interest thereon, at the rate of 1 percent per month, to the United States, within 2 years from the date of the acquisition of such real estate, it shall be lawful for the Secretary or his delegate to release by deed or otherwise convey such real estate to the debtor from whom it was taken, or to his heirs or other legal representatives.

§ 301.7506–1 Administration of real estate acquired by the United States—(a) Persons charged with. The district director for the internal revenue district in which the property is situated shall have charge of all real estate which is or shall become the property of the United States by judgment of forfeiture under the internal revenue laws, or which has been or shall be assigned, set off, or conveyed by purchase or otherwise to the United States in payment of debts or penalties arising under the laws relating to internal revenue, or which has been or shall be vested in the United States by mortgage, or other security for the payment of such debts, or which has been or shall be purchased for the United States under section 6335 (e) or under a corresponding provision of prior law, and of all trusts created for the use of the United States in payment of such debts due the United States.

(b) Sale. The district director for the internal revenue district in which the property is situated may sell any real estate owned or held by the United States as aforesaid, subject to the following rules—

(1) Property purchased at sale under levy. If the property was acquired as a result of being declared purchased for the United States at a sale under section 6335, relating to sale of seized property, the property shall not be sold until after the expiration of one year after such sale under levy.

(2) Notice of sale. A notice of sale shall be published in some newspaper published or generally circulated within the county where the property is situated, or a notice shall be posted at the post office nearest the place where the property is situated and in at least two other public places. The notice shall specify the property to be sold and the time, place, manner and conditions of sale. In addition, the district director may use other methods of advertising and of giving notice of sale if he believes such method will enhance the possibility of obtaining a higher price for the property.

(3) Time and place of sale. The time of the sale shall be not less than 20 days from the date of giving public notice of sale under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. The place of sale shall be within the county where the property is situated. However, if the district director believes a substantially better price may be obtained, he may hold the sale outside such county.

(4) Rejection of bids and adjournment of sale. The internal revenue officer conducting the sale reserves the right to reject any and all bids and withdraw the property from the sale. When it appears to the internal revenue officer conducting the sale that an adjournment of the sale will best serve the interest of the United States, he may order the sale adjourned from time to time. If the sale is adjourned for more than 30 days in the aggregate, public notice of the sale must be given again in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(5) Liquidated damages. The notice shall state whether, in the case of default in payment of the bid price, any amount deposited with the United States will be retained as liquidated damages. In case liquidated damages are provided, the amount thereof shall not exceed $200.

(6) Agreement to bid. The district director may, before giving notice of sale, solicit offers from prospective bidders and enter into agreements with such persons that they will bid at least a specified amount in case the property is offered for sale. In such cases, the district director may also require such persons to make deposits to secure the performance of their agreements. Any such deposit, but not more than $200, shall be retained as liquidated damages in case such person fails to bid the specified amount and the property is not sold for as much as the amount specified in such agreement.

(7) Terms. The property shall be offered for sale upon whichever of the following terms is fixed by the district director in the public notice of sale:

(i) Payment in full upon acceptance of the highest bid, or

(ii) If the price of the property purchased by a successful bidder at the sale is more than $200, an initial payment of $200 or 20 percent of the purchase price, whichever is the greater, and payment of the balance within a specified period, not to exceed one month from the date of the sale.

(8) Method of sale. The property may be sold either—

(i) At public auction, at which open competitive bids shall be received, or

(ii) At public sale under sealed bids.

(9) Sales under sealed bids. The following rules, in addition to the other rules provided in this paragraph, shall be applicable at public sales under sealed bids:

(i) Invitation to bidders. Bids shall be solicited through a public notice of sale.

(ii) Form for use by bidders. A bid shall be submitted on a form which will be furnished by the district director upon request. The form shall be completed in accordance with the instructions thereon.

(iii) Remittance with bid. If the total bid is $200 or less, the full amount of the bid shall be submitted therewith. If the total bid is more than $200, 20 percent of such bid or $200, whichever is greater, shall be submitted therewith. Such remittance shall be by a certified, cashier's, or treasurer's check drawn on any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of the United States or under the laws of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or by a United States postal, bank, express, or telegraph money order.

(iv) Time for receiving and opening bids. Each bid shall be submitted in a securely sealed envelope. The bidder shall indicate in the upper left hand corner of the envelope his name and address and the time and place of sale as announced in the public notice of sale. A bid shall not be considered unless it is received by the internal revenue officer conducting the sale prior to the opening of the bids. The bids will be opened at the time and place stated in the notice of sale, or at the time fixed in the announcement of the adjournment of the sale.

(v) Consideration of bids. The internal revenue officer conducting the sale shall have the right to waive any technical defects in a bid. After the opening, examination, and consideration of all bids, the internal revenue officer conducting the sale shall announce the amount of the highest bid or bids and the name of the successful bidder or bidders, unless in the opinion of the officer a higher price can be obtained for the property than has been bid. In the event the highest bids are equal in amount (and unless in the opinion of the internal revenue officer conducting the sale a higher price can be obtained for the property than has been bid), the officer shall determine the successful bidder by drawing lots. Any remittance submitted in connection with an unsuccessful bid shall be returned to the bidder at the conclusion of the sale.

(vi) Withdrawal of bids. A bid may be withdrawn on written or telegraphic request received from the bidder prior to the time fixed for opening the bids. A technical defect in a bid confers no right on the bidder for the withdrawal of his bid after it has been opened.

(10) Payment of bid price. All payments for property sold pursuant to this section shall be made by cash or by a certified, cashier's, or treasurer's check drawn on any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of the United States or under the laws of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or by a United States postal, bank, express, or telegraph money order. If payment in full is required upon acceptance of the highest bid, the payment shall be made at such time. If payment in full is not made at such time, the internal revenue officer conducting the sale may forthwith proceed again to sell the property in the manner provided in subparagraph (8) of this paragraph. If deferred payment is permitted, the initial payment shall be made upon acceptance of the bid, and the balance shall be paid on or before the date fixed for payment thereof. Any remittance submitted with a successful sealed bid shall be applied toward the purchase price.

(11) Deed. Upon payment in full of the purchase price, the district director shall execute a quitclaim deed to the purchaser.

(c) Lease. Until real estate is sold, the district director for the internal revenue district in which the property is situated may, in accordance with instructions issued by the Commissioner, lease such property.

(d) Release to debtor. In cases where real estate has or may become the property of the United States by conveyance or otherwise, in payment of or as security for a debt arising under the laws relating to internal revenue, and such debt shall have been paid, together with the interest thereon (at the rate of one percent per month), to the United States within two years from the date of the acquisition of such real estate, the district director for the internal revenue district in which the property is located may release by deed or otherwise convey such real estate to the debtor from whom it was taken, or to his heirs or other legal representatives. If property is declared purchased by the United States under section 6335, then, for the purpose of this paragraph, the date of such declaration shall be deemed to be the date of acquisition of such real estate.

(e) Accounting. The district director for the internal revenue district in which the property is situated shall, in accordance with section 7809 and the instructions thereunder, account for the proceeds of all sales or leases of the property and all expenses connected with the maintenance, sale, or lease of the property.

(f) Authority of Commissioner. Notwithstanding the other paragraphs of this section, the Commissioner may, when he deems it advisable, take charge of and assume responsibility for any real estate to which this section is applicable. In such case, the Commissioner will notify in writing the district director for the internal revenue district in which the property is situated. In any case where a single parcel of real estate is situated in more than one internal revenue district, the Commissioner may designate in writing a district director who shall have charge of and be responsible for the entire property.

SEC. 7507. Exemption of insolvent banks from tax—(a) Assets in general. Whenever and after any bank or trust company, a substantial portion of the business of which consists of receiving deposits and making loans and discounts, has ceased to do business by reason of insolvency or bankruptcy, no tax shall be assessed or collected, or paid into the Treasury of the United States, on account of such bank or trust company, which shall diminish the assets thereof necessary for the full payment of all its depositors; and such tax shall be abated from such national banks as are found by the Comptroller of the Currency to be insolvent; and the Secretary or his delegate, when the facts shall appear to him, is authorized to remit so much of the said tax against any such insolvent banks and trust companies organized under State law as shall be found to affect the claims of their depositors.

(b) Segregated assets; earnings. Whenever any bank or trust company, a substantial portion of the business of which consists of receiving deposits and making loans and discounts, has been released or discharged from its liability to its depositors for any part of their claims against it, and such depositors have accepted, in lieu thereof, a lien upon subsequent earnings of such bank or trust company, or claims against assets segregated by such bank or trust company or against assets transferred from it to an individual or corporate trustee or agent, no tax shall be assessed or collected or paid into the Treasury of the United States, on account of such bank or trust company, such individual or corporate trustee or such agent, which shall diminish the assets thereof which are available for the payment of such depositor claims and which are necessary for the full payment thereof. The term "agent", as used in this subsection, shall be deemed to include a corporation acting as a liquidating agent.

(c) Refund; reassessment; statutes of limitation. (1) Any such tax collected shall be deemed to be erroneously collected, and shall be refunded subject to all provisions and limitations of law, so far as applicable, relating to the refunding of taxes.

(2) Any tax, the assessment, collection, or payment of which is barred under subsection (a), or any such tax which has been abated or remitted after May 28, 1938, shall be assessed or reassessed whenever it shall appear that payment of the tax will not diminish the assets as aforesaid.

(3) Any tax, the assessment, collection, or payment of which is barred under subsection (b), or any such tax which has been refunded after May 28, 1938, shall be assessed or reassessed after full payment of such claims of depositors to the extent of the remaining assets segregated or transferred as described in subsection (b).

(4) The running of the statute of limitations on the making of assessment and collection shall be suspended during, and for 90 days beyond, the period for which, pursuant to this section, assessment or collection may not be made, and a tax may be reassessed as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection and collected, during the time within which had there been no abatement, collection might have been made.

(d) Exception of employment taxes. This section shall not apply to any tax imposed by chapter 21 or chapter 23.

§ 301.7507–1 Banks and trust companies covered. (a) Section 7507 applies to any national bank, or bank or trust company organized under State law, a substantial portion of the business of which consists of receiving deposits and making loans and discounts, and which has—

(1) Ceased to do business by reason of insolvency or bankruptcy, or

(2) Been released or discharged from its liability to its depositors for any part of their deposit claims, and the depositors have accepted in lieu thereof a lien upon its subsequent earnings or claims against its assets either (i) segregated and held by it for benefit of the depositors or (ii) transferred to an individual or corporate trustee or agent who liquidates, holds or operates the assets for the benefit of the depositors.

(b) As used in the regulations under section 7507:

(1) The term "bank", unless otherwise indicated by the context, means any national bank, or bank or trust company organized under State law, within the scope of such section.

(2) The terms "statute of limitations" and "limitations" mean all applicable provisions of law (including section 7507) which impose, change, or affect the limitations, conditions, or requirements relative to the allowance of refunds and abatements or the assessment or collection of tax, as the case may be.

(3) The term "segregated assets" includes transferred or trusteed assets, or assets set aside or earmarked, to all or a portion of which, or the proceeds of which, the depositors are absolutely or conditionally entitled.

§ 301.7507–2 Scope of section generally—(a) Purpose. Section 7507 is intended to assist depositors of a bank which had ceased to do business by reason of insolvency to recover their deposits, by prohibiting collection of taxes of the bank which would diminish the assets necessary for payment of its depositors and also assist depositors of banks which are in financial difficulties but which, in certain conditions, continue in business.

(b) Requisites of application. In order that section 7507 shall operate in a case where the bank continues business it is necessary that the depositors shall agree to accept, in lieu of all or a part of their deposit claims as such, claims against segregated assets, or a lien upon subsequent earnings of the bank, or both. When such an agreement exists, no tax diminishing such assets or earnings, or both, otherwise available and necessary for payment of depositors, may be collected therefrom. If, under such an agreement, the depositors have the right also to look to the unsegregated assets of the bank for recovery, in whole or in part, the unsegregated assets are likewise, until they exceed the amount of the depositors' claims chargeable thereto, unavailable for tax collection. Any tax of such a bank, or part of any tax, which is once uncollectible under section 7507, cannot thereafter be collected except from any residue of segregated assets remaining after claims of depositors against such assets have been paid.

(c) Interest. For the purposes of section 7507, depositors' claims include bona fide interest, either on the deposits as such, or on the claims accepted in lieu of deposits as such.

(d) Limitations on immunity. Section 7507 is not primarily intended for the relief of banks as such. It does not prevent tax collection, from assets not necessary, or not available, for payment of depositors, from a bank within section 7507 (a), at any time within the statute of limitations. In other words, the immunity of such a bank is not complete, but ceases whenever, within the statutory period for collection, it becomes possible to make collection without diminishing assets necessary for payment of depositors. In the case of a bank within section 7507 (b), any immunity to which the bank is entitled is absolute except as to segregated assets. Any tax coming within such immunity may never be collected. With respect to segregated assets, such a bank is subject to the same rule as a bank within section 7507 (a), that is to say, after claims of depositors against segregated assets have been paid, any surplus is subject, within the statute of limitations, to collection of any tax, due at any time, the collection of which was suspended by the section. The section is not for the relief of creditors other than depositors, although it may incidentally operate for their benefit. See §§ 301.7507–4 and 301.7507–9 (b).

§ 301.7507–3 Segregated or transferred assets—(a) In general. In a case involving segregated or transferred assets, it is not necessary, for application of section 7507, that the assets shall technically constitute a trust fund. It is sufficient that segregated assets be definitely separated from other assets of the bank and that transferred assets be definitely separated both from other assets of the bank and from other assets held or owned by the trustee or agent to whom assets of the bank have been transferred; that the bank be wholly or partially released from liability for repayment of deposits as such; and that the depositors have claims against the separated assets. Any excess of separated assets over the amount necessary for payment of such depositors will be available for tax collection after full payment of depositors' claims under the agreement against such assets. But see § 301.7507–9 (a).

(b) Corporate transferees. Where the segregated assets are transferred to a separate corporate trustee or corporate agent, the assets and earnings therefrom are within the protection of the section, until full payment of depositors' claims against such assets and earnings, no matter by whom the stock of such corporation is held, and no matter whether the assets be liquidated or operated or held for benefit of the depositors.

§ 301.7507–4 Unsegregated assets—(a) Depositors' claims against assets. (1) Claims of depositors, to the extent that they are to be satisfied out of segregated assets, will not be considered in determining the availability of unsegregated assets for tax collection. If depositors have agreed to accept payment out of segregated assets only, collection of tax from unsegregated assets will not diminish the assets available and necessary for payment of the depositors' claims. Thus, it may be possible to collect taxes from the unsegregated assets of a bank although the segregated assets are immune under the section.

(2) If the unsegregated assets of the bank are subject to any portion of the depositors' claims, such unsegregated assets will be within the immunity of the section only to the extent necessary to satisfy the claims to which such assets are subject. Taxes will still be collectible from the unsegregated assets to the extent of the amount by which the total value of such assets exceeds the liability to depositors to be satisfied therefrom. Therefore, if, for example, in the case of a bank having a tax liability, not previously immune under the section, of $50,000, the deposit claims against the bank are in the amount of $75,000, and the assets available for satisfaction of deposit claims amount to $100,000, the $50,000 tax is collectible to the extent of the $25,000 excess of assets over deposit claims. Collection is not to be postponed until the full amount of the tax is collectible.

(b) Depositors' claims against earnings. Even though under a bona fide agreement a bank has been released from depositors' claims as to unsegregated assets, if all or a portion of its earnings are subject to depositors' claims, all assets the earnings from which, in whole or part, are charged with the payment of depositors' claims, will be immune from tax collection. But see § 301.7507–5 (a).

§ 301.7507–5 Earnings—(a) Availability for tax collection. Earnings of a bank within section 7507 (b), whether from segregated or unsegregated assets, which are necessary for, applicable to, and actually used for, payment of depositors' claims under an agreement, are within the immunity of the section. If only a portion or percentage of income from segregated or unsegregated assets is available and necessary for payment of depositors' claims, the remaining income is available for tax collection. Earnings of the bank's first fiscal year ending after the making of the agreement not applicable to payment of depositors will be assumed to be applicable for collection of any tax due prior or subsequent to execution of the agreement. Earnings of subsequent fiscal periods from unsegregated assets not applicable to depositors' claims will be assumed to be applicable to payment of taxes as to which immunity under the section has not previously attached. Earnings from segregated assets are available for collection of tax, whether previously uncollectible under the section or not, after depositors' claims against such assets have been paid in full. See §§ 301.7507–3 (a) and 301.7507–9 (a).

(b) Tax computation. The fact that earnings of a given year may be wholly or partly unavailable under section 7507 for collection of taxes does not exempt the income for that year, or any part thereof, from tax liability. The section affects collectibility only, and is not concerned with taxability. Accordingly, the taxpayer's income tax return shall correctly compute the tax liability, even though in the opinion of the taxpayer it is immune from tax collection under the section. The tax shall be determined with respect to the entire gross income and not merely with respect to the portion of the earnings out of which tax may be collected. As to establishment of immunity from tax collection see § 301.7507–7.

Example. (1) An agreement, executed in the year 1954 between a bank and its depositors, provides (1) that certain assets are to be segregated for the benefit of the depositors who have waived (as claims against unsegregated assets of the bank) a percentage of their deposits; (2) that 40 percent of the bank's net earnings, for years beginning with 1954, from unsegregated assets, shall be paid to the depositors until the portion of their claims waived with respect to unsegregated assets of the bank has been paid; and (3) that the unsegregated assets shall not be subject to depositors' claims. The net income of the bank for the calendar year 1954 is $10,000, $4,000 produced by the segregated, and $6,000 produced by the unsegregated assets. Such amount shall be considered the net earnings for the purposes of section 7507 in computing the portion of the earnings to be paid to depositors. The bank has an outstanding tax liability for prior years of $7,000. The income tax liability of the bank for 1954 is 30 percent of $10,000, or $3,000, making a total outstanding tax liability of $10,000. The portion of the earnings of the bank for 1954 remaining after provision for depositors is $3,600 ($6,000 less 40 percent thereof, or $2,400). It will be assumed that of the total outstanding tax liability of $10,000, $3,600 may be assessed and collected, leaving $6,400 to be collected from any excess of the segregated assets after claims of depositors against such segregated assets have been paid in full. No part of the $6,400 immune from collection from 1954 earnings may be collected thereafter from unsegregated assets of the bank or earnings therefrom, so that except for any possible surplus of the segregated assets the $6,400 is uncollectible.

(2) In the year 1955, the earnings are again $10,000, $4,000 from segregated and $6,000 from unsegregated assets, as in 1954. However, the return filed shows income of $5,000 and a tax liability of $1,500. An investigation shows the true income to be $10,000, on which the tax is $3,000. The full $3,000 will be assumed to be collectible. The $600 difference between $3,600 (the excess of earnings from unsegregated assets over the amount going to the depositors), and the $3,000 tax for 1955, is not available for collection of the tax for prior years, which became immune as described above, but may be available for collection of tax for subsequent years.

(c) No significance attaches to the selection of the years 1954 and 1955 in the example set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. The rules indicated by the example are equally applicable to subsequent or prior years not excluded by limitations.

§ 301.7507–6 Abatement and refund. (a) An assessment or collection, no matter when made, if contrary to section 7507, is subject to abatement or refund within the applicable statutory period of limitations.

(b) Collection from a bank within section 7507 (b) which diminishes assets necessary for payment of depositors, if made prior to agreement with depositors, is not contrary to the section, and affords no ground for refund.

(c) Any abatement or refund is subject to existing statutory periods of limitation, which periods are not suspended or extended by section 7507. In order to secure a refund of any taxes paid for any taxable year during the period of immunity the bank must file claim therefor.

§ 301.7507–7 Establishment of immunity. (a) The mere allegation of insolvency, or that depositors have claims against segregated or other assets or earnings, will not of itself secure immunity from tax collection. It must be affirmatively established to the satisfaction of the district director that collection of tax will be contrary to section 7507. See also § 301.7507–8.

(b) Any claim, by a bank, or immunity under section 7507 (b), shall be supported by a statement, under oath or affirmation, which shall show: (1) The total of depositors' claims outstanding, and (2) separately and in detail, the amount of each of the following, and the amount of depositors' claims properly chargeable against each: (i) Segregated or transferred assets; (ii) unsegregated assets; (iii) estimated future average annual earnings and profits; (iv) amount collectible from shareholders; and (v) any other resources available for payment of depositors' claims. The detail shall show the full amount of depositors' claims chargeable against each of the items in subdivisions (i) to (v), inclusive, of this paragraph even though part or all of the amount chargeable against a particular item is also chargeable against some other item or items. There shall also be filed a copy of any agreement between the bank and its depositors, and any other agreement or document bearing on the claim of immunity. The statement shall show the basis, as "book", "market", etc., of valuation of the assets.

§ 301.7507–8 Procedure during immunity—(a) Statements to be filed. As long as complete or partial immunity is claimed, a bank within section 7507 (b) shall file with each income tax return a statement as required by § 301.7507–7, in duplicate, and shall also file such additional statements as the district director may require. Whether or not additional statements shall be required, and the frequency thereof, will depend on the circumstances, including the financial status and apparent prospects of the bank, and the time which is available for assessment and collection. If a copy of an agreement or document has once been filed, a copy of the same agreement or document need not again be filed with a subsequent statement, if it is shown by the subsequent statement, when and where and with what return the copy was filed. In case of amendment a copy of the amendment must be filed with the return for the taxable year in which the amendment is made.

(b) Failure to file. Failure of a bank to file any required statement will be treated as indicating that the bank is not entitled to immunity.

§ 301.7507–9 Termination of immunity—(a) In general. (1) In the case of a bank within section 7507 (a), immunity will end whenever, and to the extent that, taxes may be assessed and collected, within the applicable limitation periods as extended by section 7507, without diminishing the assets available and necessary for payment of depositors. Immunity of a bank within section 7507 (b) is terminated, as to segregated assets, whenever claims of depositors against such assets have been paid in full. See § 301.7507–3. As to segregated assets, the termination of immunity is complete, and any balance remaining after payment of depositors is available, within statutory limitations, for collection of tax due at any time. However, taxes of the bank will be collectible from segregated assets only to the extent that the bank has a legal or equitable interest therein. Assets as to which there has been a complete conveyance for benefit of depositors, and the bank has bona fide been divested of all legal and equitable interest, are not available for collection of the bank's tax liability.

(2) As to unsegregated assets of a bank within section 7507 (b), immunity terminates only as to taxes thereafter becoming due. When taxes are once immune from collection, the immunity as to unsegregated assets is absolute. But see § 301.7507–4 (a).

(b) General creditors. While the immunity from tax collection is for protection of depositors, and not for benefit of general creditors, in some cases the immunity will not end until the assets are sufficient to cover indebtedness of creditors generally. This situation will exist where under applicable law the claims of general creditors are on a parity with those of depositors, so that to pay depositors in full it is necessary to pay all creditors in full.

(c) Shareholder liability. In determining the sufficiency of the assets to satisfy the depositors' claims, shareholders' liability to the extent collectible shall be treated as available assets. See § 301.7507–7.

(d) Deposit insurance. Deposit insurance payable to depositors shall not be treated as an asset of the bank and shall be disregarded in determining the sufficiency of the assets to meet the claims of depositors.

(e) Notice by bank. A bank within section 7507 (b), upon termination of immunity with respect to (1) earnings, (2) segregated or transferred assets, or (3) unsegregated assets, shall immediately notify the district director of internal revenue for the internal revenue district in which the taxpayer's returns were filed of such termination of immunity. See § 301.7507–8 (b).

(f) Payment by bank. As immunity terminates with respect to any assets, it will be the duty of the bank, without notice from the district director of internal revenue, to make payment of taxes collectible from such assets.

§ 301.7507–10 Collection of tax after termination of immunity. If, in the case of a bank within section 7507 (b), segregated assets (including earnings therefrom), in excess of those necessary for payment of outstanding deposits become available, such excess of segregated assets shall be applied toward satisfaction of accumulated outstanding taxes previously immune under the section, and not barred by the statute of limitations. But see § 301.7507–3. Where sufficient segregated or unsegregated assets are available, statutory interest shall be collected with the tax. When unsegregated assets or earnings therefrom previously immune become available for tax collection, they will be available only for collection of taxes (including interest and other additions) becoming due after immunity ceases. See the example in § 301.7507–5 (b).

§ 301.7507–11 Exception of employment taxes. The immunity granted by section 7507 does not apply to taxes imposed by chapter 21 or chapter 23.

§ 301.7508 Statutory provisions; time for performing certain acts postponed by reason of war.

SEC. 7508. Time for performing certain acts postponed by reason of war—(a) Time to be disregarded. In the case of an individual serving in the Armed Forces of the United States, or serving in support of such Armed Forces, in an area designated by the President of the United States by Executive order as a "combat zone" for purposes of section 112, at any time during the period designated by the President by Executive order as the period of combatant activities in such zone for purposes of such section, or hospitalized outside the States of the Union and the District of Columbia as a result of injury received while serving in such an area during such time, the period of service in such area, plus the period of continuous hospitalization outside the States of the Union and the District of Columbia attributable to such injury, and the next 180 days thereafter, shall be disregarded in determining, under the internal revenue laws, in respect of any tax liability (including any interest, penalty, additional amount, or addition to the tax) of such individual—

(1) Whether any of the following acts was performed within the time prescribed therefor:

(A) Filing any return of income, estate, or gift tax (except income tax withheld at source and income tax imposed by subtitle C or any law superseded thereby);

(B) Payment of any income, estate, or gift tax (except income tax withheld at source and income tax imposed by subtitle C or any law superseded thereby) or any installment thereof or of any other liability to the United States in respect thereof;

(C) Filing a petition with the Tax Court for redetermination of a deficiency, or for review of a decision rendered by the Tax Court;

(D) Allowance of a credit or refund of any tax;

(E) Filing a claim for credit or refund of any tax;

(F) Bringing suit upon any such claim for credit or refund;

(G) Assessment of any tax;

(H) Giving or making any notice or demand for the payment of any tax, or with respect to any liability to the United States in respect of any tax;

(I) Collection, by the Secretary or his delegate, by levy or otherwise, of the amount of any liability in respect of any tax,

(J) Bringing suit by the United States, or any officer on its behalf, in respect of any liability in respect of any tax; and

(K) Any other act required or permitted under the internal revenue laws specified in regulations prescribed under this section by the Secretary or his delegate:

(2) The amount of any credit or refund (including interest).

(b) Exceptions—(1) Tax in jeopardy; bankruptcy and receiverships; and transferred assets. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a), any action or proceeding authorized by section 6851 (regardless of the taxable year for which the tax arose), chapter 70, or 71, as well as any other action or proceeding authorized by law in connection therewith, may be taken, begun, or prosecuted. In any other case in which the Secretary or his delegate determines that collection of the amount of any assessment would be jeopardized by delay, the provisions of subsection (a) shall not operate to stay collection of such amount by levy or otherwise as authorized by law. There shall be excluded from any amount assessed or collected pursuant to this paragraph the amount of interest, penalty, additional amount, and addition to the tax, if any, in respect of the period disregarded under subsection (a). In any case to which this paragraph relates, if the Secretary or his delegate is required to give any notice or to make any demand upon any person, such requirement shall be deemed to be satisfied if the notice or demand is prepared and signed, in any case in which the address of such person last known to the Secretary or his delegate is in an area for which United States post offices under instructions of the Postmaster General are not, by reason of the combatant activities, accepting mail for delivery at the time the notice or demand is signed. In such case the notice or demand shall be deemed to have been given or made upon the date it is signed.

(2) Action taken before ascertainment of right to benefits. The assessment or collection of any internal revenue tax or of any liability to the United States in respect of any internal revenue tax, or any action or proceeding by or on behalf of the United States in connection therewith, may be made, taken, begun, or prosecuted in accordance with law, without regard to the provisions of subsection (a), unless prior to such assessment, collection, action, or proceeding it is ascertained that the person concerned is entitled to the benefits of subsection (a).

[Docket No. E-6726]

AMESBURY ELECTRIC LIGHT CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

In the matter of, Amesbury Electric Light Company, Essex County Electric Company, Haverhill Electric Company, Lawrence Electric Company, The Lowell Electric Light Corporation, New England Power Company, Docket No. E-6726.

Take notice that on January 22, 1957, an application was filed with the Federal Power Commission pursuant to section 203 of the Federal Power Act by Amesbury Electric Light Company of Amesbury, Massachusetts (hereinafter referred to as "Amesbury"), Essex County Electric Company of Salem, Massachusetts (hereinafter referred to as "Essex"), Haverhill Electric Company of Haverhill, Massachusetts (hereinafter referred to as "Haverhill"), Lawrence Electric Company of Lawrence, Massachusetts (hereinafter referred to as "Lawrence"), The Lowell Electric Light Corporation of Lowell, Massachusetts (hereinafter referred to as "Lowell"), and New England Power Company of Boston, Massachusetts (hereinafter referred to as "NEPCO"). All of the foregoing Applicants are corporations organized under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. NEPCO is also authorized to do business as a foreign corporation in the States of New Hampshire and Vermont. Applicants seek an order authorizing the merger of Amesbury, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell with and into Essex and the transfer, following said merger, of certain 23 KV property from NEPCO to Essex. Essex proposes to issue its capital stock in exchange for capital stock of Amesbury, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell. The transfer of the 23 KV property from NEPCO to Essex will be made at the net book value thereof. As a result of the merger Essex will acquire all of the facilities of Amesbury, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell, consisting principally of distribution facilities which Essex will continue to use in its distribution of electricity. Essex will also acquire certain generating plants owned by Amesbury, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell and continue to use said generating plants on the same basis as now used by such Applicants. The 23 KV property which will be transferred from NEPCO to Essex will be used by Essex for delivery of electricity from NEPCO's high tension system to distribution areas of the enlarged Essex territory. Effective upon consummation of the proposed merger and transfer of said 23 KV property the separate wholesale contracts covering purchases of electric energy from NEPCO by Essex, Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell and the wholesale contract covering purchases of electric energy from Haverhill by Amesbury will be cancelled, and a single contract covering purchases by the enlarged Essex Company from NEPCO will be substituted. No changes will be made in the basic rates as a result of the new contract, but Applicants state that the new contract would result in a decrease in the cost of electric energy to Essex which may amount to approximately $63,000 annually. Essex will succeed to various other contracts of the merging companies, without changes of substance, including contracts with NEPCO for the sale of electric energy generated at the steam plants of the merging companies, the contract of Lawrence for the sale of electric energy to Granite State Electric Company and the contracts for the sale of electric energy by various of the merging companies to others for resale.

Any person desiring to be heard or make any protest with reference to said application should on or before the 20th day of February 1957, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. The application is on file and available for public inspection.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 812-1059]

GAS INDUSTRIES FUND, INC.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR EXEMPTION FROM PROVISIONS OF PURCHASE OF SECURITIES DURING EXISTENCE OF UNDERWRITING SYNDICATE

JANUARY 28, 1957.

Notice is hereby given that Gas Industries Fund, Inc. ("Gas Industries"), a registered open-end diversified investment company, has filed an application pursuant to section 10 (f) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act") for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of section 10 (f) of the act the proposed purchase by Gas Industries of not more than 5,000 Units each consisting of $100 principal amount of Debentures and five shares of common stock to be issued by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Limited ("Trans-Canada"), a Canadian corporation, during the existence of the underwriting syndicate mentioned below.

The application states that The First Boston Corporation ("First Boston") expects to be among a group of principal underwriters which plans to sell by public offering $80,000,000 principal amount of ____ percent Subordinated Debentures due 1976 and 4,000,000 common shares (par value $1 per share) of Trans-Canada to be offered in units as stated above; that James H. Orr, a director of Gas Industries, is also a director of, and therefore an affiliated person of, First Boston; and that Gas Industries considers it desirable to be in a position to purchase not more than 5,000 units during the public offering.

Section 10 (f) of the act provides, among other things, that no registered investment company shall knowingly purchase or otherwise acquire, during the existence of any underwriting or selling syndicate any security (except a security of which such company is the issuer) a principal underwriter of which is a person of which a director of such registered investment company is an affiliated person, unless the Commission by order upon application grants an exemption therefrom. The application states that since a director of Gas Industries is an affiliated person of an investment banking organization which is part of the principal underwriting group, the proposed purchase is subject to the provisions of section 10 (f).

It is represented that the directors of Gas Industries have authorized the purchase by Gas Industries of not exceeding 5,000 of the above described units from underwriters or members of the selling group, if any, other than First Boston, except to the extent that First Boston might be included if a purchase were to be made from the representative of the principal underwriters for the account of the several underwriters.

Trans-Canada proposes to own or to lease and to operate a natural gas pipeline system for the purchase, transportation and sale of natural gas. Its general area of operation extends from the Province of Alberta across the Province of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario and through a portion of the Province of Quebec to Montreal, Canada.

The application states that if Gas Industries were to purchase the 5,000 Units it would acquire approximately .97 percent of the total comtemplated offering, and assuming a purchase price of $100 per Unit (the proposed maximum offering price set forth in the preliminary prospectus of Trans-Canada), the aggregate purchase price would represent an investment of $780,000 or approximately 1.3 percent of the total assets of Gas Industries as of December 31, 1956.

It is represented that the proposed purchase by Gas Industries is consistent with its stated investment policies.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 11, 1957, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

By the Commission.

INVESTIGATION INSTITUTED AND INSPECTION OF APPLICATION

Investigation instituted. Upon application of the Bicycle Manufacturers Association of America, New York, N. Y., received January 11, 1957, the United States Tariff Commission, on the 28th day of January 1957, under the authority of section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended, and section 332 of the Tariff Act of 1930, instituted an investigation to determine whether bicycles provided for in paragraph 371 of the Tariff Act of 1930 are, as a result in whole or in part of the duty or other customs treatment reflecting concessions granted thereon under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, either actual or relative, as to cause or threaten serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive products.

Inspection of application. The application filed in this case is available for public inspection at the office of the Secretary, United States Tariff Commission, 8th and E Streets, NW., Washington, D. VIOLINS AND VIOLAS

"ESCAPE CLAUSE" REPORT

JANUARY 29, 1957.

The Tariff Commission today submitted a report to the President of its finding and conclusion in the "escape clause" investigation No. 55 made under section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended, with respect to violins and violas dutiable under paragraph 1541 (b) of the Tariff Act of 1930. These instruments were subject to the following compound rates of duty, pursuant to a concession, granted in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, that became effective on April 21, 1948:

Violins and violas of all sizes, wholly or partly manufactured or assembled, made after the year 1800:
Valued at less than $50 each	$1.25 each plus 30 percent ad valorem.
Valued at $50 or more but less than $100 each	$1.25 each plus 25 percent ad valorem.
Valued at $100 or more each	$1.25 each plus 17½ percent ad valorem.

Pursuant to an additional concession granted in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, the rate of duty on all violins and violas provided for in paragraph 1541 (b), regardless of value, became 62½ cents each plus 17½ percent ad valorem, effective June 6, 1951. This is the rate now in effect.

The Commission found (Commissioners Schreiber and Sutton dissenting) that imports of the aforementioned instruments valued not over $25 each are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, both actual and relative, as to cause serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive products. The Commission also found that in order to remedy this serious injury, it is necessary that the duty on such violins and violas valued not over $25 each be increased to $1.875 each plus 52.5 per centum ad valorem.

Copies of the Commission's report, which includes majority and minority views, are available upon request as long as the limited supply lasts. Address requests to the United States Tariff Commission, 8th and E Streets NW., Washington 25, D. C. or stock raising and to make full and efficient use of their land and labor resources. These objectives will be accomplished through the extension of credit and supervisory assistance.

§ 341.3 Supervisory assistance. Full-time family-type farmers obtaining Operating loans will receive supervisory assistance to the extent necessary to assure that the objectives outlined in § 341.2 are accomplished and that the interests of the Government are protected.

(a) Borrowers who receive initial Operating loans, except those whose loans are scheduled for payment in full from the income received from the first year's operations, will receive assistance in developing Long-Time and Annual Farm and Home Plans, keeping records, and analyzing their farm and home business. In addition, these borrowers will receive farm and home visits to assist them in carrying out their Farm and Home Plans. Such borrowers who receive subsequent loans will receive the same type of plans and other supervisory assistance even though the subsequent loan may be scheduled for repayment from the year's operations for which such loan is made.

(b) Borrowers who receive initial Operating loans scheduled for payment in full from the first year's operations will receive assistance in developing Annual Farm and Home Plans for the period for which the loan is made. They will also receive such additional supervisory assistance as is necessary to accomplish the objectives of the loan, including farm and home visits and assistance in keeping farm and home records. Subsequent loans to such borrowers will be based on the same type of plan and other supervisory assistance. However, if such a borrower receives a subsequent loan which is not scheduled for payment in full from income to be received from the crop year's operations for which the loan is made, such borrower will receive assistance in developing long-time and annual plans and other supervisory assistance as provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 341.4 Relationship with other types of Farmers Home Administration loans—(a) Real Estate loans. Generally real estate improvements needed on the farm of an applicant should be obtained through a Real Estate loan. Operating loans for the improvement of real estate may be made only for the limited purposes and under the conditions prescribed in § 341.8.

(b) Production Emergency loans. Initial Operating loans will not be made to applicants in areas designated for Production Emergency loans when the credit needed is primarily for annual operating expenses and can be scheduled for payment in full from the first year's operations, provided such applicant's credit needs can be met adequately with such emergency loans.

(c) Special Livestock loans. Initial Operating loans will not be made to applicants who are also receiving initial Special Livestock loans. However, when a borrower already indebted for a Special Livestock loan needs additional credit for purposes which cannot be met with a subsequent Special Livestock loan, an Operating loan may be made provided all of the Operating loan requirements can be fully met.

§ 341.5 Eligibility—(a) Applicant. In order to be eligible for a loan, the applicant must—

(1) Be a citizen of the United States.

(2) Possess legal capacity to contract for the loan.

(3) Be unable to obtain sufficient credit to finance his actual needs at rates (but not exceeding the rate of five percent per annum) and terms prevailing in or near his community for loans of similar size and character. Real estate equity should be considered along with the other resources of an applicant in determining the availability of credit from private and cooperative sources.

(4) Be able to meet his major needs for operating credit within the indebtedness limitation prescribed in § 341.12, except for the financing of special enterprises such as some livestock feeding operations, and sugar beets where financing on a contractual or equally definite basis is available.

(5) Be an individual who possesses the character, ability, and industry necessary to carry out successfully the proposed farming operations and who will endeavor honestly to carry out the undertakings and obligations required of him in connection with the loan.

(6) Have had farm experience or training sufficient to indicate reasonable prospects of conducting successful family-type farming operations. He may be an individual who has recently been engaged in farming, and whose background and normal means of livelihood in the past have been farming, but who may not have farmed during the past few years.

(7) After the loan is made, be the operator of a family-type farm as an owner or tenant.

(8) Derive, after the loan is made, the major portion of his income from farming or stock raising and spend the major portion of his time in carrying on his farming or stock raising operations. Under this policy, an applicant who will be seasonably employed off the farm during the early years of his loans may qualify for assistance. However, a loan will not be made to an applicant who will carry on a type of farming which will require substantial income from other employment during the term of the loan or to an applicant who will be regularly employed off the farm. Payments to a veteran for pensionable disabilities and other veterans' benefits will not be considered in determining whether an applicant will derive the major portion of his income from farming operations.

(b) Farm. Operating loans to full-time family-type farmers are limited to individuals who, after the loan is made, will own or have available under satisfactory tenure arrangements a family-type farm suitable for carrying on a successful full-time farming operation. A family-type farm is defined as a farm that is of sufficient size and productivity to furnish income that will enable a farm family to have a reasonable standard of living, pay operating expenses including maintenance of necessary livestock, farm and home equipment, and land and buildings, pay their debts, and have a reasonable reserve to meet unforeseen emergencies; for which the management is furnished by the operator and his immediate family; and for which the labor is furnished primarily by such operator and family except during seasonal peak-load periods. It is not intended to include in this definition farms which require large amounts of seasonal hired labor.

§ 341.6 Certification by applicant. Before an application for an Operating loan is considered, the applicant must certify in writing on Form FHA–49, "Certifications—Operating Loan," that he is a citizen of the United States and that sufficient credit to meet his actual needs for the designated crop year is not available to him at rates (but not exceeding the rate of five percent per annum) and terms for loans of similar size and character prevailing in or near the community where he resides. The applicant also must agree to abide by the other provisions set forth in Form FHA–49.

§ 341.7 Certification by County Committee. Before an Operating loan is approved, the County Committee must certify in writing on Form FHA–49 at a Committee meeting that the applicant is eligible to receive a loan under the provisions of Title II of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act; that credit sufficient in amount to finance the actual needs of the applicant is not available to him at the rates (but not exceeding the rate of five percent per annum) and terms prevailing in or near the community in which the applicant resides for loans of similar size and character from commercial banks, cooperative lending agencies, or from any other responsible source; and that in the opinion of the Committee, the applicant will honestly endeavor to carry out the undertakings and obligations required of him. In addition, the County Committee will establish the maximum amount of credit which may be extended, under the certification, to meet the actual needs of the applicant during the crop year indicated. The County Committee will observe the eligibility requirements in § 341.5 in determining each applicant's eligibility. This consideration will be based on information furnished by the County Supervisor, the personal knowledge of the Committeemen, and, if necessary, on information gathered in an investigation by the Committee, including an interview with the applicant family or a visit to the farm.

(a) The maximum amount of credit established by the County Committee will represent the ceiling for the total of all Operating loans which may be made to the applicant during the designated crop year under the County Committee certification. It will not necessarily represent the amount which actually will be loaned.

(b) It is intended that County Committees will have some latitude in determining the crop year(s) for which credit may be extended.

(c) If it is found, after an applicant has been certified as eligible, that a different farm will be operated or that an amount of credit in excess of the maximum previously established by the County Committee will be required for the designated crop year, it will be necessary for the County Committee again to certify the applicant as eligible on the basis of the changed circumstances if a loan is to be made.

§ 341.8 Loan purposes. (a) Operating loans may be made for—

(1) The purchase of necessary livestock, farm equipment, and other farm needs. This includes the purchase of bulk milk tanks and pipeline milkers, provided the applicant is obtaining an Operating loan for other purposes, and such equipment can be made subject to a chattel lien under the state law. These purposes do not include the purchase of passenger automobiles.

(2) The purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, insecticides, farm supplies, and equipment repairs, and to meet other essential farm operating expenses, including the payment of social security taxes in connection with hired labor.

(3) The payment of customary and equitable charges for the use of farm buildings, pasture land, grazing permits, and cash rent for crop and hay land for not more than one year in advance, provided:

(i) The applicant is obligated under a written lease to pay in advance the amount to be loaned for such purpose.

(ii) The terms of the lease provide the applicant with reasonably secure and satisfactory tenure.

(4) The payment of bills that were incurred for annual recurring operating expenses in connection with the production of livestock, livestock products, and crops that are to be harvested or marketed during the crop year for which the loan is being made. This does not authorize the payment of bills incurred in connection with crops, livestock, or livestock products that have been lost, destroyed, or disposed of prior to loan approval.

(5) The payment of taxes due or about to become due on real and personal property, water or drainage charges or assessments, premiums for insurance on real and personal property, and not more than a year's interest, calculated at a rate not to exceed that which is reasonable and customary for the area, that is due or about to become due on debts secured by liens on livestock, farm equipment, and farm real estate owed to other creditors. Loans will be made for these purposes only if arrangements cannot be made to pay such expenses as future income becomes available. However, loan funds will not be used to pay taxes or insurance premiums in connection with real estate securing Farmers Home Administration loans other than Operating loans.

(6) Meeting family subsistence needs, including premiums on reasonable amounts of health and life insurance and expenses for medical care. Applicants must, however, within the limits of their resources, plan and carry on adequate food production and conservation programs. Normally, family subsistence needs should be met from income. However, in justifiable cases, such as those in which the income will not be received by the time that family subsistence needs must be met, loan funds may be used for these purposes if no other satisfactory arrangements can be made.

(7) The purchase of essential home equipment and furnishings, and the payment for home equipment repairs required by the applicant family to sustain itself on the farm in a reasonably satisfactory manner; provided, such expenses cannot be met from cash on hand or on terms which the family could reasonably be expected to meet as income becomes available.

(8) Acquiring memberships in farm purchasing and marketing and farm-service-type cooperative associations. However, loan funds will not be used to purchase memberships in production cooperatives, participate in any land purchasing or land leasing program, purchase memberships for the purpose of establishing control by the Farmers Home Administration in any type of cooperative, or furnish a majority of the associations' capital requirements.

(9) The payment of debts secured by liens on livestock, farm equipment, and harvested feed and the payment of unsecured debts incurred for the acquisition of livestock and farm equipment when such action is necessary to enable the applicant to continue his farming operations on a sound basis, or prevent a split line of credit between the Farmers Home Administration and another creditor(s) in connection with a basic livestock herd or flock, provided the property involved is essential to the applicant's farming operations and is of the type and quality needed, and the amount refinanced does not exceed the fair market value of the property on which the indebtedness is owed as shown by an appraisal report on such property made by the county supervisory personnel and included in the docket. When unsecured debts are to be refinanced, as provided in this subparagraph, the applicant will be required to sign a statement to be inserted on, or attached to, the appraisal report referred to above showing that the debt for which refinancing is requested was incurred to acquire the livestock or farm equipment described therein. When the payment of debts under this subparagraph is involved, the creditor will be contacted, in person when practicable, to discuss the applicant's credit needs in order to ascertain if the refinancing is necessary and in line with Farmers Home Administration policies. Since the primary objective of loans made under this Subpart is the making of adjustments and improvements in applicant's farming operations, it is expected that the major portion of the funds available for loans will be used for such purposes. It is recognized, however, that some farmers because of conditions such as drought and price-cost readjustments are unable to make the required payments on their debts from income, are being required to dispose of chattels which are necessary to continue successfully their farming operations, or are otherwise so hard pressed by their creditors that their farming operations will be seriously affected. Therefore, loans may be made in cases in which the primary purpose of the loan is the refinancing of the debts referred to in this subparagraph, provided the requirements of the proviso in the first sentence of this subparagraph are met and the loan can be made on a sound basis. It is not intended, however, that the Farmers Home Administration will refinance the bad loans of other lenders or supplant other sources of credit.

(10) The construction of necessary farm buildings, making essential repairs and improvements to existing farm buildings, and purchasing equipment and paying other costs incident to establishing or improving a farmstead water supply, provided not more than $1,000 may be advanced to a borrower for any or all such purposes during any fiscal year, and subject to the limitations in paragraph (b) of this section.

(11) The purchase of fencing material, provided not more than $500 may be advanced to a borrower for such purpose during any fiscal year, and subject to the limitations in paragraph (b) of this section.

(12) The establishment and improvement of pastures and hay crops, the construction of terraces, waterways, and farm ponds, the clearing, leveling, and drainage of land, and the payment for other approved soil and water conservation and improvement measures, provided not more than $1,000 may be advanced to a borrower for any or all such purposes during any fiscal year, and subject to the limitations in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) The use of Operating loan funds for real estate improvements authorized in subparagraph (10), (11), and (12) of paragraph (a) of this section is subject to the following limitations:

(1) It is not intended that these authorities will be used to make substantial real estate improvements by advancing funds year after year.

(2) Before an Operating loan is made for such real estate improvements, a careful analysis must be made of the applicant's resources and proposed operations and a determination made that such real estate improvements cannot be provided practicably through Farm Ownership or Farm Housing loans, that the land improvements and water development credit needs are not of such substantial amounts that a Soil and Water Conservation loan should be made, that the farm can be developed to the extent that a sound farm and home program can be established on the farm within the prescribed operating loan limitations, taking into consideration the applicant's need for additional operating credit during the period of development, and that the applicant will be able to pay his Operating loans within the prescribed payment period.

(3) Generally, additional real estate improvements needed on the farm of a Farmers Home Administration Real Estate loan borrower should be obtained through a Real Estate loan. However, when the development costs are small in relation to the real estate investment and can be provided under the policies hereinbefore set forth in this Subpart, Operating loan funds may be used for this purpose provided the loan approval official determines that:

(i) In the case of a Farm Ownership borrower, the sum of the unpaid balance on the Farm Ownership loan, any other indebtedness secured by liens on the real estate, plus the amount of the Operating loan being used for real estate improvements will not exceed the Farm Ownership loan limitations with respect to the value of the farm as certified by the County Committee.

(ii) In the case of a Farm Housing or Soil and Water Conservation borrower whose loan is secured by real estate, the unpaid balance on the Farm Housing or Soil and Water Conservation loan, any other indebtedness secured by liens on the real estate, plus the amount of the Operating loan funds being used for real estate purposes do not exceed the normal market value of the farm as determined by the County Committee.

(4) Operating loan funds may not be used to finance real estate improvements which are included in the original Farm Development Plan.

(5) Operating loans may not be made to a tenant to finance real estate improvements unless he has a written lease for a sufficient period of time and under terms that will enable him to obtain reasonable returns on his investment. In addition, the lease in such case must provide for compensating the tenant for any unexhausted value of the improvement upon termination of the lease. In cases involving tenant applications, the landlord, applicant, and County Supervisor must thoroughly discuss and agree to the proposed improvements. In the case of an owner-operator it must be determined before funds are advanced for real estate improvements that he will likely continue to operate the farm for a sufficient period of time and under such terms that will enable him to obtain reasonable returns on his investment.

§ 341.9 Rates and terms. Interest will be charged at the rate of 5 percent per annum on all Operating loans. Interest will accrue from the date of the loan check on outstanding principal only and will not be compounded. Loans will be scheduled for payment as follows:

(a) Payments of principal on Operating loans will be scheduled in accordance with the borrower's reasonable ability to pay, determined by an analysis of his farm and home operations as reflected in his Farm and Home Plans except that payments must be in more than token amounts. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, principal payments on such loans will be scheduled at least annually, unless it is determined that income sufficient to meet the initial payment will not be received within 12 months from the date of the loan check, in which case the initial payment may be scheduled on a date coinciding with the date the income is to be received, but not beyond 18 months from the date of the loan check, and at least one payment will be scheduled during each 12-month period thereafter. In no event will any payment be scheduled later than seven years from the date of the loan check.

(1) Advances for annual recurring operating expenses will be scheduled for payment when the principal income from the year's operations normally would be received.

(2) Advances for such purposes as seeding permanent-type legumes and grasses and for basic soil treatment may be scheduled for payment over a period consistent with the applicant's payment ability, but in no event longer than the expected life of the seeding or treatment.

(3) Advances to purchase or produce feed for productive livestock, or livestock to be fed for the market, will be scheduled for payment when the principal income from the sale of such livestock or livestock products can be expected.

(4) Advances for purposes other than those enumerated in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph will be scheduled for payment over the minimum period consistent with the applicant's ability to pay, as determined from an analysis of the farm and home operations. In no instance may the payment schedule extend beyond the useful life of the security offered for the advance. Where the conditions warrant such action, principal payments may be varied in amount from year to year. For example, when a livestock enterprise is being expanded as the feed and pasture program is developed, a graduated payment schedule could be used if necessary. In connection with subsequent loans for such purposes, it is necessary to consider payment schedules established previously for outstanding loans in order to assure a realistic over-all payment schedule within the limits prescribed above. In no case, however, should the late installments on a loan be scheduled in larger amounts than can be met from anticipated income.

(b) When it is anticipated that income will not be received early enough to pay the minimum initial principal payment required in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, plus interest, part or all of such payment, including advances for operating expenses, may be deferred in the situations indicated in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph but not beyond the end of the second full crop year following the date of the loan. If a loan is made during a crop year and sufficient time remains in that year for the applicant to realize substantial benefits from the year's operations, the crop year during which the loan was made will be considered as the first full crop year. The amount of the initial principal installment scheduled for payment will be based upon the applicant's anticipated ability to pay, taking into consideration the fact that the interest which has accrued will fall due concurrently with each principal installment. Deferments may be approved only in the following situations:

(1) A major farm reorganization is planned and a relatively large amount of credit is being advanced to provide operating capital, or

(2) Substantial amounts of credit are being advanced for pasture development, fencing, and other land improvements, and a longer repayment period is needed for paying advances for these purposes, along with advances for capital purchases.

§ 341.10 Security policies. (a) The full amount of each loan will be secured as follows:

(1) Crops. By a first lien on the applicant's crops, or his share of the crops if he is a share tenant, which are growing or to be grown by him, subject only to

(i) The landlord's lien on the crops for reasonable cash or privilege rent for the current year;

(ii) The real estate mortgagee's lien or real estate purchase contract holder's lien on the crops for the current year's installment on the real estate debt, provided such installment is reasonable when related to the normal rental charges for similar farms in the area;

(iii) The lien of another creditor on a particular crop(s) for advances made or to be made by him to produce such crop(s) provided no advance will be made by the Farmers Home Administration in connection with such crop(s).

NOTE: If a landlord, real estate morgagee, or real estate purchase contract holder has a lien on the applicant's crops for advances made or to be made, supplies furnished or to be furnished, past due rent, or amounts owing in connection with the purchase of the real estate other than for the current year's reasonable installment, he will be required to subordinate such lien whether it exists by statute, lease, chattel mortgage, conditional sales contract, vendor's lien, land purchase contract, or other contract. Any other creditor will also be required to subordinate such lien he has on such crop(s) except as provided in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

(2) Livestock and farm equipment purchased or refinanced. By a first lien on all livestock and farm equipment purchased or refinanced with the proceeds of the loan, except that liens will not be taken on poultry kept primarily for family-living purposes, on small equipment and tools, or on household goods and equipment.

(3) Other livestock and farm equipment of security value. By a lien on the other livestock and farm equipment of security value owned by the applicant at the time the loan is approved, except that liens will not be taken on poultry kept primarily for family-living purposes, on small equipment and tools, on household goods and equipment, or on passenger automobiles subject to:

(i) The existing liens of the landlord, real estate mortgagee, or purchase contract holder on such property for amounts owed at the time the loan is approved, and for rent or installments on real estate which may become due in the future. Therefore, if such existing liens secure advances to be made or supplies to be furnished, the lienholder will be required to subordinate his lien for these purposes, whether it exists by statute, lease, chattel mortgage, conditional sales contract, vendor's lien, land purchase contract, or other contract.

(ii) The existing liens of creditors other than those specified in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(4) Liens and assignments to protect the government's interests in feed purchased or produced with loan funds. Loans made to purchase or produce feed for livestock being fed for market or to be fed to productive livestock will ordinarily be secured by first liens on such livestock. However, when a first lien cannot be obtained, the loan will be secured by liens or assignments as provided below in subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph.

(i) When the livestock will be owned by the applicant and a first lien cannot be obtained, a junior lien will be taken, provided it is determined that the applicant has, or will acquire during the feeding period, an equity in the livestock being fed or will receive income from livestock or livestock products, either of which must be commensurate with the investment made for this purpose; and prior lien holders sign Form FHA–916, Agreement—Special Livestock Loan, or similar form approved by the Attorney in Charge, agreeing to a suitable nondisturbance period and to a division of the income to be received from the livestock and livestock products, which will permit the applicant to pay his loan in accordance with the policies expressed in this subpart. However, when no payment is expected to be made on the loan from the livestock or livestock products, Form FHA–916 will not be required.

(ii) When the livestock enterprise is to be managed by the applicant under a livestock share lease, share agreement, or contract, and the income to be received therefrom will be from the livestock fed, or from livestock products, an assignment of such income will be taken provided the owner or purchaser of the livestock or livestock products accepts in writing the assignment. The form for use in obtaining such assignments will be approved by the Attorney in Charge. When the borrower's compensation under the livestock share lease, share agreement, or contract is livestock increase, the applicant will be required to agree in writing at the time the loan is made to give a first lien on such increase as soon as an effective lien can be taken, unless an after-acquired property clause in an existing lien instrument will provide such a first lien.

(5) Assignments of crop insurance. Borrowers having insurance on cash crops from which payments may be received will be required to give written assignments to the Farmers Home Administration of the proceeds of such insurance. If such insurance is to be obtained at a later date, an agreement will be reached with the borrower to give an assignment when the insurance is obtained. However, an assignment is not required in cases where a crop insurance policy contains a standard mortgage clause naming the Farmers Home Administration as mortgagee.

(6) Assignments of proceeds from sale of agricultural products. When loans are made to finance dairy or commercial egg enterprises from which payments are expected, assignments will be taken on the milk or egg income to assist in obtaining regular payments as income is received whenever it is possible to obtain an agreement from the purchaser to honor the assignments. Assignments of proceeds from the sale of other agricultural products or agricultural income, including wool incentive payments, will be taken when necessary to protect the interest of the Government and can be obtained.

(b) Property insurance. (1) Applicants obtaining Operating loans should be encouraged to carry insurance on their livestock, equipment, feed, seed, and other property necessary to afford them adequate protection against substantial losses from the common hazards existing in an area such as fire, lightning, and wind. It is especially desirable that insurance be obtained by applicants who obtain large loans and have considerable livestock, equipment, feed, and seed which are housed over an extended period. Such insurance may be obtained from any insurance company properly authorized to do business in the area.

(2) The hazards and risks to which security for Operating loans is subject vary substantially within and between States. Insurance coverage for security property, therefore, will not be made a general requirement in connection with the making of all Operating loans. However, loan approval officials may require individual borrowers to obtain suitable insurance as provided in Form FHA–30. --, "Crop and Chattel Mortgage," as a prerequisite to loan approval when such action is deemed necessary.

(3) When insurance is required as a loan approval condition or otherwise is carried by the borrower on property serving as security for an Operating loan, a mortgage clause will be attached to or printed in the policy in accordance with the principles outlined in Part 306 of this chapter.

(c) State Directors may require, on a State or other basis, because of State statutes or types of leases, land purchase contracts, and real estate mortgages, that as a condition to making Operating loans, the holders of such instruments subordinate their interests in whole or in part so that the Government can obtain the required security.

(d) Lien searches will be obtained in accordance with the provisions of Part 342 of this chapter to determine that the Government will have the required security.

§ 341.11 Land tenure. Good land tenure is essential in building a sound and successful farming business. Applicants will, therefore, be required to make satisfactory arrangements for the use of sufficient land of the quality necessary for carrying on an approved system of farming on a sound and practical basis. The tenure policies set forth below in this section will be followed by Farmers Home Administration officials in the making and approving of loans.

(a) Tenant operators. (1) Before a loan is made the tenant, the landlord, and the County Supervisor must understand the terms and conditions of the tenure arrangements. These understandings can best be reached through discussions, preferably on the farm, and such discussions will be held whenever possible except when no significant adjustments and improvements are to be made in the farming operations. In any event the understanding will include how the farm will be operated; the manner in which the planned adjustments and improvements will be financed; the distribution of income and expenses and other contributions by the tenant or the landlord; agreement on any pertinent long-time planning aspects of the case; and any other factors affecting the tenure relationship.

(2) Ordinarily, loans will not be made unless the applicant obtains a satisfactory written lease. However, when for good reason an applicant cannot obtain a written lease on part or all of the land he expects to operate, the loan may be approved, provided the County Supervisor determines that the understanding existing between the tenant and landlord are definite and the rental terms are satisfactory with respect to each tract of land; and the lack of a written lease will not likely jeopardize the applicant's farming operations.

(b) Owner operators. Before loans are made to owner-operators, the terms existing with respect to any real estate indebtedness owing will be ascertained and a determination will be made as to whether the applicant's proposed farming operations will enable him to meet the required payments on the real estate indebtedness as well as being sound in other respects, and the applicant will have reasonably secure tenure on the farm under the terms of the real estate mortgage or purchase contract.

§ 341.12 Loan limitations and requirements. The following loan requirements and limitations will be observed in making Operating loans;

(a) The amount of each loan will be limited to the needs of the applicant and his ability to pay. Normally, these needs can be met within a total outstanding principal indebtedness of $10,000. However, when the credit needs of an individual applicant exceeds this amount, because of the type of farming operation which he proposes to carry out or unusual operating needs, loans may be made which would result in an indebtedness in excess of $10,000, but in no case may a loan be made which would cause the total principal balance outstanding to exceed $20,000. In addition, the aggregate of the portion of the loans made in any fiscal year which increases the borrower's indebtedness above $10,000 may not exceed 10 percent of the appropriation for such loans for that year.

(b) No loan may be made to an applicant who has been indebted for loans made under Title II of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act for seven consecutive years until all of his indebtedness under such loans has been liquidated by payment in full or debt settlement except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section. Normally, it is expected that a borrower will not need further Farmers Home Administration Operating loans after the 7-year period of continuous indebtedness.

(c) In individual cases in which the borrower has reached the 7-year continuous indebtedness limitation, and applies for additional credit, the County Committee will review thoroughly the borrower's past operations, present and future credit needs, and repayment ability. If it is determined by the County Committee and the loan approval official that the borrower is unable to pay his indebtedness as originally scheduled; that such inability was due to causes beyond the borrower's control, such as adverse weather, crop or livestock disease or pestilence, sickness, fire, reduction in acreage allotments, unfavorable price-cost relationships, or other economic factors occurring during the 7-year period of continuous indebtedness; that with an extension of the present indebtedness as provided herein and with additional Operating loans, the borrower will be able to accomplish the objectives of the loan and pay his indebtedness in full; that all junior lien holders will agree in writing to the proposed extension; and that the borrower meets the other requirements for the loan, the borrower's existing indebtedness or any installment thereof may be extended for a period not beyond 10 years from the debt limitation control date and during such extended period additional loans may be made to him.

(1) The installment(s) being extended will be scheduled for payment in line with the borrower's ability to pay, taking into consideration the other debts owed the Farmers Home Administration, provided:

(i) The installment(s) being extended will be scheduled for payment within 10 years from the debt limitation control date.

(ii) No installment of any existing note falling due after 10 years from the debt limitation control date may be extended as to date or changed as to amount.

(d) Loan funds may not be used to pay debts owed by the applicant to the Farmers Home Administration, or to make principal or interest payments on such debts. Loans may not be made for the purchase of real estate or for making principal payments on real estate already purchased. Among other things, this precludes the making of loans for the purpose of making down payments on Farm Ownership farms, for replacing livestock and equipment sold primarily for the purpose of obtaining funds with which to make such down payments, and for the refinancing of debts incurred for that purpose.

(e) Loans will not be made for the purchase of livestock or payment of debts on livestock which will result in split lines of credit between the Farmers Home Administration and other creditors in connection with a particular livestock herd or flock.

(f) A joint loan may be made to husband and wife, mother and son, or father and son, living together as a family and operating jointly the same farm unit. No other joint loans may be made. When joint loans are made, both individuals will execute the application, certification, loan authorization, notes, mortgages, and other documents required in connection with the making and closing of the loan.

(g) Separate loans may be made to eligible individuals who are engaged jointly in farming, provided not more than two individuals are interested in the operation; the security requirements contained in § 341.10 are met; and the operations provide the equivalent of a family-type operation for each applicant family. If a loan is made to only one such individual, it will be secured by a first lien on his interest in the crops and chattels and the other individual will be required to execute the mortgage with him so as to disclaim any interest in the security property offered by the applicant. If a loan is made to each of the two individuals, the security instruments for each will be executed by both, or a joint mortgage may be taken.

(h) Before a loan can be made to an applicant for whom debts have been settled pursuant to Part 364 of this chapter, or where a settlement under such subpart is contemplated, it must appear conclusively that the applicant's failure to pay his loan indebtedness was the result of circumstances beyond his control, that the causes which necessitated the debt settlement, other than weather hazards, disasters, or price fluctuations, have been removed, and that the borrower's operations will be sound and afford him a reasonable prospect of paying the loan and meeting his other obligations. Loans in such cases must be submitted to the National Office for review prior to approval.

(i) Loans will not be made to finance unproven types of farming enterprises in an area.

§ 341.13 Loan approval—(a) Administrative determinations and responsibilities. When an applicant has been certified by the County Committee as eligible to receive a loan in accordance with § 341.7, the loan approval official will determine administratively whether the applicant meets the requirements prescribed in § 341.5 and the other requirements for a loan. The loan approval official will determine that the applicant is eligible for assistance, that the applicant has satisfactory tenure arrangements, that the Long-Time Farm and Home Plan, where required, provides for a proper organization of the farm business, that the improvements and practices essential to successful farm and home operations have been planned, that the proposed operations are financially sound, that the amount of the loan and the purposes for which the funds are to be used are consistent with the family's needs and are for authorized purposes, that the loan can be paid in accordance with the payments scheduled, that the security requirements can be met, that the certifications required of the applicant and County Committee have been made, and that the loan meets all other Farmers Home Administration requirements.

(b) Authority. State Directors are hereby authorized to approve loans to eligible applicants subject to applicable policies and provisions contained in this subpart and Part 342 of this chapter, provided no loan may be approved which will result in an applicant becoming indebted in excess of $15,000 principal for loans made under Title II of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act. A loan which will result in an applicant's total principal indebtedness under this title exceeding $15,000, but not exceeding $20,000, may also be approved by the State Director after prior review by the National Office. In order to provide for any unforeseen need for credit and protect the Government's interest, ordinarily, it is necessary for a reasonable margin to be maintained between the maximum indebtedness limitation and the amount loaned to an applicant.

(1) State Directors are hereby authorized to redelegate to qualified State Office employees, County Supervisors, and GS–7 Assistant County Supervisors, authority to approve loans, provided that County Supervisors and GS–7 Assistant County Supervisors may not be authorized to approve loans which will result in an applicant becoming indebted in excess of $10,000 principal for loans made under Title II of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act and for Emergency Loans under Part 381 of this chapter.

(2) A debt limitation control date is established for each borrower. This date will be used in determining the continuous indebtedness limitation by the loan approval official.

SUBPART B—OPERATING LOANS TO PART-TIME FARMERS

§ 341.21 General. (a) This subpart prescribes the policies and authorities for making Operating loans to part-time farmers including operators of less than family-type farms as authorized under Title II of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, as amended.

(b) Preference will be given to eligible veteran applicants in making loans to part-time farmers.

§ 341.22 Objectives. The primary objective of Operating loans to part-time farmers and stockmen is to enable established bona fide part-time farmers who reside in areas designated for the Rural Development Program to more fully utilize their land and labor resources in order to make needed improvements in their living conditions and economic situation. Some part-time farmers in other areas also will qualify for loans under this subpart. This objective will be accomplished through the extension of credit and supervisory assistance.

§ 341.23 Supervisory assistance. Borrowers will receive supervisory assistance to the extent necessary to assure that the objectives outlined in § 341.22 are accomplished and that the interests of the Government are protected. Borrowers who are conducting part-time farming operations will receive assistance in developing an Annual Farm and Home Plan for the first full crop year and such additional assistance as is necessary to accomplish the objectives of the loan. Subsequent loans to such borrowers will be based on the same type of plans and other supervisory assistance. Even though annual plans are not developed in subsequent years, the County Supervisor will continue to service the outstanding loan to the extent necessary to assure that security property is being maintained properly, acceptable farming practices are being followed, and the maturities on Farmers Home Administration debts and any debts secured by prior liens are being paid when due.

§ 341.24 Relationship with other types of Farmers Home Administration loans. Operating loans to part-time farmers will bear the same relationship to other types of Farmers Home Administration loans as provided in § 341.4.

§ 341.25 Eligibility—(a) Applicant. In order to be eligible for a loan, the applicant must:

(1) Meet the same eligibility requirements as specified in subparagraphs (1), (2), (3), (4), and (5) of § 341.5 (a).

(2) Be an established bona fide farm operator at the time he applies for a loan and be an individual who has historically resided on a farm and depended on farm income for his livelihood. This means that to be eligible the applicant must have resided on a farm and depended on farm income for his livelihood a substantial portion of his life. Applicants who are spending a major portion of their time during the year in off-farm employment are not considered bona fide farmers and, therefore, are not eligible. Veterans will meet the same eligibility requiremetns as nonveterans except that a veteran recently returned from military service will not be required to be established as a bona fide farm operator at the time he applies for assistance.

(3) Have had farm experience or training sufficient to indicate reasonable prospects of conducting successful part-time farming operations.

(4) Need assistance to make improvements in his farming operations which cannot be provided from his income and resources so as to improve his general economic situation and living conditions.

(b) Farm. Operating loans to part-time farmers will be limited to individuals whose farms are of such size and productive capacity that they will produce agricultural commodities in sufficient quantities that the proceeds from their sale will be a substantial portion of the operator's total cash income which, together with income from other sources, including pensions in the case of disabled veterans, is sufficient to meet farm operating and family living expenses and provide for necessary capital replacements, meet payments on the Farmers Home Administration indebtedness, meet payments on any other indebtedness, and provide a reasonable reserve for emergencies. Such farms may be either less than family-type units or family-type units on which the applicant will carry on a type of farming that will require substantial income from other employment during the term of the loan.

(c) Off-farm employment. It must be determined that off-farm income will be reasonably certain to materialize in the amount anticipated, taking into consideration the nature of the proposed employment and the actual employment for the past two or three years, if any, and that the time required for the off-farm work, together with that required for the farm is possible of accomplishment by the applicant and his immediate family, taking into consideration seasonal peakload periods and any provision for hired labor during such peakload periods.

§ 341.26 Certification by the applicant. Part-time farmers applying for Operating loans will make the same certification as provided in § 341.6.

§ 341.27 Certification by the County Committee. The certification by the County Committee for part-time farmers applying for Operating loans and the information furnished the County Committee by the County Supervisor concerning such applicants will be the same as provided in § 341.7, except that the County Supervisor will also provide, and the County Committee will consider, specific information concerning the applicant's off-farm employment and the eligibility requirements prescribed in subparagraphs (2), (3), and (4) of § 341.25. This information concerning off-farm employment will include employment history, place of employment, extent of employment and when it will be performed, and amount of off-farm income anticipated.

§ 341.28 Loan purposes. Operating loans to part-time farmers may be made for the same purpose as prescribed in § 341.8.

§ 341.29 Rates and terms. The rates and terms for Operating loans to part-time farmers are the same as prescribed in § 341.9.

§ 341.30 Security policies. The security policies for Operating loans to part-time farmers are the same as prescribed in § 341.10.

§ 341.31 Land tenure. Tenure requirements for Operating loans to part-time farmers are the same as prescribed in § 341.11.

§ 341.32 Loan limitations and requirements. Loan limitations and requirements for Operating loans to part-time farmers are the same as prescribed in § 341.12. However, loans will not be made to finance the applicant's off-farm employment. This prohibits the making of Operating loans for such purposes as the purchase of equipment, construction or repair of buildings, or providing operating expenses in connection with the off-farm employment.

§ 341.33 Loan approval. State Directors are hereby authorized to approve loans to eligible part-time farmer applicants and to redelegate such authority in the same amounts and under the same conditions as prescribed in § 341.13. In addition, the loan approval official must determine that the applicant's proposed operations are financially sound, taking into consideration the anticipated gross income from farming and other sources. Ordinarily, farm income available for debt payment should be sufficient to meet the required payments on the loan. However, under some circumstances such as when major improvements are being made in the farming operations, and the income resulting from these improvements will be delayed, it may be necessary to look to the off-farm income for payment. In such cases it must be determined that the off-farm income will be available in sufficient amounts to meet the payments expected from this source at the proper time, and the applicant will cooperate in making the required payments from off-farm income.

§ 341.34 Special authority to alter eligibility requirements. If a State Director determines that the credit needs in an area designated under the Rural Development Program cannot be satisfactorily met under the eligibility requirements contained in this subpart, the Administrator may make exceptions to administrative eligibility requirements.

Dated: January 29, 1957.

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

SUBPART—EUROPEAN CHAFER

REVISION OF ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS DESIGNATING REGULATED AREAS UNDER EUROPEAN CHAFER QUARANTINE AND REGULATIONS

On December 5, 1956, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (21 F. R. 9612), under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), a notice of rule making relating to a proposed revision of 7 CFR 301.77-2a. After due consideration of all relevant matters presented, and pursuant to § 301.77-2 of the regulations supplemental to the European chafer quarantine (7 CFR 301.77-2), under sections 8 and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 161, 162), 7 CFR 301.77-2a is hereby revised to read as follows:

§ 301.77-2a Administrative instructions designating regulated areas under the European chafer quarantine and regulations. Infestations of the European chafer have been determined to exist in the counties and other civil divisions, and parts thereof, listed below, or it has been determined that such infestation is likely to exist therein, or it is deemed necessary to regulate such civil divisions and parts thereof because of their proximity to infestation or their inseparability for quarantine purposes from infested localities. Accordingly, such counties and other civil divisions, and parts thereof, are hereby designated as European chafer regulated areas within the meaning of the provisions in this subpart:

CONNECTICUT

New Haven County. That area, comprising part of the town of Meriden, included within a circle having a 1-mile radius and center at the intersection of Wilber Cross Parkway (Connecticut Route 15) and U. S. Highway 5.

NEW YORK

Chemung County. That area, comprising part of the city of Elmira, bounded by a line beginning at the intersection of Bonview Street and Ogden Avenue, proceeding south on Ogden Avenue to Roe Avenue, thence east on Roe Avenue to Bridgman Street, thence south on Bridgman Street to Washington Avenue, thence west on Washington Avenue to Hoffman Street and continuing west of Hoffman Street approximately 2,400 feet, thence northerly approximately 2,800 feet, thence easterly approximately 1,600 feet and continuing east on Bonview Street to the point of beginning.

Erie County. That area, comprising part of the city of Buffalo, bounded by a line beginning at the intersection of Delaware Avenue and Humboldt Parkway, proceeding southeast on Humboldt Parkway to East Delavan Avenue, thence west on East and West Delavan Avenues to Delaware Avenue, and thence northerly on Delaware Avenue to the point of beginning.

Monroe County. The entire county.

Niagara County. That area, comprising part of the city of Niagara Falls, included within a circle having a ½-mile radius and center at the intersection of College and Highland Avenues.

Onondaga County. Towns of Cicero, Clay, De Witt, Geddes, and Salina, and the city of Syracuse.

Ontario County. Towns of Canandaigua, Farmington, Geneva, Gorham, Hopewell, Manchester, Phelps, Seneca, and Victor, and the cities of Canandaigua and Geneva.

Oswego County. Town of Minetto.

Seneca County. Towns of Junius and Tyre.

Wayne County. The entire county.

WEST VIRGINIA

Hampshire County. District of Bloomery and town of Capon Bridge.

These administrative instructions shall become effective February 2, 1957, when they shall supersede administrative instructions effective September 1, 1955.

This revision of administrative instructions adds to the regulated area in New York all previously unregulated parts of the city of Syracuse and the town of Salina, as well as the entire towns of Cicero, Clay, De Witt, and Geddes in Onondaga County and the town of Minetto in Oswego County.

These instructions should be made effective as soon as possible in order to be of maximum benefit in preventing the interstate spread of European chafers. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), good cause is found for making the instructions effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 9, 37 Stat. 318; 7 U. S. C. 162. Interprets or applies sec. 8, 37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 161)

Chapter VIII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Sugar), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter H—Determination of Wage Rates

[Sugar Determination 867.9]

PART 867—WAGES; SUGARCANE: PUERTO RICO

1957 AND SUBSEQUENT CALENDAR YEARS

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (1) of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (herein referred to as "act"), after investigation, and consideration of the evidence obtained at the public hearing held in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on October 25 and 26, 1956, the following determination is hereby issued:

§ 867.9 Fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane in Puerto Rico during 1957 and subsequent calendar years—(a) Requirements. A producer of sugarcane in Puerto Rico shall be deemed to have complied with the wage provisions of the act if all persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane during 1957 and subsequent calendar years shall have been paid in accordance with the following:

(1) Wage rates. All such persons shall have been paid in full and in cash for all such work the wages required by existing legal obligations, whether such obligations resulted from an agreement (such as an agreement between the producer and worker by labor union agreement or otherwise) or were created by statute.

(2) Compensable working time. For work performed under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, compensable working time includes all time which the worker spends in the performance of his duties except time taken out for meals during the work day. Compensable working time commences at the time the worker is required to start work in the field and ends upon completion of work in the field. However, if the producer requires the operator of mechanical equipment, driver of animals or any other class of worker to report to a place other than the field, such as an assembly point, stable, tractor shed, etc., located on the farm, the time spent in transit from such place to the field and from the field to such place is compensable working time. Any time spent in performing work directly related to the principal work performed by the worker such as servicing equipment, is compensable working time. Time of the worker while being transported from a central recruiting point or labor camp to the farm is not compensable working time.

(b) Applicability. The requirements of this section are applicable to all persons employed on the farm, except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane grown on the farm for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar: Provided, That such requirements shall not apply to any person engaged in such work with respect to sugarcane grown on acreage in excess of the proportionate share for the farm, which is marketed (or processed) for the production of sugar or liquid sugar for livestock feed or for the production of livestock feed, if the producer furnishes to the Caribbean Area Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, San Juan, Puerto Rico, (herein referred to as "Area Office") acceptable and adequate proof which satisfies the Area Office that the work performed was related solely to such sugarcane.

(c) Workers not covered. The requirements of this section are not applicable to workers performing services which are indirectly connected with the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane, including, but not limited to, carpenters, electricians, masons, mechanics, welders, and other maintenance and repairmen.

(d) Subterfuge. The producer shall not reduce the wage rates to workers below those determined herein through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

(e) Claim for unpaid wages. Any person who believes he has not been paid in accordance with this determination may file a wage claim with the Area Office against the producer on whose farm the work was performed. Detailed instructions and wage claim forms are available at that office. Such claim must be filed within two years from the date the work with respect to which the claim is made was performed. Upon receipt of a wage claim the Area Office shall thereupon notify the producer against whom the claim is made concerning the representation made by the worker. The Area Office shall arrange for such investigations as it deems necessary and, the producer and worker shall be notified in writing of its recommendation for settlement of the claim. If either party is not satisfied with the recommended settlement, an appeal may be made to the Director of the Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. All such appeals shall be filed within 15 days after receipt of the recommended settlement from the Area Office, otherwise such recommended settlement will be applied in making payments under the act. If a claim is appealed to the Director of the Sugar Division, his decision shall be binding on all parties insofar as payments under the act are concerned.

(f) Effective period. The provisions of this section shall be effective as of January 1, 1957, and shall remain in effect until amended, superseded, or terminated.

Statement of bases and considerations—(a) General. The foregoing determination establishes fair and reasonable wage rates to be paid for work performed by persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane in Puerto Rico during 1957 and subsequent calendar years, as one of the conditions with which producers must comply to be eligible for payments under the act.

(b) Requirements of the act and standards employed. Section 301 (c) (1) of the act requires that all persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane with respect to which an application for payment is made shall have been paid in full for all such work, and shall have been paid wages therefor at rates not less than those that may be determined by the Secretary to be fair and reasonable after investigation and due notice and opportunity for public hearing; and in making such determinations the Secretary shall take into consideration the standards therefor formerly established by him under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended (i. e., cost of living, prices of sugar and by-products, income from sugarcane, and cost of production), and the differences in conditions among various producing areas.

(c) Wage determination. This determination differs from the 1956 wage determination in that fair and reasonable wages for 1957 and subsequent calendar years are to be as agreed upon between the producer and the worker. Specific rates for each worker classification are not provided as in the prior determination. This determination also provides that workers who are not directly connected with the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane are excluded; that the fair wage provisions are not applicable with respect to sugarcane grown in excess of the proportionate share for the farm if such sugarcane is marketed or processed for the production of sugar or liquid sugar for livestock feed or for the production of livestock feed; and that the determination will remain in effect until amended, superseded, or terminated, instead of being applicable to a specific calendar year.

A public hearing was held in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on October 25 and 26, 1956, at which interested persons were afforded the opportunity to testify with respect to fair and reasonable wage rates for the calendar year 1957. The representative of the Grower-Processor Committee recommended that the wage determination for the calendar year 1957 be the same as the 1956 determination, notwithstanding the action taken by the Legislature of Puerto Rico in establishing wage rates for sugarcane workers. Two producer representatives recommended that the definition for field flooders and irrigators be the same as set forth in the 1955 determination. Another producer representative recommended that the determination continue to provide for the use of piecework rates.

A representative of a local labor organization recommended that the Secretary refrain from determining any wages for the year 1957 or for subsequent years, and delegate his authority to fix such wages to the Legislature of Puerto Rico. A representative of another labor union recommended that the piecework provision be eliminated from the determination, that growers producing sugarcane yielding less than 500 tons of sugar pay the same wages as established by the Minimum Wage Act of Puerto Rico; that growers producing more than 500 tons of sugar pay wages that would yield a minimum of $1,400 per year; that arts and trades workers be included in the determination; and that a maximum 7-hour day be determined for the operations of digging and cleaning ditches, cleaning cane, spraying, and planting of cane with picks.

Consideration has been given to the recommendations made at the public hearing, to the returns, costs, and profits of sugarcane producers obtained by a survey conducted by the Department in a recent year and restated for the current year in terms of price and production conditions likely to prevail, to information obtained as a result of investigations and to other pertinent factors.

The Legislature of Puerto Rico enacted the "Minimum Wage Act of Puerto Rico" effective June 26, 1956, which regulates wages in all industries, including agriculture. The declared policies, among others, as stated in the law are to (1) step up the development of agriculture, industry and business in Puerto Rico, and (2) maintain the necessary flexibility in the fixing of minimum wages so as to insure for the workers the highest wage that economic conditions of the industry will permit. The law provides that the minimum wages fixed pursuant to such law shall be revised at least once every two years. Minimum rates for sugarcane workers which have been fixed by the Puerto Rican law are the same as those in the 1956 wage determination for most classifications of workers when the average price of raw sugar is less than $5.80 per hundredweight; when the average price of raw sugar is $5.80 or more per hundredweight the rates are approximately five percent higher for unskilled workers and from 14 to 18 percent higher for skilled workers. The law also establishes wage rates for other classifications of workers which were not covered by the 1956 wage determination.

The rates fixed by the Puerto Rican law are as high as or higher than those indicated for the calendar year 1957 by the application of the standards customarily considered in establishing fair and reasonable wages under the act. Accordingly, no specific rates have been established by this determination. However, to meet the requirements of the act the producer must have paid to the worker in full the wages required by existing legal obligations, regardless of whether such obligations resulted from an agreement (such as a labor union agreement) or were created by statute.

The provision excluding workers not directly connected with the production, cultivation, or harvesting operations, incorporates into the determination administrative interpretations heretofore applicable to wage determinations.

The wage requirements of this determination are not applicable to sugarcane grown in excess of the proportionate share for the farm, if it is established to the satisfaction of the Area Office that such sugarcane is marketed (or processed) for the production of sugar or liquid sugar for livestock feed or for the production of livestock feed. During the last two or three years quantities of nonquota sugar have been imported into the United States for use as livestock feed. This sugar has been marketed at price levels substantially below the price levels which prevailed for quota sugar. The use of sugar for livestock feed is a further development to find alternative uses for sugar. Section 212 of the act specifies that the quota provisions of Title II are not applicable to sugar imported or produced in the United States for this purpose.

In view of the acreage restrictions in effect for domestic sugar-producing areas in recent years, some domestic producers appeared to be interested in the production of sugar for livestock feed or for the production of livestock feed so as to cushion the impact of restrictions whenever it became necessary to reduce production and to allow domestic areas to participate in the market for livestock feed with foreign areas. Recently, section 301 (b) of the Sugar Act of 1948 was amended to permit producers to market (or process) sugarcane in excess of the proportionate share for the farm for the production of sugar or liquid sugar for livestock feed or for the production of livestock feed. However, sugar produced from sugarcane in excess of the proportionate share for the farm is not eligible for payments under the act. Prior to this amendment, the wage requirements were applicable to all sugarcane grown on the farm and marketed (or processed) for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar in order to qualify for such payment.

Inasmuch as the Minimum Wage Act of Puerto Rico is on a continuing basis, this determination is issued effective January 1, 1957, to remain in effect until amended, superseded, or terminated. However, the Department will periodically survey, analyze conditions, and hold hearings as may be necessary to insure that workers continue to receive the protection afforded by the wage provisions of the act.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing wage determination will effectuate the wage provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended.

From initial contact with radar to final authorized landing minimums, the instructions of the radar controller are mandatory except when (A) visual contact is established on final approach at or before descent to the authorized landing minimums, or (B) at pilot's discretion if it appears desirable to discontinue the approach. Except when the radar controller may direct otherwise prior to final approach, a missed approach shall be executed as provided below when (A) communication on final approach is lost for more than 5 seconds during a precision approach, or for more than 30 seconds during a surveillance approach; (B) directed by radar controller; (C) visual contact is not established upon descent to authorized landing minimums; or (D) if landing is not accomplished.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO THE ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be conducted at the North American Life and Casualty Building, 1750 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis 3, Minnesota, beginning at 10:00 a. m., c. s. t., on February 6, 1957, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to the proposed amendments set forth below, or appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, marketing area (7 CFR Part 973) and with respect to economic conditions which relate thereto. These proposed amendments have not been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Proposed by the Twin City Milk Producers Association:

Proposal No. 1: Revise § 973.5 to read as follows:

"Handler" means (a) any person in his capacity as the operator of a pool plant; (b) any person in his capacity as the operator of a plant which receives its supply of milk from pool plants and at which milk is processed or packaged and disposed of as Class I within the marketing area; (c) any person in his capacity as the operator of a non-pool plant from which Class I milk is disposed of in the marketing area on routes. This definition shall not apply to a governmentally owned and operated institution which disposes of Class I milk solely for its own premises or to its own facilities.

Proposal No. 2: Revise § 973.7 to read as follows:

"Producer" means any person, other than a producer-handler, who, in conformity with the requirements of appropriate Health Authority, produces milk which is received as Grade A milk at an approved pool plant from the farm of such producer, or which is caused by a handler to be diverted to a non-pool plant as Class I as defined in § 973.41.

Proposal No. 3: Add new definition to read as follows:

"Producer for other markets" means any person whose milk is received by a handler at a pool plant during November through June from a farm which was caused by a handler, who controls the marketing of such person's milk, to be received as non-pool milk at any time during the preceding months of July through October: Provided, This shall not apply to any person who was a producer-handler or a new producer.

Proposal No. 4: Revise § 973.8 to read as follows:

§ 973.8 "Pool plant" means any plant meeting the conditions of paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, except a plant granted exemption pursuant to § 973.62:

(a) A plant in which milk is processed or packaged and from which not less than 15 percent of its total disposition of Class I milk during the month is made within the marketing area on routes: Provided, That the total quantity of Class I milk disposed of from such plant during the month either inside or outside the marketing area, is equal to 40 percent or more of the total supply of Grade A received at the plant from dairy farmers and from other plants in any of the months of January through June, or to 60 percent or more of such total supply in any of the months of July through December; or

(b) (1) Any plant from which during any month an amount of milk or butterfat equal to 50 percent or more of its dairy farm supply of Grade A milk or butterfat for such month is delivered to a pool plant(s) described in paragraph (a) of this section: Provided, That if during each of the months of July through October 50 percent or more of its dairy farm supply of Grade A milk for such month is delivered from such plant to a pool plant(s) described in paragraph (a) of this section, it shall be designated as a pool plant through the following June 30th;

(2) In the case of producers whose milk was received at a plant (which had qualified as a pool plant pursuant to this paragraph the preceding months of July, August, September and October) on or more than 45 days during the months of April, May, and June, which is caused to be delivered directly to a pool plant(s) described in paragraph (a) of this section during any of the following months of July, August, September, or October, the milk of such producers for the purposes of this paragraph shall be considered as having been received at the plant at which it was received during April, May, and June, and as having been shipped from thence to the plant described in paragraph (a) of this section. Such change in routing of milk shall be evidenced by listing the producers of such milk on the payroll report submitted pursuant to § 973.32 for each plant involved and by appropriate notation on the respective reports, receipts and utilization submitted pursuant to § 973.30.

(3) In the case of a handler or cooperative owning and operating two or more plants, then such plants may retain their pool status on a system basis of qualification but any new pool plant owned and operated by the handler or cooperative must qualify on an individual plant basis during the first qualifying months of July, August, September, and October, before it can be included into the system.

Proposal No. 5: Revise § 973.9 to read as follows:

"Nonpool plant" means (a) any plant other than a pool plant in which milk is processed or packaged and from which milk is distributed in fluid form, or (b) any plant other than a pool plant in which milk is processed into a dairy product.

Proposal No. 6: Delete § 973.14 in its entirety and substitute the word "month" for the words "delivery period" wherever they appear in the order.

Proposal No. 7: Revise § 973.15 to read as follows:

"Producer milk" or "milk received from producers" means milk produced by one or more producers as defined in § 973.7.

Proposal No. 8: Revise § 973.16 to read as follows:

"Other source milk" means all skim milk and butterfat other than that skim milk and butterfat (a) contained in producer milk received, and (b) received from pool plants.

Proposal No. 9: Revise § 973.30 (a) by adding the following proviso after the words "Market Administrator": "Provided, That any handler qualifying or retaining pool status under the system basis as outlined in paragraph (c) of § 973.8 may furnish reports required in this section on the system instead of individual plants."

Proposal No. 10: Revise § 973.30 (a) (1) to read as follows:

(1) The quantities of skim milk and the quantities of butterfat contained in (or used in the production of) receipts from producers (including his own production), producer-handlers, pool plants and other source milk (including milk other than Grade A and milk from producers for other markets) and the sources thereof.

Proposal No. 11: Add the following as § 973.30 (c):

(c) Dual operations within one building and including operations within separate buildings on the same premises with connecting doorways, hallways, or pipelines, etc., shall be considered as one unit for reporting and verification under §§ 973.32, 973.33, 973.34, and 973.40 through 973.45.

Proposal No. 12: Revise § 973.41 (a) to read as follows:

Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat disposed of for consumption in the form of milk, skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk), concentrated milk, buttermilk, flavored milk drinks (except sterilized milk or milk drinks in metal hermetically sealed containers), cream (sweet or sour, including mixtures of cream and milk or skim milk containing less butterfat than the legal standard for cream), all producer milk diverted to non-pool plants, and all skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section; and

Proposal No. 13: Revise § 973.43 (a) and (d) to read as follows:

Skim milk or butterfat transferred in fluid form as milk, skim milk, or cream, by a handler, shall be classified as follows:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred from one pool plant to the pool plant of another handler, unless utilization in Class II is mutually indicated to the market administrator in the report submitted by both handlers for the month in which such transfer occurred, but in no event shall the amount classified in either class exceed the total use in such class by the transferee handler: Provided, That if either or both handlers have received other source milk, the milk so transferred shall be classified at both plants so as to return the higher class utilization to producer milk.

* * * * *

(d) As Class I milk if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk, or transferred in the form of cream in consumer packages, and as Class I if transferred in the form of cream in bulk to a purchaser whose plant is located more than 100 miles from the marketing area.

Proposal No. 14: Revise § 973.44 to include the following proviso at the end thereof: "Provided, That when condensed milk or nonfat dry skim milk is used to fortify any Class I product, the pounds thereof to be accounted for as Class I shall be equivalent to the pounds of milk or skim milk used in production of condensed milk or powder."

Proposal No. 15: Revise § 973.53 to read as follows:

Subject to the differentials provided in § 973.55 and § 973.56 (a) the price for Class I milk shall be the basic price computed pursuant to § 973.51, plus 70 cents for the months of December through June; plus $1.10 for July through October; plus $1.00 for November: Provided, That the current supply-demand ratio shall be compared to the supply demand ratio for the same two months of the pervious year and the difference determined. The Class I utilization (milk and milk equivalent of cream sales) for the current month of the previous year shall be increased or decreased by a like amount to get the adjusted Class I utilization for the current month. For each full percent that the adjusted Class I utilization is above 80 or below 70 for July through November and above 70 or below 60 for December through June, the Class I price shall be increased or decreased 1 cent.

Proposal No. 16: Revise § 973.55 for clarification:

(a) With respect to milk received as producer milk at a pool plant and which is classified as Class I milk, the price per hundredweight computed pursuant to § 973.50 (a) shall be reduced by the amount indicated below for the distance that such plant is located from the Minnesota Transfer Viaduct over University Avenue in St. Paul. Such deduction shall be based on the airline mileage as computed by the market administrator.

Location of Plant and Amount of Deduction	Cents
0 to 15 miles	0
15 to 20 miles	8
20 to 30 miles	10
30 to 40 miles	12

[1] Plus an additional 1 cent for each 10 miles or fraction thereof in excess of 80 miles.

Proposal No. 17: Revise § 973.62 to read as follows:

§ 973.62 Handlers subject to other orders. In the case of any handler who the Secretary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk in another marketing area regulated by another milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this subpart shall not apply except as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts and utilization of skim milk and butterfat, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports in accordance with § 973.33.

(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other order to which he is subject for skim milk and butterfat which are classified as Class I milk under this subpart, is less than the price provided by this subpart, such handler, on or before the 10th day after the end of the month in which a bill is rendered, shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this order and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject.

Proposal No. 18: Delete § 973.63 in its entirety.

Proposal No. 19: Add new section to read as follows:

§ 973.65 Butterfat in skim milk. A handler may claim, for classification purposes pursuant to §§ 973.40 through 973.45 butterfat in skim milk disposed of to others or used in the manufacture of milk products by including the butterfat content of such skim milk in his report for the month filed pursuant to § 973.30 (a) or by giving prior notification to the market administrator of his desire to do so. In the event that a handler does not have adequate records of the butterfat content of such skim milk, the market administrator shall use 0.065 percent as the butterfat content per hundredweight of such skim milk: Provided, That if the handler desires to discontinue accounting for butterfat in skim milk, or after discontinuing the account therefor desires to again account for the same, he may do so by notifying the market administrator in writing at least 30 days prior to the first day of the month during which such change shall become effective.

Proposal No. 20: Revise § 973.80 (a) to read as follows:

(a) To a cooperative association which is a handler on or before the 10th day after the end of the month in which the skim milk or butterfat was received at not less than the applicable class prices for all skim milk and butterfat received from such cooperative association or caused by it to be delivered to such handler directly from the producers' farms, less the amount of payment made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section.

Proposal No. 21: Add the following as paragraphs (c) and (d) of § 973.80:

(c) On or before the 20th day of the month in which skim milk and butterfat was received, to a cooperative association which is a handler for skim milk and butterfat which was purchased or received from such cooperative association and for skim milk and butterfat which such cooperative association caused to be delivered directly from producers' farms to the plant of such handler during the first 15 days of such month at the value of such skim milk or butterfat based on the Class I price of the previous month. If such payment is not made, five percent interest shall be added from the 20th day of the month until payment is received.

(d) A bargaining cooperative may collect the uniform price for its members' milk from handler, but the handler shall be responsible to the pool at the class values.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 1-3847]

CANADIAN COLLIERIES (DUNSMUIR), LTD.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO WITHDRAW FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY OF HEARING

JANUARY 28, 1957.

In the matter of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., Common Stock, $3 Par Value, File No. 1-3847.

The above named issuer, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, has made application to withdraw the specified security from listing and registration on the American Stock Exchange.

The reasons alleged in the application for withdrawing this security from listing and registration include the following:

The listing application was approved by the American Stock Exchange on February 2, 1955 and registration became effective on or about March 10, 1955 by lapse of the usual 30-day waiting period. The stock was never admitted to dealings on said Exchange by reason of the Commission's question of the estimation in Form 10 of the amount of oil reserves. On December 1, 1955 the Company sold its oil properties and its Board of Directors is of the opinion that with this sale and consequent change in nature of business it is no longer in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders to continue the listing on the American Stock Exchange.

Upon receipt of a request, on or before February 15, 1957, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to the matter.

By the Commission.

SOUTHERN PRODUCTION CO., INC.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO STRIKE FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JANUARY 29, 1957.

In the matter of Southern Production Company, Inc., Common Stock, File No. 1-3851.

New York Stock Exchange has made application, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, to strike the above named security from listing and registration thereon.

The reasons alleged in the application for striking this security from listing and registration include the following:

Stockholders at a special meeting held October 11, 1956 proposed a sale of assets and complete liquidation of the Company. The sale is reported to have been consummated on November 1, 1956. An initial liquidating dividend of $34 in cash and 0.2114 share of Southern Natural Gas Company common stock per Southern Production Company share was paid November 16, 1956. Dealings on the applicant Exchange were suspended before the opening of the trading session on January 2, 1957. The last sale in 1956, ex-distribution, was reported by the press at 2½.

Upon receipt of a request, on or before February 15, 1957, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to the matter.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. OF OKLAHOMA

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION REGARDING THE ISSUANCE AND SALE AT COMPETITIVE BIDDING OF NEW BONDS

JANUARY 29, 1957.

Public Service Company of Oklahoma ("Oklahoma"), a public utility subsidiary of Central and Southwest Corporation, a registered holding company, has filed an application and amendments thereto pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder, regarding the following proposed transactions:

Oklahoma proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $12,000,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds ("New Bonds"), Series F, to be dated February 1, 1957, and to mature February 1, 1987. The New Bonds will be issued under and secured by an Indenture of Mortgage, dated July 1, 1945, between Oklahoma and The First National Bank and Trust Company of Tulsa, as Trustee, as amended by indentures supplemental thereto and to be further amended by a proposed Supplemental Indenture to be dated February 1, 1957. The interest rate on the New Bonds (which shall be a multiple of one-eighth of 1 percent) and the price, exclusive of accrued interest, to be paid Oklahoma for the New Bonds, which price shall be not less than 97.25 percent and not more than 102.75 percent of the principal amount thereof, will be determined by the competitive bidding.

The net proceeds (after expenses and exclusive of accrued interest) to be received from the issuance and sale of the New Bonds will be used by the company to pay for a part of the cost of additions, extensions and improvements to its electric utility properties and for the payment or prepayment of short-term bank debt of the company incurred and to be incurred for that purpose. Such bank debt aggregated $6,000,000 at December 10, 1956, and may be increased by about $6,000,000 prior to the receipt by the company of the proceeds of the bonds. It is further stated that Oklahoma's construction expenditures for the calendar years 1957 and 1958 are presently estimated at about $26,200,000 and $24,800,000, respectively.

The issuance of the new bonds have been authorized by the Corporation Commission of the State of Oklahoma and no other State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Fees and expenses payable by the company in connection with the issuance and sale of the new bonds are estimated as follows:

Securities and Exchange Commission, filing fee	$1,200
Federal original issue stamp tax	12,000
Printing of registration statement, prospectus, bidding documents, supplemental indenture, and other documents	7,000
Preparation of bonds	2,700

Trustee's fees (The First National Bank and Trust Co. of Tulsa)	6,000
Recordation of supplemental indenture	1,000
Reimbursement of underwriters for expenses and counsel fees in connection with qualification or registration under State securities laws	600
Fees of Middle West Service Co., Chicago, Ill.	5,000
Counsel fees (Stevenson, Dendtler, Bailey & McCabe, Chicago, Ill., and T. M. Markley, Tulsa, Okla.)	[1] 6,000
Miscellaneous expenses, including traveling, telephone, etc.	1,000
Total	44,000

[1] Portion of annual retainer fee estimated to be allocable to the proposed bond financing. No allocation is made in respect of any part of the salary paid to T. M. Markley, an employee and general counsel of the company.

The legal fee and out-of-pocket expenses of Messrs. Isham, Lincoln & Beale, Chicago, Illinois, who have been selected by the Company to act as counsel for the successful bidder or bidders for the bonds, are estimated at not to exceed $6,000 and $250, respectively. Such fee and expenses are to be paid by the successful bidder or bidders.

Due notice of the filing of the application having been given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23 (Holding Company Act Release No. 13361) and no hearing having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and of the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied, that the fees and expenses set forth above are not unreasonable, and that the application as amended should be granted forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that the application as amended be, and the same hereby is, granted forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 and Rule U-50.

UNITED STATES TARIFF COMMISSION

STRAIGHT (DRESSMAKERS' OR COMMON) PINS

"ESCAPE CLAUSE" REPORT

JANUARY 30, 1957.

The Tariff Commission today made public its report to the President in "escape clause" investigation No. 52 under section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended, with respect to straight (dressmakers' or common) pins dutiable under paragraph 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930. Such pins were originally dutiable under the Tariff Act of 1930 at 35 percent ad valorem. They are now subject to a duty of 20 percent ad valorem, which rate became effective January 1, 1948, as a result of a concession granted in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The Commission found (Commissioners Schreiber and Sutton dissenting) that straight (dressmakers' or common) pins are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, both actual and relative, as to threaten serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles. The Commission also found that in order to prevent such serious injury, it is necessary that the duty on such pins be increased to 35 percent ad valorem.

Copies of the Commission's report, which includes majority and minority views, are available upon request as long as the limited supply lasts. Address requests to the United States Tariff Commission, 8th and E Streets NW., Washington 25, D. C.

SAFETY PINS

"ESCAPE CLAUSE" REPORT

JANUARY 30, 1957.

The Tariff Commission today made public its report to the President in "escape clause" investigation No. 53 under section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended, with respect to safety pins dutiable under paragraph 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930. Such pins were originally dutiable under the Tariff Act of 1930 at 35 percent ad valorem. They are now subject to a duty of 22½ percent ad valorem, which rate became effective April 21, 1948, as a result of a concession granted in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The Commission found (Commissioners Schreiber and Sutton dissenting) that safety pins are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, both actual and relative, as to cause or threaten serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles. The Commission also found that in order to remedy this serious injury, it is necessary that the duty on such pins be increased to 35 percent ad valorem.

Copies of the Commission's report, which includes majority and minority views, are available upon request as long as the limited supply lasts. Address requests to the United States Tariff Commission, 8th and E Streets NW., Washington 25, D. C.

Chapter I—Agricultural Marketing Service (Standards, Inspections, Marketing Practices), Department of Agriculture

PART 62—INTERNATIONAL COTTON CALIBRATION STANDARDS PROGRAM

Pursuant to authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946, as amended (60 Stat. 1087, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.), the regulations enumerated below are hereby promulgated to be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The purpose of these regulations is to explain briefly the organization and purpose of the International Cotton Calibration Standards Program and to set forth the availability and purchase prices of calibration cottons prepared pursuant to the program.

The regulations are as follows:

Sec.
62.1 Organization of program.
62.2 Objectives of program.
62.3 Calibration cottons; availability; costs.

AUTHORITY: §§ 62.1 to 62.3 issued under sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090; 7 U. S. C. 1624.

§ 62.1 Organization of program. The International Cotton Calibration Standards Program is conducted under the auspices of the American Society for Testing Materials and sponsored by the following organizations: American Cotton Manufacturers' Institute, American Cotton Shippers' Association, International Federation of Cotton and Allied Textile Industries, National Cotton Council of America, and United States Department of Agriculture.

§ 62.2 Objectives of program. The program has for its principal objective the providing of the mechanism by means of which any laboratory doing cotton fiber testing may calibrate its instruments or otherwise adjust its level of test results to a standard level, thereby facilitating the use of more precise methods for evaluating quality in connection with domestic as well as international trade in cotton. A secondary objective is to provide data as a basis for establishing practical tolerances for routine test results.

§ 62.3 Calibration cottons; availability; costs. (a) International Standard Calibration Cottons with standard test results for fiber strength by the Pressley flat-bundle method at zero gauge and for fiber fineness and maturity in combination by the Micronaire method, as determined in accordance with standard procedures of the American Society for Testing Materials by laboratories designated by the sponsoring organizations of the International Cotton Calibration Standards Program, are available as follows: Calibration Cotton A—weak and coarse fiber; Calibration Cotton B—average fiber strength and fineness; and Calibration Cotton C—strong and fine fiber.

(b) The cost of Calibration Cotton A, Calibration Cotton B, or Calibration Cotton C shall be as follows: $5.00 per one-half pound sample, delivered by surface transportation, for shipments within or outside the United States; or $5.50 per one-half pound sample, delivered by air parcel post, for shipments within the United States; or $6.00 per one-half pound sample, delivered by air parcel post, for shipments outside the United States. A check sample of ginned cotton lint with no value indicated will be furnished with each order for calibration cotton. Detailed instructions for the use of these calibration cottons and check samples will be furnished with each order filled.

(c) Each order for International Standard Calibration Cottons should be addressed to the Cotton Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., and should be accompanied by a check, draft, or money order payable to "Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA," in an amount to cover the cost of the cottons requested.

These regulations briefly explain the International Cotton Calibration Standards Program and the calibration cottons available under this program. The regulations require no preparation on the part of any members of the public. Therefore, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice of rule making and other public procedure are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest,

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES
SUBPART—KHAPRA BEETLE

ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS DESIGNATING PREMISES AS REGULATED AREAS

Pursuant to § 301.76–2 of the regulations supplemental to the Khapra Beetle Quarantine (7 CFR 301.76–2, 20 F. R. 1012) under sections 8 and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 161, 162), revised administrative instructions issued as 7 CFR 301.76–2a (21 F. R. 9199), effective November 27, 1956, as amended effective December 13, 1956 and January 18, 1957 (21 F. R. 9936, 22 F. R. 365), are hereby amended in the following respects:

a. The designation as regulated areas of the following premises, included in the list contained in paragraph (a) of such instructions, is hereby revoked, and the reference to such premises in the list is hereby deleted, it having been determined by the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch that adequate sanitation measures have been practiced for a sufficient length of time to eradicate the khapra beetle in and upon such premises:

ARIZONA

C. H. Espy (town property), 1089 B Avenue, Yuma.
International Market (Jimmy Ng), 106 Main Street, Somerton.
Pablo Franco Ranch, 1764 Avenue B, Yuma.

CALIFORNIA

Frank Augusta Ranch, Route 2, Box 25, Brawley.
Ed Seigel property, located at Avenue 256, Sec. 19, T. 19 S., R. 27 E., M. D. B. & M. Mail address Box 772, Lindsay.

b. The following premises are added to the list, contained in paragraph (a) of such instructions, of warehouses, mills, and other premises in which infestations of the khapra beetle have been determined to exist. Such premises are thereby designated as regulated areas within the meaning of said quarantine and regulations:

ARIZONA

Cornelius Livestock Company property, 5102 East Washington, Phoenix.
Phoenix Indian School property, 4100 Rhoads Circle, Phoenix.
Western Feed Mills property, Box 270, Mesa.

CALIFORNIA

Newman Seed Company property, 202 East Main Street, El Centro.
Southwest Flaxseed Association property, East Q and ¼ mile north of Road 22, Holtville. Mail address Imperial.
Wheeler Farms property, Sec. 30, T. 32 S., R. 28 E., M. D. B. & M. Mail address Route 1, Box 860, Bakersfield.

c. The following premises are added to the list, contained in paragraph (b) of such instructions, of premises in which infestations of the khapra beetle have been determined to exist. The portion of the following premises in which live khapra beetles were found has received the approved fumigation treatment, but these premises must continue under frequent observation and inspection for a period of one year following fumigation before a determination can be made as to the adequacy of such treatment to eradicate the khapra beetle in and upon such premises. During this period regulated articles may be moved from the premises only in accordance with the regulations in this subpart.

CALIFORNIA

Snyder's Termite Control property, 4428 Magnolia Avenue, Riverside.

This amendment shall become effective February 5, 1957.

This amendment revokes the designation as regulated areas of certain premises, it having been determined by the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch that adequate sanitation measures have been practiced for a sufficient length of time to eradicate the khapra beetle in and upon such premises. It also adds premises to the list of premises in which khapra beetle infestations have been determined to exist, and designates such premises as regulated areas under the khapra beetle quarantine and regulations.

As an informative item, the amendment also segregates certain regulated premises in California where the approved fumigation treatment has been applied to the portion of the premises in which live khapra beetles were found and which are consequently in a somewhat different category than untreated premises.

This amendment in part imposes restrictions supplementing khapra beetle quarantine regulations already effective. It also relieves restrictions insofar as it revokes the designation of presently regulated areas. It must be made effective promptly in order to carry out the purposes of the regulations and to permit the interstate movement, without restriction under the quarantine, of regulated products from the premises being removed from designation as regulated areas. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the effective date thereof less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 9, 37 Stat. 318; 7 U. S. C. 162. Interprets or applies sec. 8, 37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 161)

§ 514.40 Propeller feathering hose assemblies (rubber and wire braid construction)–TSO–C42—(a) Applicability—(1) Minimum performance standards. Minimum performance standards are hereby established for propeller feathering hose assemblies of the following types which are to be used in civil aircraft of the United States:

(i) Type 1 (pressure line) hose assemblies which are intended to be used in the line connecting the feathering pump outlet to the propeller governor.

(ii) Type 2 (supply line "fire-resistant") hose assemblies which are intended to be used in the line connecting the oil supply to the feathering pump where this entire line is located aft of the firewall.

(iii) Type 3 (supply line "fireproof") hose assemblies which are intended to be used in the line connecting the oil supply to the feathering pump where this line is located wholly or in part forward of the firewall.

New models of propeller feathering hose assemblies manufactured for use in civil aircraft on or after March 1, 1957, shall meet the "performance" section of Military Specification MIL–H–8795 (ASG) dated January 6, 1956,[1] or MIL–H–8790 dated August 22, 1956,' with the following exception and shall also meet the appropriate fire test requirements listed below.

[1] Copies of these specifications may be obtained by addressing a request to the Commanding General, Air Materiel Command, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio.

(2) Exception. The hydraulic impulse test requirements in MIL–H–8795 (ASG) and MIL–H–8790 need not be met for the purposes of this section.

(3) Pressure line (type 1) hose assembly fire test—(i) Test setup and flame requirements. (a) For the purpose of this test, a length of hose five times the outside diameter or longer shall be subjected to a flame of the size and temperature specified in (d) and (e) of this subdivision while the hose is in a horizontal position. The entire end fitting shall also be subjected to this flame.

(b) The hose assembly shall be installed horizontally in the test setup in such a manner that it includes at least one full 90° bend so that the pressure existing inside the hose will exert an axial force on the end fitting equal to the inside area of the hose multiplied by the internal pressure.

(c) During the test the end fitting which is subjected to flame shall be vibrated at the rate of 2,000 cycles per minute through a total amplitude of not less than ⅛ inch, i. e., a displacement of 1/16 inch on each side of the neutral position.

(d) The flame temperature shall be 2,000° F., plus or minus 50° F. as measured within ¼ inch of the surface of the hose and end fitting at the point nearest the flame. Suitable shielded thermocouples or equivalent temperature measuring devices shall be used for measuring the flame temperature. A sufficient number of these shall be used to assure that the specified temperature exists at least along the entire end fitting and along the hose for a distance of not less than three times its outside diameter.

(e) The flame diameter shall not be less than three times the maximum diameter of the hose or three times the maximum diameter of the end fitting (whichever is greater). The length of the flame shall be such that it extends beyond the end fitting and hose when they are in place during the test, for a distance of not less than three times the maximum diameter of the hose or three times the maximum diameter of the end fitting, whichever is greater.

(f) During the test SAE 20 oil or equivalent shall be circulated through the hose assembly, and the oil shall enter the hose assembly at a temperature of not less than 200° F.

NOTE: Items (d) and (e) of this subdivision, concerning flame size and distribution, will be revised in accordance with agreements reached with the SAE A–3 Flame Test Subcommittee, when its study of this problem is completed.

(ii) Fire test procedure—(a) Part I.

Pressure: 150 psi (minimum).
Oil flow rate: 1.3 quarts/minute (maximum).
Duration: 4 minutes, 30 seconds.

(b) Part II (which shall immediately follow Part I).

Pressure: 1,650 psi (minimum).
Oil flow rate: 14 quarts/minute (maximum; any lower flow rate is acceptable).
Duration: 30 seconds.

(iii) Criteria for acceptability. The hose assembly under test shall be considered acceptable if it complies with these test conditions without evidence of leakage.

(4) Supply line "fire-resistant" (type 2) hose assembly fire test—(i) Test setup and flame requirements. Same as subdivision (i) of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(ii) Fire test procedure.

Pressure: 30 psi (minimum).
Oil flow rate: 1.3 quarts/minute (maximum).
Duration: 5 minutes.

(iii) Criteria for acceptability. Same as subdivision (iii) of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(5) Supply line "fireproof" (type 3) hose assembly fire test—(i) Test setup and flame requirements. Same as subdivision (i) of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(ii) Fire test procedure. Test shall be conducted as described in subdivision (ii) of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph except that upon completion thereof test shall be extended for an additional 10 minutes, making the total duration 15 minutes.

(iii) Criteria for acceptability. Same as subdivision (iii) of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(b) Marking. The following marking is required in lieu of that specified in § 514.3:

(1) Name or trademark of the manufacturer responsible for compliance with this TSO.

(2) Model designation.

(3) Date of manufacture.

(4) Applicable TSO number, followed immediately by "Type Number" (as "Type 1", etc.). This identification must be legibly stamped on a steel (or other fireproof material) band securely affixed to the hose assembly.

(c) Effective date. March 1, 1957

RESTRICTED AREA ALTERATION

The restricted area alteration appearing hereinafter has been coordinated with the civil operators involved, the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, through the Air Coordinating Committee, Airspace Panel and is adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Since a military function of the United States is involved, compliance with the notice, procedure and effective date provisions of Section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not required. Part 608 is amended as follows:

1. In § 608.25, the Fort Campbell (formerly called Camp Campbell), Kentucky, area (R–63) amended on May 19, 1956 in 21 F. In accordance with the provisions of section 4 (a) and (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, it has been found that notice and hearing on this schedule is unnecessary for the reason that such procedures, because of the nature of these rules, serve no useful purpose. This schedule is effective from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

1. The schedule in § 203.501 Internal combustion engine fuels, is amended by the revision of item (e) to read as follows:

PART 18—TRANSPORTATION IN BOND AND MERCHANDISE IN TRANSIT

PART 20—DISPOSITION OF UNCLAIMED AND ABANDONED MERCHANDISE

WITHDRAWALS FOR TRANSPORTATION AND SURPLUS PROCEEDS OF SALE

In the case of a withdrawal of alcoholic beverages from warehouse for transportation, the liquidation of the entry at the port of rewarehousing is dependent upon the receipt of certain detailed information from the port of withdrawal. Two extra copies of customs Form 7512, Transportation Entry and Manifest of Goods Subject to Customs Inspection and Permit, are desirable in such cases for the use of the collector at the port of withdrawal in furnishing the port of destination with such information. Also, at the present time certain provisions relating to establishing the right of a claimant to surplus proceeds of merchandise sold at public auction are in need of clarification. Therefore, the customs regulations are amended as follows:

1. Section 18.16 (a) is amended by inserting the following after the third sentence: "In the case of alcoholic beverages, two extra copies will be required for use in furnishing the duty statement to the collector at destination."

PART 725—DISPOSITION OF CASES INVOLVING PHYSICAL DISABILITY

ACTION ON MEDICAL REPORTS OF PERIODIC PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS OF PARTIES ON THE TEMPORARY DISABILITY RETIRED LIST

1. Section 725.16 (e) is revised to read as follows:

(e) Action on medical reports of periodic physical examinations of parties on the Temporary Disability Retired List. Upon receipt of a report of a periodic physical examination of a party on the temporary disability retired list, forwarded pursuant to § 725.23, the Physical Review Council shall evaluate such report. If less than five years have elapsed since the date of the placement of the name of the party on the temporary disability retired list and the Council considers that no change in the status of the party is indicated, no action shall be taken on such report. If the Council considers that a change in the status is indicated, or if the period of five years from the date of the placement of the name of the party on the temporary disability retired list will soon terminate, the Council shall refer the case to a physical evaluation board for re-evaluation. In the event, however, the Council determines from the report that the party concerned is physically fit to perform the duties of his rank, grade, or rating and the party concerned has indicated a desire to be found physically fit for the performance of his duties, the case may be referred directly to the Secretary of the Navy for his action thereon without consideration by a physical evaluation board. In addition, upon agreement by the members of the Council that the report of a periodic physical examination together with other records in the files of the Navy Department forms sufficient basis for recommended findings on a case, the case may be referred directly to the Secretary of the Navy for his action thereon without consideration by a physical evaluation board. This latter action, however, shall not be taken by the Council unless the party concerned or his representative has been notified of the Council's proposed findings and the party or his representative has stated in writing that the party does not demand a hearing before a physical evaluation board or, if approval of the Council's proposed findings would result in the party's permanent retirement for physical disability ratable at seventy-five percent or more, has failed to demand such a hearing within five days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, after receipt of the notification.

§ 1690.16 Appeal to appeal board. • • •

(e) The local board may permit any person described in subparagraphs (3), (4), and (5) of paragraph (b) of this section to appeal even though the period for taking an appeal has elapsed, if it is satisfied that the failure of such person to appeal within such period was due to a lack of understanding of the right to appeal or to some cause beyond the control of such person. TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Rules Amdt. 9-7; FCC 57-112]

PART 9—AVIATION SERVICES

FREQUENCY AVAILABLE TO AIRCRAFT RADIO STATIONS FOR COMMUNICATION WITH USAF RADAR ADVISORY FACILITIES

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of January 1957:

The Commission having under consideration the amendment of Part 9, Aviation Services, to make the frequency 133.20 Mc available to aircraft radio stations for communication with USAF radar advisory facilities; and

It appearing that on December 13, 1956, Air Defense Command Headquarters issued a regulation (ADC Reg. 55-51) setting forth procedures whereby aircraft in flight may be advised of the presence of serious storm areas observed by air defense radar facilities on the ground; and

It further appearing that by telegram dated January 15, 1957, ADC Headquarters authorized the Civil Aeronautics Administration to publish information notifying civil aircraft operators that the military frequency 133.20 Mc is available for use in contacting ADC radar facilities to obtain radar advisory service; and

It further appearing that use of the radar advisory service available under the terms of ADC Reg. 55-51 would be of substantial benefit to civil aviation as a means of vectoring flights around observed storm areas; and

It further appearing, that the public interest would be served by allowing existing aircraft radio station licensees to commence operation on the frequency 133.20 Mc on the effective date of this Order without requiring application for, and issuance of, modified licenses specifying the new frequency; and

It further appearing that issuance of Notice of Proposed Rule Making pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act would unnecessarily delay the timely adoption of the amendment herein ordered and would not therefore serve the public interest; and

It further appearing that since the amendment herein ordered imposes no new requirement on any applicant or licensee, but rather makes available to civil aviation a new frequency, the use of which is directly related to the safety of life and property in the air, this order may be made effective without delay in accordance with section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act; and

It further appearing that authority for issuance of this order is contained in sections 303 (b), (c) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended:

It is ordered, That effective immediately, § 9.312 of the Commission's rules governing Aviation Services is amended as set forth below; and

It is further ordered, That persons holding valid aircraft radio station licenses on the effective date of this Order, and whose licenses specify transmitting equipment capable of operating on the frequency 133.20 Mc, are authorized, for the remainder of their license terms, to communicate with USAF radar advisory facilities without first obtaining modification of license to add such frequency.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303)

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

Amend Part 9, rules governing Aviation Services, as follows:

Add new paragraph (o) to § 9.312, to read as follows:

(o) 133.20 megacycles: This frequency is available to aircraft for communication with USAF radar facilities for the purpose of obtaining weather advisory service.

[Case 221]

COMPANIA COMERCIAL COLON, S. A. AND JAIME GINARD

ORDER REVOKING EXPORT LICENSES AND DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. and Jaime Ginard, Av. Juarez 64, Mexico 1, D. F., Mexico, respondents, Case No. 221.

The respondents, Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. and Jaime Ginard, were charged by the Director, Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, with having violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and regulations promulgated thereunder. They duly appeared herein and demanded an oral hearing. Said hearing was held by the Compliance Commissioner and he has filed his report and recommendation.

Now, after reading the entire record and considering the report of the Compliance Commissioner, I hereby make the following findings of fact.

1. At all times hereinafter mentioned, Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. was engaged, in Mexico City, Mexico, in the business of importing used rails from the United States, and Jaime Ginard was its president. It is still so engaged. For all practical purposes, Ginard and Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. are one and wherever reference is hereinafter made to Ginard, such reference includes also Compania Comercial Colon, S. A.

2. Prior to September 13, 1951 and until and following April 1952, National Production Authority, Department of Commerce, Order M-64 provided that no person might deliver or receive used rails except in accordance with written authorization of that agency unless such rails were to be delivered to a person for track-laying purposes.

3. On September 13, 1951, and at all times hereinafter mentioned, in accordance with the policy of NPA, the Office of International Trade (now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce) did not issue validated licenses to export used rails to Mexico for rerolling purposes, but did allow exportations of such rails for relaying purposes.

4. On September 17, 1951, Richard Nathan Corporation, an exporter engaged in business in the City of New York, submitted to the OIT an application for a license to export to Ginard in Mexico material described by it as relaying rails and, in support of said application, the Richard Nathan Corporation represented and stated to the OIT that Ginard intended to use such rails for relaying purposes.

5. At about the time of the submission of that application, and while it was pending, Ginard had obtained an order for rerolling rails from a rolling mill in Mexico City, Mexico, transmitted said order to Richard Nathan Corporation and supported it with a letter of credit providing for the delivery of 1,000 tons of used rails for rerolling purposes to said rolling mill in Mexico City, Mexico.

6. While said application was pending, the Richard Nathan Corporation and Ginard entered into an arrangement for the purpose of utilizing the license which might be granted upon the said application then pending, pursuant to which arrangement Ginard caused the letter of credit to be amended so that his firm was named therein as the firm designated to receive the rails and so that the words describing the rails as rails for rerolling purposes were omitted.

7. Upon the representations and statements contained in and submitted in connection with the application by the Richard Nathan Corporation, the OIT issued to it an export license authorizing the exportation of used rails for relaying purposes to the consignee named therein.

8. The Richard Nathan Corporation thereafter utilized said license to effecuate the exportation from the United States of used rails by executing and stating or causing to be stated in export declarations filed at the time of such exportations that the rails being exported were relaying rails, that the ultimate consignee was Ginard's firm, which was named in the export license and that the exportations were being made under the authority of such license.

9. Ginard, at all times involved, knew that export licenses were not being granted at the time involved for rails to be used for rerolling purposes.

10. After the said rails arrived in Mexico, in accordance with the arrangement made by Ginard, the bank which opened the letters of credit, instead of delivering the rails to Ginard, caused them to be delivered to the rolling mill which had originally been named in the letters of credit as the purchaser of the rails and they were thereafter used by said rolling mill for rerolling in its steel mill.

And, from the foregoing, I conclude that Ginard, contrary to the terms and conditions of an export license, and with full knowledge thereof, caused commodities exported from the United States to be delivered to a party not therein named and for a purpose not therein authorized and, thereby, effected a change of party named in export control documents and participated in the violation of export control regulations, all in violation of §§ 381.3 (a), 381.3 (b) (2), and 384.2 (a) then in effect.

In his report, the Compliance Commissioner said,

> Ginard is an active used steel broker in Mexico. Not only does he import steel from the United States in his own name, but he arranges transactions whereby importations are made in the names of customers obtained by him. * * * Any denial of export privileges by reason of his conduct herein is bound to cause him large financial loss, measured only by the length of the period of denial. NPA Order M64 was promulgated at a time when rerolling rails were scarce and sorely needed by the steel mills of this country. It was an order necessary for the protection of our economy. Any violation thereof necessarily had an adverse effect on our economy. In the case involving the Richard Nathan Corporation, on the consent of that corporation and by reason of particular circumstances advanced in support thereof, an order denying export privileges for thirty days was imposed on the Richard Nathan Corporation and Geiger. The violations by Ginard involve the same rails and are almost parallel with the violations by Richard Nathan Corporation.
> However, even though I take into consideration that what Ginard did was upon the suggestion of Richard Nathan Corporation, the special circumstances which resulted in leniency towards Richard Nathan Corporation do not appear in this case. Moreover, Ginard did not rely upon any representations or assurances from Richard Nathan Corporation that what was being done was in conformance with American regulations. He knew, of his own knowledge, that rails, at the time involved, could not be exported from the United States if their intended use was for rerolling purposes. With this knowledge and having made arrangements to sell the rails to a rerolling mill, he, nevertheless, provided Richard Nathan Corporation with the means whereby that corporation was enabled to export the rails from the United States as relaying rails. Moreover, Ginard did not avail himself of the consent procedure, which was made known to him, but he chose instead to put the Government to the expense of a fully litigated hearing. Considering all this, but taking into consideration also the present business which Ginard will lose and the time lapse since the violations were committed, it is my recommendation that he be denied export privileges for a period of two months from the date of the order to be entered herein.

Now, after reading the entire record and having concluded that the recommendation of the Compliance Commissioner is fair and just, and being of the opinion that the action hereinafter provided is necessary to achieve effective enforcement of the law:

It is hereby ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses in which Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. or Jaime Ginard appears or participates as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

II. For a period of two months following the date hereof, the respondents Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. and Jaime Ginard are hereby suspended from and denied all privileges of participating, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, in an exportation of any commodity or technical data from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada, whether such exportation has heretofore or hereafter been completed. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing denial of export privileges, participation in an exportation is deemed to include and prohibit participation by either of said respondents, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application, (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control documents, (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in storing, financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of such exports from the United States.

III. Such denial of export privileges shall extend not only to each of the said respondents, Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. and Jaime Ginard, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which they may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade in which may be involved exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

IV. No person, firm, corporation, partnership, or other business organization, whether in the United States or elsewhere, during any time when either respondent, Compania Comercial Colon, S. A. or Jaime Ginard, is prohibited under the terms hereof from engaging in any activity within the scope of Part II hereof, shall, without prior disclosure to, and specific authorization from the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity (a) apply for, obtain, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any such prohibited activity, (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport or forward, any commodity on behalf of or in any association with such respondent, or (c) do any of the foregoing acts with respect to any commodity or exportation in which such respondent may have an interest of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

[Appeals Board Docket No. FC-24 and B. F. C. Case 189]

APPEALS BOARD DECISION

In the matter of Merchant Partners (Home & Overseas) Ltd., John J. Driscoll, 2 Castle Court, Burchin Lane, London EC3, England, Appeals Board Docket No. FC-24; N. V. Handelmaatschappij J. Smits Import-Export, J. Smits, Molstraat 1, Rotterdam, Holland, B. F. C. Case No. 189.

Upon reading the transcript of the hearing held in Washington, D. C., August 3d, 4th, and 5th, 1954, by Paul M. Greene, Compliance Commissioner, together with the exhibits introduced into evidence at said hearing; the report and recommendation dated September 27, 1954, of said Commissioner to John C. Borton, Director, Office of Export Supply, Bureau of Foreign Commerce; the Order Revoking Licenses and Denying Export Privileges, dated October 28, 1954, issued by said John C. Borton thereon; and upon reading the letter of appeal of appellant, J. J. Driscoll, (hereinafter referred to as Driscoll) dated November 14, 1954, and the letter of appeal dated January 15, 1955 of appellant, N. V. Handelmaatschappij J. Smits Import-Export, (hereinafter referred to as Smits); and upon oral arguments by counsel for the Bureau of Foreign Commerce and appellant Smits before the Appeals Board in Washington, D. C., January 11, 1957, upon appeal from said Order Revoking Licenses and Denying Export Privileges,

The Appeals Board finds as follows:

(1) That an Order Revoking Licenses and Denying Export Privileges as to both Driscoll and Smits was justified by the evidence;

(2) That the provisions of the Order Revoking Licenses and Denying Export Privileges, dated October 28, 1954, while generally appropriate in view of the nature of the acts of the appellants and the need for elimination of fraud and misrepresentation in dealings which involve the administration of export controls, can, in part, be modified in this instance;

(3) That Driscoll and Smits have now been denied export privileges under the order of October 28, 1954 for a period of two years and three months;

(4) That Driscoll and Smits, upon appeal, have made a showing that clemency is appropriate in their cases;

(5) That, as to Driscoll, the period during which he has been denied export privileges is now sufficient in the light of his explanations to the Board, and in the light of the minor scale of the international trade operations in which he was engaged prior to the suspension order and in which he will probably engage in the future;

(6) That, as to Smits, the period during which he has been denied export privileges is now sufficient in the light of his explanations to the Board, but that Smits played a more substantial role in the transaction which was the subject of the order appealed from, and is engaged in more extensive international trade operations, so that certain conditions upon his relief are called for.

Now therefore, it is ordered that:

(1) As to Driscoll, the Order Revoking Licenses and Denying Export Privileges, dated October 28, 1954, be and hereby is sustained and confirmed in all respects except that the period during which the suspension of privileges thereunder shall be effective be and hereby is modified so that said period of suspension will terminate as of the date of issuance of this order, rather than continuing for the duration of export controls.

(2) As to Smits, the Order Revoking Licenses and Denying Export Privileges, dated October 28, 1954, be and hereby is sustained and confirmed in all respects except that the period during which the suspension of privileges thereunder shall be effective be and hereby is modified so that, as of the date of issuance of this order, said period of suspension will terminate as to shipments from the United States of commodities not on the United States Positive List and which at the time of shipment are exportable under the authority of general licenses established by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, but not as to shipments of Positive List Commodities under validated or general licenses or any other commodities shipped under validated licenses: Provided, however, That for a period of twelve months after the date of issuance of this order, the Director, Office of Export Supply, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, may summarily issue an order reinstating and making fully effective the order of October 28, 1954 for the remainder of said period of twelve months at any time that, in his opinion, Smits violates any orders or regulations of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce or Director, Office of Export Supply, relating to export control, without prejudice to such other or additional action as may be deemed proper by reason of such new violation: And further provided, That, as to shipments of Positive List Commodities under validated or general licenses or any other commodities shipped under validated licenses, nothing in this order shall be construed as preventing Smits from applying to the Director, Office of Export Supply, for further modification as may be deemed appropriate in the discretion of said Director.

(3) Except as to the modifications provided for herein, the appeals of the appellants be and hereby are denied.

GRISWOLD FORBES,
Deputy Chairman, Appeals Board.

[Docket Nos. 11763, 11764; FCC 57-92]

J. E. WILLIS AND CRAWFORDSVILLE BROADCASTERS, INC.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER AMENDING ISSUES

In re application of J. E. Willis, Lafayette, Indiana; Docket No. 11763, File No. BP-10253; Crawfordsville Broadcasters, Inc., Crawfordsville, Indiana; Docket No. 11764, File No. BP-10460; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has under consideration (1) a petition to enlarge the issues filed by J. E. Willis on July 30, 1956; (2) answer thereto filed by Crawfordsville Broadcasters, Inc. on August 9, 1956; (3) comment and opposition to petition to enlarge filed by the Broadcast Bureau on August 16, 1956; (4) response to Crawfordsville's answer to petition to enlarge and reply to the Broadcast Bureau's comment and opposition to petition to enlarge filed by J. E. Willis on August 23, 1956; (5) a supplemental response to answer to petition to enlarge filed by J. E. Willis on October 30, 1956; and (6) an opposition to supplemental response filed by Crawfordsville on November 7, 1956.

2. J. E. Willis (hereinafter referred to as Willis) and Crawfordsville Broadcasters, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as Crawfordsville) have filed mutually exclusive applications for construction permits for a standard broadcast station to operate on 1410 kilocycles with power of one kilowatt, directional antenna, daytime only. Willis would operate at Lafayette, Indiana, and Crawfordsville at Crawfordsville, Indiana. J. E. Willis urges in the petition that the issues be enlarged to include the following issues:

(a) To determine whether a grant of the application of Crawfordsville may be made consistent with the provisions of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules on multiple ownership.

(b) To determine whether Crawfordsville has made, or will be able to make, arrangements to obtain and use the site specified in its application and, if so, the cost of obtaining such site and the cost of preparing the property for use.

(c) To determine the circumstances surrounding the filing of the application of Crawfordsville in which it specified such site in an abandoned brickyard north of Crawfordsville and east of Highway #43 and, in the light of these circumstances, whether applicant has acted in good faith.

(d) To determine whether Crawfordsville is financially qualified to construct and operate the proposed station.

3. The issue under (a) above is requested because O. E. Richardson, sole owner of WFAM, Inc., the licensee of Stations WASK and WFAM-TV in Lafayette, Indiana, owns 25 percent of the stock, and is a director, of Crawfordsville. In support, Willis includes an engineering exhibit showing that the WASK 2 mv/m contour would overlap the Crawfordsville 2 mv/m contour by a distance of approximately 15 miles and that the 0.5 mv/m contours of WASK and the proposed operation of Crawfordsville would substantially overlap each other. Crawfordsville maintains in opposition (1) that the City of Lafayette is approximately thirty miles north of Crawfordsville, and that though there might be some overlap with the service contours of the proposed Crawfordsville station, the same would occur only during the daylight hours; (2) that neither Station WASK nor the proposed Crawfordsville station renders or would render a primary service to the city in which the other is located, and that Station WASK renders a different type of program service than that which is proposed for the Crawfordsville station; (3) that numerous other broadcast services are available in the so-called overlap areas; and (4) that Mr. Richardson is not an officer of Crawfordsville and is in no position to control the proposed station, nor will he play a substantial part in the day-to-day operation thereof. The Commission, in light of the substantial amount of overlap in question, and Mr. Richardson's position as sole owner of WFAM, Inc., as well as substantial stockholder and director of Crawfordsville, is of the view that the issues should be enlarged by adding the aforementioned issue (a).

4. The issues requested under (b), (c) and (d) above concern the availability and adequacy of the transmitter site as proposed in the Crawfordsville application and their effect on the good faith and financial qualifications of Crawfordsville. With respect to the question whether Crawfordsville has an "option or legal right" to its proposed site, petitioner submitted, with a supplemental pleading, a document which purports to be a photostatic copy of a contract under the terms of which a Crawfordsville realty company (Clements Smith Corporation) is authorized by a third party to sell the real estate which had been proposed by Crawfordsville as the site for their station. This document is dated May 21, 1956, and purports to grant to Clements Smith Corporation the right to sell for three months the property therein described for $10,500. On the other hand, Crawfordsville submitted with its "Answer to Petition for Enlargement of Issues" a copy of an "option for lease," dated December 30, 1955, which purports to grant an option to rent to Crawfordsville for 20 years 6½ acres of a 22 acre plot at $90.00/month;[1] the option to be exercised by lessee "within six months of date which an engineering survey shall be made to determine if said tract will meet the technical requirements." Willis states that this option has now expired. Crawfordsville claims that the language with respect to the date upon which an engineering survey shall be made was intended to mean that the option would be good if exercised within six months from date of the grant of the application.

5. Crawfordsville, in its application, submitted a photograph of its proposed site which shows that the proposed towers would be located in an area where there is apparently a pit, several buildings and trees. On the photograph, there is a note which states "buildings on site abandoned and to be razed." Thus, it is conceivable that a considerable amount of work would be required in preparing the property for the installation of the proposed station. The applicant did not set forth in the application where funds, if necessary, would originate for the preparation of its site, but now submits affidavits from the lessors which state that it is their intention to lease the property in such condition to Crawfordsville that they could erect any building or buildings without additional cost for clearing and grading. Willis filed with its petition a copy of a letter from a construction company in which it is stated that the estimated cost of preparing the land for use would be $8,000. Willis claims that the road to the proposed site is accessible only by an unused private road 0.9 of a mile long which would be unusable during periods of heavy snow and muddy weather. An affidavit from the Auditor of Montgomery County is attached to the petition which states this road is not under county maintenance. Crawfordsville answered with another affidavit from owner indicating that the road would be provided and maintained by the lessors.

6. In view of the statements and counter-statements thus made by the two parties to this proceeding, the Commission is unable, on the basis of pleadings before it, to resolve the allegations made by Willis and is of the view that the issues should be enlarged to permit an inquiry into issues (b), (c) and (d).

7. On the basis of the foregoing, It is ordered, This 30th day of January, 1957, That the petition of J. E. Willis for Enlargement of Issues in the above-entitled case is hereby granted: And it is further ordered, That the Commission's Order of July 5, 1956 (FCC 56-620, Mimeo No. 33098) is amended by renumbering present issue number 5 as number 9 and by adding four new issues 5, 6, 7 and 8 to read as follows:

5. To determine whether a grant of the application of Crawfordsville may be made consistent with the provisions of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules on multiple ownership.

6. To determine whether Crawfordsville has made, or will be able to make, arrangements to obtain and use the site specified in its application and, if so, the cost of obtaining such site and the cost of preparing the property for use.

7. To determine the circumstances surrounding the filing of the application of Crawfordsville in which it specified a transmitter site in an abandoned brickyard north of Crawfordsville and east of Highway #43 and, in the light of these circumstances whether applicant has acted in good faith.

8. To determine whether Crawfordsville is financially qualified to construct and operate the proposed station.

KAISER HAWAIIAN VILLAGE TELEVISION, INC.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER SCHEDULING ORAL ARGUMENT

In re application of Kaiser Hawaiian Village Television, Inc., Honolulu, Hawaii (KHVH-TV); Docket No. 11923, File No. BPCT-2217; for construction permit for a new television broadcast station.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a "Petition Protesting Grant and for Reconsideration or Rehearing" filed on January 4, 1957, pursuant to sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, by Television Corporation of America (protestant), licensee of Television Broadcast Station KULA-TV, Honolulu, Hawaii, directed against the Commission's action of December 5, 1956, granting without hearing the above-captioned application of Kaiser Hawaiian Village Television, Inc. (Kaiser), for a permit to construct a new television broadcast station to operate on Channel 13 in Honolulu, Hawaii; an "Opposition of Kaiser Hawaiian Village Television, Inc. to Petition Protesting Grant and for Reconsideration or Rehearing", filed on January 4, 1957; and protestant's reply to opposition filed on January 17, 1957.

2. The protestant claims standing as a "party in interest" and "a person aggrieved or whose interests are adversely affected" within the meaning of sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, as the licensee of an existing television broadcast station in Honolulu. It requests that the Commission reconsider its action on December 5, 1956, set aside the grant and designate Kaiser's application for hearing; or, pending a hearing and decision on its protest, postpone the effective date of the grant.

3. The protestant contends that the Kaiser grant "* * * threatens serious deleterious economic effects upon it" inasmuch as the area proposed to be served by Kaiser is presently served by three operating television stations in Honolulu (including that of protestant), and that the economic resources of the area will not support four television stations. In support of its contention, protestant states that of the three operating television stations in Honolulu, only one is being operated by the original parties; that of the three, two are operating at a loss and if the third one is operating profitably, its profit is insignificant. The protestant further points out that Honolulu is listed as the 117th television market in the United States; that available statistics, assuming them to be correct, indicate that the percentage of television homes in relation to population is considerably higher in Honolulu then the average in the United States; that, therefore, the possibility of an increase in television homes is remote; that most current television revenue figures, those for the year 1955, show that Honolulu has the second highest dollar television revenue for each home, indicating that the revenue ceiling, if not reached, is close to being reached; that the Commission's files will disclose that certain communities having a greater television set count than Honolulu's have been unable to support a fourth television station; that there are only three television networks at present; that operation of a television station without a network affiliation is difficult; that Kaiser will so have to operate since all three Honolulu stations are affiliated; that if Kaiser were to secure an affiliation, it would necessarily result in a loss of network affiliation by one of the three existing stations and its eventual economic destruction; and that financial losses which the existing stations would incur as a result of the operation of the additional station would cause the operators of said stations, if able to continue operating, so to curtail their operations as to injure the public interest because of necessary impairment of the quality of programs.

4. The protestant requests that the above-captioned application be designated for hearing upon the following specified issues:

(1) To determine whether the Honolulu market will provide sufficient revenues to the proposed television station so as to permit the applicant to adequately serve the public.

(2) To determine whether the advertising potential of the Honolulu market is such as may indicate that all four stations, the three existing stations and the proposed, or three, or two, or one of the stations will go under with the result that the listening public, or a portion of the listening public, will be left without adequate service.

(3) To determine whether the advertising potential of the Honolulu market is so slight that by a division of the field the petitioner's station, the applicant's proposed operation, and/or one and/or more of the other two existing television stations will be compelled to render inadequate service.

(4) To determine whether the grant of such application would result in depriving the public of the service of the petitioner's station or the proposed operation of the applicant, or both, or would result in depriving the public of the service of one or both of the other existing television stations in Honolulu.

(5) To determine whether the applicant is financially qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed station if economic support is not available.

(6) To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced with respect to the foregoing issues, whether the public interest, convenience or necessity require that the Commission's action of December 5, 1956, granting the above entitled application should be vacated.

5. In its Opposition, Kaiser concedes the protestant's standing under sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act, but asks that the petition for reconsideration be denied, and that the protest be designated for oral argument pursuant to section 309 (c) to determine whether the facts alleged, even if true, would constitute grounds for setting aside the grant. Kaiser contends that the public interest requires that its construction permit remain in effect pending disposition of the protest. In support of the request for oral argument, Kaiser argues that the only issue presented is whether the grant of its application would result in depriving the public of the service of one of the existing Honolulu television stations because of the alleged inability of the community to support four TV stations. Kaiser states that proposed issue (1) is directed to its ability to obtain sufficient revenues, but that no facts are alleged with respect to its ability to compete for revenue; that issue (2) is directed at the ability of any station to survive if a 4th station is added, though no facts are alleged indicating that 3 stations will not survive; that issue (3) is directed to the advertising potential of the Honolulu market, though no supporting facts have been alleged as to the size of that potential, and the protestant merely drew speculative comparisons with other markets not shown to be comparable; that issue (4) is repetitive of issue (2); that issue (5) is directed to Kaiser's financial qualifications, although no allegations of fact are made as to its financial qualifications. Kaiser contends, therefore, that the protest should be disposed of by oral argument, since the well pleaded facts as alleged, even if true, would not militate against the grant. In reliance upon FCC v. Sanders Bros. Radio Station, 309 U. S. 470, Kaiser argues that the Commission is not empowered to grant or withhold authorizations on the basis of the effect upon competition. Kaiser alleges further that it is not the Commission's function to insulate weak, poorly-run stations from the effects of competition from better stations; that the Commission cannot regulate programming, charges for time, size of staff or any of the factors which affect the economic success of the broadcaster; that the Commission cannot determine with certainty whether in a given market stations are making or losing money, or whether success or failure results from market characteristics or management actions; that the Commission cannot reliably determine market potential; that Kaiser is prepared to test its ideas competitively in the market place; and that, should it develop that Honolulu will only support 3 stations, Kaiser intends to assure that it is one of the survivors.

6. With respect to protestant's request for a stay of the effective date of the grant pending disposition, of the petition, Kaiser urges that a stay would not be in the public interest because the service it will provide is not merely a duplication of existing services, but a service not now available in Honolulu. This alleged new service consists of MGM and Warner Brothers feature films. Additionally, Kaiser proposes intensive live local news coverage, which it will film in color.

7. Inasmuch as the protestant is the licensee of Television Broadcast Station KULA-TV, Honolulu, Hawaii, and has alleged that it will be financially injured by the grant in question, we find the protestant to be a "party in interest" and "a person aggrieved or whose interests are adversely affected" within the meaning of sections 309 (c) and 405, respectively, of the Communications Act. T. E. Allen and Sons, Inc., 9 Pike and Fischer RR, 197; FCC v. Sanders Bros. Radio Station, 309 U. S. 470, 9 Pike and Fischer RR 2008. We find further that the protestant has specified with particularity, within the meaning of section 309 (c), sufficient facts upon which it relies in support of its protest. A hearing is therefore necessary. The initial question to be determined is the type of hearing required with respect to the issues specified.

8. In substance, the issues specified concern the ability of the Honolulu market to provide sufficient economic support to permit the operation of four television broadcast stations. The protestant's position is that the Honolulu market will not support four such stations; that the addition of a fourth station may cause one, two or all stations to fail or, at least, to curtail their programs so severely that the public interest will suffer. Thus, the protestant contends that a determination of these "economic issues" is required because the alleged deterioration of the program services involved is a public interest consideration. In this respect, the Commission pointed out in Voice of Cullman, 6 Pike and Fischer RR 161, that an initial economic injury sustained as a result of competition might be readily overcome by a resourceful licensee and, that in any event, degradation of program service was not a necessary consequence of economic injury since "quality of program service cannot be measured by cost alone." We believe, further, that the Communications Act contemplates the free entry into the broadcasting field by persons legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to construct and operate stations even where competition from such stations might have an adverse economic effect upon existing stations or other mass media; and that as a matter of policy, the competitive effect a new station may have on existing stations is not a factor to be considered by the Commission in determining whether a new operation is in the public interest, FCC v. Sanders Bros., supra. We have recently reasserted these principles in WWSW, Inc., 14 Pike and Fischer RR 492, Perry County Broadcasting Company, FCC 56–1031, Docket No. 11852, adopted October 24, 1956, and Richard F. Lewis, Jr., Inc, of Mount Jackson, Virginia, FCC 56–1055, Docket No. 11852, adopted October 31, 1956. Consequently, the Commission is of the view that even if the protestant's "economic injury" facts were proven, no grounds are presented for setting aside the grant in question. Accordingly, oral argument will be held on the issues specified by the protestant as on demurrer.

9. We turn now to the question of whether we should stay the effective date of our grant of the above-captioned application. In this connection, section 309 (c) of the Communications Act provides that—

> • • • Pending hearing and decision [of cases arising under this statute] the effective date of the Commission's action to which protest is made shall be postponed to the effective date of the Commission's decision after hearing, unless the authorization involved is necessary to the maintenance or conduct of an existing service, or unless the Commission affirmatively finds for reasons set forth in the decision that the public interest requires that the grant remain in effect, in which event the Commission shall authorize the applicant to utilize the facilities or authorization in question pending the Commission's decision after hearing.

10. Kaiser argues that the service it is proposing is not merely additional service, but a new type of programing not now available in Honolulu which will satisfy a particular public need. Although the Commission does not question the quality of the feature films proposed to be shown or the representations with respect to added local news coverage, we believe that, in view of the fact that there are three operating television stations in Honolulu, we cannot make an affirmative finding that the public interest requires that this grant remain in effect. Accordingly, the effective date of the Commission's action here in question will be postponed to the effective date of the Commission's decision in the proceeding hereinafter ordered.

11. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That, effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-captioned application is postponed pending a final determination by the Commission; that the petition for reconsideration herein is granted to the extent provided for below and is denied in all other respects; and that pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, oral argument be held before the Commission en banc, commencing at 10:00 a. m. on February 12, 1957, on the question whether, if the facts alleged in the protest were proven, grounds have been presented for setting aside the grant of said application;

It is further ordered, That Television Corporation of America and the Chief of the Broadcast Bureau are hereby made parties to the proceeding herein, and that—

(1) The parties intending to participate in the oral argument shall file their appearances not later than February 5, 1957;

(2) The parties to the proceeding shall have until the date of oral argument to file briefs or memoranda of law.

BELOIT BROADCASTERS, INC. (WBEL)

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Beloit Broadcasters, Incorporated (WBEL), Beloit, Wisconsin; Docket No. 11924, File No. BP–10521; for construction permit.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of January, 1957;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned application of Beloit Broadcasters, Incorporated, for a construction permit to change the directional antenna system of Station WBEL, Beloit, Wisconsin, and to increase hours of operation from daytime only to unlimited time; to operate on the presently assigned frequency of 1380 kilocycles with a power of 5 kilowatts; and a request of Beloit Broadcasters, Incorporated, for a waiver of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules;

It appearing that the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified, except as may appear from the issues specified below, to operate WBEL as proposed, but that nighttime interference to the proposed operation from Station KWK, St. Louis, Missouri (1380 kc, 5 kw, DA–N, U) would affect more than 10 percent of the population within its normally protected primary service area; and

It further appearing that, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicant was advised by letter dated October 8, 1956, of the aforementioned deficiency and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of the application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that, in a reply dated October 31, 1956, the applicant requested a waiver of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing that the Commission is unable to make a determination in this matter on the basis of the data before it and is of the opinion that an evidentiary hearing is necessary to obtain complete information relative to the above-captioned application and the grounds advanced in support of the request for waiver of § 3.28 (c) of the rules to enable the Commission to determine whether the public interest would be served by a grant thereof;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned application is designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of Station WBEL as proposed, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether, because of the interference received, the proposal of WBEL would comply with § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; and if compliance with § 3.28 (c) is not achieved, whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of said section of the rules.

3. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, whether the above-captioned application should be granted.

It is further ordered, That to avail itself of the opportunity to be heard, Beloit Broadcasters, Incorporated, pursuant to § 1.387 of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this Order, file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

NORTHWEST BROADCASTERS, INC., AND REV. HALDANE JAMES DUFF

In re applications of Northwest Broadcasters, Inc., Bellevue, Washington; Docket No. 11925, File No. BP–10521; Rev. Haldane James Duff, Seattle, Washington; Docket No. 11926, File No. BP–10638; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of January, 1957;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned applications of Northwest Broadcasters, Inc. and the Reverend Haldane James Duff, each for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1540 kilocycles with powers of one kilowatt and 10 kilowatts, respectively, directional antenna, unlimited time, at Bellevue and Seattle, Washington, respectively;

It appearing that both applicants are legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified, except as may appear from the issues specified below, to operate their proposed stations, but that the operation of both stations as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference and that the nighttime interference which would be received by the proposed operation of the Reverend Haldane James Duff would result in a loss of population which would be excessive under § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing that, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicants were advised by letter dated October 8, 1956, of the aforementioned interference and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of either application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that a timely reply was filed by each of the applicants; and

It further appearing that the Reverend Haldane James Duff has requested a waiver of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing that the Commission, after consideration of the above, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the proposed operations, and the availibility of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine, whether, because of the interference which would be received by the proposed operation of the Reverend Haldane James Duff, his proposed operation would comply with § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; and if compliance with § 3.28 (c) is not achieved, whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of said section of the rules.

3. To determine in the light of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the operations proposed in the above-captioned applications would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

4. To determine in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which, if either, of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, Northwest Broadcasters, Inc., and the Reverend Haldane James Duff, pursuant to § 1.387 of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

Q BROADCASTING CO.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Q Broadcasting Company, Phoenix, Arizona; Docket No. 11927, File No. BP-10178; for construction permit.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a "Protest, Petition for Reconsideration, and Request for other Appropriate Relief" filed on January 4, 1957, pursuant to sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, by Poole Broadcasting Company (hereinafter sometimes referred to as Poole), and directed against the Commission's action of December 5, 1956, in granting without a hearing the above-captioned application of the Q Broadcasting Company (hereinafter sometimes referred to as Q Broadcasting or Q) for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 740 kilocycles with a power of 1 kilowatt, directional antenna, daytime only, at Phoenix, Arizona.[1]

2. Poole claims to be a "party in interest" or "person aggrieved or whose interests are adversely affected" within the meaning of sections 309 (c) and 405 of the act, respectively, because it had ready and available for immediate timely filing with the Commission an application for the facility granted Q Broadcasting but did not file it for the sole reason that it had reached an agreement with Q Broadcasting to merge interests and that under the doctrine of the Ashbacker case, 326 U. S. 327, its application would have been entitled to a comparative hearing with the application of Q Broadcasting. The protestant also states that it believes the agreement to be enforceable in court but that should it be mistaken, "it is manifest that [it] was deprived of its right to a comparative hearing by the misrepresentations and trickery of Q and its principals." Poole asserts that if the agreement is valid, and may be ordered effectuated, it stands in the position of a minority stockholder and is entitled to be heard under the decisions of the Commission and the Court of Appeals in the WGMS case (Smith v. F. C. C., No. 13,571), and that if the agreement only gives Poole an option to buy stock in Q Broadcasting, then it has standing under Granik, et al, v. F. C. C., 234 F. (2d) 682; 13 Pike and Fischer RR 2185.

3. As noted above, the Commission on December 5, 1956 granted the application of Q Broadcasting for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 740 kilocycles with a power of 1 kilowatt at Phoenix, Arizona. The application was originally mutually exclusive with an application of David M. Segal for the same facilities, and the applicants were so notified by letter of October 8, 1956. In the same letter Q Broadcasting was notified, among other things, of an apparent lack of financial qualifications and the possibility of objectionable interference to Radio Station KBIG, Avalon, California, licensed to Poole. On November 1, 1956, Segal voluntarily dismissed his application.

4. In the subject protest, Poole alleges, in general, that substantially prior to the Commission's letter of October 8, 1956, it had made a decision to file an application in Phoenix, Arizona, for 740 kilocycles; that by on or about November 20, 1956, it had ready and available for immediate filing with the Commission its application for said facility meeting all pertinent requirements of the Commission; that before that time it undertook to explore with Q Broadcasting the possibility of reaching some kind of mutually satisfactory agreement for merging their interests; that in furtherance of this aim, on or about October 26, 1956, Cliff Gill, an officer and director of Poole, and Frank Barc, Jr., president and majority stockholder of Q Broadcasting met in Phoenix, Arizona to discuss various merger possibilities; that Barc was then advised of Poole's intention to file a competing application and of Poole's willingness to join forces with Q Broadcasting and thus aid it in meeting the Commission's objection to Q's financial qualifications by providing Q with the funds necessary for the construction and operation of the proposed station; that Barc expressed definite interest in a merger and later informed Gill by telephone that the minority stockholders were willing to go along with his recommendation which would lead to a merger of the Poole and Q interests; that an offer for the purchase of a stock interest in Q was made by Poole and accepted by Barc in principle; that subsequent to this discussion a meeting was held in Washington, D. C., on November 16, 1956, in the offices of Poole's attorneys at which meeting Gill, Q Broadcasting's attorney, and Poole's attorneys participated; that an oral agreement was reached; that Barc through telephonic communication with his attorney approved the agreement; that it was understood that the filing of the Poole application was unnecessary; that such forbearance was specifically conditioned upon the agreement between Poole and Q Broadcasting; that Q Broadcasting's attorney was to prepare a formal written agreement embodying the oral agreement, for submission to the Commission as an amendement to Q's pending application; that in order to insure that the Commission would be advised of the changes affecting the applicant, Q's attorney, at the request of Poole, advised the Commission in a letter dated November 23, 1956, that an amendment was forthcoming;[2] that the formal agreement was prepared by Q's attorney and sent to the parties for signatures; that on December 4, 1956, Barc told Mr. Poole by telephone that signed copies of the agreement were being placed in the mail that night and was in turn advised that the copies signed by Poole were already in the mail; that the next day, December 5, 1956, the Commission granted the Q Broadcasting application; that in the period between the oral agreement and the Commission's action, all material for the amendment, other than the formal written signed agreement, had been forwarded to Q's Washington counsel; that immediately after issuance of the construction permit by the Commission, Washington counsel for Poole and Q agreed that the agreement which had been reached by the parties would be brought to the attention of the Commission by means of an immediate filing of an ownership report and amendment; that repeated efforts on the part of Q's attorney and Poole's attorney to contact Barc to ascertain the whereabouts of the signed document proved fruitless; and that on December 19, 1956, Poole's attorney was advised by Q's Phoenix counsel, that Q did not intend to live up to the agreement.

5. The protestant further alleges, in substance, that the actions of Mr. Barc, majority stockholder of Q, go to Q's qualifications to be a licensee; that the Commission's processes have deliberately been misused; that while Q appeared to be taking necessary steps to advise the Commission of the existence of the agreement and had advised the Commission of the pendency of an amendment, Q's position now is to conceal the very existence of such agreement from the Commission; that the Commission must therefore reconsider the qualifications of Q as a prospective licensee, especially in view of Barc's actions, since the Court stated in the Granik Case, supra, "Good faith and fair dealing bear upon the public interest."; that at the time the Commission made the grant it was not fully apprised of the negotiations preceding the oral agreement, of the terms of the agreement, and of its effect upon the make-up of the applicant and its proposal to the Commission; that it is evident these facts are presently being deliberately concealed from the Commission by Q and its principals; that the financial qualifications of Q are to be questioned, since the statement in Q Broadcasting's application that Barc would pay $9,000 for 90 shares of stock subscribed for by him, is directly contradictory to Poole's information that this stock would be issued to Barc by Q for promotional and similar services, and would not be paid for in cash; and that the precarious financial condition of Q has been rendered more difficult in view of the legal and other expenses required by the pendency of the protest and petition, and by the probable damages which are likely to be assessed against Q and Barc as a result of court action by Poole based on the above stated facts.

6. Poole requests that the Commission, on its own motion, set aside or postpone the effective date of the grant to Q and investigate the qualifications of Q and Barc to be a licensee; that the Commission, pursuant to the provisions of section 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, reconsider its action of December 5, 1956, granting a construction permit to Q, and set aside such grant; or that the Commission, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act, grant the protest of Poole and (a) set aside or postpone the effective date of its December 5, 1956 action granting the application of Q for a construction permit, (b) designate said application for hearing upon the issues hereinbelow set forth, and such other issues as the Commission may adopt; and (c) make Protestant, Poole Broadcasting Company, a party to said proceeding.

7. More than thirty days having now elapsed since the grant of the Q application,[3] Poole's request that the Commission on its own motion, pursuant to section 1.726 (c) of the Commission's rules, vacate the grant and investigate the qualifications of Q and Barc may not be granted.[4] Nor do we find any necessity for such action in this case, since the public interest may be fully protected by a hearing on the protest, which we find to be in order.

8. Poole asserts that it has standing as a "party in interest" within the meaning of section 309 (c) of the Communications Act and as a "person aggrieved" by the grant of the Q application within the meaning of section 405 of the act on two grounds: (1) as an applicant by reason of the facts that it was ready, willing and able to file a competing application at any time prior to the grant and refrained from doing so only because of the agreement with Q and the misrepresentations of Q and its principals; and (2) as a stockholder, or at least the holder of an option to purchase stock, in Q by virtue of a contract. We agree that Poole has the necessary standing, at least by reason of a combination of the grounds asserted. We have many times held that the filing of a conflicting application after a grant has been made does not give standing to protest the grant, but that protestant's application must have been pending at the time of the grant. Polan Industries, 8 Pike and Fischer RR398; Chief Pontiac Broadcasting Co., 9 Pike and Fischer RR 413. We do not impeach those holdings, but find them inapplicable here. In none of those cases was there any allegation that the failure to file a timely application was due to misrepresentations by the grantee. And, if the allegations in the protest are accepted as true, it seems to us that, insofar as Q Broadcasting is concerned; the present case should be considered as if a competing application had been timely filed. Moreover, there is the additional feature that the alleged misrepresentations are interconnected with the refusal to comply with an oral agreement which, though reduced to writing, was never formally executed. This oral contract may not generate the same contract rights as the written contract involved in Granik v. FCC, 234 F. (2d) 682, 13 Pike and Fischer RR 2185. And since we have been consistently of the view that the validity and enforceability of contracts should more appropriately be determined by the courts, we are not disposed to make any such determination here. For our purposes here in determining standing to protest, it is sufficient to acknowledge that in view of the various exceptions to the principle that oral contracts are not enforceable, especially the effect of part performance, estoppel or a memorandum in writing, it is not possible for us to say with any degree of certainty that an appropriate court would not find the alleged contract to be valid and enforceable. Therefore, in the peculiar combination of circumstances present in this case, it appears to us that Poole has suffered injury, or incurred the likelihood of injury, above that of a member of the general public, and that it has standing as a party in interest or a person aggrieved by the grant to Q Broadcasting.[5]

9. The Commission also finds that Poole has satisfied the requirement of section 309 (c) of specifying with particularity the facts relied upon to show that the grant in question was improperly made or would otherwise not be in the public interest. It follows, therefore, that there must be a hearing on the issues presented. Since the protestant has knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the discussions, negotiations and alleged contract, it is the person best suited to present all the facts of the case to the Commission. Therefore, while we are including the protestant's proposed issues in the hearing ordered herein, we are not adopting these issues, and the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof on these issues shall be on the protestant.

10. On the basis of the facts before us, we are unable to conclude that the subject grant should remain in effect during the pendency of the hearing hereinafter ordered.

11. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the subject Protest, Petition for Reconsideration and Request for Other Appropriate Relief is granted to the extent provided for below and is denied in all other respects; that, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-captioned application is postponed pending final determination by the Commission in the hearing described below; and that the above-captioned application is designated for evidentiary hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on the following issues:

1. To determine all of the facts and circumstances concerning the oral and written agreement between Q, and the stockholders of Q, with Poole, and specifically; (a) the date on which said oral agreement was reached; (b) the terms of such oral agreement; (c) the circumstances surrounding the written agreement; (d) the terms of the written agreement; and (e) the failure to disclose to the Commission, and the present effort to withhold from the Commission, the facts concerning such oral and written agreement.

2. To determine: (a) whether Q wrongfully and wilfully misled Poole into not filing a competing application on 740 kc at Phoenix, Arizona; and (b) whether Poole did in fact have ready for

[1] In a letter dated January 14, 1957, and received in the Commission on January 15, 1957, counsel for the grantee advised that a "reply will be forthcoming within the next week or ten days". As of January 28, 1957, a reply has not been received in the Commission.

[2] This letter had not been associated with the application nor called to the attention of the Commission when the application was granted on December 5, 1956.

[3] It is to be noted that the pleading under consideration was not filed with the Commission until January 4, 1957, the thirtieth day after the grant.

[4] That is not to say, however, that the Commission could not on its own motion, prior to issuance of a license pursuant to section 319 (c) of the Communications Act, consider new matter, bearing on the qualifications of a permittee, coming to its attention after a grant of a construction permit and take appropriate action. See also section 312 of the act.

[5] It is to be noted that, even if Poole's standing should be denied, the matters raised in the petition could be the subject of inquiry in later proceedings on an order to show cause why the construction permit should not be revoked or in a hearing on the license application. See Footnote 4, supra. Clearly it is in the public interest, as well as the interests of both Q and Poole, that such inquiry be held at the earliest possible date. A hearing on the protest affords the opportunity for such inquiry.

filing, a mutually exclusive application for the use of said frequency in Phoenix.

3. To determine whether in the light of (a) the failure to disclose to the Commission, and the effort to withhold information from the Commission, concerning the agreement between Q and Poole; and (b) the effort of Q and its stockholders to violate the terms of such agreement; and (c) the misuse of the Commission's processes with respect to the above; Q and its stockholders possess the requisite character and other qualifications to become a permittee or licensee of a radio station.

4. To determine whether in the light of all of the evidence the grant to Q was improperly made, particularly in view of the requirements of the Communications Act, and the requirements established by the Supreme Court in Ashbacker v. F. C. C., concerning the need for comparative consideration of mutually exclusive applications.

5. To determine whether Q, without the financial support of Poole as incorporated in said agreement between Poole and Q, is financially qualified to construct and operate the proposed station.

It is further ordered, That the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof as to each of the issues shall be on the protestant;

It is further ordered, That the protestant and the Chief of the Broadcast Bureau are made parties to the proceeding herein and that:

1. The hearing on the above issues is to commence at a time and place and before an Examiner to be specified in a subsequent order; and

2. The parties to the proceeding herein shall have fifteen (15) days after the issuance of the Examiner's decision to file exceptions thereto and seven (7) days thereafter to file replies to any such exceptions; and

3. The appearances by the parties intending to participate in the above hearing shall be filed not later than February 15, 1957.

Adopted: January 30, 1957.

Released: January 31, 1957.

COMMITTEE FOR RECIPROCITY INFORMATION

NEGOTIATIONS RESULTING FROM CANADIAN DESIRE TO RENEGOTIATE TARIFF CONCESSION ON POTATOES IN GENERAL AGREEMENT ON TARIFFS AND TRADE

SUBMISSION OF INFORMATION

Submission of information to the Committee for Reciprocity Information:

Closing date for applications to appear at hearing February 27, 1957.

Closing date for submission of briefs by persons making application to appear at the hearing February 27, 1957.

Closing date for submission of briefs for persons not desiring to be heard March 6, 1957.

Public hearings open March 6, 1957.

The Government of Canada intends to renegotiate, with a view to its upward modification, the Canadian concession on potatoes contained in item 83 in Part I of Schedule V (Geneva—1947) to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (61 Stat. (pt. 5) A396). The United States will participate in such renegotiations, which will be carried out under the procedures provided for in the Declaration on the Continued Application of Schedules, of March 10, 1955 (Treaties and Other International Agreements Series 3438).

Interested persons are invited to submit their views with regard to the anticipated effect on United States trade of modification of this concession on potatoes, or with regard to products on which the United States might request new or further tariff concessions from Canada as compensation to the United States for such modification of the Canadian concession. Views may also be submitted with regard to possible upward modification, or withdrawal, of United States tariff concessions in Part I of any Schedule XX to the General Agreement, including the concessions on potatoes (items 771, Schedule XX (Geneva—1947), 61 Stat. (pt. 5) A1244 and A1245).

Should the United States modify a rate of duty provided for in Part I of Schedule XX, such modification might involve a modification also of the rate or the margin of preference applicable to the product of Cuba, other than the modification of a rate specified in Part II of any Schedule XX.

No concession involving reduction in duties or other import restrictions of the United States, or continuance of existing customs or excise treatment of an article not now included in any Schedule XX to the General Agreement, will be granted by the United States pursuant to this notice.

The Committee for Reciprocity Information hereby gives notice that all applications for oral presentation of views in regard to the proposed renegotiations shall be submitted to the Committee for Reciprocity Information not later than February 27, 1957. The application must indicate the product or products on which the individual or groups desire to be heard and an estimate of the time required for oral presentation. Such communications shall be addressed to "Committee for Reciprocity Information, Tariff Commission Building, Washington 25, D. C." Fifteen copies of written statements, either typed, printed, or duplicated shall be submitted, of which one copy shall be sworn to.

Written statements submitted to the Committee, except information and business data proffered in confidence, shall be open to inspection by interested persons. Information and business data proffered in confidence shall be submitted on separate pages clearly marked "For Official Use Only of Committee for Reciprocity Information."

Public hearings will be held before the Committee for Reciprocity Information, at which oral statements will be heard, beginning at 10:00 a. m., March 6, 1957, in the hearing room in the Tariff Commission Building, Eighth and E Streets NW., Washington 25, D. C. Witnesses who make application to be heard will be advised regarding the time and place of their individual appearances. Appearances at hearings before the Committee may be made only by or on behalf of those persons who have filed written statements and who have within the time prescribed made written application for oral presentation of views. Statements made at the public hearings shall be under oath.

By direction of the Committee for Reciprocity Information this 4th day of February 1957.

EDWARD YARDLEY,
Secretary, Committee for Reciprocity Information.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-3554]

WEST PENN ELECTRIC CO. AND POTOMAC EDISON CO.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ISSUE AND SALE OF ADDITIONAL COMMON STOCK BY PARENT COMPANY PURSUANT TO UNDERWRITTEN RIGHTS OFFERING, AND PROPOSED CHARTER AMENDMENT AND ISSUE AND SALE OF ADDITIONAL COMMON STOCK BY SUBSIDIARY TO PARENT COMPANY

JANUARY 30, 1957.

The West Penn Electric Company ("Electric"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary The Potomac Edison Company ("Potomac"), a registered subholding company, have filed a joint application-declaration and an amendment thereto pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), designating sections 6, 7, 9, 10, and 12 thereof and Rules U-43, U-44, and U-50 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

Issue and sale of additional common stock by Electric. Electric proposes to issue and sell, through an underwritten rights offering to its stockholders, 528,000 additional shares of its Common Stock (at the rate of 1 share for each 16 shares held on the record date), and in this connection to issue transferable warrants to such stockholders. The warrants will be issued on February 27 to stockholders of record at the close of business on February 26, 1957, and will expire on March 14, 1957. No fractional shares will be issued. The subscription agent will endeavor, to the extent practicable, to purchase any number of rights (up to 15) required to complete any subscription, and to sell any excess rights (up to 15) not required to complete a subscription.

Charges for this service (other than transfer taxes) will be paid by Electric.

Electric proposes on or about February 19, 1957, publicly to invite bids from prospective underwriters for the underwriting of said offering, such underwriters to name the amount of compensation, if any, to be paid by Electric to them for their services and agreement to purchase, at the subscription price, any shares not subscribed for as a result of the offering to the stockholders and also the shares, if any, purchased by Electric in connection with its stabilizing activities referred to below. It is proposed that the bids will be submitted before 12 o'clock noon on February 26, 1957.

The price per share at which Electric proposes to offer the additional Common Stock to its common stockholders and the unsubscribed stock to the underwriters will be determined by Electric. Prospective underwriters will be notified of the price per share as so determined not later than 4 o'clock p. m. on the day prior to the day for the submission of bids. Such price will be not more than the last reported sale price on the New York Stock Exchange and not less than 85 percent of such last reported sale price.

Electric proposes, if it considers the same necessary or desirable, to effect transactions to stabilize or maintain the price of its Common Stock for the purpose of facilitating the offering and distribution of the additional Common Stock. In connection therewith Electric may, during the period commencing with the third full business day prior to the time for the submission of bids and continuing until the acceptance of a bid, purchase not in excess of 52,800 shares of its Common Stock through regular brokerage channels.

The underwriters will pay to Electric 50 percent of any excess over $1.50 per share above the subscription price on shares sold before April 14, 1957. Any shares not sold prior to that date shall be deemed to have been sold at the mean of the high and low prices on April 12.

Electric will use the net proceeds from its proposed sale of Common Stock to purchase additional common stock from its subsidiary companies in the aggregate amount of about $13,400,000. The subsidiaries will use such funds together with other cash resources and the proceeds from the issue in 1957 of about $34,000,000 of senior securities, to finance their construction programs during 1957 and 1958, estimated at $101,500,000.

Electric's fees and expenses in connection with the issuance and sale of its additional Common Stock, other than the compensation to be paid to the underwriters, are estimated as follows:

Independent accountants	$20,000
Counsel fee—Sullivan & Cromwell	8,500
Printing prospectuses, warrants, stock certificates, etc	17,500
Transfer Agent and Registrar	25,000
Subscription Agent	42,000
Federal stamp tax	4,000
New York Stock Exchange Listing fee	1,325
Registration fee	1,743
Miscellaneous	4,932
Total	125,000

Amendment of charter and issue and sale of additional common stock by Potomac, and pledge of such stock by Electric. Potomac, a Maryland corporation, which now has outstanding 775,000 shares of Common Stock, all of which are owned by Electric, proposes to amend its Charter to increase its authorized Common Stock from 800,000 to 1,500,000 shares without nominal or par value; and thereafter, on or before June 30, 1957, to issue and sell to Electric 100,000 additional shares of such stock for $2,000,000 cash. Potomac will use the funds for the construction programs of itself and its subsidiaries, or to reimburse its treasury for expenditures in connection therewith.

Upon acquisition of the additional Common Stock of Potomac, Electric proposes to pledge same with Chemical Corn Exchange Bank, Trustee under the Trust Indenture dated as of September 1, 1949, securing Electric's 3½ percent Sinking Fund Collateral Trust Bonds, in accordance with the requirements of said Indenture.

Potomac's fees and expenses in connection with its charter amendment and the issuance and sale of its additional Common Stock are estimated at $3,350, including Federal stamp taxes $3,000, legal fees $150, and miscelaneous $200.

It is stated that prior authorization of the Maryland Public Service Commission is required for the issue and sale of the additional Common Stock by Electric, and for the issue and sale of the additional Common Stock by Potomac and its acquisition by Electric; that authorization of the Interstate Commerce Commission may also be required for the issue and sale of Common Stock by Potomac, which owns and operates a railway tie-line between Frederick and Thurmont, Maryland; that appropriate applications have been filed with such commissions; that no further approvals by regulatory commissions, other than this Commission, are required.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 15, 1957 at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by said application-declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date the application-declaration, as now amended or as further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100, or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

PART 16—MARKING, BRANDING, AND IDENTIFYING PRODUCTS

PART 27—IMPORTED PRODUCTS

APPROVAL OF LABELING MATERIAL FOR MEATS, MEAT BYPRODUCTS, AND MEAT FOOD PRODUCTS OFFERED FOR IMPORTATION INTO THE UNITED STATES; DECLARATION OF POLICY

Parts 16, 17 and 27 of the Meat Inspection Regulations (9 CFR Parts 16, 17 and 27, as amended) issued pursuant to the Meat Inspection Act, as amended and extended (21 U. S. C. 71 et seq.) and paragraphs 306 (b) and (c) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U. S. C. 1306 (b) and (c)) prescribe various requirements for labeling meats, meat byproducts, and meat food products offered for importation into the United States and require approval by the Department of labeling used in connection therewith.

Amendments to the regulations changing the labeling requirements for certain products and merchandising practices resulting in label design changes have made most labels approved prior to July 1, 1950, obsolete.

Accordingly approvals prior to July 1, 1950, of labeling material for imported meats, meat byproducts, and meat food products are hereby cancelled effective April 1, 1957. Any person who proposes to use labeling material, for meats, meat byproducts, or meat food products to be imported into the United States on or after April 1, 1957, which was approved prior to July 1, 1950, and has not since been reapproved, must submit such labeling material to the Chief of the Meat Inspection Branch for approval under the regulations currently in effect.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Market Tire Company (Bethesda, Md.) et al., Docket 6625, January 25, 1957]

In the Matter of Market Tire Company, a Corporation and David Lawson and Allan Bratman, Individually and as Officers of said Corporation

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging two corporations and their common officers selling new and used automobile and truck tires in Washington, D. C., and Bethesda, Md., with using bait advertising in newspapers and other false claims as to prices, savings and discounts, guarantees, and quality; and false representations that certain older tires—most of them no longer manufactured—were "Factory Fresh" or "1956" stock.

Following entry of an agreement containing consent order to cease and desist, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist which on January 25 became the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Market Tire Co. of Southeast, Inc., a corporation, respondent Market Tire Co. of Maryland, Inc., a corporation, and their officers, respondents David Lawson and Allan Bratman, individually and as officers of said corporations, and respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of new and used automobile and truck tires or any other merchandise in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from—

1. Representing, directly or by implication, that said merchandise is offered for sale when such offer is not a bona fide offer to sell the merchandise so offered;

2. Representing, directly or by implication, that a specified brand of tire is being offered for sale at a featured price, unless such is the case;

3. Using the term "list price" to designate, describe, or refer to manufacturer's list price, without disclosing that it is the manufacturer's list price, on tires other than those which have been bona fide regularly sold and offered for sale at such "list price" by respondents in the usual and normal course of business;

4. Representing, directly or by implication, that specific savings or discounts are afforded a purchaser upon the purchase of tires when such purported savings or discounts do not take into account the trade-in if such be required in the sale of such tires;

5. Representing that tires are "Factory Fresh" or the stock of any particular year, unless such is the case;

6. Representing that "Take-off" or "Changeover" tires are new;

7. Representing, directly or by implication, that any merchandise sold or offered for sale by respondents is guaranteed, unless the nature and extent of the guarantee and the manner in which the guarantor will perform thereunder are clearly and conspicuously disclosed;

8. Representing, directly or by implication, that a specified tire is of a certain kind, line, quality, or level when such tire is of a different kind, line, quality, or level;

9. Representing, directly or by implication, that respondents' usual or customary price of any merchandise is in excess of the price at which said merchandise is regularly and customarily sold in the normal course of respondents' business.

It is further ordered, That since the parties have been improperly designated in the complaint, in order to make the pleadings conform to the agreement for a consent order to cease and desist, the complaint herein be, and the same hereby is, amended to make Market Tire Company of Southeast, Inc., a Maryland corporation, Market Tire Company of Maryland, Inc., a Maryland corporation, and Allan Bratman and David Lawson, individually and as officers of said corporations, parties respondent.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Market Tire Company of Southeast, Inc., a corporation, and Market Tire Company of Maryland, Inc., a corporation, and respondents David Lawson and Allan Bratman, individually and as officers of said corporate respondents, shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

In the Matter of Hiram B. Hundley, an Individual, Trading and Doing Business as Ben Hundley

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging a seller of new and used automobile and truck tires in Washington, D. C., with using bait advertising and other false claims in newspapers as to prices, values, and savings, and false representations that tires actually no longer manufactured were "Factory Fresh", of "1955" or "1956" stock, and that certain others were "Factory Reconditioned".

Following entry of an agreement containing consent order to cease and desist, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist which became on January 16 the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Hiram B. Hundley, an individual, trading and doing business as Ben Hundley, or trading and doing business under any other name or names, and respondent's representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of new and used automobile and truck tires or any other merchandise in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from—

1. Representing, directly or by implication, that said merchandise is offered for sale when such offer is not a bona fide offer to sell the merchandise so offered;

2. Representing, directly or by implication, that a specified brand of tire is being offered for sale at a featured price, unless such is the case;

3. Using the term "list price" to designate, describe, or refer to manufacturer's list price, without disclosing that it is the manufacturer's list price, on tires other than those which have been bona fide regularly sold and offered for sale at such "list price" by respondent in his usual and normal course of business;

4. Representing, directly or by implication, that specific savings or discounts are afforded a purchaser upon the purchase of tires when such purported saving or discounts do not take into account the trade-in if such be required in the sale of such tires;

5. Representing that tires are "Factory Fresh" or the stock of any particular year, unless such is the case;

6. Representing that any used tires are "Factory Reconditioned" when in fact such work has not been done by a factory or a manufacturing plant;

7. Representing that "Take-off" or "Changeover" tires are new;

8. Representing, directly or by implication, that any merchandise sold or offered for sale by respondent is guaranteed, unless the nature and extent of the guarantee and the manner in which the guarantor will perform thereunder are clearly and conspicuously disclosed;

9. Representing, directly or by implication, that respondent's usual or customary price of any merchandise is in excess of the price at which said merchandise is regularly and customarily sold in the normal course of respondent's business.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Hiram B. Hundley, an individual, trading and doing business as Ben Hundley, shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which he has complied with the order to cease and desist.

[Docket 6260]

C. G. OPTICAL CO. AND BENJAMIN D. RITHOLZ

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 13.170 Qualities or properties of product or service.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, C. G. Optical Company et al., Chicago, Ill., Docket 6260, January 16, 1957]

In the Matter of C. G. Optical Company, a Corporation, and Benjamin D. Ritholz, Individually

The complaint in this case charged a corporation and its sole owner—engaged in Chicago in selling eyeglasses, and as an inducement to such sale sending to those answering his advertisements for their home use in the measurement of the face and nose, devices designated "Self-Test Opto-meter" or "Home Eye Tester"—with representing falsely in advertisements in newspapers and periodicals and by circulars and form letters and in explanatory literature and directions accompanying the eye-testing kit sent to those requesting it, that the eyeglasses made pursuant to the results of tests of the eyes made by recipients' use of said devices would correct the defects in vision of all persons.

Following entry of a stipulation for a consent order between the parties, the hearing examiner made his initial decision which was adopted by the Commission. Subsequently, on motion of respondent, the Commission vacated the initial decision and its order and remanded the case to the hearing examiner for further proceeding.

At a hearing, respondents' counsel withdrew their answers previously filed and made an oral answer admitting all the allegations of the complaint. In addition they offered in evidence certain circulars purporting to show a change in respondents' representations which had been in use for six months prior to the hearing. Further proceeding was waived except the filing of proposed findings and conclusions.

On this basis, the hearing examiner again made his initial decision and order to cease and desist. The Commission, after hearing the matter on respondents' appeal therefrom, on January 18 denied the appeal and adopted as its own the findings, conclusions, and order contained in the initial decision.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents, C. G. Optical Company, a corporation, and its officers, and respondent Benjamin D. Ritholz, individually, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of eyeglasses, do forthwith cease and desist from—

1. Disseminating, or causing to be disseminated, any advertisement by means of the United States mails, or by any means in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, which advertisement represents, directly or by implication, that the eyeglasses sold by respondents, made pursuant to the results of tests of the eyes using respondents' devices, will correct, or are capable of correcting, defects in vision of persons unless expressly limited to those persons approximately forty years of age and older who do not have astigmatism or diseases of the eye and who require only simple magnifying or reducing lenses.

2. Disseminating, or causing to be disseminated, any advertisement by any means, for the purpose of inducing, or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of their eyeglasses in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, which advertisement contains the representation prohibited in paragraph 1 hereof.

By "Final Order", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order contained in the initial decision.

Issued: January 18, 1957.

TITLE 18—CONSERVATION OF POWER

Chapter I—Federal Power Commission

[Order 172-A; Docket No. R-129]

PART 11—ANNUAL CHARGES

ORDER GRANTING REDUCTION IN ANNUAL ADMINISTRATIVE CHARGES FOR CERTAIN SPECIFIED YEARS

Pursuant to Public Law 278, approved August 15, 1953 (67 Stat. 587), the Commission by its Order No. 172 issued April 28, 1954 amended Part 11 of Subchapter B of its Regulations under the Federal Power Act (18 CFR, Part 11) by the addition of § 11.28 thereunder so as to entitle a State or municipal licensee to a reduction in the amount of the annual charges fixed under a license heretofore or hereafter issued for a major project to the extent of thirty percent of the net amount of the charges assessed for the purpose of reimbursing the United States for the cost of administration of Part I of the Federal Power Act as reduced by any exemption that may be granted pursuant to section 10 (e) of the Act. The amendment was made retroactively effective from and after January 1, 1954.

Subsequently, the Commission granted a rehearing on and stay of its Order No. 172. Pre-hearing conferences before a Commission examiner on the issues involved were held on February 2 and December 4, 1956, in which all parties herein participated, including Commission staff counsel. The conferences resulted in an agreement by all the parties in this proceeding including staff counsel as follows:

(1) It is agreed that the representatives of the licensees which are parties to this proceeding and the Commission's staff recommend that the Commission reduce the annual charges to all State and municipal licensees by 65 percent of the annual charges assessed under such licenses for reimbursing the United States for the costs of administration of Part I of the Federal Power Act for calendar years 1953, 1954, 1955 and 1956, without prejudice to the position to be taken thereafter by any of the parties or by the staff in the future;

(2) It is agreed that it is also recommended that the present proceeding be continued, including the hearing ordered by the Commission, for the purpose of fixing the annual administrative charges to be paid by State and municipal licensees for the calendar years subsequent to the calendar year 1956.

The occasion for the recommendation contained in subparagraph (1) above was the fact that during the years specified State and municipal licensees had not been billed nor had they made remittance of any charges owing for those years for the costs of administration of Part I of the Federal Power Act, and it was felt that some disposition should be made of those obligations without further delay. We believe the agreement to be the most appropriate and practical means of disposing of the matter at this time insofar as past uncollected charges are concerned.

The Commission finds: It is both desirable and in the public interest to adopt the recommendations above set out; to grant the aforementioned reduction of 65 percent with respect to the annual charges assessed under State and municipal licenses for reimbursing the United States for the costs of administration of Part I of the Federal Power Act for the four years involved, and to continue for further hearing the present proceeding for the purpose of fixing the annual administrative charges to be paid by State and municipal licensees for the calendar years subsequent to the calendar year 1956, as hereinafter provided.

The Commission orders:

(A) The annual charges specified in the major licenses issued to all States and municipalities for reimbursing the United States for the costs of administration of Part I of the Federal Power Act for the calendar years 1953, 1954, 1955 and 1956 are reduced by 65 percent, without prejudice to the position to be taken hereafter by any of the parties to this proceeding or by the staff.

(B) This proceeding shall continue including the hearing in progress pursuant to our order issued August 30, 1954, for the purpose of fixing the annual administrative charges to be paid by State and municipal licensees for the calendar years subsequent to the calendar year 1956.

By the Commission.

[Classification Order 519]

CALIFORNIA

SMALL TRACT OPENING

JANUARY 29, 1957.

1. Pursuant to authority delegated to me by the California State Supervisor, Bureau of Land Management, under Part II, document 4, California State Office, dated November 19, 1954 (19 F. R. 7697), I hereby classify the following described public lands totalling 160 acres in San Diego County, California, as suitable for lease and sale for residence purposes under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609; 43 U. S. C. 682a) as amended:

SAN BERNARDINO BASE AND MERIDIAN

T. 15 S., R. 8 E.,
Sec. 19, SW¼.

Containing 160 acres, subdivided into 32 small tracts, of which 20 are covered by applications from persons entitled to preference under 43 CFR 257.5 (a).

2. Classification of the above-described land by this order segregates it from all appropriations, including location under the mining laws, except as to applications under the Small Tract Act and applications under the mineral leasing laws.

3. The land is located in the southwestern part of Carrizo Valley, which lies approximately 38 miles southeast of Julian, California, and approximately the same distance northwest of El Centro, California. A fair graded dirt road, the Imperial Highway, passes through the northeast portion of the land. The major portion of the land is situated on a sandy knoll called Egg Mountain. Its topography is irregular and rolling with steep slopes along the west and east sides and rather gentle to moderate slopes on the north and south lines of the land. Carrizo Creek cuts by the southeast corner of the land.

The soil is gravelly sand to coarse sand, loose in the upper horizon, and the surface is covered by scattered cobbles and boulders. The vegetation is desert shrub type, consisting of creosote bush, sages, cholla cactus, ocotillo, and scattered annual grasses.

Domestic water supply may be obtained from underground sources by drilling of wells. An electric power line passes near the area.

4. The land will be leased and sold in rectangular tracts of 5 acres each, more or less, 330 x 660 feet in size, and described as aliquot parts of the section. The appraised value of each tract is $150, and the advance rental for three years is $30. The tracts will be subject to all existing rights-of-way and to rights-of-way for road purposes and public utilities as described below. Such rights-of-way may be utilized by the Federal or State Governments, or the County or municipality to which it is situated, or by any agency thereof.

33 feet along the interior boundary of the north, south, and west lines of SW¼, the east line of W½W½SW¼, the west line of E½W½SW¼, the east line of W½E½SW¼, and the west line of E½E½SW¼.

All minerals in the land will be reserved to the United States.

5. Leases will be issued for a term of three years and will contain an option to purchase in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13. Lessees who comply with the general terms and conditions of their leases will be permitted to purchase their tracts at the price listed above providing that during the period of their leases they either (a) construct the improvements specified in paragraph 7 or (b) file a copy of an agreement in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13 (d). Leases will be renewable at the discretion of the Bureau of Land Management and the renewal lease will be subject to such terms and conditions as are deemed necessary in the light of the circumstances and the regulations existing at the time of renewal. However, a lease will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvements is justified under the circumstances and nonrenewal would work an extreme hardship on the lessee.

6. Persons who have previously acquired a tract under the Small Tract Act are not qualified to secure a tract at the drawing unless they can make a showing satisfactory to the Bureau of Land Management that the acquisition of another tract is warranted in the circumstances.

7. The improvements referred to in paragraph 5 above must conform with health, sanitation, and construction requirements of local ordinances and must, in addition, meet the following standards:

The residence must be suitable for year-round use, on a permanent foundation and with a minimum of 400 square feet of floor space. It must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive properly finished materials. Adequate disposal and sanitary facilities must be installed. Conventional concrete foundations or concrete slab foundations are acceptable. Concrete piers are not acceptable as foundations.

8. The land is now open to filing of drawing entry cards (Form 4–775) only by persons entitled to veterans' preference. In brief, persons entitled to such preference are (a) honorably discharged veterans who served in the armed forces of the United States for a period of at least 90 days after September 15, 1940, (b) surviving spouse or minor orphan children of such veterans, and (c) with the consent of the veteran, the spouse of living veterans. The 90-day requirement does not aply to veterans who were discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty or the surviving spouse or minor children of veterans killed in the line of duty. Drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) are available upon request from the Manager, Land Office, 5th Floor Bartlett Building, 215 West Seventh Street, Los Angeles 14, California.

Drawing-entry cards will be accepted if filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and with the above-named official prior to 10:00 a. m., June 5, 1957, a drawing will be held on that date or shortly thereafter. Any person who submits more than one card will be declared ineligible to participate in the drawing. Tracts will be assigned to entrants in the order that their names are drawn. All entrants will be notified of the results of the drawing. Successful entrants will be sent copies of the lease forms (Form 4–776), with instructions as to their execution and return and as to payment of fees and rentals.

9. All valid applications filed prior to January 29, 1957, will be granted the preference right provided for by 43 CFR 257.5 (a).

10. Inquiries concerning this land shall be addressed to Manager, Land Office, 5th Floor Bartlett Building, 215 West Seventh Street, Los Angeles 14, California.

Officer in Charge,

For further details see the application for license at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D. C.

Notice is also hereby given that if the Commission issues the construction permit the Commission may without further prior public notice convert the construction permit to Class 104 licenses authorizing operation of the reactors if it is found that the reactors have been constructed in accordance with the specifications contained in the application, as amended, and in conformity with the provisions of the act and of the rules and regulations of the Commission, and in the absence of any good cause being shown to the Commission that the granting of such licenses would not be in accordance with the provisions of the act. Such licenses would be substantially similar to license R–6 issued to Aerojet-General Nucleonics on October 19, 1956, authorizing operation of the AGN–201 reactor which has been designated as Serial No. 100.

Construction permit. Aerojet-General Nucleonics, San Ramon, California, (hereinafter "AGN") on September 11, 1956, filed an application, Docket No. F–32, for Class 104 licenses, defined in § 50.21 of Part 50, Title 10, Chapter I, CFR, to construct and operate three nuclear reactors designated as Model AGN–201, serial numbers 101, 102 and 103. Supplements to the application were filed on October 2, 1956, December 3, 1956 and January 14, 1957. The three reactors will be designated herein as "the reactors."

Based on the information submitted by AGN in its application and supplements thereto, the Atomic Energy Commission (hereinafter "the Commission") has found that—

A. The reactors will be utilization facilities as defined in the Commission's regulations contained in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities."

B. The reactors will be useful in the conduct of research and development activities of the types specified in section 31 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954.

C. AGN is financially qualified to construct and operate the reactors in accordance with the regulations contained in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR.

D. AGN is technically qualified to design and construct the reactors.

E. AGN has submitted sufficient information to provide reasonable assurance that the reactors can be constructed and operated at the proposed location without undue risk to the health and safety of the public.

F. The issuance of a construction permit to AGN will not be inimical to the common defense and security and to the health and safety of the public.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 and Title 10, CFR, Chapter I, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities," the Commission hereby issues a construction permit to AGN to construct the reactors as utilization facilities. This permit shall be deemed to contain and be subject to the conditions specified in §§ 50.54 and 50.55 of said regulations; is subject to all applicable provisions of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 and rules, regulations and orders of the Atomic Energy Commission now or hereafter in effect; and is subject to any additional conditions specified or incorporated below.

1. The earliest and latest completion dates of each reactor shall be as set forth below. The term "completion date" as used herein means the date on which construction of the reactor is completed except for introduction of the fuel material.

AGN Serial No.;	Earliest Completion Date; Latest Completion Date
101;	February 20, 1957; June 15, 1957.
102;	February 20, 1957; June 15, 1957.
103;	February 20, 1957; June 15, 1957.

2. The site proposed for the location of the reactors is the location in San Ramon, Contra Costa County, California, specified in the "Reactor Hazards Evaluation Report and Site Survey for the AGN–201 Nuclear Reactor" submitted by AGN in conjunction with Docket No. F–15.

3. The reactors are self-contained research reactors designed to operate at a power level of 100 milliwatts, using uranium enriched in the isotope uranium 235 as fuel, and designated as AGN–201. The reactors shall be constructed in accordance with the design set forth in the application and documents incorporated therein by reference.

Upon completion (as provided in Paragraph "1" above) of the construction of each facility in accordance with the terms and conditions of this permit, upon the filing of any additional information needed to bring the original application up to date, and upon finding that the facility authorized has been constructed in conformity with the application as amended and in conformity with the provisions of the act and of the rules and regulations of the Commission, and in the absence of any good cause being shown to the Commission why the granting of a license would not be in accordance with the provisions of the act, the Commission will issue a Class 104 license to AGN pursuant to section 104c of the act, which license shall expire 20 years after the date of this construction permit. Separate licenses may be issued upon the completion of each reactor, construction of which is authorized herein.

Dated at Washington, D. C., this 1st day of February 1957.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

Acting Director,
Division of Civilian Application.

MEMORANDUM

PART I—DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPOSED REACTORS

The AGN–201 reactor is a small research reactor designed to operate at a maximum power of 100 milliwatts and corresponding flux of about 4.5×10^4 neutrons per square cm. per sec. The excess reactivity will be limited to 0.19 percent which would yield a minimum period of 15 seconds. The temperature coefficient of reactivity is calculated to be -3.6×10^{-4} per ° C.

The core of the reactor will consist of UO_2 embedded in radiation stabilized polyethylene which serves as the moderator. The uranium is enriched 20 percent in the isotope U-235 and the critical mass will be between 550 and 700 g. U-235. The core will be made up of a series of discs, about 10" dia. and of varying thickness. The top section of the core will contain approximately half of the fuel. There will be a space at the top for core expansion and fission product gas accumulation. The bottom section contains the remaining fuel discs. It is held in place by a supporting mechanism hanging from the fuse link described below. In addition, the bottom section contains the safety and control rod thimbles. The core, including part of the graphite reflector, is enclosed in an aluminum tank which serves as the primary gas-tight container.

The reflector is 20 cm. of high-density graphite on all sides of the core. Holes are provided for safety and control rods, glory hole and the four access ports. The core and reflector are surrounded by a 10 cm. lead shield. Over the top lead shield is a tank which may be filled with water for shielding or with graphite when a thermal column is desired. All of the above components are enclosed in a steel tank which serves as a secondary gas-tight container.

The steel tank is surrounded on all sides by a fast neutron water shield tank which contains boric acid dissolved in water.

There are two safety rods and two control rods. The rods are made of the same UO_2 impregnated polyethylene as used in the core. Thus, reactivity is increased as the rods are inserted into the core. The two safety rods and the coarse control rod when fully loaded control about 1.6 percent reactivity each. The reactivity may be reduced by replacing some of the fuel discs with pure polyethylene discs. The rods are inserted one at a time at the rate of 0.46 cm/sec., corresponding to a reactivity change 3×10^{-4} per second for each safety rod and the coarse control rod. The fine control rod may be driven in at a slower speed.

The safety system is "fail-safe," in that a scram signal or power failure will open the holding magnets allowing the safety and coarse control rods to be accelerated downward and out of the core by both gravity and spring loading. The total withdrawal time is 150 milliseconds. The fine control rod is designed to control too little reactivity to be of practical value in a scram; consequently on receipt of a scram signal it is driven out of the core by its DC reversible motor at the rate of 0.46 cm/sec. When the reactor is shut down all rods are out of the core. Interlocks prevent locking of the safety rods unless the control rods are down, and the control rods cannot be moved in unless the safety rods are cocked (completely inserted in the core).

The fuse is an additional safety feature consisting of polystyrene impregnated with twice as much U-235 per unit volume as the core contains. It supports the bottom half of the reactor core and a section of the reflector. The higher loading density results in a higher rate of heat generation in the fuse than in the core, so that in the event of a power excursion the fuse will melt causing the lower part of the core to drop to the bottom of the core tank.

This separation of the core results in a reduction in reactivity of from 5 to 10 per cent.

The instrumentation comprises three neutron sensitive monitors (two linear and one logarithmic) determining power and flux levels and the period. Sensitrol relays have low and high-level scram contacts which require that the monitors respond to the Ra-Be startup neutron source before the reactor can be put into operation, and which will scram the reactor any time the associated monitors fail to detect neutrons. The logarithmic monitor is equipped with a differentiating circuit; if the period is less than about three seconds, a fourth Sensitrol relay is tripped, scramming the reactor. The reactor is equipped with an earthquake scram assembly. Scrams also result from low water level, low water temperature or power failure.

The core and reactor tanks will be tested prior to loading for adequate gas-tightness by the halogen-type leak detecting method.

PART II—HAZARDS EVALUATION

The AGN–201 reactor operates at 100 milliwatts. Consequently, there will be an insignificant inventory of fission products in the reactor. Substantially all of the fission products that are produced will be retained in the solid core materials even in the event of the accident described below. However, some of the gaseous fission products may diffuse out of the UO_2–polyethylene matrix, but these will be retained in the sealed aluminum primary container which, in turn, is surrounded by the steel secondary container.

The temperature coefficient of reactivity was calculated by the applicant to be -3.6×10^{-4} per ° C. They also calculated that heat would flow rapidly from the UO_2 particles into the polyethylene. If 2 percent reactivity were inserted instantaneously (which seems impossible since only 0.2 percent is ever available above cold clean critical) into the reactor, it is stated by the applicant that the period would be about 10 milliseconds. These calculations are reasonable for a reactor of this design.

The applicant's calculations further show that the resultant power excursion of 1.7 MW-seconds would be terminated in about 204 milliseconds and would be self-limiting because of core expansion due to temperature rise. The temperature would rise about 110° C. at the center of the core, and the average temperature of the core would rise about 71° C. Polyethylene does not melt below 200° C. We agree that such a postulated accident is unlikely, and that in the event of such an accident, it is expected that the fission products would be kept within the core and primary and secondary containers.

The safety features of the control system and instrumentation, including the safety fuse system, are designed to shut down the reactor in the event of malfunction of equipment or personnel error.

We agree with the applicant's statement that normally, personnel next to the reactor (operating at 100 milliwatts) will receive a maximum gamma dose of about 0.2 millirem per hour or 8 mr/week. Even in the event of the highly improbable 1.7 MW-second accident described above, the total dose to a person standing next to the reactor would be about 1 rem.

For an extreme case such as a combined scram circuit failure, loss of shield water and the 1.7 MW-second excursion, a person next to the reactor would receive an exposure of about 200–300 rem of fast neutrons. Although an exposure of this magnitude would be received, this accident is due to the compounding of so many very slightly probable events that it is, in our opinion, barely conceivable. In view of these considerations we believe that the reactor should present no unacceptable hazard to operating personnel or to the public either during normal operation or during a conceivable accident.

Summary. Important safety features of the reactor include the low power (100 milliwatts) of the reactor and insignificant fission product inventory, the small (0.19 percent) excess reactivity, strong negative temperature coeficient (-3.6×10^{-4}), adequate containment, well-planned control system and instrumentation, and acceptable hazards relative to the maximum credible accident.

It may be concluded that there is reasonable assurance that the AGN-201 reactor as designed can be constructed and operated at the proposed San Ramon, California, site without undue risk to the health and safety of the public.

In arriving at this conclusion, cognizance has been taken of the fact that an AGN Model 201 reactor, Serial No. 100, has been operated without incident by AGN pursuant to License R-6 issued October 19, 1956.

Operational tests on this reactor have proven the validity of preliminary calculations, shown that the control mechanisms function as described, and that the shielding attenuates the radiation from the core to within the tolerance set out in 10 CFR Part 20.

TECHNICAL QUALIFICATIONS

AGN has expanded its technical staff from that available to it at the time of its application in Docket No. F-15 for authorization to construct the AGN-201 reactor presently operated by it pursuant to License R-6. It now employs over forty personnel including some eighteen with technical degrees, one being a PhD and eleven others having Masters degrees. Of those having Masters degrees, five have majored in reactor engineering. Eight other of its employees have been trained in reactor engineering.

FINANCIAL QUALIFICATIONS OF APPLICANT

AGN is a subsidiary of Aerojet-General Corporation (AGC) which in turn is a subsidiary of The General Tire & Rubber Company. AGC has assumed financial responsibility for the production of the three AGN-201 type nuclear reactors, serial numbers 101, 102 and 103. Upon the basis of the evidence in these proceedings, including the assumption of financial responsibility by AGC, it has been concluded that AGN is financially qualified to carry out the proposed activities in accordance with the requirements of the Commission regulations.

PART V—CONCLUSIONS

Based on the above considerations, it is concluded that—

a. There is reasonable assurance that the facilities proposed can be constructed and operated at the proposed site without undue risk to the health and safety of the public.

b. The applicant is technically and financially qualified to engage in the proposed activities.

COLORADO-WYOMING GAS CO.

ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED REVISED TARIFF SHEETS AND PROVIDING HEARING

On January 2, 1957, Colorado-Wyoming Gas Company (Colorado-Wyoming) tendered for filing Sixth Revised Sheet No. 4 and Fifth Revised Sheet No. 7 [1] of Colorado-Wyoming's FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1, and proposed an effective date of February 1, 1957, for such proposed changes in its tariff which would increase its rates on jurisdictional business in the amount of approximately $783,000.

In support of such proposed increased rates, Colorado-Wyoming states, among other reasons, that it purchases 99 percent of its gas from Colorado Interstate Gas Company, which, on December 17, 1956, filed a proposed increase in rates which will materially affect Colorado-Wyoming's cost of gas. This item alone is represented to constitute more than three-fourths of Colorado-Wyoming's entire cost of service. In addition, Colorado-Wyoming states that it has sustained an increase in material and labor costs, as well as an increase in cost of money. The statistical support submitted by Colorado-Wyoming reflects the incurrence of additional debt during 1956 of $950,000, at 4 percent interest, owing to Public Service Company of Colorado, which owns 100 percent of the stock of Colorado-Wyoming. Approximately 86 percent of total jurisdictional sales of gas made by Colorado-Wyoming are to Public Service Company of Colorado and another subsidiary of the latter, Cheyenne Light, Fuel and Power Company, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Colorado-Wyoming requests the allowance of a 6¾ percent rate of return but adds that: "If it becomes necessary to take a position relative to rate of return in any hearings in respect of this matter, * * * (Colorado-Wyoming) respectfully reserves the right to request and support a higher figure." In addition to the foregoing items, Colorado-Wyoming proposes changes in previously adopted methods of determining cost allocation, working capital, plant account and depreciation.

The increased rates and charges proposed in Sixth Revised Sheet No. 4 and Fifth Revised Sheet No. 7 of Colorado-Wyoming's FPC Gas Tariff have not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of such act, concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges, classifications, and services of Colorado-Wyoming's FPC Gas Tariffs and contracts related thereto, as proposed to be amended by Sixth Revised Sheet No. 4 and Fifth Revised Sheet No. 7, and that said proposed Sixth Revised Sheet No. 4 be suspended as hereinafter ordered and the use thereof be deferred pending hearing and decision thereon, except as they may become effective as provided by the Natural Gas Act.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held, at a date later to be designated by notice from the Secretary of the Commission, in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges, classifications, and services contained in Colorado-Wyoming Gas Company's FPC Gas Tariffs, and contracts related thereto, as proposed to be amended by Sixth Revised Sheet No. 4 and Fifth Revised Sheet No. 7.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Colorado-Wyoming Gas Company's proposed Sixth Revised Sheet No. 4 to its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1, is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until July 1, 1957, and until such further time as it may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Interested State Commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

WARREN PETROLEUM CORP. ET AL.

ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

Warren Petroleum Corporation (Operator) et al., (Warren) on December 31, 1956, submitted for filing a proposed change in rate schedule for a sale of natural gas, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change is contained in the following filing:

Description: Notice of change dated December 27, 1956.

Purchaser: Mississippi River Fuel Corporation.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 6 to Warren's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1.

Effective date: [1] January 31, 1957.

In support of the increased rate, Warren states that the increase is a result of arms length bargaining; it is an inseparable part of the contract and is necessary to protect the sellers against the diminishing purchasing power of the dollar. Warren also submitted two costs of service studies for the year ended June 30, 1956, including a 9 percent return. One study excludes the gas volumes and costs attributable to royalty interest and the other study includes royalty volumes and costs.

The increased rates and charges proposed in the aforesaid filing have not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that the above-designated supplement be suspended and the use thereof deferred, as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's general rules and regulations (18 CFR, Chapter I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary, concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 6 to Warren's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1; and, pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be, and it is hereby suspended, and the use thereof deferred until February 1, 1957 and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(B) Neither the supplement hereby suspended, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of, or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(C) Interested state commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO.

ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

Phillips Petroleum Company (Phillips) on January 3, 1957, tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for sales subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of change, dated January 2, 1957.

Purchaser: Permian Basin Pipe Line Company.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 21 to Phillips' FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 18.

Effective Date: [1] February 8, 1957.

In support of the proposed increase, Phillips states that it is part of the arms length bargained-for contract, and that it is unfair to deny the proposed increase during the later life of the gas sales contract after having previously delivered gas at an earlier lower price. Phillips further states that it has an overall deficiency in revenues from gas sales operations and that only by the procedure of applications for increases in rates, in accordance with the Mobile case, 350 U. S. 332, can this deficiency be overcome.

The increased rate and charge proposed in the aforesaid filing has not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that the above-designated supplement be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules and regulations (18 CFR, Chapter I) a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of said proposed change in rates and charges; and pending such hearing and decision thereon, the above-designated supplement be and the same hereby is suspended and the use thereof deferred until July 8, 1957, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner presented by the Natural Gas Act.

(B) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of, or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

Description: Notice of Change dated January 2, 1957.

Purchaser: Texas Gas Transmission Corporation.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 6 to Atlantic's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 57.

Effective date: [1] February 15, 1957.

Atlantic's proposed rate change is based on a favored-nations clause in its contract with Texas Gas which, by its terms, would be operative on the date on which Union Oil and Gas Corporation of Louisiana commences collection of increased rates under its contract with Texas Gas (see order issued December 7, 1956, in Docket No. G–11563 which suspends Union's proposed increase to February 15, 1957, and thereafter until made effective in accordance with the Natural Gas Act). Atlantic urges that, if its proposed increase is suspended, that the suspension period be less than the permissible period of five months.

The increased rate and charge so proposed has not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest, and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed increased rate and charge, and that the above-designated supplement be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

SUPERIOR OIL CO. ET AL.

Superior Oil Company (Operator), et al. Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 6 to Superior's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 13.

Effective date:[1] February 15, 1957.

Superior's proposed rate change is based on a favored-nations clause in its contract with Texas Gas which, by its terms, will be operative on the date on which Union Oil and Gas Corporation of Louisiana commences collection of increased rates under its contract with Texas Gas (see order issued December 7, 1956, in Docket No. G–11563 which suspends Union's proposed increase from January 1 to February 15, 1957).

GEORGE C. MCGHEE ET AL.

ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

George C. McGhee (Operator), et al. (McGhee); on January 2, 1957, tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for a sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of change dated January 2, 1957.

Purchaser: Texas Gas Transmission Corporation.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 4 to McGhee's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1.

Effective date:[1] February 2, 1957.

McGhee's proposed rate change is based on a favored-nations clause in its contract with Texas Gas which, by its terms, has purportedly become operative by the rate for a new sale to Texas Gas by Gulf Refining Company of natural gas produced in the South Bell City Field, Calcasieu Parish, Louisiana.

The increased rate and charge so proposed has not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest, and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed increased rate and charge, and that the above-designated supplement be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's general rules and regulations thereunder (18 CFR, Chapter I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of said proposed increased rate and charge; and pending such hearing and decision thereon, the above-designated supplement be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until July 2, 1957, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(B) Neither the supplement hereby suspended, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(C) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

Issued: January 31, 1957.

By the Commission.

No purchase will be made by any of the Applicants from Clark, Dodge & Co., but in the event that purchases are made from the managing underwriter selling for group account, sales made to the Applicants by such managing underwriter may accrue to the benefit of Clark, Dodge & Co. in proportion to its participation in the group.

Tri-Continental, which presently owns 52,000 shares of Common Stock of Phillips, and Broad Street, which presently owns 12,000 shares of Common Stock of Phillips, may respectively determine to exercise the Rights which will be issued to them as stockholders. The exercise of these Rights which would result in Tri-Continental acquiring an additional $260,000 principal amount of Debentures and Broad Street acquiring an additional $60,000 principal amount of Debentures, are exempt from the prohibition of section 10 (f), referred to hereinafter, pursuant to Rule N-10F-2.

Section 10 (f) of the act provides, among other things, that no registered investment company shall knowingly purchase or otherwise acquire, during the existence of any underwriting or selling syndicate, any security (except a security of which such company is the issuer) a principal underwriter of which is an officer or director of such registered company or is a person of which any such officer or director is an affiliated person. The Commission may exempt a transaction from this prohibition if and to the extent that such exemption is consistent with the protection of investors. Since a partner of Clark, Dodge & Co., a participant in the underwriting group, is a director of each of the Applicants, the proposed purchase is prohibited by the provisions of section 10 (f) unless the Commission finds that the proposed acquisition of securities is consistent with the protection of investors.

Section 17 (a) of the act, among other things, prohibits an affiliated person of a registered investment company, or any affiliated person of such a person, from selling to such registered investment company any security or property, subject to certain exceptions not pertinent here. The Commission upon application pursuant to section 17 (b) may grant an exemption from the prohibitions of section 17 (a) if it finds that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned, that the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of the registered investment company concerned, as recited in its registration statement and reports filed under the act, and is consistent with the general purposes of the act. Since purchases may be made from the managing underwriter which purchases may accrue to the benefit of Clark, Dodge & Co., the transactions in this respect would come within the prohibitions of section 17 (a) unless an exemption therefrom is granted pursuant to section 17 (b).

The decision by each Applicant to purchase any of the Debentures, if made, will be based upon the opinion of the management of such Applicant that the purchase of such Debentures at the price or prices then existing, will constitute a good investment for such Applicant. The application also states that the requested exemption is consistent with Applicants' investment policies and with the protection of investors; that the terms of the proposed transactions, including the consideration to be paid and received are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned; and that the proposed transactions are consistent with the general purposes of the act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 13, 1957, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

By the Commission.

URAINBOW, INC.

ORDER TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JANUARY 31, 1957.

I. Urainbow, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "issuer"), 908 Kearns Building, Salt Lake City, Utah, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder, filed with the Commission on August 31, 1954, a notification on Form 1-A and an offering circular, and subsequently filed amendments, relating to a proposed offering of 2,000,000 shares of 2 cents par value common stock at 15 cents per share.

II. The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that the terms and conditions of Regulation A have not been complied with in that:

A. The issuer failed to file a report on Form 2-A within the time period required by Rule 224 of Regulation A.

B. The notification and offering circular contain untrue statements of material facts and omit to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading in that:

1. The address appearing on the issuer's offering circular is no longer accurate.

2. Mr. N. J. Nielson, listed as a member of the Board of Directors in the offering circular, is deceased and has been replaced by Mr. Barney Amundson.

3. The offering circular fails to indicate that the underwriting agreement between the issuer and the Austin B. Smith Brokerage Co. was terminated on or about December 15, 1954.

4. Item 3 of the notification states that the issuer issued and sold 3,971,125 shares of its unregistered common stock within one year prior to the date of filing the notification to persons who had agreed to take the stock for investment purposes and not for purposes of resale or distribution, whereas Messrs. Val S. Scoville, Secretary-Treasurer of the issuer, and N. J. Nielson distributed a large portion of their stock within a short period of time after the acquisition of such stock and prior to the date the notification was filed.

5. The offering circular discloses that the issuer has a lease on fourteen unpatented lode mining claims located in Mohave County, Arizona, entitled the "Hack Canyon Property," whereas the lease has been terminated by the lessors and the issuer no longer has such property.

6. The offering circular fails to disclose that the issuer was in litigation over the validity of the lease on the Hack Canyon property for many months.

C. The use of the offering circular without disclosure of the aforementioned facts would and did operate as a fraud and deceit upon the purchasers of such securities.

III. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is temporarily suspended.

Notice is hereby given that any person having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for a hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of suspension should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place of said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

By the Commission.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 945—TOMATOES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 945.302 Limitation of shipments—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (7 CFR Part 945), regulating the handling of tomatoes grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Florida Tomato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001, et seq.) in that: The time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient because the handling of tomatoes grown in the production area is in progress. More orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the handling of tomatoes in the manner set forth below on and after the effective date of this section. Compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date. Reasonable time is permitted under the circumstances for such preparation. The Florida Tomato Committee held an open meeting on January 31, 1957, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Florida tomatoes and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held. The provisions of this section, including its effective time, are those recommended by the committee. Information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such tomatoes.

(b) Order. (1) During the period from February 7, 1957, through March 9, 1957, no person shall handle for shipment outside the production area:

(i) Any tomatoes which are "turning" or of greater maturity unless such tomatoes are of a diameter greater than 2⅛ inches (size 7x7 and larger), and meet the requirements of 85 percent U. S. No. 1, or better, grade; or

(ii) Any tomatoes which are of less maturity than "turning" unless such tomatoes are of a diameter greater than 2⅛ inches (size 7 x 7 and larger) and meet the requirements of U. S. Combination, or better, grade except that tomatoes of less maturity than "turning" which are of a diameter greater than 2$^{26}/_{32}$ inches (size 6 x 7 and larger) may be handled if they meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2, or better, grade.

(2) During the period from February 7, 1957, through March 9, 1957, no person shall handle for shipment outside the production area:

(i) Any tomatoes which are "turning" or of greater maturity unless such tomatoes are shipped in 8-pound or less, 10-pound, or 20-pound containers, the one-half field crate, or the 60-pound field box; and

(ii) Any tomatoes which are of a lesser maturity than "turning" unless such tomatoes are shipped in a 30-pound container or in any of the containers set forth in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph.

(3) During the period from February 7, 1957, through June 30, 1957, no person shall handle for shipment outside the

(5) During the period February 7, 1957, through June 30, 1957, no person shall handle for shipment outside the production area any tomatoes unless such tomatoes are inspected and certified pursuant to the provisions of § 945.60.

(6) For purposes of this section, § 945.140, relating to truck shipments of tomatoes grown in Florida, issued May 2, 1956, and effective May 5, 1956 (21 F. R. 3000), shall continue in effect. The said rule is as follows: "In case of the transportation by truck outside of the production area of any tomatoes which are required to be inspected and certified as complying with any applicable requirements under this part, such tomatoes shall be accompanied by, and made available for examination at any time upon request, a copy of the appropriate inspection certificate or a copy of the appropriate transfer clearance receipt (Form FV-418) issued by the Federal-State Inspection Service, the official inspection agency for this program, showing that such tomatoes have been so inspected and certified."

(7) For purposes of this section, each person subject thereto may handle, pursuant to § 945.53, up to, but not to exceed 300 pounds of tomatoes per day without regard to the requirements of this part, but this exception shall not apply to any portion of a shipment of over 300 pounds of tomatoes.

(8) For purposes of this section, any lot of tomatoes containing more than ten (10) percent of "turning" tomatoes shall be classified as "turning" tomatoes.

AUTHORITY: §§ 52.3481 to 52.3490 issued under sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090, as amended, 7 U. S. C. 1624.

[1] Compliance with these standards does not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION, AND GRADES

§ 52.3481 Product description. "Concentrated grapefruit juice for manufacturing" is the concentrated product obtained from sound, mature grapefruit (Citrus paradisi). The fruit is prepared by sorting and by washing prior to extraction of the juice and the extracted juice is concentrated. The concentrated grapefruit juice is processed in accordance with good commercial practice; and may or may not require processing by heat, subsequent refrigeration, or freezing to assure preservation of the product but is not the product known as "frozen concentrated grapefruit juice." The finished product does not contain any additives except that cold-pressed oil to standardize flavor and chemical preservatives permissible under provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act may have been added.

(a) The Brix value of the finished concentrate shall comply with the following for the dilution factors indicated:

Dilution factor	Brix value of the finished concentrate
	Minimum Brix value	Maximum Brix value
	Degrees	Degrees
1 plus 3	37.5	40.1
1 plus 4	44.5	46.2

(b) Concentrated grapefruit juice for manufacturing of other dilution factors than "1 plus 3" to "1 plus 6," as indicated in paragraph (a) of this section, shall result in a Brix (upon reconstitution as prescribed by the processor or as prescribed by the label on the container, if labeled) of not less than 10.5 degrees.

§ 52.3482 Grades of concentrated grapefruit juice for manufacturing. (a) "U. S. Grade A for Manufacturing" or "U. S. Fancy for Manufacturing" is the quality of concentrated grapefruit juice which shows no material gelation, reconstitutes properly, and of which the reconstituted juice possesses a reasonably good color; is practically free from defects; possesses a reasonably good flavor; and scores not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(b) "U. S. Grade C for Manufacturing" or "U. S. Standard for Manufacturing" is the quality of concentrated grapefruit juice which shows no serious gelation, reconstitutes properly, and of which the reconstituted juice possesses a fairly good color; is fairly free from defects; possesses a fairly good flavor; and scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(c) "Substandard for Manufacturing" is the quality of concentrated grapefruit juice that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade C for Manufacturing or U. S. Standard for Manufacturing.

FILL OF CONTAINER

§ 52.3483 Recommended fill of container. The recommended fill of container is not incorporated in the grades of the finished product since fill of container, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purposes of these grades. It is recommended that each container be filled with concentrated grapefruit juice as full as practicable without impairment of quality.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.3484 Ascertaining the grade—(a) General. The grade of concentrated grapefruit juice for manufacturing is ascertained by examining the concentrate and the reconstituted juice; and in addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards, the following quality factors are evaluated:

(1) Factors not rated by score points.
(i) Degree of gelation.
(ii) Faculty of reconstituting properly.

(2) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

Factors:	Points
Color	20
Defects	40
Flavor	40
Total score	100

§ 52.3485 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive. (For example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points.)

§ 52.3486 Color—(a) (A-Mfg.) classification. Concentrated grapefruit juice of which the reconstituted juice possesses a reasonably good color may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Reasonably good color" means that the color is reasonably bright and typical of properly processed and properly concentrated grapefruit juice and is practically free from browning due to scorching, oxidation, caramelization, or other causes.

(b) (C-Mfg.) classification. If the reconstituted juice possesses a fairly good color a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Concentrated grapefruit juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C for Manufacturing or U. S. Standard for Manufacturing, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good color" means that the color may be only fairly bright and is typical of concentrated grapefruit juice that is reasonably free from browning due to scorching, oxidation, caramelization, or other causes.

(c) (SStd-Mfg.) classification. Concentrated grapefruit juice that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard for Manufacturing, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.3487 Defects—(a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from juice cells and pulp and from seeds or portions thereof, dark specks, and other defects in the reconstituted juice.

(b) (A-Mfg.) classification. Concentrated grapefruit juice of which the reconstituted juice is practicaly free from defects may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Practically free from defects" means that there may be present:

(1) Juice cells only in such amounts as do not materially detract from the appearance or drinking quality of the juice;

(2) Not more than 10 percent free and suspended pulp;

(3) Practically no seeds or portions thereof that could not pass readily through round perforations of ⅛ inch in diameter;

(4) Only such small seeds or portions thereof that could pass through round perforations of ⅛ inch in diameter as do not materially detract from the appearance or drinking quality of the juice; and

(5) Other defects that are not more than slightly objectionable.

(c) (C-Mfg.) classification. If the reconstituted juice is fairly free from defects a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Concentrated grapefruit juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly free from defects" means that there may be present:

(1) Juice cells only in such amounts as do not seriously detract from the appearance or drinking quality of the juice;

(2) Not more than 12 percent free and suspended pulp;

(3) Practically no seeds or portions thereof that could not pass readily through round perforations of ⅛ inch in diameter;

(4) Only such small seeds or portions thereof that could pass through round perforations of ⅛ inch in diameter as do not seriously detract from the appearance or drinking quality of the juice; and

(5) Other defects that are not materially objectionable.

(d) (SStd-Mfg.) classification. Concentrated grapefruit juice that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.3488 Flavor—(a) (A-Mfg.) classification. Concentrated grapefruit juice of which the reconstituted juice possesses a reasonably good flavor may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Reasonably good flavor" means that the flavor is typical of reconstituted concentrated grapefruit juice from properly processed and concentrated grapefruit juice; is practically free from traces of scorching, caramelization, oxidation, or terpene; and is free from off-flavors of any kind. To score in this classification the ratio of the Brix value to acid shall be not less than 5.5 to 1.

(b) (C-Mfg.) classification. If the reconstituted juice possesses a fairly good flavor a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Concentrated grapefruit juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C for Manufacturing or U. S. Standard for Manufacturing, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good flavor" means a normal flavor for reconstituted concentrated grapefruit juice, which flavor may be slightly caramelized or slightly oxidized or may possess traces of terpene, but is free from off-flavors of any kind. To score in this classification the ratio of the Brix value to acid shall be not less than 5 to 1.

(c) (SStd-Mfg.) classification. If the concentrated grapefruit juice fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section a score of 0 to 27 points may be given. Concentrated grapefruit juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above Substandard for Manufacturing, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

EXPLANATIONS AND METHODS OF ANALYSES

§ 52.3489 Explanation of terms and analyses—(a) Reconstituted juice. "Reconstituted juice" means the product obtained by mixing thoroughly one part by volume of the concentrated grapefruit juice with a stated volume of water. For example, a dilution factor of "1 plus 6" means that to one part by volume of concentrated grapefruit juice 6 parts by volume of water are added to produce a reconstituted juice. In the absence of any declared dilution factor the product is diluted with water to a Brix of between 10.5 and 11.5 degrees. Distilled water is used in reconstituting the product for testing flavor.

(b) Reconstitutes properly. "Reconstitutes properly" means that the concentrate goes into solution readily; and that in approximately 250 ml. of the reconstituted juice, after standing four (4) hours at a temperature of not less than 68 degrees Fahrenheit in a clear glass cylinder (approximately 1¼ inches in diameter), there may be a noticeable separation of suspended matter but any resulting zone of greater clarity shall be definitely turbid and not clear or transparent.

(c) Acid. "Acid" means the percent by weight of total acidity, calculated as anhydrous citric acid. Total acidity is determined by titration with standard sodium hydroxide solution, using phenolphthalein as indicator.

(d) Brix value. "Brix value" is the refractometric sucrose value determined on the thawed concentrate in accordance with the refractometric method for sugars and sugar products, outlined in the "Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists," and to which the applicable correction for acid is added:

TABLE I—CORRECTIONS FOR OBTAINING BRIX VALUE [1]

(e) Free and suspended pulp. "Free and suspended pulp" means particles of membrane, core, peel and other similar extraneous material that settle out on centrifuging by the following method:

(1) Skim floating fruit cells and pulp from the sample of reconstituted juice, and

(2) Fill graduated centrifuge tubes, of a capacity of 50 ml., with the skimmed reconstituted grapefruit juice and place in a suitable centrifuge. Adjust the speed according to diameter, as indicated in Table II, and centrifuge for exactly 10 minutes. As used herein, "diameter" means the overall distance between the bottoms of opposing centrifuge tubes in operating position. After centrifuging, the milliliter reading at the top of the layer of pulp in the tube is multiplied by 2 to give the percentage of pulp.

1. At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of January 1957;

2. The Commission has before it for consideration a request for a 30-day extension of time in which to file comments in this proceeding. In support of their request petitioners assert that the proposal to delete § 3.182 (c) of the rules has legal engineering and public interest ramifications; that at least 50 or 60 Class III stations presently provide "primary service" beyond their "normally protected" 2.5 and 4.0 mv/m contours; that they have reason to believe that in some instances such stations may provide the only "primary" nighttime service to a given area and that the proposed deletion of § 3.182 (c) raises a serious question whether such stations would have standing to develop pertinent facts in an evidentiary hearing. Petitioners further assert that in order that comments filed in this proceeding may be supported by competent engineering studies additional time is needed to prepare appropriate data.

3. The Commission has concluded that the public interest would be served by extending the time for filing reply comments in the above-entitled proceeding.

4. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the time for filing comments in the above-entitled proceeding is extended from February 1, 1957 to March 4, 1957 and the time for filing reply comments is extended to March 15, 1957.

Released: February 4, 1957.

Plat of survey accepted April 22, 1955.

The above described land is an island in the Powder River in eastern Montana, approximately 25 miles above the mouth of the river. It was not included when the original survey was made for this township. The island supports a good stand of native grasses and cottonwood trees, and is used for winter grazing and feeding area for local ranches. The island has no agricultural value, due to its periodic flooding and dissected surface.

T. 21 N., R. 58 E.,
Sec. 26: Lot 7;
Sec. 27: Lots 7 and 8.
Area surveyed: 82.71 acres.
Plat of survey accepted April 22, 1955.

The above described land is an island in the Yellowstone River approximately eight miles southwest of Sidney, Montana. It was omitted from the original survey for this township. This island has a dissected surface and supports a heavy stand of brush and cottonwood trees. It does not have an agricultural value due to these surface characteristics and the difficult access presented by the island's location in the middle of the river. It has no recreational value due to lack of demand and dangerous access. It is now used for grazing.

T. 1 S., R. 26 E.,
Sec. 2: Lot 12;
Sec. 11: Lots 9 and 10.
Area surveyed: 55.92 acres.
Plat of survey accepted September 21, 1955.

The above described land is an island in the Yellowstone River, opposite Josephine Park in Billings, Montana. The island was not included in the original survey of this township. It is now covered with a heavy growth of cottonwood trees and brush and is used for grazing purposes. The island is subject to flooding and due to this flooding tendency and difficult access presented by the river, the land has no value for industrial or agricultural purposes. It is not suitable for recreational use due to its dangerous access. The island is used for grazing during periods of low water when the island is accessible to livestock.

No application for these lands will be allowed under the homestead, desert-land small-tract, or any other nonmineral public-land law, unless the lands have already been classified as valuable, or suitable for such type of application, or shall be so classified upon consideration of an application. Any application that is filed will be considered on its merits. The lands will not be subject to occupancy or disposition until they have been classified.

Subject to any existing valid rights and the requirements of applicable law, the lands in the foregoing townships are hereby opened for filing of applications in accordance with the following:

a. Applications under the non-mineral public land laws may be presented to the Manager mentioned below, beginning on the date of this order. Such applications will be considered as filed on the hour and respective dates shown for the various classes enumerated in the following paragraphs:

2. All valid applications under the Homestead, Desert Land, and Small Tract Laws by qualified veterans of World War II or of the Korean conflict, and others entitled to preference rights under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279–284 as amended), presented prior to 10:00 a. m. on March 7, 1957 will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. Rights under such preference right applications filed after that hour and before 10:00 a. m. June 6, 1957 will be governed by the time of filing.

3. All valid applications under the nonmineral public land laws, other than those coming under paragraphs (1) and (2) above, presented prior to 10:00 a. m. on June 6, 1957, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION ORDER

JANUARY 31, 1957.

1. Pursuant to authority delegated to me by the California State Supervisor, Bureau of Land Management, under Part II, document 4, California State Office, dated November 19, 1954 (19 F. R. 7697), I hereby classify under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, as amended (43 U. S. C. 682a), the tracts of public land in Butte County, California, described below, for lease and sale for residence purposes only:

T. 20 N., R. 6 E., M. D. M.,
Sec. 29, S½N½.

The lands comprise 64 small tracts and contain a total of 160 acres. Seven applications from persons entitled to preference under 43 CFR 257.5 (a) have been filed on the land.

2. Classification of the above-described lands by this order segregates them from all appropriations, including location under the mining laws, except as to application under the Small Tract Act and applications under the mineral leasing laws.

3. The lands are accessible from Feather Falls via asphalt-paved road which passes through the SW¼NE¼. Several dirt roads also pass through the lands. The lands are located approximately 3 miles southwest of Feather Falls and 20 miles northeast of Oroville.

The lands involved are moderately sloping to rolling. The elevation ranges from 1,750 to 2,250 feet above sea level.

The vegetation consists of an interspersion of scattered young timber, live and black oak woodland and ceanothus-manzanita brush.

There are two or three small springs on the land and domestic water could be developed easily from wells.

4. The lands will be leased and sold in tracts of 2½ acres each, more or less, approximately 330 x 330 feet in size, and described as aliquot parts of the section. The tracts will be subject to all existing rights-of-way. Rights-of-way, 50 feet in width, for street and road purposes and for public utilities will be reserved along the north boundaries of the S½S½S½N½ and S½N½S½N½. All minerals in the lands will be reserved to the United States.

5. Leases will be issued to qualified applicants for a term of three (3) years and will contain an option to purchase in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13. The appraised value of the tracts is $200.00 each. The annual rental is $10.00 per tract, payable in advance for the full lease period. Lessees who comply with the general terms and conditions of their leases will be permitted to purchase their tracts at the price indicated above providing that during the period of their leases they either (a) construct the improvements specified in paragraph 7 or (b) file a copy of an agreement in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13 (d). Leases will be renewable at the discretion of the Bureau of Land Management and the renewal lease will be subject to such terms and conditions as are deemed necessary in the light of the circumstances and the regulations existing at the time of renewal. However, a lease will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvements is justified under the circumstances and nonrenewal would work an extreme hardship on the lessee.

6. Persons who have previously acquired a tract under the Small Tract Act are not qualified to secure a tract at the drawing unless they can make a showing satisfactory to the Bureau of Land Management that the acquisition of another tract is warranted in the circumstances.

7. The improvements referred to in paragraph 5 above must conform with health, sanitation, and construction requirements of local ordinances and must, in addition, meet the following standards:

The dwelling house must be suitable for year-round use, on a permanent foundation and with a minimum of 400 square feet of floor space. It must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive materials properly finished. Adequate disposal and sanitary facilities must be installed. Conventional concrete cement slab, or masonry foundations are acceptable. Concrete piers are not acceptable as foundations.

8. The lands are now open to filing of drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) only by persons entitled to veterans' preference. In brief, persons entitled to such preference are (a) honorably discharged veterans who served in the armed forces of the United States for a period of at least 90 days after September 15, 1940, (b) surviving spouse or minor orphan children of such veterans, and (c) with the consent of the veteran, the spouse of living veterans. The 90-day requirement does not apply to veterans who were discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty or the surviving spouse or minor children of veterans killed in the line of duty. Drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) are available upon request from the Manager, Land Office, California Fruit Building, Room 1000, 4th and J Streets, Sacramento 14, California.

Drawing-entry cards will be accepted if filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and with the above-named official prior to 10:00 a. m., June 7, 1957. A drawing will be held on that date or shortly thereafter. Any person who submits more than one card will be declared ineligible to participate in the drawing. Tracts will be assigned to entrants in the order that their names are drawn. All entrants will be notified of the results of the drawing. Successful entrants will be sent copies of the lease forms (Form 4–776), with instructions as to their execution and return and as to payment of fees and rentals.

9. All valid applications filed prior to January 31, 1957, will be granted the preference right provided for by 43 CFR 257.5 (a).

10. Inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to Manager, Land Office, California Fruit Building, Room 1000, 4th and J Streets, Sacramento 14, California.

JEAN M. F. DUBOIS,
Acting Officer in Charge,
Northern Field Group,
Sacramento, California.

ORDER OF REVOCATION

NOVEMBER 10, 1955.

Pursuant to the authority delegated by Departmental Order No. 2765 of July 30, 1954 (19 F. R. 5004), I hereby revoke Departmental Order of December 10, 1920, insofar as said order affects the following described lands: Provided, however, That such revocation shall not affect the withdrawal of any other lands by said order or affect any other orders withdrawing or reserving the lands hereinafter described:

MOUNT DIABLO MERIDIAN, NEVADA

T. 19 N., R. 20 E.,
Sec. 12: N½, N½S½ and SE¼SE¼.

The above areas aggregate 520.00 acres.

(Sgd.) E. G. NIELSEN,
Assistant Commissioner.

[70175]

FEBRUARY 1, 1957.

I concur. The records of the Bureau of Land Management will be noted accordingly.

The lands are located in the vicinity of Reno, Nevada. The topography is extremely rough and mountainous containing numerous rocks of assorted sizes and is entirely unsuitable for agricultural purposes. They have a very sparse vegetative cover consisting chiefly of cheat grass and annual weeds. The lands are within Nevada Grazing District No. 3.

No application for the lands may be allowed under the homestead, desert-land, small tract, or any other nonmineral public-land law unless the lands have already been classified as valuable or suitable for such type of application, or shall be so classified upon the consideration of an application. Any application that is filed will be considered on its merits. The lands will not be subject to occupancy or disposition until they have been classified.

Subject to any valid existing rights and the requirements of applicable law, the lands are hereby opened to filing of applications, selections, and locations in accordance with the following:

a. Applications and selections under the nonmineral public-land laws may be presented to the Manager mentioned below, beginning on the date of this order. Such applications and selections will be considered as filed on the hour and respective dates shown for the various classes enumerated in the following paragraphs:

(1) Applications by persons having prior existing valid settlement rights, preference rights conferred by existing laws, or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation will be adjudicated on the facts presented in support of each claim or right. All applications presented by persons other than those referred to in this paragraph will be subject to the applications and claims mentioned in this paragraph.

(2) All valid applications under the Homestead, Desert Land, and Small Tract Laws by qualified veterans of World War II or of the Korean Conflict, and by others entitled to preference rights under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279–284 as amended), presented prior to 10:00 a. m. on March 9, 1957, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. Rights under such preference right applications filed after that hour and before 10:00 a. m. on June 8, 1957, will be governed by the time of filing.

(3) All valid applications and selections under the nonmineral public-land laws, other than those coming under paragraphs (1) and (2) above, presented prior to 10:00 a. m. on June 8, 1957, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. Rights under such applications and selections filed after that hour will be governed by the time of filing.

Persons claiming veterans preference rights must enclose with their applications proper evidence of military or naval service, preferably a complete photostatic copy of the certificate of honorable discharge. Persons claiming preference rights based upon valid settlement, statutory preference, or equitable claims must enclose properly corroborated statements in support of their claims. Detailed rules and regulations governing applications which may be filed pursuant to this notice can be found in Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

b. The lands have been opened to applications and offers under the mineral-leasing laws. They will be open to location under the United States mining laws beginning at 10:00 a. m. on June 8, 1957.

Inquiries concerning the lands shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Reno, Nevada.

EDWARD WOOZLEY,
Director,
Bureau of Land Management.

[File No. 24SF–2172]

IDEA, INC.

NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING

FEBRUARY 1, 1957.

Idea, Inc., P. O. Box 2, Silver Springs, Nevada, filed with the Commission on September 30, 1955, a Notification on Form 1-A and an Offering Circular relative to an offering of 200,000 shares of its Class A Stock at $1 per share, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

The Commission on December 20, 1956, issued an order pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, temporarily suspending the conditional exemption under Regulation A for Idea, Inc., and afforded to any person having an interest therein an opportunity to request a hearing pursuant to Rule 223.

GREAT SWEET GRASS OILS, LTD.

ORDER SUMMARILY SUSPENDING TRADING

FEBRUARY 1, 1957.

In the matter of trading on the American Stock Exchange in the $1.00 par value capital stock of Great Sweet Grass Oils Limited, File No. 1–3827.

I. The $1.00 par value Capital Stock of Great Sweet Grass Oils Limited (hereinafter called "registrant") is listed and registered on the American Stock Exchange, a national securities exchange (hereinafter called "the exchange").

II. The Commission on October 19, 1956, issued its order and notice of hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (hereinafter called "the act"), and on October 24, 1956, issued its amended order and notice of hearing under the act to determine at a hearing to be held November 13, 1956, whether it is necessary or appropriate for the protection of investors to suspend for a period not exceeding twelve months, or to withdraw, the registration of the Capital Stock of registrant on the exchange for failure to comply with section 13 of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder, in that the Commission had reason to believe that the reports filed by registrant on Form 8–K and Form 10–K were false and misleading in certain respects set forth in said orders. On October 31, 1956, the Commission issued its second amended order and notice of hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the act restating the allegations in the original and amended orders and including allegations that the Commission had reason to believe that the registrant's current report on Form 8–K for the month of December, 1955, and amendments thereto, and that registrant's annual report on Form 10–K for its fiscal year ended December 31, 1955, and amendments thereto, were false and misleading in additional respects set forth in said order. On November 16, 1956, the Commission issued its third amended order and notice of hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the act restating the allegations in the original and amended orders and including allegations that the Commission had reason to believe that the registrant's current report on Form 8–K for the month of August, 1955, was false and misleading in certain respects set forth in said order, and that the Form 8–K report for the month of December, 1955, and the Form 10–K report for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1955 were false and misleading in additional respects set forth in said order. On January 23, 1957, the Commission issued its order summarily suspending trading pursuant to section 19 (a) (4) of the act in said securities on the exchange for the reasons set forth in said order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive and manipulative acts or practices from January 24, 1957 to February 2, 1957, inclusive.

III. On November 7, 1956, counsel representing registrant requested a postponement of the hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the act in order to enable him to prepare for the hearing. Pursuant to this request, the Commission on November 7, 1956, issued its order postponing the date of said hearing to November 26, 1956. Said hearing has commenced but has not yet been concluded by Commission order or decision.

IV. The Commission has reason to believe that the false reports filed by registrant as alleged in the orders and notices of hearing referred to in paragraph II and the relationship between registrant and Kroy Oils Limited, also subject to an order issued concurrently herewith under section 19 (a) (4) of the act, and also subject to an order and notice of hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the act, which hearing has been consolidated with the hearing referred to in paragraph III, are such as to cause widespread confusion and uncertainty in the market for registrant's shares. Under the circumstances recited in this order, the Commission is of the opinion that it would be impossible for the investing public to reach an informed judgment at this time as to the value of registrant's securities or for trading in such securities to be conducted in an orderly and equitable manner.

V. The Commission being of the opinion that the public interest requires the summary suspension of trading in such security on the exchange and that such action is necessary and appropriate for the protection of investors; and

The Commission being of the opinion that such suspension is necessary in order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative acts or practices, with the result that it will be unlawful under section 15 (c) (2) of the act and the Commission's Rule X-15C2-2 thereunder for any broker or dealer to make use of the mails or of any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce to effect any transaction in, or to induce or attempt to induce the purchase or sale of, such security otherwise than on a national securities exchange.

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 19 (a) (4) of the act that trading in said securities on the American Stock Exchange be summarily suspended in order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative acts or practices for a period of ten days from February 3, 1957 to February 12, 1957, inclusive.

By the Commission.

I. The 20-cent par value Capital Stock of Kroy Oils Limited, an Alberta corporation (hereinafter called "registrant"), is listed and registered on the American Stock Exchange, a national securities exchange (hereinafter called "the exchange").

II. The Commission on November 2, 1956, issued its order and notice of hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (hereinafter called "the act") to determine at a hearing to be held on November 20, 1956, whether it is necessary or appropriate for the protection of investors to suspend for a period not exceeding twelve months, or to withdraw, the registration of the Capital Stock of registrant on the exchange for failure to comply with section 13 of the act and the rules and regulations adopted thereunder, in that the Commission has reason to believe that a current report for the month of May, 1956, on Form 8-K, filed by registrant with the Commission was false and misleading in certain respects set forth in said order. On January 23, 1957, the Commission issued its order summarily suspending trading of said securities on the exchange pursuant to section 19 (a) (4) of the act for the reasons set forth in said order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive or manipulative acts or practices for a period of ten days from January 24, 1957 to February 2, 1957, inclusive.

III. On November 7, 1956, counsel representing registrant requested a postponement of the hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the act in order to enable him to prepare for the hearing. Pursuant to this request, the Commission on November 7, 1956, issued its order postponing the date of said hearing to November 26, 1956. Said hearing has commenced but has not yet been concluded by Commission order or decision.

IV. The Commission has reason to believe that the false report filed by registrant as alleged in the order and notice of hearing referred to in paragraph II and the relationship between registrant and Great Sweet Grass Oils Limited, also subject to an order issued concurrently herewith under section 19 (a) (4) of the act, and also subject to an order and notice of hearing under section 19 (a) (2) of the act, which hearing has been consolidated with the hearing referred to in paragraph III, are such as to cause widespread confusion and uncertainty in the market for registrant's shares. Under the circumstances recited in this order, the Commission is of the opinion that it would be impossible for the investing public to reach an informed judgment at this time as to the value of registrant's securities or for trading in such securities to be conducted in an orderly and equitable manner.

V. The Commission being of the opinion that the public interest requires the summary suspension of trading in such security on the exchange and that such action is necessary and appropriate for the protection of investors; and

The Commission being of the opinion that such suspension is necessary in order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative acts or practices, with the result that it will be unlawful under section 15 (c) (2) of the act and the Commission's Rule X-15C2-2 thereunder for any broker or dealer to make use of the mails or of any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce to effect any transaction in, or to induce or attempt to induce the purchase or sale of, such security otherwise than on a national securities exchange.

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 19 (a) (4) of the act that trading in said securities on the American Stock Exchange be summarily suspended in order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative acts or practices for a period of ten days from February 3, 1957 to February 12, 1957, inclusive.

By the Commission.

AUTOMATIC GARAGE CORPORATION OF NEW YORK

ORDER TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

FEBRUARY 1, 1957.

I. Automatic Garage Corporation of New York (herein called "Automatic"), a Delaware company, 120-44 Queens Boulevard, Kew Gardens, New York, filed with the Commission on May 2, 1955, a notification and offering circular, and subsequently filed amendments thereto, relating to a proposed public offering of 300,000 shares of its $0.10 par value common stock to be offered at $1 per share or $300,000, in the aggregate without the services of an underwriter, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A thereunder.

II. The Commission having reasonable cause to believe:

A. That the terms and conditions of Regulation A have not been complied with in that—

1. The securities were offered in jurisdictions not named in the Notification as required by Item 1 thereof.

2. The issuer failed to file reports of sales as required by Rule 224 of Regulation A.

B. That the offering circular dated June 1, 1955 and filed as part of the Notification, contains untrue statements of material facts and omits to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading particularly in that—

1. The statement in the offering circular under "The Corporation" to the effect that Automatic held the exclusive franchise for the Greater New York City area to employ and use the Park-O-Mat automatic car positioner, as well as the right to reenfranchise other users of the device in this area, whereas Automatic has never had such right, title, interest in said positioner or inventions; and

2. The statement that James T. DeWitt conveyed the franchise to Automatic Garage Corporation of New York whereas no such franchise was conveyed;

C. That the offering of securities by the issuer would and did operate as a fraud and deceit upon the purchasers; and

III. That Automatic Garage Corporation of New York was permanently enjoined on September 5, 1956 by the Supreme Court of the State of New York from offering and/or selling its securities in the State of New York.

IV. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, temporarily suspended.

Notice is hereby given that any persons having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of suspension should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place for said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

By the Commission.

HATTERS' FUR

REPORT TO THE PRESIDENT

FEBRUARY 4, 1957.

The Tariff Commission today submitted a report to the President on the developments in the trade in hatters' fur since the modification on February 9, 1952, of the trade-agreement concession thereon granted in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). This report was made pursuant to paragraph 1 of Executive Order 10401 of October 14, 1952 (17 F. R. 9125). That order prescribes procedures for the periodic review of escape-clause actions with a view to determining whether a concession that was modified or withdrawn may be restored in whole or in part without causing or threatening serious injury to the domestic industry concerned. If an informal review under paragraph 1 indicates that conditions have so change as to warrant it, a formal investigation (including a public hearing) to determine the facts is made under paragraph 2 of the order. The present report is the fourth report on hatters' fur under paragraph 1 of Executive Order 10401.

The Commission advised the President that the conditions of competition with respect to imported and domestic hatters' fur have not so changed during the past year as to warrant the institution of a formal investigation under the provisions of paragraph 2 of Executive Order 10401.

Copies of the Commission's report are available upon request as long as the limited supply lasts. Requests should be addressed to the United States Tariff Commission, Eighth and E Streets NW., Washington 25, D. C.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

CALIFORNIA

INTRASTATE FREIGHT RATES AND CHARGES

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 2 held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of January A. D. 1957.

It appearing that a petition dated December 13, 1956, has been filed on behalf of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company and other common carriers by railroad operating to, from and between points in the State of California, in interstate and intrastate commerce, averring that in Ex Parte No. 196, Increased Freight Rates, 1956, 298 I. C. C. 279, the Commission authorized carriers, subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, parties thereto, to make certain increases in their rates and charges for interstate application throughout the United States; and that increases under such authorizations have been made;

It further appearing that the petitioners allege that the Public Utilities Commission of California, by its order dated December 11, 1956, has refused to authorize or permit petitioners to establish for the intrastate transportation upon their railroads in California increases in freight rates and charges corresponding to those authorized by this Commission and made by petitioners for application on interstate traffic in the proceeding above cited which refusal causes and results in undue and unreasonable advantage, preference, and prejudice as between persons and localities in intrastate commerce, on the one hand, and interstate commerce, on the other hand, and in undue, unreasonable and unjust discrimination against interstate and foreign commerce, in violation of section 13 of the Interstate Commerce Act;

It further appearing that there have been brought in issue by the said petition rates and charges made or imposed by authority of the State of California;

And it further appearing that the Public Utilities Commission of California on January 9, 1957, filed an answer to petitioners' petition:

It is ordered, That, in response to the said petition, an investigation be, and it is hereby, instituted, and that a hearing be held therein for the purpose of receiving evidence from the respondents hereinafter designated and any other interested parties to determine whether the rates and charges of the common carriers by railroad, or any of them, operating in the State of California, for the intrastate transportation of property, made or imposed by authority of the State of California, cause or will cause, by reason of the failure of such rates and charges to include increases corresponding to those permitted by the Commission for interstate traffic in Ex Parte No. 196, supra, any undue or unreasonable advantage, preference, or prejudice, as between persons or localities in intrastate commerce, on the one hand, and interstate or foreign commerce, on the other hand, or any undue, unreasonable, or unjust discrimination against interstate or foreign commerce in violation of section 13 of the Interstate Commerce Act, with the exception of certain commodity and class rates as shown in Appendix A below, and to determine what rates and charges, if any, or what maximum or minimum, or maximum and minimum, rates and charges shall be prescribed to remove the unlawful advantage, preference, prejudice, or discrimination, if any, that may be found to exist;

It is further ordered, That all common carriers by railroad operating within the State of California, which are subject to the jurisdiction of this Commission, be, and they are hereby, made respondents to this proceeding; that a copy of this order be served upon each of the said respondents, and that the State of California be notified of the proceeding by sending copies of this order and of said petition by registered mail to the Governor of the said State, and to the Public Utilities Commission of California at San Francisco, Calif.;

It is further ordered, That notice of this proceeding be given to the public by depositing a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., for public inspection, and by filing a copy with the Director, Division of the Federal Register, Washington, D. C.;

And it is further ordered, That this proceeding be assigned for hearing at such time and place as the Commission may hereafter designate.

By the Commission, Division 2:

RAILROADS SERVING KENTUCKY

DIVERSION OR REROUTING OF TRAFFIC

In the opinion of Charles W. Taylor, Agent, railroads serving the State of Kentucky are unable to operate and transport traffic routed over their lines because of flood conditions.

It is ordered, That:

(a) Rerouting traffic. The railroads serving the State of Kentucky, and their connections, are hereby authorized to divert or reroute such traffic over any available route to expedite the movement, regardless of routing shown on the waybill. The billing covering all such cars rerouted shall carry a reference to this order as authority for the rerouting.

(b) Concurrence of receiving roads to be obtained. The railroads desiring to divert or reroute traffic under this order shall confer with the proper transportation officer of the railroad or railroads to which such traffic is to be diverted or rerouted, and shall receive the concurrence of such other railroads before the rerouting or diversion is ordered.

(d) Inasmuch as the diversion or rerouting of traffic by said Agent is deemed to be due to carriers' disability, the rates applicable to traffic diverted or rerouted by said Agent shall be the rates which were applicable at the time of shipment on the shipments as originally routed.

(e) In executing the directions of the Commission and of such Agent provided for in this order, the common carriers involved shall proceed even though no contracts, agreements, or arrangements now exist between them with reference to the divisions of the rates of transportation applicable to said traffic; divisions shall be, during the time this order remains in force, those voluntarily agreed upon by and between said carriers; or upon failure of the carriers to so agree, said divisions shall be those hereafter fixed by the Commission in accordance with pertinent authority conferred upon it by the Interstate Commerce Act.

(f) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 2:00 p. m., January 30, 1957.

(g) Expiration date. This order shall expire at 11:59 p. m., February 9, 1957, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended or annulled.

It is further ordered, That this order shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of all railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Grapefruit Reg. 113]

PART 955—GRAPEFRUIT GROWN IN ARIZONA; IN IMPERIAL COUNTY, CALIF.; AND IN THAT PART OF RIVERSIDE COUNTY, CALIF., SITUATED SOUTH AND EAST OF THE SAN GORGONIO PASS

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 955.374 Grapefruit Regulation 113—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 55, as amended (7 CFR Part 955), regulating the handling of grapefruit grown in the State of Arizona; in Imperial County, California; and in that part of Riverside County, California, situated south and east of the San Gorgonio Pass, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Administrative Committee (established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order), and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of grapefruit, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than February 10, 1957. Shipments of grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, have been subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order, since October 21, 1956, and will so continue until February 10, 1957; the recommendation and supporting information for continued regulation subsequent to February 9, 1957, were promptly submitted to the Department after such recommendation was made by the Administrative Committee on January 31, 1957; the provisions of this regulation, including the effective time thereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such grapefruit; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this regulation effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of grapefruit, and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., February 10, 1957, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., March 17, 1957, no handler shall ship—

(i) Any grapefruit of any variety grown in the State of Arizona; in Imperial County, California; or in that part of Riverside County, California, situated south and east of the San Gorgonio Pass unless such grapefruit grade at least U. S. No. 2; or

(ii) From the State of California or the State of Arizona (a) to any point outside thereof in the United States, any grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, which are of a size smaller than 3 1/16 inches in diameter or (b) to any point in Canada, any grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, which are of a size smaller than 3 3/16 inches in diameter ("diameter" in each case to be measured midway at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit), except that a tolerance of 5 percent, by count, of grapefruit smaller than the foregoing minimum sizes shall be permitted which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerance, specified in the revised United States Standards for Grapefruit (California and Arizona), §§ 51.925–51.955 of this title: Provided, That in determining the percentage of grapefruit in any lot which are smaller than 3 1/16 inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on the grapefruit in such lot which are of a size 3 1/16 inches in diameter and smaller; and in determining the percentage of grapefruit in any lot which are smaller than 3 3/16 inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on the grapefruit in such lot which are of a size 3 3/16 inches in diameter and smaller.

(2) As used in this section, "handler," "variety," "grapefruit," and "ship" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order; and the term "U. S. No. 2" shall have the same meaning as when used in the revised United States Standards for Grapefruit (California and Arizona), §§ 51.925–51.955 of this title.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Civil Air Regs., Amdt. 60-1]

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

PILOT VIGILANCE AND RESTRICTIONS ON FLIGHT TESTING

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 5th day of February 1957.

Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations sets forth the Air Traffic Rules which are applicable to all aircraft. These rules contain provisions prohibiting both civil and military aircraft from being flown in any unusual maneuvers over congested areas or on civil airways and prescribe certain minimum altitudes for the protection of persons or property on the ground. Although there are no specific provisions in Part 60 dealing with flight testing, all civil aircraft for which an airworthiness certificate has not yet been issued are prohibited from flying over thickly populated areas or large gatherings of people by limitations set forth in special test flight authorizations issued by the Administrator. Military aircraft, however, are not subject to these specific limitations.

The problems arising from the flight testing of production and experimental aircraft have long been the subject of considerable attention on the part of the Government. In 1947 an extensive study was undertaken by the civil and military agencies concerned, with a view toward determining the safeguards which should be applied to prevent the creating of a public hazard. At that time it was agreed that it would be impracticable to relocate aircraft manufacturing establishments outside highly populated areas but that the flight testing of production and experimental aircraft should be accomplished in sparsely settled areas and in airspace of relatively light traffic density. Although considerable effort has been made to insure that flight testing activity is in fact conducted under circumstances in which hazard to persons on the ground or to other aircraft in flight will not result, the recent collision of aircraft undergoing certain tests in flight necessitates the immediate promulgation of amendments to Part 60 which will reduce the possibility of mid-air collision and further enhance the safety of persons or property on the ground.

These amendments herein adopted prohibit the flight testing of aircraft unless such flight test is conducted (1) over open water or sparsely populated areas having light air traffic and approved by the Administrator, or (2) within a flight test area designated by the Administrator. This regulation also provides that all flight tests are to be conducted in accordance with such traffic rules which the Administrator may from time to time prescribe.

In order to achieve the above mentioned objectives, we are including within the term "flight tests," the operation of all aircraft in flight for the purpose of testing, observing, or measuring the performance of an aircraft, airframe, powerplant, or propeller after its manufacture or major alteration, except for take-off, landing and operation to and from the area authorized for such flight tests.

In addition to the regulatory change dealing with flight testing, the Board is also concerned with the problems relating to flight operations requiring more than normal preoccupation with cockpit duties. In order to stress the importance of vigilance on the part of the pilot to observe and avoid other air traffic, the regulation amends § 60.12 (c) by calling attention to the fact that lack of vigilance due to more than normal preoccupation with cockpit duties may constitute careless or reckless operation of aircraft.

For the reasons stated above, it is the opinion of the Board that a situation exists requiring immediate action in respect to safety in air commerce and that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the Board finds that good cause exists for making this amendment effective on less than 30 days' notice.

Interested persons desiring to present written data setting forth their views with respect to the rules herein adopted are requested to submit such matter to the Board on or before March 22, 1957. All communications so received will be considered by the Board and the rules herein adopted will be reconsidered fully in the light of the comments submitted.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 60, as amended) effective February 20, 1957.

1. By amending paragraph (c) of the note under § 60.12 to read as follows:

§ 60.12 Careless or reckless operation. * * *

(c) Lack of vigilance by the pilot to observe and avoid other air traffic. In this respect, the pilot must clear his position prior to starting any maneuver, either on the ground or in flight. Furthermore, flight activities requiring such crew preoccupation with cockpit duties as to prevent adequate vigilance outside the cockpit for the purpose of collision avoidance shall be evidence of careless or reckless operation unless some provision is made which adequately compensates for such reduced degree of vigilance such as use of a competent observer in the aircraft, a chase aircraft, or other appropriate arrangements.

2. By adding a new § 60.24 and a note to read as follows:

§ 60.24 Flight test. No person shall flight test an aircraft unless such flight test is conducted (a) over open water or sparsely populated areas having light air traffic and approved by the Administrator, or (b) within a flight test area designated by the Administrator. All flight tests shall be conducted in accordance with such traffic rules as the Administrator may from time to time prescribe.

NOTE: It should be recognized that any flight operation that requires more than normal preoccupation with cockpit duties may result in careless or reckless operation of aircraft. See Example (c) under § 60.12.

3. By adding a new definition to § 60.60 to read as follows:

§ 60.60 Definitions. • • •

Flight test. "Flight test" means the operation of aircraft in flight for the purpose of testing, observing, or measuring the performance of an aircraft, airframe, powerplant, or propeller after its manufacture or major alteration (as defined in Part 18 of this subchapter), except for take-off, landing and operation to and from the area authorized for such flight tests.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 1005, 52 Stat. 1007, 1023, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 645)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] M. C. MULLIGAN, Secretary.

TITLE 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter III—Bureau of Foreign Commerce, Department of Commerce

Subchapter B—Export Regulations

[8th Gen. Rev. of Export Regs.; Amdt. 25 [1]]

PART 372—PROVISIONS FOR INDIVIDUAL AND OTHER VALIDATED LICENSES

PART 371—GENERAL LICENSES

PART 373—LICENSING POLICIES AND RELATED SPECIAL PROVISIONS

PART 379—EXPORT CLEARANCE AND DESTINATION CONTROL

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. Section 371.2 General provisions, paragraph (b) Use of general license symbol is amended to read as follows:

[1] This amendment was published in Current Export Bulletin No. 779, dated January 31, 1957.

(b) Use of general license symbol—(1) Symbol on shipper's export declaration. A person exporting any commodity or technical data pursuant to any general license established in this part or Part 385 of this subchapter shall enter on the Shipper's Export Declaration, when the Declaration is required, the designation or symbol of the general license authorizing the exportation.

Example. If medicinals are to be sent to a member of the American Embassy in a foreign country, they may be exported under general license GUS, and the exporter will note on the Declaration the symbol GUS to indicate that the exportation is licensed.

(2) Symbol on mail shipments. (i) In the case of exportations by mail, except as provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, the designation or symbol of the general license shall be entered also on the address side of the wrapper of the parcel and shall be followed by the phrase "Export License Not Required." The use of such designation or symbol and the above phrase shall constitute a certification by the exporter that the terms, provisions, and conditions of the general license involved have been met.

(ii) The general license designation or symbol and the above phrase is not required on the wrapper (a) when technical data are exported by a United States Government agency under the provisions of general license GTDP or GTDS, or (b) when noncommercial shipments of publications or technical data are exported via first class mail under the provisions of general license GTDP or GTDS by other than a business concern, e. g., private person not engaged in business, philanthropic organization, non-profit scientific society, etc.

2. Section 371.8 General license GRO; shipments of non-Positive List commodities, paragraph (b) Surplus agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof, subparagraph (2) Exportations is amended by adding a footnote reference in the heading thereof and the following footnote:

[1] Until April 3, 1957, shipments of surplus agricultural commodities under general license GRO continue to require a destination control statement on the Shipper's Export Declaration, Bill of Lading, and commercial invoice (see § 379.10 (c) (1) (iii) for form of statement). On and after April, 3, 1957, the export documents covering such shipments shall include the applicable destination control statement set forth in § 379.10 (c).

3. Section 371.10 General license GLV; shipments of limited value is amended to read as follows:

§ 371.10 General License GLV; shipments of limited value—(a) Purpose and symbol. A general license designated GLV is hereby established, authorizing the exportation from the United States of shipments within certain specific dollar-value limits.

(b) Definitions and interpretations. The following definitions and interpretations are applicable to this section:

(1) "Net value" means the actual selling price less shipping charges or the current market price to the same type of purchaser in the United States, whichever is the larger.

(2) "One importer" is interpreted as follows: For exportation under the provisions of this section, not more than the amount authorized under this general license may be exported in a single shipment from a designated exporter to a designated consignee or to an intermediate consignee even though such shipment is to be forwarded to one or more ultimate consignees.

(3) "Commodity" means a commodity under the export control jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce. Commodities licensed by agencies other than the Department of Commerce may not be exported under the provisions of this general license (see § 370.4 of this subchapter).

(4) "Single shipment" means the shipment of all commodities which move at the same time from one exporter to one importer on the same exporting carrier, except that not more than one shipment may be made by parcel post or mail per calendar week from one exporter to one importer.

(c) Evasion of "single shipment" provisions. Shipments designed as a device to evade the requirement of a validated export license are prohibited. Such devices include, but are not limited to, (1) the splitting of orders from a single consignee into two or more shipments the total value of which exceeds the maximum GLV dollar-value limit specified for a single shipment; (2) the solicitation from a single consignee of a number of separate orders each of which conforms to such dollar-value limits but which have a combined value in excess thereof.

(d) Positive List commodities. Commodities included on the Positive List of Commodities (§ 399.1 of this subchapter) may be exported in a single shipment under this general license to all destinations, except Hong Kong, Macao, and Subgroup A countries (see § 371.3 (a)), as follows:

(1) R destinations. RO or R commodities classified in a single entry on the Positive List may be exported to Group R destinations, provided that the net value of the shipment is within the dollar-value limit specified in the column headed "GLV Dollar Value Limits."

(2) O destinations. RO commodities classified in a single entry on the Positive List may be exported to Group O destinations, provided that the net value of the shipment is within the dollar-value limit specified in the column headed "GLV Dollar Value Limits" (including those limits specified as "none"), or $500, whichever is higher, unless the commodity is identified by the symbol "G" in the column headed "Commodity Lists." Where the commodity is identified by the symbol "G", the commodity may be exported only within the dollar-value limit specified in the column headed "GLV Dollar Value Limits."

(3) Special provisions for Mexico—(i) Limitations on commodities under quantitative quotas. Commodities subject to quantitative quotas which have been announced in Current Export Bulletins and which are being exported to Mexico by or on behalf of the same exporter to or for the account of the same ultimate consignee are restricted to one "single shipment" (as defined in paragraph (b) of this section) per calendar week when such exports are transported otherwise than by common carrier or by mail.

(ii) Certification required. The Shipper's Export Declaration covering any exportation to Mexico which is authorized by general license GLV but which is restricted by the terms of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph shall contain the following additional certification:

The undersigned certifies to the Department of Commerce that the merchandise above described is the only shipment of the commodity(ies) classified under the Schedule B number(s) set forth herein to be exported under the provisions of General License GLV by the undersigned exporter to the consignee named herein during the current calendar week.

(Signed)

(iii) Hardship or emergency cases. In any case where the Collector determines that the limitations in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph would create an undue hardship, or that an emergency exists in a particular case, he is authorized to permit more than one such shipment in a calendar week under this general license; provided that the value of each such shipment does not exceed the value limitation provided for the commodities included in such shipment under this general license.

(iv) Collectors authorized to limit shipments. The Collector of Customs is authorized to limit or prevent altogether the exportation of any commodity to Mexico under this general license whenever he shall have cause to suspect that such exportation is being made for the purpose or with the intent of evading the Export Regulations:

NOTE: R Commodities. R commodities may be exported to Group O destinations without dollar-value limit under the provisions of general license GO (§371.7).

(e) Non-Positive List Commodities. Commodities which are not included on the Positive List of Commodities (§399.1 of this subchapter) may be exported in a single shipment to Hong Kong under the provisions of this general license, provided that for each Schedule B number the net value of commodities classified thereunder does not exceed $25.

NOTE: 1. General license GRO. Commodities not included on the Positive List of Commodities may be exported to any destination, except Hong Kong, Macao, and Subgroup A destinations, without dollar-value limit under the provisions of general license GRO (§ 371.8).

2. General license GHK. Certain specified non-Positive List commodities may be exported to Hong Kong in unrestricted quantities under the provisions of general license GHK (§ 371.23).

(f) Use of other general licenses not restricted. The provisions of this section shall not be construed as limiting the use of any other general license specifically authorized.

4. Section 371.22 General license GHS; goods exported to Hong Kong as trade samples is deleted.

5. Section 371.23 General license GHK; shipments of certain commodities to Hong Kong, paragraph (a) Scope is amended by adding a footnote reference at the end of the first sentence thereof and the following footnote:

[1] Single shipments of all non-Positive List commodities may be made to Hong Kong under the provisions of general license GLV if the quantity classified under a single Schedule B number is valued at $25 or less (see § 371.10).

6. Section 372.12 Reexportation from country of destination is amended in the following particulars:

a. Paragraph (c) Reexportations is amended by deleting therefrom the reference to general license GHS.

b. A new paragraph (d) is added to read as follows:

(d) Trieste, Italy, and Yugoslavia. For export control purposes the destination "Italy" includes the area of Trieste under Italian civil administration, and the destination "Yugoslavia" includes the area of Trieste under Yugoslav civil administration. Therefore, a reexportation authorization issued by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce which permits reexportation to Italy automatically includes the area of Trieste under Italian civil administration, and similarly an authorization issued by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce which permits reexportation to Yugoslavia automatically includes the area of Trieste under Yugoslav civil administration.

7. Section 373.2 Confirmation of country of ultimate destination and verification of actual delivery, paragraph (a) (1) (ii) Countries is amended by adding the following after "Italy": "(including the area of Trieste under Italian civil administration)".

8. Section 373.5 Licensing policy for agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof is amended to read as follows:

§ 373.5 Licensing policy for agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof covering shipments to Subgroup A destinations—(a) Subsidized commodities. It is the general policy of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce to deny applications for validated licenses to export, or authority to reexport, agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof to any Subgroup A destination, except Poland, where the proposed shipment (1) consists of any commodity which is acquired directly or indirectly from the Commodity Credit Corporation, whether in the form acquired or in processed form; (2) consists of any commodity which is shipped in substitution for a commodity acquired directly or indirectly from the Commodity Credit Corporation under an export disposal program; and (3) is subsidized for export by the Commodity Credit Corporation either by cash payments or by payments in kind.

(b) Non-subsidized commodities—(1) Exports from the United States. License applications covering proposed shipments of agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof destined to Eastern European countries of the Soviet Bloc, other than Poland, may be considered for approval, if approval would not be in conflict with the policy stated in paragraph (a) of this section. (See paragraph (c) of this section for shipments to Poland). Such license applications submitted to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce shall contain the following certification in the space entitled "Additional Information" or on an attachment thereto:

I (We) certify (1) that the commodities covered by this application have not been and will not be obtained directly or indirectly from Commodity Credit Corporation stocks; (2) that the commodities will not be shipped in substitution for a commodity acquired directly or indirectly from the Commodity Credit Corporation under an export disposal program; or (3) that if the exportation is eligible for a subsidy under a Commodity Credit Corporation export disposal program for surplus agricultural commodities, such subsidy has not been and will not be claimed or obtained.

NOTE: See § 371.8 for exportations under general license GRO of surplus agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof.

(2) Reexportations. Requests for authority to reexport agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof to Eastern European countries of the Soviet Bloc, other than Poland, may be considered for approval, (i) if approval would not be in conflict with the policy stated in paragraph (a) of this section or (ii) if the commodities had not been exported from the United States under either the Mutual Security Program or the foreign currency, barter, or other Public Law 480 program. Such requests shall be submitted by letter to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce by the United States exporter and shall contain the following certification:

I (We) certify (1) that none of these commodities was exported from the United States under either the Mutual Security Program, or the foreign currency, barter, or other Public Law 480 program; (2) that the commodities covered by this request for authority to reexport have not been obtained directly or indirectly from Commodity Credit Corporation stocks; (3) that the commodities were not shipped in substitution for a commodity acquired directly or indirectly from the Commodity Credit Corporation under an export disposal program; or (4) that if the exportation is eligible for a subsidy under a Commodity Credit Corporation export disposal program for surplus agricultural commodities, such subsidy has not been and will not be claimed or obtained.

(c) Shipments to Poland—(1) Exports from the United States. Applications covering agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof, including commodities mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section, for export to Poland may be considered for approval. Arrangements acceptable to the Commodity Credit Corporation must have been made for cash payment upon delivery in U. S. currency at world market prices (i. e., not less than the Commodity Credit Corporation export prices) (i) for all commodities being exported which were acquired directly or indirectly from the Commodity Credit Corporation and (ii) for all commodities acquired from the Commodity Credit Corporation for which substitute commodities are being exported. All applications for export licenses covering agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof for export to Poland shall be accompanied by the following certification in the space entitled "Additional Information" or on an attachment thereto:

I (We) certify that arrangements acceptable to Commodity Credit Corporation have been made for cash payment upon delivery in U. S. currency at world market prices (1) for all commodities covered by this application which were acquired directly or indirectly from Commodity Credit Corporation and (2) for all commodities acquired from Commodity Credit Corporation for which substitute commodities covered by this application are being exported.

(2) Reexportation. Requests for authority to reexport agricultural commodities and manufactures thereof to Poland may also be considered for approval. Such requests shall be submitted by letter to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce by the United States exporter who shall accompany the request with the following certification:

I (We) certify (1) that none of these commodities was exported from the United States under either the Mutual Security Program or the foreign currency, barter or other Public Law 480 program; and (2) that payment has been made to the Commodity Credit Corporation in U. S. currency at world market prices for (a) all commodities covered by this request which were acquired directly or indirectly from the Commodity Credit Corporation and (b) all commodities acquired from the Commodity Credit Corporation for which any of the commodities covered by this request were exported in substitution therefor.

9. Section 373.65 Ultimate consignee and purchaser statements is amended in the following particulars:

a. Paragraph (b) Statements required from ultimate consignee and purchaser is amended to read as follows:

(b) Statements required from ultimate consignee and purchaser—(1) General. The applicant shall furnish an original or copy of a statement from the ultimate consignee and purchaser named in the application, certifying to certain facts relating to the proposed transaction. This statement is required by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce to make certain that foreign consignees and purchasers are fully aware of their responsibility not only for the representations made to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, but also for the proper disposition of the licensed commodities only in those foreign countries where the Bureau of Foreign Commerce has authorized disposition. In addition, the requirement curtails the time-consuming supplementary inquiries by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce which otherwise often may be necessary.

(2) Signature by ultimate consignee. This statement must be manually signed by the ultimate consignee (the person abroad who is actually to receive the material for the designated end use), or by a responsible official of the ultimate consignee who has personal knowledge of the information included in the statement, who has authority to bind the ultimate consignee, and who has the power and authority to control the use and disposition of the licensed commodities in the country of ultimate destination. The authority to sign this document may not be delegated to any person (agent, employee, or other) whose authority to sign is not inherent in his official position with the ultimate consignee. The official signing the statement may be located in the United States or in a foreign country; his official title shall be included with his signature.

(3) Signature by purchaser. If the purchaser (the person abroad who has entered into the export transaction with the applicant to purchase the commodities for delivery to the ultimate consignee) named in the export license application is a different person from the named ultimate consignee, the purchaser must either sign the statement executed by the ultimate consignee, or the applicant must also attach to the application an additional statement executed by the purchaser. This statement from the purchaser shall meet the same requirements of signature, etc., as are stated in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for the ultimate consignee, and it must cover the same subject matter as required from the ultimate consignee in subsequent paragraphs of this section. The purchaser's statement may be a single transaction statement or a multiple transactions statement and shall be completed in accordance with the procedure described in paragraph (c) of this section.

(4) Alterations. No corrections, additions, or alterations to a consignee or purchaser statement may be made by the applicant for an export license after the statement has been signed by the consignee or purchaser. If the signed statement is incomplete or incorrect in any respect, the applicant shall obtain a corrected statement from the consignee and/or purchaser.

(5) Amendments to statements. Where a consignee or purchaser statement (Form FC–842 or FC–843) is on file in the Bureau of Foreign Commerce an amendment to the statement may be submitted in the form of an additional Form FC–842 or FC–843, a wire or cable, or a copy of the wire or cable from the ultimate consignee. Sufficient identifying information shall be submitted with the amendment to permit the Bureau of Foreign Commerce to identify the amendment with the statement on file in the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, such as: Form number (Form FC–842 or FC–843); name of consignee or purchaser and date of signing; Bureau of Foreign Commerce Case No. of the license application with which the statement was submitted to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce; applicant's reference number, etc.

(6) Applications filed without statements. An application not supported by a statement (where required) from the ultimate consignee or purchaser will be returned without action to the applicant. However, an applicant who can show to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce that he has made diligent efforts to obtain such statement and has been unable to get it, may so advise the Bureau of Foreign Commerce in a letter attached to his application, giving the stated reasons of the ultimate consignee or purchaser for failing or refusing to give the applicant such statement and the application will receive consideration for approval.

(7) 30-day grace period for Positive List additions. When a commodity becomes subject to the requirements of this section by reason of having been added to the Positive List, export license applications for such commodity to Group R countries or for Group O countries under the TL licensing procedure need not conform to these requirements for a period of 30 days from the time such commodities are added to the Positive List. In lieu of the end-use and ultimate consignee statements during such 30-day period, applications shall be accompanied by any evidence available to the exporter which will support the applicant's representations concerning the ultimate consignee, ultimate destination, and the end-use. Such evidence may consist of copies of the letter of credit, the order for the commodities, correspondence between the exporter and consignee, or other documents received from the consignee.

b. Paragraph (c) Information required in consignee statements, subparagraph (1) General, subdivision (iii) is amended by amending (i) and adding a new (j) to read as follows:

(i) A certification by the consignee and/or purchaser, as defined in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of paragraph (b) of this section, that the facts contained in the statement are true and correct to the best of their knowledge and belief; a certification by the consignee and/or purchaser that they will promptly send a supplemental statement to the United States exporter (or the foreign distributor in the case of a Foreign Distribution license) of any change of facts or intentions set forth in their statement which occurs after the statement has been prepared and forwarded; and that with respect to any shipment which they propose to dispose of contrary to the representations made in the statement, or contrary to the limitations on countries of distribution which may be received on the bill of lading, commercial invoice or other comparable documents, they will notify the United States exporter and secure approval of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce through the United States exporter prior to such disposition.

(j) The applicable information described below should be submitted to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce by the applicant for the export license or the duly authorized agent of the applicant in those instances where the consignee or purchaser statement (Form FC–842 or FC–843) contains corrections, additions or alterations. Statements which do not contain this information may be returned to the applicant for clarification.

(1) Where the statement contains changes which appeared on the statement at the time of receipt from the ultimate consignee or purchaser, the following certification may be attached to the statement:

I (We) certify that no corrections, additions or alterations were made on the attached Form (FC–842) (FC–843) by me (us) after the form was signed by the (ultimate consignee) (purchaser).

(2) Where the statement has been partially or completely filled in by the applicant or his agent prior to signing by the ultimate consignee or purchaser, the "Assistance in Preparing Statement" space on Forms FC–842 or FC–843 (Item 8) shall show the name of the person assisting in the preparation of the statement. If in so assisting, corrections, additions or alterations are made on the form, the applicant shall submit a statement to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, when the form is filed, setting forth the changes made and the reason(s) for making the changes in addition to the preceding certification.

(3) Where the statement contains changes made by the applicant or his duly authorized agent after the statement was signed by the ultimate consignee or purchaser, a statement by the applicant stating that the changes were made after the Statement was signed by the ultimate consignee or purchaser and setting forth the changes and the reason for making the changes shall accompany the Form FC–842 or FC–843.

10. Section 373.70 Yugoslavia, paragraph (a) End-use certificate requirement is amended by adding after "Yugoslavia" the following: "(including the area of Trieste under Yugoslav civil administration)".

11. Section 373.71 Supplement 1; Time schedules for submission of applications to export certain Positive List commodities of Subpart E is renumbered § 373.81 and a new § 373.71 is added to read as follows:

§ 373.71 Trieste. For export control purposes the destination "Italy" includes the area of Trieste under Italian civil administration, and the destination "Yugoslavia" includes the area of Trieste under Yugoslav civil administration. Therefore Applications for Export Licenses (Form FC–419), which make reference to Trieste, shall also specify which of the following areas is referred to:

(a) The area of Trieste under Italian civil administration.

(b) The area of Trieste under Yugoslav civil administration.

12. Section 379.1 General export clearance requirements, paragraph (b) Exportations by mail, subparagraph (2) Shipments under a general license is amended to read as follows:

(2) Shipments under a general license—(i) Declaration required. The sender (exporter) shall present to the Postmaster at the place of mailing a duly executed Shipper's Export Declaration for each commercial mail shipment made under a general license from one business concern to another business concern when the shipment consists of a commodity(ies) valued at $25 or more.[1] Exportation by mail of technical data under a general license does not require the submission of a Declaration.

[1] This rule is also contained in the regulations issued by the Bureau of the Census.

(ii) Symbol on Declaration. In preparing the Declaration for presentation to the Postmaster the sender shall place on the form the designation or symbol of the general license under which the commodity(ies) is being exported.

(iii) Symbol on parcel. On mail shipments under a general license, the sender (exporter) shall place the general license designation or symbol on the address side of the wrapper of the parcel, followed by the phrase "Export License Not Required," except (a) when technical data are exported by a United States Government agency under the provisions of general license GTDP or GTDS, or (b) when non-commercial shipments of technical data are exported via first class mail under the provisions of general license GTDP or GTDS by other than a business concern. The general license symbol and the phrase will constitute a certification by the sender to the Postmaster and to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce that a validated license is not required for the shipment.

This amendment shall become effective as of January 31, 1957, except that parts 6, 7, and 11 shall become effective as of March 18, 1957.

[9] The commodity description is revised without substantive change.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of January 31, 1957, unless otherwise indicated in the footnotes.

2. Section 399.2 Appendix B—Commodity interpretations is amended by adding a new interpretation to read as follows:

INTERPRETATION 16: METAL ROLLING MILLS

A rolling mill is defined, for export control purposes, as a line of rolling mill stands and accessory equipment, beginning with the first approach table and ending with the last run-out table or coiler which follows the final change in size or dimension of the metal being processed. A rolling mill rolls ferrous or non-ferrous metals (a) from cast ingots or slabs into semi-fabricated or finished rolled products or (b) from semi-finished products into such rolled products as structural shapes, miscellaneous shapes, plates, pipe skelp, sheet strip, bars, rods, tubes, pipes, etc. It may be a reversing or non-reversing or a continuous or semi-continuous mill. It may be designed for either hot or cold rolling, for producing either welded or seamless tubes and pipes, or for such special operations as temper rolling (skin pass) or simultaneous surface and side rolling (universal mill).

When a complete rolling mill is being exported, either in one shipment or in a series of partial shipments, most but not all of the equipment required for this mill is correctly reported under Schedule B No. 744800, "Rolling mill machines and specially fabricated parts, n. e. c." Some of the individual units are classified elsewhere in Schedule B, Statistical Classification of Domestic and Foreign Commodities Exported from the United States, and are never correctly reported under Schedule B No. 744800, even though exported as part of a complete mill. In this latter category are such individual units as furnaces and shears.

There is also a group of specially designed parts and accessories for a rolling mill which are classified elsewhere in Schedule B. These items, however, are classified under Schedule B No. 744800 when exported as part of a complete mill, but must be reported under their own Schedule B number when exported as spare or replacement parts. Examples of this type equipment are electric motors and electric, electronic and/or hydraulic control devices.

Another group of specially designed parts and accessories for a rolling mill includes all items which are not classified elsewhere in Schedule B. These items are correctly reported under Schedule B No. 744800 when being exported either as part of a complete mill or as spare or replacement parts. They include roll stands, work rolls, back-up rolls, approach tables, run-out tables, manipulators, edgers, up coilers, down coilers, tension and pay-off reels, levelers, straighteners, cooling bed and quenching equipment, and centralized high pressure lubricators.

Equipment for the further processing of the metal product after it has come from the rolling mill as defined above should not be classified under Schedule B No. 744800, even though exported with the mill. Examples of this type equipment are tinplate lines, galvanizing lines, electroplating lines, annealing furnaces, etc. In addition, other equipment used with a rolling mill but not as part of the mill as defined above is never classified under Schedule B No. 744800, even though exported with the mill. Examples of this type equipment are electric generators, roll grinders, and other machine tools.

Since the examples given in the above paragraphs are not all-inclusive, the exporter should, in addition to following the guide lines set forth above, carefully check both the Schedule B and the Positive List of Commodities before entering a Schedule B number on an export license application or on a Shipper's Export Declaration for a particular item he plans to export for use in or with a rolling mill.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of January 31, 1957.

(a) 7 parts per million in or on asparagus.

(b) 1 part per million in or on citrus citron, cottonseed, grapefruit, grapes, kumquats, lemons, limes, onions (dry bulbs only), oranges, pineapple, spinach, sugarcane, tangelos, tangerines.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 862.90 Purpose. (a) Sections 862.90 to 862.96 provide guidance in the orderly entry on extended active duty of Air Force ROTC graduates and to outline delay criteria..

(b) The Commander, Continental Air Command, and the Commander, Air University will be guided by §§ 862.90 to 862.96 in administering Air Force ROTC graduates and cadets.

(c) The professors of air science will insure that each Air Force ROTC cadet is thoroughly briefed before appointment on the information contained in §§ 862.90 to 862.96.

(d) Category C delays will be monitored by the Commander, Air University.

§ 862.91 Entry on extended active duty of Air Force ROTC graduates. All nonprior service graduates of Air Force ROTC and those prior service graduates enrolled in category I, IA, II or III (see §§ 862.1 to 862.20), will enter on extended active duty within one year from the date of appointment as Reserve officers of the Air Force, unless granted a delay under §§ 862.90 to 862.96. The Commander, Continental Air Command, is responsible for ordering all Air Force ROTC graduates into the active military service. The professors of air science will inform each Air Force ROTC graduate, before his graduation and/or appointment, as to the approximate date he will be required to report for extended active duty. Except for officers granted delays under § 862.94, Air Force Reserve officers scheduled for entry on extended active duty may participate in Reserve training programs in an assigned status if their tentatively scheduled date of entry on extended active duty is at least 6 months after the effective date of such Reserve assignment. Those officers whose retainability is less than 6 months, or those officers delayed under § 862.94, should be encouraged to participate in training activities on an unassigned basis. These officers will be advised that any period of active duty for training performed during their inactive duty reserve assignment will not affect the length of their required extended active duty tour.

§ 862.92 Policy. Initial delays will be granted for the minimum period appropriate, but will not exceed 6 months. Granting extensions of delay periods is authorized whenever warranted within the limits set forth in §§ 862.90 to 862.96. However, a stricter application of the criteria for granting initial delays will be made in evaluating requests for extensions of hardship delay. Professors of air science will exercise wide latitude in considering the wishes of Air Force ROTC graduates in recommending the tentative date of entry on extended active duty. Although a delay may be granted so that the graduate does not enter on extended active duty within one year from date of appointment, he will not be eligible for 6 months' active duty for training and 7½ years of Ready Reserve duty. An Air Force ROTC graduate will not apply for delay until he has received notice of the tentative date he is to enter on extended active duty.

§ 862.93 Reserve status. Graduates of the Air Force ROTC, immediately upon appointment as commissioned officers of the Air Force Reserve, are designated as Ready Reservists. They retain this status until they have completed their obligated period of extended active duty, unless mandatorily designated Standby Reservists.

§ 862.94 Criteria for delay. Air Force ROTC graduates who meet the following criteria may be considered for delay:

(a) Category C, "student". (1) Air Force ROTC graduates appointed or enrolled as cadets in Air Science III or IV on or before April 30, 1956, may, upon graduation and appointment, be delayed from entry on extended active duty until they complete the academic work required for the award of a graduate degree, including bachelor of laws, or a degree in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, or allied health specialties. Additional delay for completion of thesis or dissertation will not be granted. Delay may be granted provided that the student has been accepted for admission to, or enrolled in, graduate school within one year from date of appointment for a full-time course of instruction leading to the award of a graduate degree. If the course has commenced, the graduate school must certify that the student is currently meeting the degree requirements and is expected to attain the degree. Additional delay, not to exceed one year, in 6-month increments, from date of award of the graduate degree, may be granted, in order to meet state licensing requirements.

(2) Air Force ROTC cadets initially enrolled in Air Science III on/or after May 1, 1956, may upon graduation and appointment, be delayed from entry on extended active duty only for a sufficient period after appointment to complete the academic work required for the award of a master's degree, normally awarded after one year of graduate study. Additional delay for completion of thesis or dissertation will not be granted. Delay will not be granted for any degree other than a master's degree, except for Rhodes or Fulbright scholars who will be permitted to complete the terms of the scholarship award. Delay may be granted provided that the student has been accepted for admission to, or enrolled in, a graduate school for the first class (summer school excluded) commencing after his appointment for a full-time course of instruction leading to the award of a master's degree. If the course has commenced, the student must have entered upon the course and the graduate school must certify that he is currently meeting the degree requirements and is expected to attain the degree. Notwithstanding other provisions of this subparagraph, Air Force ROTC graduates enrolled or accepted for enrollment in a recognized theological or divinity school and preparing for the ministry will not be ordered to extended active duty regardless of the date of appointment until they have been ordained or graduated from the seminary or withdraw from study.

(b) Category D, "extreme unforeseen personal hardship." Air Force ROTC graduates whose entry on extended active duty would cause extreme unforeseen personal hardship to his dependents, greater than that which the dependents of other Reservists ordered to extended active duty can be expected to experience, may be granted a delay. Documentary evidence must support requests submitted on the basis of hardship. Personal hardship will be limited to death, serious illness, or serious injury to members of the Reservist's immediate from the United States, and are never correctly reported under Schedule B No. 744800, even though exported as part of a complete mill. In this latter category are such individual units as furnaces and shears.

There is also a group of specially designed parts and accessories for a rolling mill which are classified elsewhere in Schedule B. These items, however, are classified under Schedule B No. 744800 when exported as part of a complete mill, but must be reported under their own Schedule B number when exported as spare or replacement parts. Examples of this type equipment are electric motors and electric, electronic and/or hydraulic control devices.

Another group of specially designed parts and accessories for a rolling mill includes all items which are not classified elsewhere in Schedule B. These items are correctly reported under Schedule B No. 744800 when being exported either as part of a complete mill or as spare or replacement parts. They include roll stands, work rolls, back-up rolls, approach tables, run-out tables, manipulators, edgers, up coilers, down coilers, tension and pay-off reels, levelers, straighteners, cooling bed and quenching equipment, and centralized high pressure lubricators.

Equipment for the further processing of the metal product after it has come from the rolling mill as defined above should not be classified under Schedule B No. 744800, even though exported with the mill. Examples of this type equipment are tinplate lines, galvanizing lines, electroplating lines, annealing furnaces, etc. In addition, other equipment used with a rolling mill but not as part of the mill as defined above is never classified under Schedule B No. 744800, even though exported with the mill. Examples of this type equipment are electric generators, roll grinders, and other machine tools.

Since the examples given in the above paragraphs are not all-inclusive, the exporter should, in addition to following the guide lines set forth above, carefully check both the Schedule B and the Positive List of Commodities before entering a Schedule B number on an export license application or on a Shipper's Export Declaration for a particular item he plans to export for use in or with a rolling mill.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of January 31, 1957.

The professors of air science will inform each Air Force ROTC graduate, before his graduation and/or appointment, as to the approximate date he will be required to report for extended active duty. Except for officers granted delays under § 862.94, Air Force Reserve officers scheduled for entry on extended active duty may participate in Reserve training programs in an assigned status if their tentatively scheduled date of entry on extended active duty is at least 6 months after the effective date of such Reserve assignment. Those officers whose retainability is less than 6 months, or those officers delayed under § 862.94, should be encouraged to participate in training activities on an unassigned basis. Professors of air science will exercise wide latitude in considering the wishes of Air Force ROTC graduates in recommending the tentative date of entry on extended active duty. Although a delay may be granted so that the graduate does not enter on extended active duty within one year from date of appointment, he will not be eligible for 6 months' active duty for training and 7½ years of Ready Reserve duty. They retain this status until they have completed their obligated period of extended active duty, unless mandatorily designated Standby Reservists.

§ 862.94 Criteria for delay. Air Force ROTC graduates who meet the following criteria may be considered for delay:

Additional delay for completion of thesis or dissertation will not be granted. Delay may be granted provided that the student has been accepted for admission to, or enrolled in, graduate school within one year from date of appointment for a full-time course of instruction leading to the award of a graduate degree. If the course has commenced, the graduate school must certify that the student is currently meeting the degree requirements and is expected to attain the degree. Additional delay, not to exceed one year, in 6-month increments, from date of award of the graduate degree, may be granted, in order to meet state licensing requirements.

(2) Air Force ROTC cadets initially enrolled in Air Science III on/or after May 1, 1956, may upon graduation and appointment, be delayed from entry on extended active duty only for a sufficient period after appointment to complete the academic work required for the award of a master's degree, normally awarded after one year of graduate study. Additional delay for completion of thesis or dissertation will not be granted. Delay will not be granted for any degree other than a master's degree, except for Rhodes or Fulbright scholars who will be permitted to complete the terms of the scholarship award. Delay may be granted provided that the student has been accepted for admission to, or enrolled in, a graduate school for the first class (summer school excluded) commencing after his appointment for a full-time course of instruction leading to the award of a master's degree. If the course has commenced, the student must have entered upon the course and the graduate school must certify that he is currently meeting the degree requirements and is expected to attain the degree. Notwithstanding other provisions of this subparagraph, Air Force ROTC graduates enrolled or accepted for enrollment in a recognized theological or divinity school and preparing for the ministry will not be ordered to extended active duty regardless of the date of appointment until they have been ordained or graduated from the seminary or withdraw from study.

§ 862.95 Application for delay. The applicant must initiate a request for delay and forward it to the Air Reserve Records Center, Continental Air Command, 3800 York Street, Denver 5, Colorado, together with documentary evidence substantiating the request.

§ 862.96 Establishing delay and appeals boards—(a) Delay board. The Commander, Continental Air Command, will establish a delay board, consisting of at least one officer and necessary clerical assistants to consider and make determinations on requests for delay. Classification officers, personnel officers, and technical personnel will be used to assist the delay board in those instances warranting such representation.

(b) Appeal board. Headquarters USAF will establish an appeal board, consisting of at least three Air Force officers who possess broad and diversified experience. The primary function of the board will be to review, on appeal, the decision of the delay board on requests for delay. C. 432-438, 438a, 439-452) as amended, it is proposed to amend certain sections of the coal regulations approved September 15, 1952, as amended September 7, 1955. The proposed amendment of the sections is set forth below.

Interested persons may submit, in triplicate, written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendment of the sections to the Bureau of Land Management, Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days from date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

HATFIELD CHILSON,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

FEBRUARY 4, 1957.

Sections 70.9, 70.13, 70.14 and 70.17 are amended; the text of § 70.24 is redesignated as paragraph (a) of that section and a new paragraph (b) is added thereto; § 70.25 is amended by adding new paragraphs (d) and (e) thereto, to read as follows:

§ 70.9 Lease bond. A compliance bond, in no event less than $1,000, with approved corporate surety (Form 4-1113), or the lessee's personal bond in similar amount (Form 4-1114), will be required prior to the issuance of a lease. Personal bonds must be accompanied by negotiable Federal securities in the amount of the bond. If the amount of the bond is fixed at $1,000, the lessee may, instead, furnish a bond on Form 4-1113 with two qualified individual sureties. Each surety must execute a statement showing that he is worth in real property not exempt from execution double the amount of the bond, over and above his just debts and liabilities, and that he is either a resident of the same State or Territory and the United States Judicial District as the principal on the bond, or of the Territory and the Judicial District in which the lands involved are located. There must also be furnished a certificate by a judge or clerk of a court of record, a United States Attorney, a United States Commisisoner, or United States postmaster, as to the identity, signature, and financial competency of the sureties. All bonds furnished with individual sureties will be examined every two years or at any other time when found advisable, and the principal on the bond will be required to furnish new statements of justification by the sureties and a new certificate of financial competency, and if such sureties are unable to qualify additional security will be required. The statement of justification required to be furnished by the sureties, and the certificate of competency should be on Form 4-215.

§ 70.13 Notice of lease offer. Notice of offer of lands or deposits for lease will be by publication once a week for four consecutive weeks, or for such other period as may be deemed advisable, in a newspaper of general circulation, published in the Territory of Alaska. The notice will show the time and place of sale, whether the sale will be at public auction or by sealed bids, the description of the land and the place where a detailed statement of the terms and conditions of the lease offer and the obligations of the successful bidder to pay for publication of that notice may be obtained. A copy of the notice will be posted in the appropriate land office during the period of publication. The detailed statement will set forth the terms and conditions of the sale, including the manner in which bids may be submitted, and statements (a) that the successful bidder will be required, prior to the issuance of a lease, to pay his proportionate share of the total cost of publication of the notice of lease offer, and that the successful bidder's share shall be that proportion of the total advertising cost, that the number of parcels of land awarded to him bears to the number of parcels for which high bidders are declared, and (b) that the Government reserves the right to reject any and all bids. If the sale is by public auction, the statement of terms and conditions of the sale will also specify that sealed bids will be accepted. If any bid be rejected, the deposit will be returned. The commission of any act of intimidation of bidders, or the combination of bidders to hinder or prevent biding is unlawful. See 18 U. S. C. 1860.

§ 70.14 Sale; bidding requirements; action by successful bidder. (a) When the sale is by public auction, before bidding is commenced by those persons present, the Manager or other officer conducting the sale will open and read to those persons the sealed bids received on or before the time set in the notice of lease offer. The successful bidder at a sale by public auction must on the day of sale deposit with the Manager or other officer conducting the sale and each bidder at a sale by sealed bid must submit with his bid, the following: Certified check, cashier's check, bank draft, money order or cash for one-fifth of the amount bid by him and a statement over the bidder's own signature with respect to citizenship and interests held, similar to that prescribed in § 70.11 (a) (2), (3) and (b).

(b) Upon receipt of the high bid at, and at the close of, an oral auction, or the opening of the sealed bids, the authorized officer, subject to his right to reject any and all bids, will award the lease to the successful bidder, who will be notified accordingly. If the land is surveyed, four copies of the lease will be sent to the successful bidder, who will be required within 30 days from receipt thereof to execute them, pay the balance of the bonus bid, the first year's rental, and the cost of publication of the notice of lease offer as specified in § 70.13, and file a bond as required by § 70.9. The lease will be dated as of the first day of the month following its issuance unless the successful bidder requests that it be dated as of the first day of the month of issuance. If the land is unsurveyed, the successful bidder will not be required to comply with the requirements of this subsection until the land has been surveyed and the plat of such survey accepted and officially filed. Such survey will be at the expense of the Government. If the bidder, after being awarded a lease, fails to execute it or otherwise comply with the applicable regulations, his deposit will be forfeited and disposed of as other receipts under the Alaska Coal Leasing Act. If the lease awarded to the successful bidder is executed by an attorney acting in behalf of the bidder, the lease must be accompanied by evidence that the bidder authorized the attorney to execute the lease. If the bidder dies before the lease is issued, there must be furnished satisfactory evidence such as specified in § 70.24 (b), in order that the Manager of the appropriate land office may determine to whom the lease may be issued.

§ 70.17 Relinquishment of lease. Upon a satisfactory showing that the public interest will not be impaired, the lessee may surrender the entire lease or any legal subdivision thereof. A relinquishment must be filed in duplicate in the appropriate land office. Upon its acceptance it shall be effective as of the date it is filed, subject to the continued obligation of the lessee and his surety to make payment of all accrued rentals and royalties and to provide for the preservation of any mines or productive works or permanent improvements on the leased lands in accordance with the regulations and terms of the lease.

(b) If the permittee dies before the lease is issued, the lease will be issued to the executor or administrator of the estate if probate of the estate has not been completed; if probate has been completed, or is not required, to the heirs or devisees; and if there are minor heirs or devisees, to their legal guardian or trustee in his name, provided there is filed in all cases the following information:

(1) Where probate of the estate has not been completed:

(i) Evidence that the person, who as executor or administrator submits forms of lease and bond, has authority to act in that capacity and to sign such forms.

(ii) Evidence that the heirs or devisees are the heirs or devisees of the deceased permittee and are the only heirs or devisees of the deceased.

(iii) A statement over the signature of each heir or devisee concerning citizenship and holdings similar to that required by § 70.11 (a) (2) and (3), except where the heir or devisee is a minor in which case the statement should be signed by the executor or administrator in behalf of the heir or devisee and be accompanied by evidence that the executor or administrator is authorized to sign the statement.

(2) Where the executor or administrator has been discharged or no probate proceedings are required:

(i) A certified copy of the will or decree of distribution, if any, and if not, a statement signed by the heirs that they are the only heirs of the permittee and citing the provisions of the law of the deceased's last domicile showing no probate is required.

(ii) A statement over the signature of each of the heirs or devisees with reference to citizenship and holdings similar to that required by § 70.11 (a) (2) and (3), except that if the heir or devisee is a minor, the statement must be over the signature of the guardian or trustee and be accompanied by evidence that he is authorized to sign in behalf of the minor.

(3) Where there is a legal guardian or trustee:

(i) A certified copy of the court order authorizing the guardian or trustee to act as such and to fulfill in behalf of the minor or minors all obligations of the lease or arising thereunder; statements by the guardian or trustee as to the holdings of each of the minors and as to his own citizenship and holdings, including his holdings for the benefit of other minors similar to that required by § 70.11 (a) (2) and (3).

§ 70.25 Transfers, including subleases. • • •

(d) No transfer will be approved if the transferee is not qualified to take and hold a permit or lease or if his bond is insufficient. A minor, except a minor heir or devisee of a permittee or lessee, is not qualified to hold a permit or lease and a transfer to a minor will not be approved.

(e) In order for the heirs or devisees of a deceased holder of a permit or lease, an operating agreement, or a royalty interest in a permit or lease, to be recognized by the Secretary as the holder of the permit or lease, agreement or interest, there must be furnished the appropriate showing required under § 70.24 (b).

PROCESSED FRUITS AND VEGETABLES, PROCESSED PRODUCTS THEREOF, AND CERTAIN OTHER PROCESSED FOOD PRODUCTS [1]

INSPECTION AND CERTIFICATION; PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is considering the amendment, as herein proposed, of existing regulations (7 CFR 52.1—52.87) governing the inspection and certification of processed fruits and vegetables, processed products thereof, and certain other processed food products issued pursuant to the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.).

The proposed changes involve new definitions concerning sampling, the deletion of existing tables of sampling rates and the substitution therefor of sampling plans to indicate the number of sample units to be selected for inspection and, in some instances, the number of deviations from certain quality, condition, or contractual requirements that may be permitted when determining the acceptability of a lot of processed food products for a grade, specification, or contract.

The proposed changes also include a procedure for establishing the grade of a lot of processed food products when the basis for inspection includes the quality requirements of an appropriate United States standard for grades of the product and such standards now provide for a scoring system in ascertaining the grade of a sample unit. The proposed procedure to be included in the aforementioned regulations would supersede the procedures outlined in many United States standards for grades of processed food products concerning tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples and it is contemplated that provisions for such procedures set forth in the individual standards will be deleted.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed revision should file the same with the Chief, Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed revisions in the regulations governing inspection and certification are as follows:

1. Delete subparagraph (2) of paragraph (o) of § 52.3 Terms defined, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

(2) For the purpose of sampling and determining the grade or compliance with a specification, "Lot" means each pile of containers of the same size and type containing a processed product of the same type and style which is separated from other piles in the same warehouse, but containers in the same pile bearing an identification mark different from other containers in that pile may be deemed to be a separate lot.

2. Delete paragraph (u) of § 52.3 Terms defined, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

(u) "Sample" and "sample unit" have the following meanings:

(1) "Sample" means any number of sample units of a product to be used for inspection.

(2) "Sample unit" means a single container and/or its entire contents, a single portion of the contents of a container or other unit of commodity, a composite mixture of a single type, size, or style of a single commodity packed in a single-size container, or other unit, as may be designated by the Administrator.

3. Delete § 52.13 Basis of inspection and insert in lieu thereof the following:

§ 52.13 Basis of inspection and grade or compliance determination. (a) Inspection service shall be performed on the basis of the appropriate United States standards for grades of processed products, Federal, Military, Veterans Administration or other government agency specifications, written contract specifications, or any written specification or instruction which is approved by the Administrator.

(b) Unless otherwise approved by the Administrator compliance with such grade standards, specifications, or instructions shall be determined by evaluating the product, or sample, in accordance with the requirements of such standards, specifications, or instructions: Provided, That when inspection for quality is based on any United States grade standard which contains a scoring system the grade to be assigned to a lot is the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the sample units: Provided further, That:

(1) Such sample complies with the applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act;

(2) Such sample complies with the product description;

(3) Such sample meets the indicated grade with respect to factors of quality which are not rated by score points; and

(4) With respect to those factors of quality which are rated by score points, each of the following requirements is met:

(i) None of the sample units falls more than one grade below the indicated grade because of any quality factor to which a limiting rule applies;

(ii) None of the sample units falls more than 4 score points below the minimum score for the indicated grade; and

(iii) The number of sample units that are deviants does not exceed the applicable acceptance number indicated in the sampling plans contained in § 52.38. A "deviant," as used in this section, means a sample unit that falls into the next grade below the indicated grade but does not score more than 4 points below the minimum score for the indicated grade.

(5) If any of the provisions contained in subparagraphs (3) and (4) of this paragraph are not met the grade is determined by considering such provisions in connection with succeedingly lower grades until the grade of the lot, if assignable, is established.

4. Delete § 52.38 Sampling rates for officially drawn samples including Tables I, II, III, IV, V, VI, and VII and insert in lieu thereof the following:

§ 52.38 Sampling plans and acceptance levels. (a) Unless otherwise approved by the Administrator, each inspector and each licensed sampler shall select from each lot the exact number of sample units indicated for the lot size in either the following applicable single sampling plans or the appropriate multiple sampling plan: Provided, That—

(1) He may, in his discretion, select the exact number of sample units indicated for any one of the larger-size lots provided for in the selected sampling plan, or

(2) If, in the conduct of continuous or other in-plant inspection, the sample is examined before the lot size is known and the number of sample units exceeds the prescribed minimum sample size for such lot, but does not equal any one of the prescribed larger sample sizes, the following procedure may be used to determine whether the lot meets any specific requirement:

(i) If the number of deviants (or deviations when so specified) in the irregular sample does not exceed the acceptance number prescribed for the next smaller sample size, the lot meets the requirement.

(ii) If the number of deviants (or deviations when so specified) in the irregular sample equals the acceptance number prescribed for the next larger sample size, additional sample units shall be selected to increase the sample to the next larger prescribed sample size.

(iii) If the number of deviants (or deviations when so specified) in the irregular sample exceeds the acceptance number prescribed for the next larger sample size, the lot fails to meet the requirement.

(b) Unless otherwise approved by the Administrator, the acceptance numbers prescribed in the sampling plans in this section shall be the maximum number of deviants (or deviations when so specified) permitted in a sample. As used in this section, "deviation" means any variation in a sample unit from a specific grade or specification requirement that is specifically defined as such in these regulations, any grade standard, specification, or other document used as a basis for inspection; "deviant" means any sample unit affected by one or more deviations.

(c) Sampling plans referred to in this section are contained in Tables I, II, III, IV, V, VI, and VII which follow. For processed products not included in these tables, the minimum sample size shall be the exact number of sample units prescribed in the table, container group, and lot size that, as determined by the inspector, most closely resembles the product, type, container size, and amount of product to be sampled.

[1] Among such other processed food products are the following: Honey; molasses, except for stockfeed; nuts and nut products, except oil; sugar (cane, beet and maple); sirups (blended), sirups, except from grain; marine food products, except oil.

FIRST SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER

It appearing, that petitions have been filed with the Federal Maritime Board for or on behalf of the following carriers and conference, in which relief is sought to depart from the terms of rule 20 (c) of Tariff Circular No. 3 in order to publish certain interim increases in the rates continued in effect as a result of the order of suspension dated January 25, 1957 in Docket No. 808:

It further appearing, that petitioner seeks to publish the emergency rates, rules, regulations and charges on a basis identical to the rates, rules, regulations and charges named in Matson Navigation Company Tariffs FMB-F Nos. 66 and 67;

It further appearing, that petitioner desires to direct the cancellation of the aforesaid emergency supplement by a subsequent schedule which will name interim rates as authorized by the Board in supplemental order in Docket No. 808 with respect to carriers listed therein;

It further appearing, that the interim tariff aforesaid will name rates, rules, regulations and charges which are lower than the rates, rules, regulations and charges named in petitioner's tariff FMB-F. No. 1 which tariff is under suspension in Docket No. 808;

It further appearing, that good cause exists for granting petitioner special permission on one day's notice to publish the emergency supplement to petitioner's Tariff FMB-F. No. 1; and

[Appeals Board Docket No. FC-40]

AMERICAUTO

APPEALS BOARD DECISION

In the matter of Jacques Bensa, doing business as Americauto, 44 rue Brunel, Paris, France.

A temporary order was issued which, among other things, denied United States export privileges to the above-named appellant on October 4, 1956 (21 F. R. 7703), and the term thereof was extended to January 28, 1957 by a further order issued December 4, 1956 (21 F. R. 9794), and again extended by a further order issued January 28, 1957 (22 F. R. 643). The original order, as extended, is the subject of this appeal.

Following an oral hearing on the record before the Appeals Board, the record in this matter has been carefully examined and due weight has been given to the written statements from the appellant in support of his appeal.

The Board finds that, up to this point, the temporary suspension order, as extended, from which this appeal is made, has been properly imposed and extended to protect the national interest of the United States.

Therefore, it is ordered, That:

1. The appeal be and hereby is denied, provided however, that nothing in this decision shall be construed as precluding the appellant from appealing any further extension of the temporary suspension order beyond that which has already been made.

GRISWOLD FORBES,
Deputy Chairman, Appeals Board.

AEROJET GENERAL NUCLEONICS

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND PROPOSED ISSUANCE OF AMENDMENT TO LICENSE AUTHORIZING TRANSFER OF REACTOR TO PHILADELPHIA, PA. AND OPERATION IN CONVENTION HALL

Please take notice that Aerojet General Nucleonics on January 22, 1957, filed an application for authorization (a) to transfer its Model AGN-201 type nuclear reactor, Serial No. 101, from its San Ramon, California plant to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, (b) to operate the reactor as an exhibit in Convention Hall during the period March 6, 1957 to March 15, 1957, inclusive, and (c) subsequent to such operation to return the core to San Ramon, California, and to transfer the reactor without core to Catholic University, Washington, D. C., for storage by AGN. The reactor proposed to be so transferred and operated is one of the three for which AGN seeks a license in Docket No. F-32. Notice of the proposed issuance of a construction permit and the facility licenses in Docket No. F-32 has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, 22 F. R. 742.

Please take further notice that if the Atomic Energy Commission issues the license in Docket No. F-32 referred to above, the AEC proposes to amend such license substantially as set forth below unless within 15 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER a request for a formal hearing is filed with the Commission in the manner prescribed by § 2.102 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice (10 CFR Part 2).

There is annexed a Memorandum submitted by the Division of Civilian Application which summarizes the principal factors considered in reviewing the application. A copy of the application is on file in the Atomic Energy Commission Public Document Room, located at 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D. C.

Amendment to license. 1. Subject to the conditions and requirements incorporated herein, the Atomic Energy Commission hereby amends the license issued to Aerojet-General Nucleonics (herein referred to as "AGN") for the operation of AGN-201 reactor, Serial No. 101 (hereinafter referred to as the "reactor"), in the following respects:

(a) AGN is authorized to transfer the reactor from AGN's plant in San Ramon, California, to Convention Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania;

(b) AGN is authorized to operate the reactor at the site designated in its application in Convention Hall as an exhibit during the period of the Atomic Exposition and Nuclear Congress, March 6 to March 15, 1957, inclusive;

(c) AGN is authorized thereafter to return the core of the reactor to its plant at San Ramon, California, and to transfer the reactor, without core, to a site at Catholic University, Washington, D.C., for storage by AGN;

(d) AGN shall transfer the reactor to Philadelphia, operate the reactor in Convention Hall, return the core to San Ramon, California, and transfer the reactor without core to the site at Catholic University, Washington, D. C., in accordance with the procedures described in its application filed January 22, 1957, and amendment thereto filed January 28, 1957;

(e) Material irradiated in the reactor shall not be distributed to any person except as authorized in or pursuant to the regulations contained in 10 CFR Part 30, "Licensing of Byproduct Material"; and

(f) The reactor core shall for purposes of transportation be packaged and labeled in accordance with the procedures specified in the application, and the regulations contained in 10 CFR Part 20, "Standards for Protection Against Radiation" and in accordance with applicable regulations of other Federal Agencies.

2. Nothing contained in this amendment shall relieve AGN from compliance with any of the provisions contained or incorporated in the license issued to it for the AGN-201 reactor, Serial No. 101.

Dated at Washington, D. C., this 6th day of February 1957.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

H. L. PRICE,
Director,
Division of Civilian Application.

MEMORANDUM

The AGN-201 reactor is a small research reactor designed by Aerojet-General Nucleonics (AGN) to operate at a maximum power of 100 milliwatts. One reactor of the type has been constructed and is presently operating at the AGN site in Sam Ramon, California, pursuant to License R-6 issued October 19, 1956.

A complete description of the reactor and a hazards analysis concerning the reactor are contained in various license applications which have been submitted by AGN (Docket Nos. F-15, F-32 and F-44). A summary of the reactor description and detailed discussion of the hazards analysis of the AGN-201 type reactor have been incorporated in a memorandum accompanying the Notice of Proposed Issuance of Construction Permit for three additional reactors of the same type in Docket No. F-32.

AGN now proposes to transfer an AGN-201 reactor to the Atomic Exposition and Nuclear Congress in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, to exhibit it during the period March 6 to March 15, 1957, and then to return the core to San Ramon and place the reactor in storage at Catholic University, Washington, D. C. AGN estimates that approximately 10,000 delegates and visitors will view the reactor at the Philadelphia site.

PROCEDURE FOR TRANSPORTING NUCLEAR COMPONENT

Prior to transporting the reactor the top six core discs and the fuel discs from the control and safety rod capsules will be removed from the core and placed in a gas-tight steel vessel, held in a birdcage (a container which isolates special nuclear material to preclude concentration of a critical mass). The total amount of U-235 in this vessel will be approximately 350 grams. The remainder of the core material, containing approximately 300 grams U-235, will be left sealed inside the core tank.

It is stated in the application that both the birdcage and the core tank will be placed in containers labeled in conformance with Part 72 of ICC Regulations. In addition it is provided in the accompanying proposed amendment that the packaging as well as labeling shall be in conformance with applicable regulations of other Federal Agencies. The 10 millicurie radium-beryllium source will be placed in a shielded and fireproof container and similarly labeled. The three containers will be escorted by AGN personnel from San Ramon, California, to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Upon arrival at Convention Hall the material will be stored in a locked and guarded room until the fuel and source are placed in the reactor vessel at Convention Hall. The same procedures will be followed in packaging and transporting the material back to San Ramon as were employed in shipping the material to Philadelphia.

The procedures for shipping the special nuclear material and the source are reasonable, and it is concluded that there will be no undue risk to the health and safety of the public in these operations.

DESCRIPTION OF SITE, CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA

The reactor is to be located in Exhibit Space No. 270 in the Grand Exhibition Hall of Convention Hall. The building is constructed with brick walls 24 feet high, a 4½ inch concrete floor pad and a wood truss roof. The 20 x 30 foot exhibit area will be surrounded by a chain guard rail; an inner chain guard rail will surround the control console. A guard stationed at the entrance to the exhibit area will restrict entrance to AGN personnel and such others who are specifically invited into the exhibit area by AGN. A maximum of two visitors will be permitted in the area at any one time. Access to the control console will be limited to a licensed operator at all times. The exhibit area will be supervised by AGN personnel at all times when Convention Hall is open to the public, and will be guarded by members of a qualified protection service during other times.

PLANS FOR DEMONSTRATION OF REACTOR

AGN's plans for operating the reactor at the Atomic Exposition and Nuclear Congress include: (1) bringing the reactor to power approximately 10 times each day, (2) irradiation of samples of polyethylene, polystyrene and aluminum, and (3) irradiation of silver contained in dimes, to illustrate neutron activation. The application states that none of the dimes will be given to the public until the activity is within permissible limits specified in 10 CFR Part 20. The accompanying proposed amendment provides that material irradiated in the reactor shall not be distributed to any person except as authorized in or pursuant to the regulations contained in 10 CFR Part 30.

HAZARDS ANALYSIS

The hazards and safety factors associated with this reactor were discussed in the memorandum accompanying the Notice of Proposed Issuance of Construction Permit in Docket No. F-32. That memorandum is incorporated herein by reference.

CONCLUSION

From a consideration of the problems involved it is concluded that there is reasonable assurance that the reactor may be operated at the proposed site in Convention Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in accordance with described procedures without undue risk to the health and safety of the public.

Dated at Washington, D. C., this 6th day of February, 1957.

H. L. PRICE,
Director.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 2-11751]

GULF SULPHUR CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

FEBRUARY 4, 1957.

Notice is hereby given that Gulf Sulphur Corporation (Company) has filed an application under section 310(b)(1)(ii) of the Trust Indenture Act of 1939 (Act) for a finding by the Commission that trusteeship of The Chase Manhattan Bank under an Indenture dated as of July 1, 1955 (1955 Indenture) which was heretofore qualified under the act, and trusteeship by The Chase Manhattan Bank under a proposed indenture to be dated as of December 15, 1956 (1956 Indenture) not to be qualified under the act, is not so likely to involve a material conflict of interest as to make it necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors to disqualify said Trustee from acting as such under the 1955 Indenture and the 1956 Indenture.

Section 310 (b) of the act, which is embodied in section 9.08 of the 1955 Indenture, provides, in part, that if an indenture trustee under an indenture qualified under the act has or shall acquire any conflicting interest (as defined in the section), it shall, within ninety days after ascertaining that it has such conflicting interest, either eliminate such conflicting interest or resign. Subsection (1) of this section provides, with certain exceptions stated therein, that a trustee is deemed to have a conflicting interest if it is trustee under more than one indenture of the same obligor. However, pursuant to clause (ii) of subsection (1), an issuer may sustain the burden of proving, on application to the Commission and after opportunity for hearing thereon, that trusteeship under a qualified indenture and another indenture is not so likely to involve a material conflict of interest as to make it necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors to disqualify such trustee from acting as trustee under one of such indentures.

The Company alleges that—

1. It proposes to issue $750,000 principal amount of the company's 6 percent Series C Convertible Debentures under the 1956 Indenture. The Chase Manhattan Bank would be the Trustee. The fifteen purchasers of these Debentures would take for investment rather than distribution. The 1956 Indenture is therefore exempt from qualification under the act by virtue of section 304 (c).

2. The 1955 Indenture provided for the issuance of $3,000,000 principal amount of the company's 5 percent Series A Convertible Debentures and $1,500,000 principal amount of its Series B Convertible Debentures. This Indenture was qualified under the act.

3. Both Indentures are wholly unsecured.

4. Aside from differences as to amounts, dates, interest rates, redemption prices and other procedural differences, most of the provisions of the two Indentures are alike.

5. The company is not in default under either Indenture.

6. The differences between the 1955 Indenture and the 1956 Indenture are not likely to involve a conflict of interest in the trusteeship.

For a more detailed statement of the matters of fact and law asserted, all persons are referred to the application which is on file in the offices of the Commission at 425 Second Street NW., Washington, D. C.

Notice is further given that an order granting the application may be issued by the Commission at any time on or after February 22, 1957, unless, prior thereto, a hearing upon the application is ordered by the Commission, as provided in clause (ii) of section 310 (b) (1) of the act. Any interested person may, not later than February 20, 1957, in writing, submit to the Commission his views or any additional facts bearing upon this application or the desirability of a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D. C., and should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person submitting such information or requesting a hearing, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact and law raised by the application which he desires to controvert.

ZENITH URANIUM AND MINING CORP.

ORDER VACATING ORDER OF SUSPENSION

I. Zenith Uranium and Mining Corporation of 351 South Street, Salt Lake City, Utah, filed July 12, 1954 with the Commission a notification on Form 1–A relating to a proposed public offering of 300,000 shares of its common stock, 1 cent par value, at $1 a share for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

II. The Commission on December 13, 1955 ordered that the conditional exemption under Regulation A be temporarily suspended on the ground that the issuer failed to comply with a requirement of Regulation A by failing to file semi-annual reports of stock sales and on the additional ground that its underwriter, Daniel M. Sheehan, Jr., d/b/a Sheehan & Company, consented to the entry of an order in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts permanently enjoining him from further violations of the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and in particular section 17 in connection with the purchase or sale of any security.

III. It appears that no sales have been made nor will be made by the issuer, promoters, their agents, servants, employees, attorneys or their assigns; that pursuant to the underwriting agreement, contractual relationship between Zenith Uranium and Mining Corporation and Sheehan & Company, its underwriter, terminated on November 10, 1954; that no shares of stock were ever printed and, accordingly, no shares were ever physically delivered to anyone; that the issuer has abandoned plans for a public offering of its securities either pursuant to Regulation A or the registration provisions of the 1933 Act and to this end had caused said corporation to be dissolved. It also appears that there are no outstanding liabilities of the issuer and that the issuer considers it has no legal obligation to anyone to deliver any shares; that the mining claims, being the sole asset of the issuer, were retransferred out of the corporation and that no one has any claim to any shares of the issuer; that the injunctive action taken against the underwriter did not arise out of any transactions which the underwriter had by, for or with the issuer; and that the issuer has filed the necessary 2–A forms.

IV. It appearing to the Commission that a hearing is not necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors and that the basis for said temporary order of suspension as aforesaid no longer exists:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (b) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that said temporary order of suspension be and it hereby is vacated.

UNION CHEMICAL & MATERIALS CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO WITHDRAW FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

FEBRUARY 4, 1957.

In the matter of Union Chemical & Materials Corporation, Common Stock; File No. 1–3131.

The above named issuer, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2–1 (b) promulgated thereunder, has made application to withdraw the specified security from listing and registration on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange.

The reasons alleged in the application for withdrawing this security from listing and registration include the following:

The applicant no longer has any offices or business operations in Pittsburgh. The volume for the stock on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange is negligible and does not warrant the expenses of continued listing thereon. The stock will remain listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Upon receipt of a request, on or before February 19, 1957, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. On February 4, 1957, the Tariff Commission suspended action, pending the outcome of certain patent litigation, on complaints under section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930 filed by Speidel Corporation, 70 Ship Street, Providence, Rhode Island, alleging unfair methods of competition and unfair acts in the importation and sale in the United States of certain foreign expansion bracelets and parts thereof. Notice of receipt of the complaints was issued by the Commission on October 30, 1956 (21 F. R. 8473).

The action of the Commission was based in part on the fact that certain of the patents involved in the complaints are the subject of pending patent suits in the Federal Courts.

I certify that the above action was taken by the United States Tariff Commission on February 4, 1957.

AUTHORITY: §§ 52.2541 to 52.2558 issued under sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1624.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION, STYLES, GRADES, AND TYPES

§ 52.2541 Identity. "Canned asparagus" means the canned product prepared from clean, sound, succulent shoots of the asparagus plant prepared and processed in accordance with good commercial practice as such product is defined in the standard of identity for canned asparagus (§ 51.990 of this chapter, 20 F. R. 9621-9622) issued pursuant to the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

§ 52.2542 Styles of canned asparagus. (a) "Spears" (stalks), which may be peeled or unpeeled, is the style of canned asparagus that consists of the head and adjoining portion of the shoot that is 3¾ inches or more in length.

(b) "Tips" is the style of canned asparagus that consists of the head and adjoining portion of the shoot that is less than 3¾ inches but not less than 2¾ inches in length.

(c) "Points" is the style of canned asparagus that consists of the head and adjoining portion of the shoot that is less than 2¾ inches in length.

(d) "Cut spears" (cut stalks) is the style of canned asparagus that consists of shoots cut transversely into pieces. The recommended minimum percent, by count, of heads in cut spears is given in Table No. 1 of this section.

RECOMMENDED MINIMUM PERCENT, BY COUNT, OF HEADS IN CUT SPEARS

Length of units:	Percent, by count, of heads
1¼ inches or less	15
Over 1¼ inches	20

(e) "Bottom cuts" or "cuts—tips removed" is the style of canned asparagus that consists of portions of shoots with heads removed that are cut transversely into pieces.

(f) "Mixed" is the style of canned asparagus consisting of two or more of the foregoing styles.

§ 52.2543 Grades of canned asparagus. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of canned asparagus that possesses a good flavor; that possesses a clear liquor; that possesses a good color; that is practically free from defects; that possesses a good character; and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section the total score is not less than 85 points: Provided, That the canned asparagus may possess a fairly clear liquor and a fairly good color if the total score is not less than 85 points.

(b) "U. S. Grade C" or "U. S. Standard" is the quality of canned asparagus that possesses a fairly good flavor; that possesses a fairly clear liquor; that possesses a fairly good color; that is fairly free from defects; that possesses a fairly good character; and that scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of canned asparagus that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard.

§ 52.2544 Types of canned asparagus. The type of canned asparagus is not incorporated in the grades of the processed product, since the type of canned asparagus is not a factor of quality for the purpose of these grades. The type of asparagus may be designated in accordance with the following requirements:

(a) "Green" (all green) consists of units of canned asparagus which are typical green, light green, or yellowish green in color.

(b) "Green tipped" consists of canned asparagus spears, tips, and points, of which one-half or more of the unit measured from the tip end is green, light green, or yellowish green in color.

(c) "Green tipped and white" consists of (1) spears, tips, and points of canned asparagus which are typical white or yellowish white in color, and may have green, light green, or yellowish green heads, and the green color may extend to not more than one-half of the length of the stalk measured from the tip end and (2) green tipped and white spears, tips, and points, when cut into units, may consist of a mixture of typical white, yellowish white, green, light green, or yellowish green units.

(d) "White" consists of units of canned asparagus which are typical white or yellowish white in color.

FILL OF CONTAINER AND DRAINED WEIGHTS

§ 52.2545 Recommended fill of container. The recommended fill of container for canned asparagus is not incorporated in the grades of the processed product, since fill of container, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purpose of these grades. It is recommended that each container of canned asparagus be filled as full as practicable with asparagus without impairment of quality.

§ 52.2546 Recommended minimum drained weight. The minimum drained weight recommendations in Table No. 2 are not incorporated in the grades of the processed product, since drained weight, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purpose of these grades. The drained weight of canned asparagus is determined by emptying the contents of the container upon a United States Standard No. 8 sieve of proper diameter, inclining the sieve to facilitate drainage, and allow to drain for two minutes. The drained weight is the weight of the sieve and the asparagus less the weight of the dry sieve. A sieve 8 inches in diameter is used for the No. 2½ size can (401 x 411) and smaller sizes, and a sieve 12 inches in diameter is used for containers larger than the No. 2½ size can.

§ 52.2547 Compliance with recommended minimum drained weights. Compliance with the recommended minimum drained weight for canned asparagus is determined by averaging the drained weights of all of the containers which are representative of a specific lot. Such lot is considered as meeting recommendations, if:

(a) At least one-half of the containers meet the recommended minimum drained weight;

(b) The drained weights of the containers which do not meet the recommended minimum drained weight are within the range of variability of good commercial practice; and

(c) The average drained weight of all of the containers which are representative of the lot does not fall below the minimum recommended drained weight.

SIZE (DIAMETER) OF SPEARS, TIPS, AND POINTS

§ 52.2548 Size (diameter) of spears, tips, and points in canned asparagus. The size (diameter) of asparagus spears, tips, and points in canned asparagus is determined by measuring the largest diameter across the base at right angles to the longitudinal axis of the unit. Units compressed in processing should be restored to their approximate original contour before sizing. Asparagus spears longer than 5 inches are measured at a point 5 inches from the top of the spear. Units 5 inches in length and less are measured at the base or largest cut end of the unit.

§ 52.2549 Compliance with single size recommendations. Canned asparagus spears, tips, and points will be considered as meeting a designated size when not more than 20 percent, by count, of all the units are of the next size smaller or the next size larger than the diameter range of the particular size designation.

SIZES (DIAMETER) OF ASPARAGUS SPEARS, TIPS, AND POINTS IN CANNED ASPARAGUS

Word designation	Diameter (16ths of inch)
Small	Approximately 5/16.
Medium	5/16 to 9/16.
Large	9/16 to 13/16.
Extra Large or Mammoth	13/16 to 17/16.
Colossal	17/16 to 19/16.
Giant	19/16 and over.
Blend of Sizes	A mixture of two or more of the foregoing sizes.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.2550 Ascertaining the grade—(a) General. In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards, the following quality factors are evaluated in ascertaining the grade of the product:

(1) Factor not rated by score points. (i) Flavor.

(2) Factors rated by score points. (i) The relative importance of each factor which is rated is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given each such factor is:

Factors:	Points
Liquor	10
Color	20
Defects	30
Character	40
Total Score	100

(ii) "Good flavor" means that the product has a good, characteristic normal flavor and odor and is free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind.

(iii) "Fairly good flavor" means that the product may be lacking in good flavor and odor but is free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind.

§ 52.2551 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is rated by score points are so described that the value may be ascertained for such factors and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each such factor is inclusive (for example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points).

§ 52.2552 Liquor—(a) (A) classification. Canned asparagus that possesses a clear liquor may be given a score of 9 or 10 points. "Clear liquor" means that the liquor may possess a typical yellow or green color and is fairly free from suspended material and sediment.

(b) (C) classification. If the canned asparagus possesses a fairly clear liquor a score of 7 or 8 points may be given. "Fairly clear liquor" means that the liquor may be cloudy but not excessively cloudy or may possess an accumulation of sediment which may be slightly gray or slightly brown but is not seriously objectionable and is not off color.

(c) (SStd.) classification. Canned asparagus that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 6 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (that is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2553 Color—(a) General. The color of asparagus in canned asparagus is based on the type and style of asparagus and the characteristic and predominant color of the units.

(b) (A) classification. Canned asparagus that possesses a good color may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good color" has the following meanings with respect to the following types and styles of canned asparagus:

(1) Spears, tips, or points—(i) Green. The units possess a good, characteristic, green, light green, or yellowish green color typical of well developed asparagus, and the bottom portion of not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units, or one unit, whichever is larger, may possess typical white or yellowish white color not to exceed one-eighth of the length of the unit.

(ii) Green tipped. The units possess a good, characteristic, green, light green, or yellowish green color with typical white or yellowish white color at the base ends, typical of well developed asparagus; and not more than 20 percent, by count, of the units may possess typical white or yellowish white color in excess of one-half of the length of the unit or may be all green.

(iii) Green tipped and white. The units possess a good, characteristic, white or yellowish white color, and may possess green, light green, or yellowish green heads and adjacent areas, typical of well developed asparagus, and not more than 20 percent, by count, of the units may possess green, light green, or yellowish green heads and adjacent areas exceeding one-half of the length of the unit.

(iv) White. The units possess a good, characteristic, white or yellowish white color typical of well developed asparagus, and not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units, or one unit, whichever is larger, may possess green, light green, or yellowish green heads and adjacent areas not to exceed one-half of the length of the unit.

(2) Cut spears, bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed, and mixed—(i) Green. The units possess a good, characteristic, green, light green, or yellowish green color typical of well developed asparagus, and not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units, or one unit, whichever is larger, may possess typical white or yellowish white color not to exceed one-eighth of the length of the unit.

(ii) Green tipped. The units possess a good, characteristic, green, light green, or yellowish green color with typical white or yellowish white color at the base ends, typical of well developed asparagus; and not more than 20 percent, by count, of the units may possess typical white or yellowish white color in excess of one-half of the length of the unit or may be all green.

(iii) Green tipped and white. The units possess a good, characteristic, white or yellowish white color, and may possess green, light green, or yellowish green heads and adjacent areas, typical of well developed asparagus, and not more than 20 percent, by count, of the units may possess green, light green, or yellowish green heads and adjacent areas exceeding one-half of the length of the unit.

(iv) White. The units possess a good, characteristic, white or yellowish white color typical of well developed asparagus, and not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units, or one unit, whichever is larger, may possess green, light green, or yellowish green heads and adjacent areas not to exceed one-half of the length of the unit.

(2) Cut spears, bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed, and mixed. (i) Green. The units possess a fairly good, characteristic, green, light green, or yellowish green color typical of fairly well developed asparagus and not more than 20 percent, by count, of the units may be green and white or white: Provided, That not more than 5 percent, by count, of all the units may be white.

(ii) Green tipped and white or white. The units possess a fairly good, characteristic color typical of fairly well developed green tipped and white or white asparagus.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Canned asparagus that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section or is definitely off color may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2554 Defects—(a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from grit or silt, loose material, shattered heads, poorly cut units, damaged units, and seriously damaged units.

(1) "Grit or silt" means sand or any other particle of earthy material.

(2) "Loose material" means shattered asparagus material and cut or broken pieces which are less than three-eighth inch in length.

(3) "Shattered head" means any unit with the asparagus head broken or shattered to the extent that the appearance is seriously affected.

(4) "Misshapen" means any spear, tip, or point that is badly crooked, or any unit that is seriously affected in appearance by doubles or other malformations.

(5) "Poorly cut" means a unit that has a very ragged, stringy, or frayed edge or edges, or a unit that is partially cut, or is cut at an angle of less than approximately 45 degrees.

(6) "Damaged" means damaged by discoloration, mechanical injury, or damaged by other means to the extent that the appearance or edibility of the unit is materially affected.

(7) "Seriously damaged" means damaged to such an extent that the appearance or edibility of the unit is seriously affected.

(b) (A) classification. Canned asparagus that is practically free from defects may be given a score of 25 to 30 points. "Practically free from defects" means that no grit or silt may be present that affects the appearance or edibility of the product; that loose material may be present that does not materially affect the appearance of the product; and that with respect to the following styles of canned asparagus:

(1) Spears, tips, and points. There may be present with respect to green and green tipped types not more than 10 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 15 percent, by count, of units with shattered heads, misshapen units and poorly cut units, and damaged and seriously damaged units: Provided, That not more than 3 percent, by count, of the units may be seriously damaged, or one unit in a single container may be seriously damaged if such unit exceeds the allowance of 3 percent: Provided, That in all of the containers comprising the sample such damaged units do not exceed an average of 3 percent, by count, of the total number of units.

(2) Cut spears, bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed, and mixed. There may be present for the applicable style not more than 10 percent, by count, of units with shattered heads, misshapen units and poorly cut units, and damaged and seriously damaged units: Provided, That not more than 2 percent, by count, of the units may be seriously damaged or one unit in a single container may be seriously damaged if such unit exceeds the allowance of 2 percent: Provided, That in all of the containers comprising the sample such damaged units do not exceed an average of 2 percent, by count, of the total number of units.

(c) (C) classification. If the canned asparagus is fairly free from defects, a score of 21 to 24 points may be given. Canned asparagus that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly free from defects" means that not more than a trace of grit or silt may be present that affects the appearance or edibility of the product; that loose material may be present that does not seriously affect the appearance of the product; and that with respect to the following styles of canned asparagus:

(1) Spears, tips, and points. There may be present with respect to green and green tipped types not more than 20 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 30 percent, by count, of units with shattered heads, misshapen units, and poorly cut units, and damaged and seriously damaged units: Provided, That not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units may be seriously damaged, or one unit in a single container may be seriously damaged if such unit exceeds the allowance of 10 percent: Provided, That in all of the containers comprising the sample such damaged units do not exceed an average of 10 percent, by count, of the total number of units.

(2) Cut spears, bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed, and mixed. There may be present for the applicable style not more than 20 percent, by count, of units with shattered heads, misshapen units and poorly cut units, and damaged and seriously damaged units: Provided, That not more than 7 percent, by count, of all the units may be seriously damaged.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Canned asparagus that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 20 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2555 Character—(a) General. The factor of character refers to the degree of development of the head and bracts and to the tenderness and texture of the unit.

(1) "Well developed" means that the appearance of the head is not materially affected by a seedy appearance, and is practically compact.

(2) "Fairly well developed" means that the head may show a seedy appearance over the surface of the head and the head and bracts may be elongated but not so developed or elongated as to give a definitely spread or branching appearance.

(b) (A) classification. Canned asparagus that possesses a good character may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Good character" has the following meanings with respect to the following styles and types of canned asparagus:

(1) Spears, tips, and points. Not less than 85 percent, by count, of the heads are well developed; and the remaining units are at least fairly well developed, and with respect to green and green tipped types not more than 10 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 20 percent, by count, of the units, or one unit in a container if such unit exceeds the allowances provided for the respective type, may be tough.

(2) Cut spears and mixed. Not less than 50 percent, by count, of the heads are well developed, and the remainder are at least fairly well developed, and with respect to green and green tipped types not more than 10 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 20 percent, by count, of the units may be tough.

(3) Bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed. With respect to green and green tipped types not more than 10 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 33⅓ percent, by count, of the units may be tough.

(c) (C) classification. If the canned asparagus possesses a fairly good character, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Canned asparagus that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good character" has the following meanings with respect to the following styles and types of canned asparagus:

(1) Spears, tips, and points. Not less than 90 percent, by count, of the heads are at least fairly well developed, and the remaining units may fail to meet the requirements for fairly well developed heads, and with respect to green and green tipped types not more than 25 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 50 percent, by count, of the units may be tough.

(2) Cut spears and mixed. Not less than 90 percent, by count, of all the heads are at least fairly well developed, and the remainder may fail to meet the requirements for fairly well developed heads, and with respect to green and green tipped types not more than 25 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 50 percent, by count, of the units may be tough.

(3) Bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed. With respect to green and green tipped types not more than 25 percent, and with respect to green tipped and white and white types not more than 50 percent, by count, of the units may be tough.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Canned asparagus that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS.

§ 52.2556 Definitions and explanations of terms—(a) Head. Head in cut spears means the tip and which has been cut from an asparagus shoot which is ⅝ inch or more in length with respect to the green type and which is ⅜ inch or more length with respect to green tipped and white and white types, or the upper portion of a spear which possesses a substantial amount of head material which has been cut from near the tip end and which is approximately the same length as the other cut units.

(b) Unit. Unit means any individual portion of an asparagus shoot ⅜ inch or more in length in canned asparagus.

(c) Percent, by count, of heads. Percent, by count, of heads means the percent determined by averaging the percent, by count, of heads in all of the containers comprising the sample.

(d) Tough unit—(1) Spears, tips, and points. Tough unit means a unit which is not cut through in 5 seconds or less when tested by means of the fiberometer and which possesses fibrous material which is materially objectionable upon eating. When tested by means of the fiberometer the test is made at a point 1 inch from the cut end with respect to the green type and at a point 1½ inches from the cut end with respect to the green tipped type, and at the midpoint of the unit with respect to the green tipped and white and white types.

(2) Cut spears, bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed, and mixed, containing cut spears and bottom cuts or cuts—tips removed. Tough unit means a unit which possesses fibrous material which is materially objectionable upon eating.

(e) Asparagus fiberometer. The cutting wire of the fiberometer shall be 0.031 inch diameter stainless steel wire and is mounted in a metal frame having an overall weight of 3 pounds avoirdupois. The slots in the block supporting the asparagus unit to be tested shall be not less than 0.039 inch nor more than 0.042 inch in width.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.2557 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of canned asparagus the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if (1) such containers meet all of the applicable grade requirements of the factors of quality that are not rated by score points, (2) all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification, and (3) with respect to those factors which are rated by score points:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(iii) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iv) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter A—Marketing Orders

[Navel Orange Reg. 104, Amdt. 1]

PART 914—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF HANDLING

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 14, as amended (7 CFR Part 914; 21 F. R. 4707), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective September 22, 1953, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (i) and (ii) of § 914.404 (Navel Orange Regulation 104, 22 F. R. 695) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(i) District 1: 600,600 cartons;

(ii) District 2: 346,500 cartons.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

PART 1065—TOMATOES

IMPORT RESTRICTIONS

Pursuant to the requirement contained in section 8e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), the following restrictions are hereby imposed on all importations of tomatoes into the United States:

§ 1065.2 Tomato Regulation No. 2—(a) Import restrictions. During the period from February 14, 1957, to March 9, 1957, both dates inclusive, and subject to Part 1060 of this subchapter (19 F. R. 7707, 8012) applicable to the importation of listed commodities and the requirements of this section, no person shall import:

(1) Any tomatoes which are "turning" or of greater maturity unless such tomatoes are of a diameter greater than 2⅛ inches, and meet the requirements of 85 percent U. S. No. 1, or better, grade; or

(2) Any tomatoes which are of less maturity than "turning" unless such tomatoes are of a diameter greater than 2⅛ inches and meet the requirements of U. S. Combination, or better, grade except that tomatoes of less maturity than "turning" which are of a diameter greater than $2\frac{9}{32}$ inches may be handled if they meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2, or better, grade.

(b) Lot classification. For purposes of this regulation, any lot of tomatoes containing more than ten (10) percent of "turning" tomatoes shall be classified as "turning" tomatoes.

(c) Minimum quantities. Any importation which, in the aggregate, does not exceed 300 pounds may be imported without regard to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section.

(d) Plant quarantine. No provisions of this section shall supersede the restrictions or prohibitions on tomatoes under the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912.

(e) Inspection and certification. (1) The Federal or the Federal-State Inspection Service, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, is hereby designated, pursuant to § 1060.4 (a) of this subchapter, as the governmental inspection service for the purpose of certifying the grade, size, quality, and maturity of tomatoes that are imported, or to be imported into the United States under the provisions of section 8e of the act.

(2) Inspection and certification by the Federal or the Federal-State Inspection Service of each lot of imported tomatoes is required pursuant to § 1060.3 of this subchapter and this section. Each such lot shall be made available and accessible for inspection. Such inspection and certification will be made available in accordance with the rules and regulations governing inspection and certification of fresh fruits, vegetables, and other products (Part 5 of this title; 21 F. R. 9553). Since inspectors may not be stationed in the immediate vicinity of some smaller ports of entry, importers of uninspected and uncertified tomatoes should make advance arrangements for inspection by ascertaining whether or not there is an inspector located at their particular port of entry. For all ports of entry where an inspection office is not located, each importer must give the specified advance notice to the applicable office listed below prior to the time the tomatoes will be imported.

(3) Inspection certificates shall cover only the quantity of tomatoes that is being imported at a particular port of entry by a particular importer.

(4) The inspections performed, and certificates issued, by the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Department governing the inspection and certification of fresh fruits, vegetables, and other products (Part 51 of this title). The cost of any inspection and certification shall be borne by the applicant therefor.

(5) Each inspection certificate issued with respect to any tomatoes to be imported into the United States shall set forth, among other things:

(i) The date and place of inspection;

(ii) The name of the shipper, or applicant;

(iii) The name of the importer (consignee);

(iv) The commodity inspected;

(v) The quantity of the commodity covered by the certificate;

(vi) The principal identifying marks on the containers;

(vii) The railroad car initials and number, the truck and trailer license number, the name of the vessel, or other identification of the shipment; and

(6) The following shipping point tolerances, applicable to the U. S. No. 1, the U. S. Combination, and the U. S. No. 2 grades, respectively, shall apply to all inspections performed on tomatoes prior to or upon entry into the United States:

(i) U. S. No. 1. "At shipping point (or in shipments from points outside the continental United States when inspected at points of entry) not more than a total of 10 percent, by count, for tomatoes in any lot which fail to meet the requirements of this grade: Provided, That not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for defects causing very serious damage, and including in this latter amount not more than 1 percent for tomatoes which are soft or affected by decay";

(ii) U. S. Combination. "At shipping point (or in shipments from points outside the continental United States when inspected at points of entry) not more than a total of 10 percent, by count, for tomatoes in any lot which fail to meet the requirements of this grade: Provided, That not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for defects causing very serious damage, and including in this latter amount not more than 1 percent for tomatoes which are soft or affected by decay";

(ii) U. S. Combination. "At shipping point (or in shipments from points outside the continental United States when inspected at points of entry) not more than a total of 10 percent, by count, for tomatoes in any lot which fail to meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 grade: Provided, That not more than one-tenth of this amount, or 1 percent, shall be allowed for tomatoes which are soft or affected by decay;" and

(iii) *U. S. (f) Definitions. (1) The terms "U. S. No. 1", "U. S. Combination", "U. S. No. 2", and "turning" shall have the same meaning assigned these terms in the United States Standards for Fresh Tomatoes (21 F. R. 9559). "Turning" means that there is at least a definite break in color to yellow or pink at the blossom end but not more than one-half of the surface, in the aggregate, is yellow or pink.

(2) All other terms have the same meaning as when used in Part 1060 of this subchapter applicable to the importation of listed commodities.

It is hereby found that it is impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation beyond that herein specified (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the requirements established by this import regulation are issued pursuant to section 8e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), which makes such regulation mandatory; (ii) the same regulations will be in effect on February 7, 1957, on domestic shipments of tomatoes under Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (7 CFR 945.303; 22 F. R. 757); (iii) compliance with this tomato import regulation should not require any special preparation by importers which cannot be completed by the effective date; (iv) notice hereof in excess of three days, the minimum that is prescribed by said section 8e, is given with respect to this tomato import regulation; (v) such notice is hereby determined, under the circumstances, to be reasonable; and (vi) the regulations hereby established for tomatoes that may be imported into the United States are equivalent or comparable to those imposed upon domestic tomatoes under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c. Interprets or applies Sec. 401; 68 Stat. 906, 1047; 7 U. S. C. 608e)

C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Idaho-Eastern Oregon Potato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order as amended, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(b) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this amendment, (iii) compliance with this amendment will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation, and (v) information regarding the committee's recommendations has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area.

Order, as amended. The provisions of paragraph (b) (1) and (5) of § 957.315, as amended, (21 F. R. 7480, 9165) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(1) During the period from February 21, 1957, to May 31, 1957, both dates inclusive, no handler shall ship potatoes of any variety unless such potatoes are generally "fairly clean", which means that at least 90 percent of such potatoes are "fairly clean", and in addition

(i) If they are of the Kennebec variety such potatoes meet the requirements of U. S. No. 2, or better, grade, 2 inches minimum diameter or 4 ounces minimum weight,

(ii) If they are of the red skinned varieties, such potatoes meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2, or better grade, 1⅞ inches minimum diameter, and

(iii) If they are of any other variety, such potatoes (a) meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2, or better, grade, 6 ounces minimum weight, or (b) meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 1, or better, grade, Size A, 2 inches minimum diameter or 4 ounces minimum weight, as such terms, grades, and sizes are defined in the United States Standards for Potatoes (§§ 51.1540 through 51.1559 of this title), including the tolerances set forth therein.

* * * * *

(5) The limitations set forth in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall not be applicable to shipments of potatoes for the following purposes: (i) As certified seed potatoes; (ii) export: Provided, That no handler shall ship potatoes for export which do not meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2, or better grade, 1½ inches minimum diameter; (iii) canning, freezing, dehydration or manufacture or conversion into starch, flour, meal, or alcohol; (iv) charity; and (v) potato chipping: Provided, That shipments of potatoes for potato chipping shall meet the requirements of U. S. No. 2, or better grade, 2 inches minimum diameter or 4 ounces minimum weight.

PART 73—SCABIES IN CATTLE

AREAS QUARANTINED BECAUSE OF SCABIES

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 1 and 3 of the act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 123, 125), sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. C. 111–113, 120), and section 7 of the act of May 29, 1884, as amended (21 U. S. C. 117), § 73.0 of Part 73, as amended, Subchapter C, Chapter I, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations (21 F. R. 9244, 10265, 10471), is hereby further amended to read as follows:

§ 73.0 Notice and quarantine. Notice is hereby given that cattle in Colorado are affected with scabies, a contagious, infectious, and communicable disease, and Bent, Crowley, Las Animas, Otero, and Prowers Counties are hereby quarantined because of said disease.

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendment includes Prowers County, Colorado, within the areas quarantined because of scabies in cattle. Part 73, as amended, Subchapter C, Chapter I, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, contains the regulations pertaining to the interstate movement of cattle from such quarantined areas.

The amendment imposes certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of scabies in cattle, and must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

PART 43—GENERAL OPERATION RULES

VFR MINIMUMS WITHIN A CONTROL ZONE FOR FLIGHTS ISSUED A TRAFFIC CLEARANCE

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of February 1957.

Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations contains the air traffic rules governing the operation of aircraft. Section 60.31 currently authorizes air traffic control to permit flight within a control zone when the flight and ground visibility are below the specified three-mile minimum. This provision was intended to permit a pilot to fly from a control zone to an area outside of controlled airspace in which the visibility minimum for VFR flight is one mile. Part 43 prohibits a pilot from flying an aircraft under instrument flight rules unless he holds a valid instrument rating issued by the Administrator and unless he satisfies certain recent flight experience requirements.

It has come to the Board's attention that some pilots who are not rated to fly their aircraft solely by reference to instruments were obtaining a traffic clearance and flying through solid overcast or in conditions of restricted visibility and, consequently, were a hazard to themselves and others. In order to clarify the Board's intention that such flights not be conducted, certain amendments to the Civil Air Regulations were proposed in Draft Release 56-7, (21 F. R. 1748) "VFR minimums within a Control Zone for Flights Issued a Traffic Clearance." The foregoing draft release proposed to establish in Part 60 specific weather minimums below which VFR flight could not be conducted. In addition, amendments to §§ 43.65 and 43.68 (d) of Part 43 were proposed to make it clear that these sections are intended to prohibit a non-instrument-rated pilot, as well as an instrument-rated pilot who has not met the recent experience requirements for instrument flight, from operating aircraft in weather conditions below the minimums prescribed in Part 60 for VFR flight.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of these amendments (21 F. R. 1748), and due consideration has been given to all relevant matters.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 43 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 43, as amended) effective March 15, 1957.

1. By amending § 43.65 to read as follows:

§ 43.65 Instrument flight limitations. No person shall pilot an aircraft under instrument flight rules or in weather conditions less than the minimums prescribed for flight under visual flight rules unless he holds a currently effective instrument rating issued by the Administrator.

2. By amending the first sentence of paragraph (d) of § 43.68 by inserting after the word "rules" and before the word "unless" the words "or in weather conditions less than the minimums prescribed for flight under visual flight rules".

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 602, 610, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008, 1012, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552, 560)

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

VISUAL FLIGHT RULE (VFR) MINIMUMS WITHIN CONTROL ZONES FOR FLIGHTS WITH TRAFFIC CLEARANCE, AND SPEED CONTROL AND COMMUNICATION RULES IN HIGH DENSITY AIR TRAFFIC ZONES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of February 1957.

Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations contains the visibility and distance from cloud minimums for VFR flights within a control zone. Where a traffic clearance has been issued, an aircraft may be operated at lower minimums than when one is not issued; however, current regulations do not specify what the reduced visibility and distance from cloud minimums shall be when such air traffic clearance is issued. The Board proposed to clarify this situation in Draft Release 56-7 (21 F. R. 1748).

The requirements of Part 60 for VFR flights in control zones do not distinguish between control zones of varying traffic densities. In order to determine whether special limitations should be applied in Part 60 for areas in the vicinity of airports having unusually high traffic densities, Special Civil Air Regulation SR-408A was promulgated by the Board. This special regulation delegated to the Administrator sufficient authority to permit him to designate a "high density air traffic zone" in the Washington, D. C. area and to establish special operating rules in the zone on a temporary basis. These special rules were designed to facilitate movement of traffic in the zone under VFR conditions in a safer and more efficient manner. SR-408A terminated on July 31, 1956. As a result of the experience gained under SR-408A, a notice of proposed rule making was published as Draft Release 56-22 (21 F. R. 6302), "Speed Control and Communication Rules for Certain High Density Airports," which contained proposals for the addition to Part 60 of certain provisions especially applicable to high density areas.

Certain matters set forth in Draft Releases 56-7 and 56-22 were, pursuant to notice, the subject of oral argument before the Board on January 14, 1957.

The objective of Draft Release 56-7 was to establish specific visibility and distance from cloud minimums below which VFR flight in a control zone would be prohibited. It was proposed to establish one mile as the visibility minimum for a VFR flight in a control zone (one-half mile exception if the restriction to visibility were of a local nature) and to require that all VFR flights remain "clear of clouds."

The views expressed by the interested parties, both in written comment and oral argument, varied from the belief that the weather minimums proposed by the Board were unnecessarily and unduly restrictive, particularly with respect to general aviation, to the belief that the Board's proposal did not go far enough in the way of imposing restrictions on VFR flight within control zones.

After careful consideration of all of the views expressed on this subject, the Board has concluded that with one minor exception the proposal as contained in Draft Release 56-7 is not unduly burdensome and is necessary in the interest of safety. In fact, the Board has already established by regulation the principle that in uncontrolled airspace a minimum of one-mile visibility is necessary in order that a VFR pilot may properly control the attitude and flight path of his aircraft by visual observation of the ground, and that he may be able to avoid collision with terrain or surface obstacles. The same objective is sought by the proposed visibility minimum in control zones.

The Board also proposed to prescribe a visibility minimum for helicopter operations. However, upon evaluation of the views expressed in regard to this proposal, the excellent safety record of helicopter operations, and the unique flight characteristics of helicopters, the Board is of the opinion that safety considerations do not require the application of separate visibility minimums to helicopters at this time.

The objective of Draft Release 56-22, "Speed Control and Communication Rules for Certain High Density Airports," was to delegate to the Administrator the authority to designate a High Density Air Traffic Zone in which a speed limit and two-way radio communications would be required.

The comments made with respect to the proposed speed-limit rule indicated an almost unanimous agreement that such a rule would enhance the safety of flight operations in a high density zone.

With respect to the two-way radio communication requirement, it is found that there is agreement on the need for a rapid exchange of intelligence between the airport traffic control tower and all pilots in order to accomplish a safe and efficient movement of traffic at a high density airport; however, there is a divergence of views as to the extent of the area in which the two-way radio requirement would be applicable. It is the view of some that the communication requirements should apply to the entire zone, while others believe the rule should apply only to those aircraft taking off or landing at the high density airport. It appears unlikely that the Administrator will be able to control all the VFR traffic within such a zone or, in fact, even handle effectively the volume of communications which such requirement would create. Accordingly, it appears advisable at this time to require communication with the appropriate traffic control facility from aircraft engaged in VFR flight only when the pilot intends to take-off or land at or fly within the traffic pattern of designated airports within the high density zone.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of these amendments (21 F. R 1748 and 21 F. R. 6302), and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 60 as amended) effective March 15, 1957.

1. By amending § 60.18 by adding a new paragraph (f) to read as follows:

§ 60.18 Operation on and in the vicinity of an airport. • • •

(f) High density air traffic zone. In any area not above 3,000 feet above the surface in which the Administrator finds that the volume of traffic is such as to adversely affect safety, he shall designate such airspace as a high density air traffic zone in which the following rules shall apply:

(1) Speed. No person shall operate an aircraft within a high density air traffic zone at a speed in excess of 180 mph or 160 knots indicated airspeed unless operational limitations for a particular aircraft require greater airspeeds, in which case the aircraft shall not be flown in excess of the minimum speed consistent with the safe operational limitations of the aircraft.

(2) Communications requirements. No person shall take off or land an aircraft at or enter the traffic pattern of a designated high density airport unless radio communication with the appropriate air traffic control facility has been established: Provided, That an aircraft not equipped with functioning two-way radio may be operated to or from an airport located within the zone if prior authorization from the appropriate airport traffic control tower has been given.

2. By amending § 60.30 (a) (1) and (2) and by adding a note thereafter to read as follows:

§ 60.30 Ceiling and distance from clouds. • • •

(a) Within control zones. (1) Unless a clearance has been obtained from air traffic control, aircraft shall not be flown beneath the ceiling when the ceiling is less than 1,000 feet; or closer than 500 feet vertically under, 1,000 feet vertically over, or 2,000 feet horizontally from any cloud formation.

(2) When operating in accordance with a clearance issued by air traffic control, aircraft shall remain clear of clouds.

NOTE: With respect to this section, an air traffic clearance obtained under these provisions does not consitute authority for the pilot to deviate from § 60.17 or any other applicable provision of the Civil Air Regulations.

3. By amending § 60.31 (a) and (b) to read as follows:

§ 60.31 Visibility—(a) Ground visibility within control zones. (1) Unless a clearance has been obtained from air traffic control, a pilot shall not take off or land an aircraft at an airport within a control zone or enter the traffic patter of such an airport when the ground visability is less than 3 miles.

(2) When operating in accordance with a clearance issued by air traffic control, a pilot shall not take off or land an aircraft, other than a helicopter, at an airport when the ground visibility is less than one mile: Provided, That where a local surface restriction to visibility exists, such as smoke, dust, or blowing snow or sand, the minimum visibility is one-half mile, if all turns after take-off and prior to landing and all flight beyond one mile from the airport boundary can be accomplished above or outside the area so restricted.

(b) Flight visibility within control zones. (1) Unless a clearance has been obtained from air traffic control, a pilot shall not operate an aircraft in flight within a control zone when the flight visibility is less than 3 miles.

(2) When operating in accordance with a clearance issued by air traffic control, a pilot shall not operate an aircraft, other than a helicopter, within a control zone when the flight visibility is less than one mile: Provided, That such aircraft may take off or land at an airport within a control zone or enter the traffic pattern of such an airport when the minimum visibility is one-half mile due to a local surface restriction such as smoke, dust, or blowing snow or sand, if all turns after takeoff and prior to landing and all flight beyond one mile from the airport boundary can be accomplished above or outside the area so restricted.

SUBPART A—INTRODUCTION

§ 82.4 Scope of subpart. This subpart describes the methods of contract financing by guaranteed loans, advance payments and progress payments, and states basic authority.

§ 82.5 Guaranteed loans; authority. (a) Under Section 301 (a) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and section 301 of Executive Order No. 10480, the Department of the Army, the Department of the Navy, and the Department of the Air Force, among others, are designated as "guaranteeing agencies", and authorized by section 302 (a) of Executive Order No. 10480 "to guarantee in whole or in part any public or private financing institution (including any Federal Reserve Bank), by commitment to purchase, agreement to share losses, or otherwise, against loss of principal or interest on any loan * * * which may be made by such financing institution for the purpose of financing any contractor, subcontractor, or other person in connection with the performance of any contract or other operation deemed by the guaranteeing agency to be necessary to expedite production and deliveries or services under Government contracts for the procurement of materials or the performance of services for the national defense, or for the purpose of financing any contractor, subcontractor, or other person in connection with or in contemplation of the termination, in the interest of the United States, of any contract made for the national defense."

(b) As defined in section 702 (d) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, "the term 'national defense' means programs for military and atomic energy production or construction, military assistance to any foreign nation, stockpiling, and directly related activity".

§ 82.6 Guaranteed loans, description. Guaranteed loans, usually called "V-loans," are essentially the same as other loans made by financing institutions without guarantee, except that under a standard form of guarantee agreement the guaranteeing agency is obligated on demand of the lender to purchase a stated percentage of the loan and to share losses in the amount of the guaranteed percentage. Guaranteed loans afford an especially convenient medium for financing borrowers who hold subcontracts, or numerous prime contracts, or prime contracts with several contracting agencies. Funds are disbursed and collected by the lending institution, and its personnel administer the loan. Government funds are not involved except for purchases of the guaranteed portion of loans or settlement of losses.

§ 82.7 Advance payments; authority. Advance payments on negotiated contracts are authorized in accordance with the provisions of 10 U. S. C. 2307. Advance payments on all contracts, including those contracts awarded on competitive bids after formal advertising, are authorized pursuant to the First War Powers Act, 1941, as amended, Executive Order No. 10210, and regulations issued thereunder. Navy advance payments for salvage operations are also authorized by 10 U. S. C. 7364.

§ 82.8 Advance payments; description. Advance payments are advances of money, made by the Government to a contractor prior to, in anticipation of, and for the purpose of complete performance under a contract or contracts. Advance payments are made only to prime contractors. They are expected to be liquidated from payments due to the contractor incident to performance of contracts. Since they are not measured by performance, they differ from partial, progress, or other payments made because of and on the basis of performance or part performance of a contract. Advance payments may be made to prime contractors for the purpose of making sub-advances to subcontractors.

§ 82.9 Progress payments; authority. The authority to make progress payments is subject to the provisions of section 3648, Revised Statutes, 31 U. S. C. 529.

§ 82.10 Progress payments; description. The term "progress payments", as used herein, signifies payments made as work progresses under a contract, upon the basis of costs incurred, of percentage of completion accomplished, or of a particular stage of completion. As used in this part this term does not include payments for partial deliveries accepted by the Government under a contract, or partial payments on contract termination claims.

SUBPART B—BASIC POLICIES

§ 82.11 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth basic policies applicable to guaranteed loans, advance payments, and progress payments. Policies and procedures more particularly pertaining to the specific methods of contract financing are contained in the subparts of this part relating to each method of financing.

§ 82.12 General. Basic defense contract financing policy is stated in Department of Defense Directives 7800.1, 7800.4, 7800.2, 7830.1, and 7840.1, all annexed hereto and made a part hereof as Appendixes 1–5, inclusive.

§ 82.13 Purpose of contract financing. The providing of funds for payment of expenses of performance of contracts is an essential element of defense production. Contract financing is to be regarded as a useful working tool that may be used to the benefit of the Government, for aiding procurement by expediting performance of defense contracts and subcontracts. The contract financing system makes possible production in volume that could not be accomplished otherwise. Prudent contract financing supports procurement and production and fosters the small business policy by providing necessary funds to supplement other funds available to contractors for contract performance.

§ 82.14 Facilities expansion. As stated in Appendix 3, guaranteed loans will be established primarily for working capital purposes and the guarantee authority will not be used for loans for facilities expansion. Since advance payments and progress payments should be self-liquidating from contract performance, they are not used to finance fixed asset acquisitions for contractor ownership. These limitations are not intended to apply to contracts under which facilities are being acquired for Government ownership.

§ 82.15 Financial responsibility of contractors. Financial difficulties encountered by contractors and subcontractors may (a) disrupt production schedules, (b) cause wastage of manpower and materials, and (c) if connected with guaranteed loans, advance payments, or progress payments, result in monetary loss to the Government. Also, if financial crises occur in the course of a contractor's production, the need for continued production may make guaranteed loans or advance payments imperative for continuance of such production, even though monetary losses may be likely under the circumstances. In order to reduce these hazards so far as possible, contracts should be entered into only with those potential contractors meeting the requirements of § 1.307 or § 2.406 of Subchapter A of this chapter, and who have the financial capacity or credit (giving due regard to the availability of progress payments, guaranteed loans, and advance payments), technical skill, management competence, and plant capacity and facilities (including subcontracting capacity) reasonably to assure their ability to perform their contracts in accordance with their terms. Care should also be taken to the extent practicable to avoid the placement of additional contracts or subcontracts with contractors in situations where additional contracts will overload the contractor's production capacity, overextend his financial resources and credit, and thus tend to interfere with timely performance of contracts on hand, and create need for additional contract financing arrangements, which may be impossible to establish on a prudent basis. In all cases, whether involving formal advertising or negotiation, it must be determined that the contractor is financially and otherwise able to perform the contract. In addition, consideration must be given to the judgment, skill, and integrity of the potential contractor, and to his reputation and experience, including prior work of a similar nature done by him, and the other factors set forth in § 1.307, § 2.406, or § 3.101 of Subchapter A of this chapter, as appropriate. Persons placing subcontracts, at all levels of subcontracting, should be encouraged to apply these standards in placing subcontracts.

§ 82.16 Coordination before contract award. For effective application of the principles stated in § 82.15, each purchasing office should be staffed with and use the services of persons qualified and competent to evaluate credit and financial problems, or each Contracting Officer should have available within his procuring activity, and should use the services of persons so qualified and competent to evaluate credit and financial problems. Among other things, the duties of such persons would be to arrange, prior to contract awards, and so far as practicable, prior to subcontract arrangements, that financing for performance of contemplated contracts and subcontracts is reasonably assured prior to or contemporaneously with the making of contracts. In those exceptional cases where there is substantial doubt that a prospective contractor has the financial capacity or credit resources essential to the performance of the contemplated contract, the interested procuring activity, after having determined that no satisfactory alternative sources of supply are readily available on terms equally as favorable to the Government, should, prior to placement of the contract, consult with the appropriate contract financing office of the interested Department, to determine whether financing can prudently be arranged. These contract financing offices are the Army Comptroller, in the Department of the Army, the Assistant Comptroller, Accounting and Finance, in the Department of the Navy, and the Deputy for Contract Financing to the Assistant Secretary (Financial Management), of the Air Force. In such consultation it should be resolved, if placement of the contract is deemed beneficial to the interests of the Government, whether and by what means financing should be provided.

§ 82.17 Relation of loan guarantees, progress payments, or advance payments to new procurement; financing not a handicap. In all cases, whether involving formal advertising or negotiation, the need for advance payments or for progress payments or for a guaranteed loan (with reasonable percentage of guarantee) shall not be treated as a handicap in awarding contracts to those qualified contractors who are deemed competent and capable of satisfactory performance (§ 1.307, § 2.406 of Subchapter A, and §§ 82.15 and 82.16). The ability of the contractor to perform the contract, including the availability of money or credit necessary for performance, must be reasonably assured in all cases. Within established policy, awards which are otherwise proper must not be deterred by the necessity for providing reasonable contract financing. A contractor deemed reliable, competent, capable, and otherwise responsible, must not be regarded as any less responsible by reason of the need for reasonable contract financing provided or guaranteed by a military department. In selection of an appropriate method for provision of funds, contractors will not be expected to seek or obtain loans or credit from agencies of the Government outside the Department of Defense.

§ 82.18 Report of adverse developments. When materially adverse developments concerning a borrower having a guaranteed loan, or concerning a contractor having advance payments or progress payments, become known to a procuring activity, pertinent facts should be reported by the procuring activity to the contract financing office of the Department principally concerned with the contract financing, so that timely appropriate protective or remedial action may be taken by coordinated action of all concerned. When there are reasons to doubt the prudence of continuing progress payments in cases involving performance difficulties or financial deterioration, decision must be made promptly and with proper regard to the harmful effects of delay on the continued operation of the contractors concerned.

§ 82.19 Small business; general. Immediate and continuing attention must be given at all levels to insure that constructive measures will be taken to facilitate and accelerate necessary contract financing assistance to small suppliers. Every reasonable effort must be made to assist small suppliers in the resolution of their problems relative to the financing of contract performance, as well as to assist them in understanding and complying with the requirements of performance as to payment forms, inspection and cost accounting.

§ 82.20 Timely action. In connection with requests for provision of progress payments, advance payments, or loan guarantees, there must be timely action, no unwarranted delay, and no hesitation to make proper contract financing provisions.

§ 82.21 Acceleration of payments. Payments must be made promptly on all contracts when due. It is of continuing importance that there be acceleration of all proper payments earned by contractors, including progress payments.

SUBPART C—GUARANTEED LOANS

§ 82.22 Scope of subpart. This subpart covers the policies, organization, and procedure particularly applicable to guaranteed loans. It reflects the development of the guaranteed loan program by indicating uniform practices that are being applied pursuant to Appendixes 1, 2 and 3.

§ 82.23 Federal Reserve Banks. Under section 302 (b) of Executive Order No. 10480, pursuant to section 301 (b) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, each Federal Reserve Bank is designated and authorized to act, on behalf of each guaranteeing agency, as fiscal agent of the United States in the making of contracts of guarantee and in otherwise carrying out the purposes of section 301 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, in respect of private financing institutions. Pursuant to Regulation V of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, any private financing institution may submit to the Federal Reserve Bank of its district an application for guarantee of a loan or credit. This application is in substantially standard form, as approved by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, after consultation with the guaranteeing agencies. Forms of application, and information and guidance concerning applications, are available at all Federal Reserve Banks.

§ 82.24 Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Under section 302 (c) of Executive Order No. 10480, all actions and operations of Federal Reserve Banks, as fiscal agents, are subject to the supervision of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (hereinafter referred to as "Federal Reserve Board"). The Federal Reserve Board is authorized, after consultation with the heads of the guaranteeing agencies, (a) to prescribe such regulations governing the actions and operations of fiscal agents as it may deem necessary, (b) to prescribe, either specifically or by maximum limits or otherwise, rates of interest, guarantee and commitment fees, and other charges which may be made in connection with loans, discounts, advances, or commitments guaranteed by the guaranteeing agencies through such fiscal agents, and (c) to prescribe regulations governing the forms and procedures (which shall be uniform to the extent practicable) to be utilized in connection with such guarantees.

§ 82.25 Procedure on application of a private financing institution. A defense contractor or subcontractor (at any level) or supplier, who requires operating funds may apply to the private financing institution selected by him, for the necessary loan or revolving credit, and furnish necessary information to the financing institution. If the financing institution is willing to extend credit, but considers Government guarantee necessary, it may file application for guarantee with the Federal Reserve Bank of its district. The Federal Reserve Bank promptly submits copy of the application to the Federal Reserve Board listing defense contracts, for transmittal to the interested guaranteeing agency, so that determination may be made as to eligibility of the prospective borrower. For the purpose of expediting, the Federal Reserve Bank may also, pursuant to general instructions of the guaranteeing agencies, submit schedules of defense contracts to the interested Contracting Officers, who are expected at once to take appropriate steps for determination of eligibility, and to submit their findings and report, including Certificate of Eligibility where appropriate, to the designated central procurement office, or contract financing office as the case may be, within the guaranteeing agency. Concurrently with the process for determination of eligibility, the Federal Reserve Bank makes any necessary credit investigation, to the extent and in the manner that it considers investigation or verification appropriate to supplement information furnished by the applicant financing institution, all with a view to expediting necessary defense financing in such a way as to afford the best reasonable protection against monetary loss. The report and recommendation of the Federal Reserve Bank are sent to the Federal Reserve Board, which transmits them to the interested guaranteeing agency, in Washington. If the application is approved, on such terms and conditions as may be deemed appropriate by the responsible officer or official within the guaranteeing agency, the guaranteeing agency then authorizes the Federal Reserve Bank, by standard form of authorization transmitted through the Federal Reserve Board, to execute and deliver to the financing institution a standard form of guarantee agreement (of which sample copy is attached hereto, as Appendix 6 [1]), with the terms and conditions approved for the particular case. The Federal Reserve Bank, as fiscal agent for the guaranteeing agency, then issues the guarantee to the financing institution, which makes the loan. Substantially the same procedure may be followed on application for guarantee of loans to be made to a potential defense contractor who is actively negotiating or bidding for defense business, except that the guarantee is not authorized until the prospective defense contract has been executed.

§ 82.26 Loan guarantees to Federal Reserve Banks. The Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and Executive Order No. 10480 also authorize guarantees for loans made or participated in by Federal Reserve Banks. The procedure outlined in § 82.25 applies also to loan guarantees where a Federal Reserve Bank is making or participating in the loan, except that in such cases the interested Federal Reserve Bank, as a financing institution, does not act as fiscal agent, and when approved, the guarantee agreement is executed by an official of the guaranteeing agency.

§ 82.26–1 Other Government agencies. Loan guarantees are not issued to other departments or agencies of the Government.

§ 82.27 Loan guarantees for terminated contracts. (a) Guaranteed loans ordinarily provide for financing based on the borrower's recoverable investment in defense production contracts, including those contracts which have been terminated for the convenience of the Government. Guaranteed loans may also be established after total or partial termination of contracts for the convenience of the Government, or before such termination when it is known that termination of particular contracts for the convenience of the Government is about to occur. Such guaranteed loans are expected to provide necessary financing pending termination settlements and payments, and also to provide any funds necessary for continuing performance of defense production contracts that are eligible for financing under the guaranteed loan.

(b) The procedure on applications for such guarantees will be substantially the same as that outlined in § 82.25, except that Certificates of Eligibility (§§ 82.36 and 82.37) will not be required for contracts which have been wholly terminated, nor for the terminated portion of contracts which have been partially terminated. It is of course expected that necessary precautions, appropriate to the circumstances of individual cases, will be taken, as in other cases, to avoid losses and to cause such loans to be self-liquidating from the proceeds of defense production contracts. This type of loan guarantee, intended primarily for contract termination financing, is not provided before the imminence of particular contract terminations, for the reasons outlined in § 82.35 (c). Further reasons include the difficulty of determining whether contract terminations will occur in the future and will require guaranteed loan financing, and the expense and administrative burden that would be involved in establishing commitments which may in fact never be used.

§ 82.28 Guaranteeing agency. The guaranteeing agencies which have been designated under Section 301 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, are the Departments of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Agriculture, Commerce and Interior, General Services Administration, and Atomic Energy Commission. All of the guaranteeing agencies have concurred in the following policy:

Where a prospective borrower under a V-loan has defense contracts or subcontracts

in which more than one of the guaranteeing agencies are interested, the guaranteeing agency in such case will in general be that agency which, as of the time of the application for the guarantee, has the preponderance of interest in such contracts and subcontracts on the basis of the dollar amount of the prospective borrower's unfilled and unpaid balances of such contracts and subcontracts and estimated claims under terminated contracts (exclusive of contracts with advance payments, if such advance payments are not to be liquidated by the proposed guaranteed loan). If the application is approved and a guarantee agreement is executed on behalf of such agency having the preponderance of interest, that agency will bear all losses and expenses and receive all revenues under such guarantee without allocation to other agencies of the Government.

In this connection, among the Military Departments, single service procurement contracts are deemed those of the purchasing department.

§ 82.28–1 Effect on preponderance, of progress payments or denial of Certificate of Eligibility. Among the Military Departments, the determination of preponderance of interest, under § 82.28, is made without regard to the existence of progress payments on particular contracts, and without regard to the issuance or nonissuance of Certificates of Eligibility on particular contracts.

§ 82.28–2 Shifting of preponderance. During the course of a guaranteed loan, preponderance of interest in the borrower's defense production contracts may shift from one of the Military Departments, as guaranteeing agency, to another Military Department. When such preponderance has shifted materially so that substantial preponderance is in one of the Military Departments other than the guaranteeing agency, action on requests for increases in the amount of guaranteed loans, and on requests for extensions of maturity for a period of more than six months, will ordinarily be taken by the Military Department then having such preponderance of interest. However, in the above situation, action will be taken by the Military Department which has guaranteed the loan, if the loan is in distress, with fairly foreseeable losses, and the requested extension or increase is for the purpose of orderly liquidation of the loan in a manner designed to reduce the amount of the loss. If such a loan is not in distress, and losses are not fairly foreseeable, and the greater part of the borrower's defense production contracts are determined to be eligible for a continuing guaranteed loan, and the circumstances of the case are such that favorable action would have been taken by the then guaranteeing agency if it had remained preponderantly interested in the borrower's defense production contracts, similar favorable action will be taken by the Military Department then having such preponderance of interest. In these cases, while new application for guarantee is required, the file of the contract financing office which has authorized the existing guarantee will be transferred to the contract financing office of the Military Department then having preponderant interest in the case, and the information to be submitted with the application need only be current financial information, data concerning the borrower's defense production contracts, and other pertinent facts concerning the borrower and its operations, to the extent necessary to supplement and bring up to date the information previously furnished to the guarantor. In order not to disturb or impair any security for the existing loan, and for the convenience of all concerned, it is preferable that the new guarantee merely replace the former guarantee, with appropriate recitals as to cancellation of the former guarantee, and with appropriate revision of the existing loan agreement and of such collateral security instruments as may require revision.

§ 82.29 100 percent guarantees. It is the policy of the guaranteeing agencies that 100 percent guarantees shall be limited to the greatest extent compatible with the requirements of the national defense. Applications for 100 percent guarantees will be approved only in cases in which the guaranteeing agency determines that the circumstances are exceptional, that the operations of the borrower are vital to the national defense, and that no other suitable means of financing are available.

§ 82.30 Asset formula. It is the policy of the guaranteeing agencies that borrowings under guaranteed loans made primarily for working capital purposes should be limited, in accordance with an asset formula, to amounts which do not exceed specified percentages (90 percent or less) of the borrower's investment in defense production contracts. The formula may include all items for which the borrower would be entitled to payment on performance or termination of defense contracts, but would not include any amounts (for which no work has been done nor expenditures made by the borrower) to become due as the result of later performance under the borrower's contracts. However, any such asset formula would be subject to relaxation in appropriate cases to the extent and for the time actually necessary for contract performance where the contractor's working capital and credit are inadequate. This "asset formula" does not include "cash collateral" or bank deposit balances.

§ 82.31 Amount and maturity of guaranteed loans. (a) Subject to the limitations of the asset formula (§ 82.30), the maximum amount of guaranteed credit in individual cases, and the maturity date of guaranteed loans or credits, are fixed to conform reasonably to the borrower's financing requirements for defense production contracts on hand at the time of application for guarantee. If additional defense production contracts are entered into after the application and before authorization of a guarantee, to such extent as to require increase in the maximum amount, or longer maturity for the requested guaranteed loan, adjustments may be made to provide for the borrower's additional financing requirements. Also, guarantee agreements for existing guaranteed loans may be amended, on submission of pertinent information and Federal Reserve Bank report to the guaranteeing agency concerned, to provide financing for defense production contracts entered into by the borrower during the term of the guaranteed loan.

(b) Also, within the limits of the applicable loan formula and ceiling amount, there is generally no objection to inclusion in the borrowing base, of assets under defense production contracts entered into after the date of the guarantee agreement. However, in exceptionally weak cases, and in the cases of guaranteed loans established for financing only one or a small number of contracts, it is the practice to require that financing of relatively substantial additional defense contracts under existing guaranteed loans be done only with the consent of the guarantor.

§ 82.32 Assignments of claims under contracts. (a) Assignments of claims under the borrower's defense production contracts are generally required, including assignment of proceeds of such contracts entered into after issuance of the guarantee if after acquired contracts are eligible for financing under the guaranteed loan in a given case. However, assignments need not be required in particular cases, (1) where the borrower's financial condition is so strong as to cause assignments of any contracts to be considered not necessary for the protection of the loan, or, (2) where incident to assignment of major contracts it is considered not necessary for the protection of the loan to require initial assignment of relatively small contracts, or, (3) where the large number of contracts of the borrower for small dollar amounts, would cause the making and administration of contract assignments to be unduly burdensome and inconvenient so long as not deemed essential for the protection of the loan.

(b) It is required, as standard practice, that defense production contracts, not theretofore assigned, will be assigned whenever requested by the guarantor or the financing institution.

(c) Subcontracts and purchase orders issued to subcontractors are not considered acceptable for financing under guaranteed loans if and so long as the issuer of the subcontracts or purchase orders (1) reserves the privilege of making payments directly to the assignor or to the assignor and assignee jointly after notice of the assignment, or (2) reserves the right to reduce or set off assigned proceeds under defense production contracts by reason of claims against the borrower arising after notice of assignment and independently of defense production contracts under which the borrower is the seller.

§ 82.33 Other collateral security. Ordinarily, mortgages on fixed assets are not required, but they are required where considered essential to protect the Government. Liens or other security arrangements pertaining to inventories are also seldom required, except when desired by financing institutions or in exceptional circumstances when deemed necessary to protect the Government. Depending upon the circumstances of individual cases, endorsements, guarantees, subordinations, and stand-bys of other indebtedness, and other special security devices are required when deemed necessary for the protection of the Government.

§ 82.34 Contract surety bonds in relation to loan guarantees. (a) In most jurisdictions, upon default by a contractor and performance of the surety's obligations, the surety's right of subrogation gives to the surety, ahead of a financing institution which had made a loan for contract performance, prior claim to payments made on the bonded contract after default, and in performance of its obligations the surety also has the benefit of materials on hand that have been paid for by the contractor, even though progress on the contract before default has been financed by loans from the financing institution.

(b) Because of the foregoing, on loan guarantees in connection with prime contracts, the guarantor's loss on the loan, payable to the financing institution, may serve to take away from the Government the benefit of performance of the surety's obligations on its bond; and in subcontract cases the loan may serve to benefit the surety at the expense of the financing institution and guarantor.

(c) Except to the extent that surety bonds are required by law, bonds are generally not required. Yet it may sometimes be necessary to rely upon a contractor whose capacity to perform is so doubtful that a bond is required for the protection of the Government. The guarantee of a loan to a contractor of such doubtful capacity to perform necessarily involves unusual risks of monetary loss. Contract surety bonds, and guaranteed loans for financing bonded contracts are regarded as fundamentally incompatible unless the interests of the surety are subordinated in favor of the guaranteed loan.

(d) In order to maintain the advantages of performance bonds existing in favor of the Government on prime contracts, in cases where the Government contract or contracts covered by surety bonds are substantial in relation to the contractor's total backlog of defense production contracts or where the amount of the bond is substantial in relation to the contractor's net worth, applications for loan guarantees are approved only if the surety or sureties on the bonds involved will subordinate their rights and claims in favor of the guaranteed loan.

(e) In cases involving relatively substantial subcontracts covered by surety bonds, approval of an application for loan guarantee will also be contingent upon the establishment of a reasonable allocation agreement between the surety or sureties and the financing institution, which would have the effect of giving the financing institution the benefit, with regard to payments to be made on the contract, of that portion of its loans fairly attributable to expenditures made under the bonded subcontracts prior to notice of default.

§ 82.35 Other borrowings. (a) Since V-loans are generally measured, and limited by, stated percentages of the borrower's investment in defense production operations and terminated defense contracts, it is evident that borrowings outside the guarantee may be necessary in some cases to support the borrower's non-defense activities. It has been recognized in practice, that while prohibition of borrowings outside the guaranteed loan is preferable where practicable in a given V-loan case, such other borrowings should be permitted when necessary.

(b) However, in cases where borrowings outside the V-loan are not prohibited, some restrictions on unguaranteed borrowings appear necessary for protection of the Government interest. These include reasonable limitations on the amount of, and collateral security for, such unguaranteed borrowings, and usually a provision that collateral security, if any, for such unguaranteed loans made by the same financing institutions should also be secondary collateral for the V-loan.

(c) If a credit is to be guaranteed under section 301 of the Defense Production Act, in circumstances where there may be borrowings either under or outside the guarantee, the guaranteed credit, having been established, and being susceptible to use at any time, should be utilized first and fully, and not reserved as free insurance pending such time and circumstances as may make its use convenient to the financing institution. It has therefore been determined, in line with the practice developed toward the end of the past war, that for those cases in which borrowings outside the V-loan are not prohibited, it should be required uniformly that other borrowings outside the V-loan may be incurred and remain outstanding without the consent of the financing institution and the guarantor only when the V-loan is being used to the full extent permitted by the V-loan agreement. Appropriate certificates of the borrower, in the same form as those used to measure the amount that may be outstanding under the V-loan, but submitted at intervals not longer than 30 days, could be used to determine when there may be borrowings outstanding outside the V-loan.

(d) It is of course recognized that appropriate exceptions will have to be made in individual cases to permit the continuation of outstanding term loans, to permit future unguaranteed term loans for expansion of facilities, and to permit continuance of such financing as may be necessary to supplement a V-loan.

§ 82.36 Certificate of Eligibility. (a) The Certificates of Eligibility, and supporting data, furnished by principally interested procuring activities, are the basis for the ultimate findings, incident to authorization or approval of loan guarantees, that the case meets the requirements of section 301 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and of section 302 of Executive Order No. 10480.

(b) In its present form this certificate includes findings that the materials or services involved are deemed essential to the national defense, that (except for small-business concerns) these cannot be procured readily from an alternative source without prejudice to the national defense, and that the contractor has the technical ability and the required facilities to perform. It is required that supporting data be contained in or accompany the certificate. It has been provided on the approved form of certificate, as the standard for guidance in considering issuance of Certificates of Eligibility, that—

> This is not intended as a statement that there is absolutely no alternative source other than this contractor. The certification is founded on practical considerations. These considerations include the urgency of supply schedules, technical and plant capacity and unwillingness of other suppliers, time and expense involved in reletting all or parts of contracts (including expense of terminations for convenience, and delays incident to future determinations of default), comparative prices, effect of interruptions of established subcontracting arrangements, and other pertinent practical factors.

§ 82.37 Procedure for Certificate of Eligibility. (a) It is important that the processing of Certificates of Eligibility be accomplished expeditiously. It is necessary that there be application of uniform and consistent standards in determining eligibility.

(b) As indicated in § 82.36 (b), the determination in the Certificate of Eligibility is based upon giving full weight to practical considerations. It is also intended that in determining whether the materials or services can be procured readily from an alternative source without prejudice to the national defense, due consideration will be given to the effect of the use of alternative sources on the established major policies affecting procurement, such as those relating to the mobilization base, and industrial dispersal. If the reletting of contracts with other sources would involve conflict with any of such policies, such reletting in conflict with any such policy should be deemed prejudicial to the national defense. Also, in considering the practicability of alternative sources, in addition to the considerations outlined above, regard should be given to the question whether such potential alternate sources would require Government financing by progress payments, or advance payments, or Government supported financing by means of a guaranteed loan. If such financing would be required for alternative sources, such alternate sources may be fairly considered not "readily available" within the meaning of the Certificate of Eligibility.

(c) Ordinarily, if Certificate of Eligibility is not issued by the interested procuring activity, it does not follow that the contract involved will be terminated unless the contractor is in default to the extent that termination for default is considered desirable, or unless it has been determined that the contractor will be unable to perform his contract. Thus, in determining whether alternate sources are readily available without prejudice to the national defense, consideration should be given to the effect on supply schedules, and costs to the Government, if the contractor should default at a later date and be unable to perform by reason of inadequate financing.

(d) In determining eligibility of small-business concerns, the factor of ready availability of alternative sources will not be considered, and the paragraph of the form of Certificate of Eligibility pertaining to alternative sources will be deleted in cases of small-business concerns. In such cases the fact that the particular items or services involved are being procured under or pursuant to a contract of a Military Department is considered adequate to support and require the finding that the materials or services involved are deemed essential to the national defense. However, this does not mean that the Certificate of Eligibility should be provided automatically for small-business concerns, or that any less care and diligence should be exercised for determining eligibility for small-business cases than for other cases. See paragraph (e) of this section.

(e) It is necessary in all cases, whether or not involving a small-business concern, that, in considering issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, emphasis be placed on the factors of the contractor's technical ability, management competence and reliability, plant capacity and facilities, and generally on his ability to perform satisfactorily if adequate financing is provided. If these factors are not favorable, Certificate of Eligibility should not be issued. See Appendix 2.

(f) With regard to contracts existing at the time of request for Certificate of Eligibility, the percentage of guarantee requested by a financing institution is not a factor to be considered in connection with issuance of the Certificate.

(g) In all cases, the supporting data furnished to the contract financing office should be sufficient to support the findings made in the Certificate of Eligibility. This data should contain available information pertinent to the matter of ability to perform satisfactorily, including known information as to past performance, and available information on the relation of the contractor's operations to supply schedules, and available pertinent information on other practical factors such as comparative prices and the time and expense that would be involved if reletting the contracts should become necessary. All of this information, including particularly an indication as to whether or not the contractor is considered an important source for materials or services, is necessary and important for consideration by the contract financing offices in determining the ultimate question whether, on their evaluation of all the circumstances of particular cases (including the contractor's financial condition and financial record), the authorization of a guarantee would be prudent and in the best interests of the Government. When Certificate of Eligibility is not furnished, the facts and reasons leading to declination of the certificate should be furnished.

(h) In those cases of subcontracts, where the prospective borrower is financially weak in relation to the financial condition of his defense contract customer, and the interests of the Government would be fostered by the making of progress payments to the subcontractor by his customer, it is appropriate that steps be taken, by coordinated effort of the procuring activity and the contract financing office, to arrange to the extent practicable for such progress payments to the subcontractor by his customer. By such means, in appropriate cases, the guaranteed loan may become unnecessary, or necessary in lesser amount, and the risks of loss are borne wholly or partly by the prime contractor or subcontractor responsible for selection of the prospective borrower as his subcontractor.

(i) If materially adverse information of any character concerning the prospective borrower is known to a procuring activity, such materially adverse information should be fully reported to the interested contract financing office. However, procuring activities are not expected to make any special investigation of the prospective borrower's financial condition in connection with applications for loan guarantees, as reports concerning financial condition of prospective borrowers are made by the Federal Reserve Banks.

(j) When Certificates of Eligibility are requested within a Department, or by one Department from another Department, reply will be made as promptly as possible, on a priority basis, as delays in financing may retard contract performance. Ordinarily, requests for Certificates of Eligibility, and pertinent data, will be made only with respect to those contracts deemed of material consequence under the circumstances of particular cases.

(k) In cases involving several contracts or subcontracts, including contracts or subcontracts relatively minor in relation to dollar amounts of other contracts involved, the processing of Certificates of Eligibility should not be delayed pending determinations concerning the relatively minor contracts. When any office within a procuring activity has on hand information concerning the substantial preponderance of amount of contracts with which it is concerned, its action concerning the Certificate of Eligibility should be completed without awaiting information on which to make determinations or recommendations concerning minor contracts. Basically, in situations involving numerous contracts, the determination as to eligibility should be founded upon the need of the prospective borrower's operation in the defense production program, and if his operation is considered necessary for performance of a substantial preponderance of his contracts, it should usually be unnecessary to make determinations concerning the eligibility of any particular minor contracts.

(l) When a Contracting Officer or other person within a procuring activity responsible for processing requests for Certificates of Eligibility has reason to believe that an application for loan guarantee has been filed or is about to be filed, relating to a contract or subcontract within his cognizance, he should, without awaiting request for Certificate of Elibility or request for information bearing on issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, initiate the completion and transmittal of such information and certificate to the appropriate office within his Department, for forwarding to the contract financing office within the Department.

SUBPART D—ADVANCE PAYMENTS

§ 82.38 Scope of subpart. This subpart covers policy and procedure for advance payments under prime contracts. It is to be applied in conformity to the basic policies stated in Appendixes 1–4 inclusive, annexed to this part. In addition to this subpart, other portions of this part are applicable to advance payments, specifically, §§ 82.1, 82.2, 82.3, 82.4, 82.7, 82.8, and all of Subpart B of this part.

§ 82.39 Negotiated contracts. Pursuant to the authority of Title 10, U. S. Code, section 2307, advance payments under negotiated contracts may be made, with the approval of the Under Secretary or the Assistant Secretary concerned, in any amount not exceeding the contract price and upon such terms as the parties shall agree, provided—

(a) The contractor gives adequate security;

(b) Provision for advance payments is in the public interest or in the interest of the national defense, as determined by the Under Secretary or Assistant Secretary concerned; and

(c) Provision for advance payments is necessary for the procurement of the property or services under the contract, as determined by the Under Secretary or the Assistant Secretary concerned.

§ 82.39–1 Formally advertised contracts. Advance payments are made on formally advertised contracts pursuant to the First War Powers Act, 1941, as amended, and Executive Order No. 10210. See Appendixes 2 and 4.

§ 82.40 Security provisions. The advance payment agreement under 10 U. S. C. 2307 (as well as under the First War Powers Act, 1941, as amended, as provided in Appendix 4) should provide for deposit of all payments into special bank accounts and should include suitable covenants to protect the Government's interest. Advance payments under such authorizations should be limited to the contractor's financial needs, and withdrawals from the special bank accounts provided therefor should be closely supervised. The terms governing advance payments should include as security, in addition to or in lieu of the requirements for an advance payment bond or other security, provision for a lien in favor of the Government, paramount to all other liens, upon the supplies contracted for, upon the credit balance in any special account in which such payments may be deposited, and upon such of the material and other property acquired for performance of the contract, as the parties shall agree.

§ 82.41 General limitation on authority. In all cases advance payments shall not be authorized unless no other contractor is readily available without prejudice to the national defense to furnish the desired supplies or services, upon terms satisfactory to the Department, without provision for advance payments. For guidance, see §§ 82.36 (b), 82.37 (b) and (c), 82.42, and Appendix 2.

§ 82.42 Uses of advance payments. Advance payments are last in the general order of preferences stated in Appendix 1. However, as provided in Appendix 4, it is not necessary to give consideration to availability of other means of financing, or to use of the contractor's own working capital to the extent possible, in connection with (a) nonprofit contracts with nonprofit educational or research institutions for experimental, research, and development work, or (b) contracts solely for the management and operation of Government-owned plants. Subject to the provisions of this part, advance payments are considered useful and appropriate for, (1), contracts for acquisition of facilities at cost, for Government ownership, (2), contracts involving operations so remote from a financing institution that the financing institution could not be expected to provide suitable administration of a guaranteed loan, (3), contracts of such highly classified nature that the Department considers it undesirable for national security to permit assignment of claims under the contract, (4), rare but essential contracts of those contractors, unusually weak or overextended financially, in those cases in which performance may be better fostered and risks of financial loss most effectively minimized by very close control of funds and supervision of performance by personnel of the Department concerned, (5), contracts for the financing of which a financing institution will not assume a reasonable portion of the risks under a guaranteed loan, and (6), exceptional cases in which the utilization of advance payments will be more beneficial to the interests of the Government than any other available method of financing. Circumstances will occur, especially on contracts with small-business concerns, in which advance payments will be more beneficial to the interests of the Government and more suitable to the situation of the contractor than other methods of contract financing. If, incident to a bid or proposal, or after award of a contract, an otherwise qualified contractor is found to require advance payments, there should be no hestitation in recommending to higher authority that advance payments be established.

§ 82.43 Types of contracts that may have advance payments. Advance payments may be made on any approved type of contract, as defined in § 1.201–6 of Subchapter A of this chapter.

§ 82.44 Application for advance payment. The contractor's application for advance payment, whether incident to the making of a contract or by way of amendment or supplemental agreement for advance payments under an existing contract, may be in the form of a letter request or other writing. The application should refer to the contract under which advance payments are requested, and should include or be accompanied by, such of the following as may be appropriate under the circumstances of the case for full understanding of the propriety and reasonable necessity of advance payments, for evaluation of the contractor's ability to perform its contracts and to repay the contemplated advances, and for informed judgment with regard to the terms, conditions and protective provisions that will be appropriate and prudent for the protection of the Government.

(c) Schedule of insurance maintained and to be maintained, especially as to inventories;

(d) Schedule of principal contracts and orders on hand, showing defense orders and civilian orders separately, and also indicating bids outstanding and contemplated, and explanation concerning contracts under negotiation, in addition to the contract under which advance payments are requested;

(h) Statement of all affiliates of the contractor, showing financial interests of the contractor in affiliates and of affiliates in the contractor, and also mutual officers, directors, and major stockholders or owners, and disclosing character and amount of business transactions with affiliates; also, if a corporation, list of major stockholders, and shares held;

(i) Summary history of contractor and its principal management personnel, indicating particularly any past insolvencies of the applicant or a predecessor or of the officers, partners, or proprietors;

(k) Name and address of bank suggested as depository for the advance payment special account; and

(l) Except for contracts mentioned in § 82.42 (a) and (b), of description of efforts made to obtain private financing, including guaranteed loan.

§ 82.45 Action by contracting officer. After such investigation as may be appropriate, and analysis of the request and information submitted by the contractor, the Contracting Officer should transmit to the appropriate office within his Department, in original and such number of copies as may be required within the Department—

(a) The request and information furnished by the contractor;

(b) Report of investigation, including past dealings with the contractor, and comment on the character and responsibility of the contractor, technical ability, and plant capacity;

(c) Date and identifying symbol of the approval of the award, citation of the appropriation available, type of contract, dollar amount of contract, the items to be supplied, and schedule of deliveries or performance, status of performance and deliveries if any, contemplated profit or fee, and copy of contract if available;

(d) Proposed advance payment contract provisions or supplemental agreement, including proposed security provisions, unless those are to be provided by the contract financing office;

(e) Certificate that (1), the required materials or services are essential to the national defense, and (2), cannot be procured readily from an alternative source without prejudice to the national defense, upon terms satisfactory to the Department, without provision for advance payments;

(f) The determination and findings mentioned in paragraphs §§ 82.39 (b) and (c), unless those are to be provided by the contract financing office;

(g) Recommendation that the advance payment be approved;

(h) Justification of proposal, if any, for waiver of interest charge (see Appendix 4); and

(i) If the Contracting Officer determines that the requested advance payment should be disapproved, the contractor's request, information submitted, report of investigation (if any), and statement of reasons for adverse determination should be sent forward to the Army Comptroller, in the Department of the Army, to the Assistant Comptroller, Accounting and Finance, in the Department of the Navy, and to the Deputy for Contract Financing to the Assistant Secretary (Financial Management) of the Air Force. This information may be useful in connection with existing or prospective arrangements for other financing.

§ 82.46 Security and covenants. Because of the variations in circumstances of individual cases, no fixed rule can be prescribed for determining adequacy of security in a particular case. The minimum security will be that required by the provisions of approved contract forms, supplemented by such further provisions and arrangements, if any, as may be considered appropriate for the protection of the Government under the circumstances of each case. Advance payment bonds usually will not be required. When and to the extent deemed necessary and appropriate, special security provisions will be required, such as, for example, personal or corporate endorsements or guarantees, pledges of collateral, subordination or stand-by of other indebtedness, and controls or limitations on profit distributions, salaries, bonuses or commissions, rentals and royalties, capital expenditures, creation of liens, debt retirement or stock retirement, and creation of additional obligations.

§ 82.47 Advance payments in addition to progress payments. Where necessary and in accordance with this part, advance payments may be authorized in addition to progress payments on the same contract.

§ 82.48 Forms of contract provisions and supplemental agreements. The approved forms for agreement covering advance payment special bank accounts, and approved forms of advance payment contract provisions and supplemental agreements for use in connection with the several types of approved contracts are set out below. Variations from the approved forms of contract provisions for advance payments should be made only when necessary in exceptional circumstances, with the approval of the person having authority to approve the particular advance payment contract involved.

§ 82.48–1 Forms of agreement for special bank account. For all advance payments substantially the following form of agreement will be used for the special bank account or accounts:

AGREEMENT FOR SPECIAL BANK ACCOUNT

Agreement entered into this _____ day of _____, 195__, between the United States of America, hereinafter called the Government, represented by the Contracting Officer executing this Agreement, _____, a corporation under the laws of the State of _____, hereinafter called the Contractor, and _____, a banking corporation under the laws of _____, located at _____, hereinafter called the Bank.

S. C. 264), separate from the Contractor's general or other funds; and, the Bank being such a bank, the parties are agreeable to so depositing said amounts with the Bank.

COVENANTS

In consideration of the foregoing, and for other good and valuable considerations, it is agreed that:

(1) The Government shall have a lien upon the credit balance in said account to secure the repayment of all advance payments made to the Contractor, which lien shall be superior to any lien or claim of the Bank with respect to such account.

(2) The Bank will be bound by the provisions of said contract or contracts relating to the deposit and withdrawal of funds in the above Special Bank Account, but shall not be responsible for the application of funds withdrawn from said account. After receipt by the Bank of written directions from the Contracting Officer, or from the Administering Office designated in the advance payment contract mentioned above, or from the duly authorized representative of the Contracting Officer or the Administering Office, the Bank shall act thereon and shall be under no liability to any party hereto for any action taken in accordance with the said written directions. Any written directions received by the Bank through the Contracting Officer upon Department of the _____ stationery and purporting to be signed by, or by the direction of _____ or his duly authorized representative, shall, in so far as the rights, duties and liabilities of the Bank are concerned, be conclusively deemed to have been properly issued and filed with the Bank by the Department of the _____.

(3) The Government, or its authorized representatives, shall have access to the books and records maintained by the Bank with respect to such Special Bank Account at all reasonable times and for all reasonable purposes, including (but without limiting the generality thereof) the inspection or copying of such books and records and any and all memoranda, checks, correspondence or documents appertaining thereto. Such books and records shall be preserved by the Bank for a period of six (6) years after the closing of this Special Bank Account.

(4) In the event of the service of any writ of attachment, levy of execution, or commencement of garnishment proceedings with respect to the Special Bank Account, the Bank will promptly notify _____
(Administering office)

In witness whereof the parties hereto have caused this Agreement to be executed as of the day and year first above written.

(Signatures and official titles)

§ 82.48–2 Advance payment provisions. Approved contract provisions for advance payments, with directions for use where appropriate, follow:

(1) Amount of Advance. At the request of the Contractor, and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth, the Government shall make an advance payment, or advance payments from time to time, to the Contractor. No advance payment shall be made (i) without the approval of the office administering the advance payments (hereinafter called the "Administering Office" and designated in paragraph (14) (d) below) as to the financial necessity therefor; (ii) in an amount which together with all advance payments theretofore made, shall exceed the amount stated in paragraph (14) (a) below; (iii) without a properly certified invoice or invoices.

(2) Special Bank Account. Until all advance payments made hereunder, and interest charges, are liquidated and the Administering Office approves in writing the release of any funds due and payable to the Contractor, all advance payments and all other payments under the contract shall be made by check payable to the Contractor and be marked for deposit only in a Special Bank Account with the bank designated in paragraph (14) (b) below. No part of the funds in the Special Bank Account shall be mingled with other funds of the Contractor prior to withdrawal thereof from the Special Bank Account as hereinafter provided. Except as hereinafter provided, each withdrawal shall be made only by check of the Contractor countersigned on behalf of the Government by the Contracting Officer, or such other person or persons as he may designate in writing (hereinafter called the "Countersigning Agent").

[When considered not reasonably necessary for the protection of the Government, the countersignature requirement may be waived for contractors who are financially strong, with good performance records and good past experience with regard to contract cost disallowances. In such cases, the following sentence may be added to paragraph (2)]:

Until otherwise determined by the Administering Office, countersignature on behalf of the Government will not be required.

(3) Use of Funds. The funds in the Special Bank Account may be withdrawn by the Contractor solely for the purposes of making payments for direct materials, direct labor, and administrative and overhead expenses required for the purposes of this contract (including, without limitation, payments incident to termination for the convenience of the Government) and properly allocable thereto in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (subject to any applicable provision of Subchapter A, Part 15 Section XV of the Armed Services Procurement Regulation), or for the purpose of reimbursing the Contractor for such payments, and for such other purposes as the Administering Office may approve in writing. Any interpretation required as to the proper use of funds shall be made in writing by the Administering Office.

[In the case of a cost reimbursement contract, insert the following paragraph instead of paragraph (3:]

(3) Use of Funds. The funds in the Special Bank Account may be withdrawn by the Contractor solely for the purposes of making payments for items of allowable cost as defined in Article_____of this contract, or to reimburse the Contractor for such items of allowable cost, and for such other purposes as the Administering Office may approve in writing. Any interpretation required as to the proper use of funds shall be made in writing by the Administering Office.

(4) Return of Funds. The Contractor may at any time repay all or any part of the funds advanced hereunder. Whenever so requested in writing by the Administering Office, the Contractor shall repay to the Government such part of the unliquidated balance of advance payments as shall in the opinion of the Administering Office be in excess of current requirements, or (when added to total advances previously made and liquidated) in excess of the amount, percentage of the contract price or estimated cost as the case may be, specified in paragraph 14 (a). In the event the Contractor fails to repay such part of the unliquidated balance of advance payments when so requested by the Administering Office, all or any part thereof may be withdrawn from the Special Bank Account by checks payable to the Treasurer of the United States signed solely by the Countersigning Agent and applied in reduction of advance payments then outstanding hereunder.

(5) Liquidation. If not otherwise liquidated, the advance payments made hereunder and interest charges, if any, shall be liquidated as herein provided. When the sum of all payments under this contract, other than advance payments, plus the unliquidated amount of advance payments and interest charges are equal to (____ percent) of the stated contract price of $_____, or such lesser amount to which the contract price may have been reduced, plus (i) increases, if any (not resulting from any provisions for price redetermination or escalation), in the above stated contract price not exceeding, in the aggregate $_____ (Insert here not more than 10 percent of stated contract price above) and (ii) all increases in contract price resulting from any provision for price redetermination or escalation, the Government shall thereafter withhold further payments to the Contractor and apply the amounts withheld against the Contractor's obligation to repay such advance payments and interest charges until such advance payments and interest charges shall have been fully liquidated. If upon completion or termination of the contract all advance payments and interest charges have not been fully liquidated, the balances thereof shall be deducted from any sums otherwise due or which may become due to the Contractor from the Government, and any deficiency shall be paid by the Contractor to the Government upon demand.

[The percentage stated above should not be more than 95 percent. In appropriate cases, where more rapid liquidation is desirable, the following sentence may be inserted at the beginning of paragraph (5), with the same percentage specified as that stated in paragraph 14 (a)]:

To liquidate the principal amount of any advance payment made to the Contractor hereunder, there shall be deductions of ____ percent from any and all payments made by the Government under the contracts involved.

[In case of a cost reimbursement contract, insert the following paragraph]:

(5) Liquidation. If not otherwise liquidated, the advance payments made hereunder and interest charges, if any, shall be liquidated as herein provided. When the sum of all payments under this contract, other than advance payments, plus the unliquidated amount of advance payments and interest charges are equal to the total estimated cost of $_____ for the work under this contract (not including fixed fee, if any), or such lesser amount to which the total estimated cost under this contract may have been reduced, plus increases, if any, in this total estimated cost not exceeding, in the aggregate, $_____, (Insert not more than 10 percent of estimated costs stated above) (including without limitation, reimbursable costs incident to termination for the convenience of the Government as estimated by the Contracting Officer), the Government shall thereafter withhold further payments to the Contractor and apply the amounts withheld against the Contractor's obligation to repay such advance payments and interest charges, until such advance payments and interest charges shall have been fully liquidated. If upon completion or termination of the contract all advance payments and interest charges have not been fully liquidated, the balances thereof shall be deducted from any sums otherwise due or which may become due to the Contractor from the Government, and any deficiency shall be paid by the Contractor to the Government upon demand.

(6) Interest Charge. If required in paragraph (14) (c) below and at the rate therein specified, the Contractor shall pay interest to the Government upon the daily unliquidated balance of advance payments made under this contract. If the full amount of such interest is not paid by deduction or otherwise upon the completion or termination of this contract, the deficiency shall be paid by the Contractor to the Government upon demand. Interest at the rate specified in paragraph (14) (c) shall be computed at the end of each calendar month on the average daily balance of the principal of the advance payments outstanding. In determining such balance, (1) charges on account of the advance payments to the Contractor shall be made as of the date of the checks therefor, and (2), credits arising from deductions from payments to the Contractor shall be made as of the date of issue of the checks for such payments. [For cost reimbursement contracts, use, instead of (2) above: (2) credits resulting from deductions from cost reimbursements shall be made upon the approval of the vouchers by the Disbursing Officer, as of the dates respectively upon which the Contractor presents to the Contracting Officer or his duly authorized representative full and accurate data for the preparation of each such voucher, which data shall as to each such voucher be certified by the Contracting Officer or his duly authorized representative.] Also, in determining such balance, credits arising from cash repayments to the Government by the Contractor shall be made as of the date the checks therefor are received by the Disbursing Officer. As soon as such monthly computations shall have been made, the interest charge so determined shall be deducted from any payments otherwise due to the Contractor under the contracts on which advance payments have been made. [For cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, use the following, instead of the next preceding sentence: As soon as such monthly computations shall have been made, the interest charge so determined shall be deducted from any payments on account of the fixed fee which may be made to the Contractor from time to time under this Contract.] In the event the accrued interest exceeds any such payment, the excess of such interest shall be carried forward and deducted from subsequent payments on account of the contract price or fixed fee as the case may be. The interest shall not be compounded, and shall, subject to the provisions of paragraph (11) hereof, cease to acrue with respect to each contract upon which advance payments are outstanding hereunder, upon termination of such contract for other than the fault of the Contractor, or upon the date found by the Contracting Officer to be the date upon which the Contractor completed his performance under the contract.

(7) Bank Agreement. Before an advance payment is made hereunder, the Contractor shall transmit to the Administering Office, in the form prescribed by such office, an Agreement in triplicate from the bank in which the Special Bank Account is established, clearly setting forth the special character of the account and the responsibilities of the bank thereunder. Wherever possible, such bank shall be a member bank of the Federal Reserve System, or an "insured" bank within the meaning of the Act creating the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (Act of August 23, 1935, 49 Stat. 684, as amended; 12 U. S. C. 264).

(8) Lien on Special Bank Account. The Government shall have a lien upon any balance in the Special Bank Account paramount to all other liens, which lien shall secure the repayment of any advance payments made hereunder together with interest charges thereon.

(9) Lien on Property Under Contract. Any and all advance payments made under this contract, together with interest charges thereon, shall be secured, when made, by a lien in favor of the Government, paramount to all other liens, upon the supplies or other things covered by this contract and on all material and other property acquired for or allocated to the performance of this contract, except to the extent that the Government by virtue of any other provision of this contract, or otherwise, shall have valid title to such supplies, materials, or other property as against other creditors of the Contractor. The Contractor shall identify by marking or segregation all property which is subject to a lien in favor of the Government by virtue of any provision of this contract in such a way as to indicate that it is subject to such lien and that it has been acquired for or allocated to the performance of this contract. If for any reason such supplies, materials, or other property are not identified by marking or segregation, the Government shall be deemed to have a lien to the extent of the Government's interest under this contract on any mass of property with which such supplies, materials, or other property are commingled. The Contractor shall maintain adequate accounting control over such property on its books and records. If at any time during the progress of the work on the contract it becomes necessary to deliver any item or items and materials upon which the Government has a lien as aforesaid to a third person, the Contractor shall notify such third person of the lien herein provided and shall obtain from such third person a receipt, in duplicate, acknowledging, inter alia, the existence of such lien. A copy of each receipt shall be delivered by the Contractor to the Contracting Officer. If this contract is terminated in whole or in part and the Contractor is authorized to sell or retain termination inventory acquired for or allocated to this contract, such sale or retention shall be made only if approved by the Contracting Officer, which approval shall constitute a release of the Government's lien hereunder to the extent that such termination inventory is sold or retained, and to the extent that the proceeds of the sale, or the credit allowed for such retention on the contractor's termination claim, is applied in reduction of advance payments then outstanding hereunder.

(10) Insurance. The Contractor represents and warrants that it is now maintaining with responsible insurance carriers, (i) insurance upon its own plant and equipment against fire and other hazards to the extent that like properties are usually insured by others operating plants and properties of similar character in the same general locality; (ii) adequate insurance against liability on account of damage to persons or property; and (iii) adequate insurance under all applicable workmen's compensation laws. The Contractor agrees that, until work under this contract has been completed and all advance payments made hereunder had been liquidated, it will (i) maintain such insurance; (ii) maintain adequate insurance upon any materials, parts, assemblies, sub-assemblies, supplies, equipment and other property acquired for or allocable to this contract and subject to the Government lien hereunder; and (iii) furnish such certificates with respect to its insurance as the Administering Office may from time to time require.

(11) Default Provisions. Upon the happening of any of the following events of default, (i) termination of this contract by reason of fault of the Contractor (ii) a finding by the Administering Office that the Contractor (a) has failed to observe any of the covenants, conditions or warranties of these provisions or has failed to comply with any material provision of this contract, or (b) has so failed to make progress, or is in such unsatisfactory financial condition, as to endanger performance of this contract, or (c) has allocated inventory to this contract substantially exceeding reasonable requirements, or (d) is delinquent in payment of taxes or of the costs of performance of this contract in the ordinary course of business; (iii) appointment of a trustee, receiver or liquidator for all or a substantial part of the Contractor's property, or institution of bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement or liquidation proceedings by or against the Contractor; (iv) service of any writ of attachment, levy of execution, or commencement of garnishment proceedings with respect to the Special Bank Account; or (v) the commission of an act of bankruptcy; the Government, without limiting any rights which it may otherwise have, may, in its discretion and upon written notice to the Contractor, withhold further withdrawals from the Special Bank Account and withhold further payments on this contract. Upon the continuance of any such events of default for a period of thirty (30) days after such written notice to the Contractor, the Government may, in its discretion, and without limiting any other rights which the Government may have, take the following additional actions as it may deem appropriate in the circumstances; (a) withdraw all or any part of the balance in the Special Bank Account by checks payable to the Treasurer of the United States signed solely by the Countersigning Agent and apply such amounts in reduction of advance payments then outstanding hereunder and in reduction of any other claims of the Government against the Contractor; (b) charge interest on advance payments outstanding during the period of any such event of default at the rate of six percent (6%) per annum; (c) demand immediate repayment of the unliquidated balance of advance payments hereunder; or (d) take possession of and, with or without advertisement, sell at public sale at which the Government may be the purchaser, or at a private sale, all or any part of the property on which the Government has a lien under this contract and, after deducting any expenses incident to such sale, apply the net proceeds of such sale in reduction of the unliquidated balance of advance payments hereunder and in reduction of any other claims of the Government against the Contractor.

(12) Prohibition Against Assignment. Notwithstanding any other provision of this contract, the Contractor shall not transfer, pledge, or otherwise assign this contract, or any interest therein, or any claim arising thereunder, to any party or parties, bank, trust company or other financing institution.

(13) Information—Access to Records. The Contractor shall furnish to the Administering Office signed or certified balance sheets and profit and loss statements monthly, or at such other intervals as may be required, together with a monthly report on the operation of the Special Bank Account in prescribed form, and such other information concerning the operation of the Contractor's business as may be requested. The Contractor shall afford to authorized representatives of the Government proper facilities for inspection and audit of the Contractor's books, records and accounts.

(14) Designations and Determinations. (a) Amount. The aggregate amount of the advance payments to be made hereunder (less the aggregate amounts repaid or withdrawn pursuant to paragraph (4)) shall not exceed $_____, or _____ percent of the contract price (which is now $_____), as it may be amended, whichever shall be the smaller. [For cost reimbursement contracts, insert the following:] (a) Amount. The aggregate amount of the advance payments to be made hereunder (less the aggregate amounts repaid or withdrawn pursuant to paragraph (4)) shall not exceed $_____, or ____ percent of the estimated cost of this contract (exclusive of the Contractor's fixed fee), as such cost may be amended from time to time, whichever shall be the smaller.

(b) Depository. The bank designated for the deposit of payments made hereunder shall be _____.

(c) Interest Charge. Interest shall be charged in the manner provided herein at the rate of five percent per annum. (In the case of advance payments made without interest, insert the following:)

No interest shall be charged for advance payments made hereunder, except as provided for in paragraph (11) (b). The Contractor shall charge interest at the rate of five percent per annum on sub-advances or down payments to subcontractors, and such interest will be credited to the account of the Government. However, interest need not be charged on sub-advances on nonprofit subcontracts with nonprofit educational or research institutions for experimental, research or development work.

(d) Administering Office. The office administering advance payments is designated as _____.

(15) Other Security. The terms of this contract shall be considered adequate security for advance payments hereunder, except that if at any time the Administering Office deems the security furnished by the Contractor to be inadequate, the Contractor shall furnish such additional security as may be satisfactory to the Administering Office, to the extent that such additional security is available.

(16) Representations and Warranties. To induce the making of the advance payments, the Contractor represents and warrants that:

(a) The balance sheet, the profit and loss statement and any other supporting financial statements, heretofore furnished to the Administering Office, fairly reflect the financial condition of the Contractor at the date shown on said balance sheet and the results of the operation for the period covered by the profit and loss statement, and since said date there has been no materially adverse change in the financial condition of the Contractor.

(b) No litigation or proceedings are presently pending or threatened against the Contractor, except as shown in the above statements.

(c) The Contractor, apart from liability resulting from the renegotiation of defense production contracts, has no contingent liabilities not provided for or disclosed in the financial statements furnished to the Administering Office.

(d) None of the provisions herein contravenes or is in conflict with the authority under which the Contractor is doing business or with the provision of any existing indenture or agreement of the Contractor.

(e) The Contractor has the power to enter into this contract and accept advance payments hereunder, and has taken all necessary action to authorize such acceptance under the terms and conditions of this contract.

(f) None of the assets of the Contractor is subject to any lien or encumbrance of any character except for current taxes not delinquent, and except as shown in the financial statements furnished by the Contractor to the Administering Office. There has been no assignment of claims under any contract affected by these advance payment provisions, or if there has been any assignment, such assignments have been terminated.

(g) All information furnished by the Contractor to the Administering Office in connection with each request for advance payments is true and correct.

(h) These representations and warranties shall be continuing, and shall be deemed to have been repeated by the submission of each invoice for advance payments.

(17) Sub-advances. Substantially the following provision should be included in the contract when sub-advances are contemplated:

Subject to the prior written approval of the Administering Office, funds from the Special Bank Account may be used by the Contractor to make advance payments or down payments to subcontractors and materialmen in advance of performance by the subcontractor or materialman. Such sub-advances shall not exceed _____ percent of the subcontract price or estimated cost as the case may be, and the subcontractors or materialmen to whom such advances are made shall furnish adequate security therefor. Unless other security is required by the Administering Office, covenants in subcontracts, expressly made for the benefit of the Government providing for a Special Bank Account for the sub-advance, with Government lien thereon, and providing for a Government lien, paramount to all other liens, on all property under such subcontract, and imposing upon the subcontractor and the depository bank substantially the same duties and giving the Government substantially the same rights as are provided herein (and in the Agreement for Special Bank Account supplementary hereto) between the Government, the Contractor and the Bank, may be considered as adequate security for such sub-advance.

(18) Covenants. The following are examples of some special protective provisions (subject to modification to adapt to the circumstances of individual cases) that may be utilized when and to the extent deemed appropriate in particular cases.

During the period of time that advance payments may be made hereunder, and so long as any such advance payments remain unliquidated, the Contractor shall not, without the prior written consent of the Administering Office—

(a) Mortgage, pledge, or otherwise encumber, or suffer to be encumbered, any of the assets of the contractor now owned or hereafter acquired by it, or permit any pre-existing mortgages, liens, or other encumbrances to remain on or attach to any assets of the Contractor which are allocated to the performance of this contract and with respect to which the Government has a lien hereunder;

(b) Sell, assign, transfer or otherwise dispose of accounts receivable, notes or claims for money due or to become due;

(c) Declare or pay any dividends, except dividends payable in stock of the corporation, or make any other distribution on account of any shares of its capital stock, or purchase, redeem, or otherwise acquire for value any such stock, except as required by sinking fund or redemption arrangements reported to the Administering Office incident to the establishment of these advance payment provisions;

(d) Sell, convey or lease all or a substantial part of its assets;

(e) Acquire for value the stock or other securities of any corporation, municipality, or Governmental authority, except direct obligations of the United States;

(f) Make any advance or loan to or incur any liability as guarantor, surety, or accommodation endorser for any other firm, person, or corporation;

(g) Permit a writ of attachment or any similar process to be issued against its property without procuring release thereof or bonding the same within 30 days after the entry of the writ of attachment or any similar process;

(h) Pay any salaries, commissions, bonuses, or other remuneration in any form or manner to its directors, officers, or key employees in excess of existing rates of payments or of rates provided in existing agreements in connection with which notice has been given to the Administering Office, or accrue such excess remuneration without first obtaining an agreement subordinating the same to all claims of the Government hereunder, or employ any person at a rate of compensation in excess of $-------- per annum;

(i) Make any substantial change in management, ownership, or control of the corporation;

(j) Merge or consolidate with any other firm or corporation, change the type of its business or engage in any transaction outside the ordinary course of its business as presently conducted;

(k) Deposit any of its funds except in a bank or trust company insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation;

(l) Create or incur indebtedness for borrowed money or advances other than advances to be made hereunder, except as specified herein;

(m) Make or covenant itself to make capital expenditures exceeding in the aggregate $----------;

(n) Permit its net current assets, calculated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, to become less than $-a-------; or

(o) Make any payments on account of the obligations listed below, except in the manner and to the extent herein provided.

SUBPART E—PROGRESS PAYMENTS BASED ON COSTS

§ 82.49 Scope. This subpart provides uniform policies, procedures and forms for progress payments based on costs. Appendixes 1, 2, 3 and 5 to this part apply to this subpart E.

§ 82.49–1 References. Sections 82.1, 82.2, 82.3, 82.4, 82.9, 82.10, 82.11–82.18, inclusive, and 82.37 (g), and Appendixes 1, 2 and 3, apply to all progress payments, whether based on costs or on a percentage or stage of completion.

§ 82.49–2 Exclusions. This subpart does not apply to (a) cost-reimbursement type contracts or (b) contracts for construction (as defined in § 10.101–6 of Subchapter A), or for shipbuilding or ship conversion, alteration or repair, when such contracts provide for progress payments based on a percentage or stage of completion.

§ 82.49–3 Contract coverage. Except as provided in § 82.49–2, this subpart applies to all contracts (as defined in § 1.201–6 of subchapter A) providing for progress payments.

§ 82.50 Standards. Basic standards for progress payments are stated in Appendixes 2 and 5. These standards apply to all new procurement, and also to all changes concerning progress payments (§ 82.63–5). Parts III and V of Appendix 5 also apply to existing contracts, whenever consistent therewith. See also § 82.17, and particularly paragraphs (A), (B) and (C) of Part III of Appendix 2.

§ 82.51 Percentage or stage of completion. Progress payments based on a percentage or stage of completion will be confined to contracts for construction (as defined in § 10.101–6 of subchapter A of this chapter), shipbuilding and ship conversion, alteration or repair. For all other contracts, including any separate contracts for engines, machinery, equipment or other components for ships, the only types of progress payment provisions will be those based on costs, as authorized herein. However, on existing contracts which provide for progress payments based on a percentage or stage of completion, it is not required that provision for progress payments based on costs be substituted in connection with future amendments, supplements or modifications, if such substitution is found impracticable. (See § 82.63–1.)

§ 82.52 Accounting system and controls. The contractor's accounting system and controls must be adequate for the proper administration of progress payments. If the contractor's accounting system and controls have been found (by experience or by one of the military audit agencies) to be sufficient and reliable for segregation and accumulation of contract costs, no further examination should be necessary so long as the efficiency and reliability of the contractor's system and controls are maintained. In all doubtful cases, including contracts with contractors with whom a military audit agency has had no experience within the next preceding twelve months, the adequacy of the contractor's accounting system and controls shall be determined, and any necessary changes accomplished, before inclusion of a progress payment clause in a contract. For this purpose, the services of the military audit agencies should be utilized to the greatest extent practicable.

§ 82.53 Information required. The information required to support a contract provision for progress payments is that which is found necessary under the circumstances of each case to establish that the case complies with this Subpart E of this part, including the standards of the applicable one of Part III or Part IV of Appendix 5. See also, § 82.15 and § 1.307 of Subchapter A.

§ 82.54 Indefinite quantity contracts. For indefinite quantity contracts, contemplating requisitions, delivery orders, work orders, task orders, job orders or their equivalent, if the contractor meets all other requirements for customary progress payments (Appendix 5), the decision as to whether progress payments come within the customary category will depend upon estimates of the amount of work expected to be done, and the production lead time expected to be necessary for the major part of the work anticipated. In these cases, provision for progress payments in the indefinite quantity contract may be deemed customary if the amounts involved, and the production lead time, will result in the substantial equivalent of the customary progress payment described in Appendix 5. The standards for unusual progress payments govern when progress payments are not of the customary type.

§ 82.54–1 Administration. When progress payments are provided in the cases mentioned in § 82.54, such as indefinite quantity contracts for overhaul or maintenance, (a) the contract price is deemed to be the total of the amount of requisitions, delivery orders, work orders, task orders or their equivalent issued under the basic contract, (b) costs for progress payment purposes are the costs allocable to all such requisitions, etc., and (c) payments and liquidations will be handled in the same way as if all such requisitions, etc. constituted work under a single fixed price type contract.

§ 82.55 Advance payments. When advance payments and progress payments are authorized in the same contract, progress payment percentages will not exceed 90 percent of direct labor and material costs or 75 percent of total costs, whichever may be applicable.

§ 82.56 Formal advertising. Whenever, incident to formal advertising, the Contracting Officer considers (a) that the period between the beginning of work and the required first production delivery will exceed six months, or (b) that progress payments will be useful or necessary by reason of unusual circumstances that will involve substantial accumulation of pre-delivery costs that may have a material impact on a contractor's working funds (including but not limited to substantial small business set-asides expected to involve a relatively large pre-delivery accumulation of materials, purchased parts or components) the invitations for bids shall state that upon written request by the prospective contractor a progress payment clause (to be included in the invitations for bids or identified by appropriate reference therein, and to be the appropriate one of the contract clauses at 75 percent of total costs or 90 percent of costs of direct labor and material) will be included in the contract at the time of award. These invitations for bids providing for progress payments shall also state that bids including requests for progress payments will be evaluated on an equal basis with those not including requests for progress payments.

§ 82.56–1 The standards and procedure prescribed by the first two paragraphs of Part IV of Appendix 5 will not apply to the cases mentioned in § 82.56.

§ 82.57 Use of progress payments by Contractors. It is expected that the contractor will use the progress payments made by the Government, or equivalent amounts of money, to pay the costs incurred in the performance of the contract under which progress payments are made.

§ 82.58 Definitions. As used herein, the following terms have the meanings set forth below.

§ 82.58–1 Progress payments. See § 82.10. The term "progress payments" must be distinguished from "partial payments". The term "partial payments" describes only (1) payments for partial deliveries accepted by the Government under a contract, or (2) partial payments on contract termination claims.

§ 82.58–2 Customary progress payments. See Part III of Appendix 5.

§ 82.58–3 Unusual progress payments. See Part IV of Appendix 5.

§ 82.58–4 Costs. Costs include all expenses of contract performance which are reasonable, allocable to the contract, consistent with sound and generally accepted accounting principles and practices, and not excluded by the contract. The term "costs" includes "incurred costs" when the contractor is not delinquent in payment of costs of contract performance in the ordinary course of business. It may also include incurred costs, after such delinquency, to the extent provided in § 82.71–4.

§ 82.58–5 Incurred costs. Incurred costs are those costs identified through the use of the accrual method of accounting and reporting. As to invoices, incurred costs include only invoices for completed work to which the prime contractor has acquired title, for materials delivered (to which the prime contractor has acquired title), for services rendered, and for costs billed under cost reimbursement or time and material subcontracts for work to which the prime contractor has acquired title, and paid invoices for progress payments to subcontractors (when such progress payments are specifically provided for by the prime contract), all properly recorded on the books of the contractor and identified with the contract. Costs incurred include costs of direct labor, direct material, and direct services identified with and necessary for the performance of the contract, and also all properly allocated and allowable overhead (indirect) costs as shown by the books of the contractor.

§ 82.58–6 Unliquidated progress payments. Unliquidated progress payments are the aggregate sum of all progress payments made, less the aggregate sum of amounts applied to reduce progress payments.

§ 82.58–7 Contract price. The term contract price means the total amount fixed by the contract (other than any portion of the contract specifically providing for cost reimbursement only), as amended, to be paid for complete performance of the contract. If the contract provides for escalation or for redetermination of price, this term means the initial price until changed and not the ceiling price. If the contract is of the incentive type, this term means the initial or target price until changed, and not the ceiling or maximum price. For letter contracts and similar preliminary contractual instruments, this term means the maximum expenditure authorized by the contract, as amended.

§ 82.58–8 Amendments, supplements and modifications. The terms "amendment", "supplement", and "modification" are used interchangeably, and wherever one of these terms is used it includes the others. The terms "separate new contracts", and "separate contracts", as used herein, do not include "amendments".

§ 82.58–9 Stronger and larger contractors. The term "stronger and larger contractors", as used in the last sentence of Part III of Appendix 5, does not include small business concerns.

§ 82.58–10 Deviation. The term "deviation" means (a) any change, addition to, or deletion from the contract clauses and certificate forms required by this Subpart E, (b) any contract provision, outside the progress payment clause, which would have the effect of altering or changing the effect of the progress payment clauses provided herein, and (c) any variation from this part.

§ 82.59 Contract clauses. Except as otherwise provided in § 82.63 one of the following progress payments clauses shall be used whenever progress payments are to be made to a contractor based upon a percentage of costs, whether or not the contract schedule provides for reimbursement of progress payments to subcontractors. (See § 82.59–3.)

§ 82.59–1 Total costs clause.

Progress Payments. Progress payments shall be made to the Contractor as work progresses, from time to time upon request, in amounts approved by the Contracting Officer upon the following terms and conditions:

(a) Computation of Amounts. (1) Unless a smaller amount is requested, each progress payment shall be (i) 75 percent of the amount of the Contractor's total costs incurred under this contract plus (ii) to the extent, if any, provided in the Schedule, the amount of the progress payments made by the Contractor to its subcontractors and remaining unliquidated; all less the sum of previous progress payments.

(2) The Contractor's total costs shall be reasonable, allocable to this contract, and consistent with sound and generally accepted accounting principles and practices. However, such costs shall not include (i) any costs incurred by subcontractors or suppliers, or (ii) any payments or amounts payable to subcontractors or suppliers, except for completed work (including partial deliveries) to which the Contractor has acquired title and except for amounts paid or payable under cost-reimbursement or time and material subcontracts for work to which the Contractor has acquired title, or (iii) costs ordinarily capitalized and subject to depreciation or amortization except for the properly depreciated or amortized portion of such costs.

(3) The amount of unliquidated progress payments shall not exceed the lesser of (i) 75 percent of the costs mentioned in (a) (1) (i), above, plus any unliquidated progress payments mentioned in item (a) (1) (ii) above, both of which are applicable only to the supplies and services not yet delivered and invoiced to and accepted by the Government, or, (ii) 75 percent of the total contract price of supplies and services not yet delivered and invoiced to and accepted by the Government, less unliquidated advance payments.

(4) The aggregate amount of progress payments made shall not exceed 75 percent of the total contract price.

(5) If at any time a progress payment or the unliquidated progress payments exceed the amount permitted by this paragraph (a), the Contractor shall pay the amount of such excess to the Government upon demand.

(b) Liquidation. Except as provided in the clause entitled "Termination For Convenience of the Government", all progress payments shall be liquidated by deducting from any payment under this contract, other than advance or progress, the amount of unliquidated progress payments, or 75 percent[1] of the gross amount invoiced, whichever is less. Repayment to the Government required by a retroactive price reduction will be made after recalculating liquidations and payments on past invoices at the reduced prices and adjusting the unliquidated progress payments accordingly.

(c) Reduction or Suspension. The Contracting Officer may reduce or suspend progress payments, or liquidate them at a rate higher than the percentage stated in (b) above, or both, whenever he finds upon substantial evidence that the Contractor (i) has failed to comply with any material requirement of this contract, (ii) has so failed to make progress, or is in such unsatisfactory financial condition, as to endanger performance of this contract, (iii) has allocated inventory to this contract substantially exceeding reasonable requirements, (iv) is delinquent in payment of the costs of performance of this contract in the ordinary course of business, (v) has so failed to make progress that the unliquidated progress payments exceed the fair value of the work accomplished on the undelivered portion of this contract, or (vi) is realizing less profit than the estimated profit used for establishing a liquidation percentage in paragraph (b), if that liquidation percentage is less than the percentage stated in paragraph (a) (1).

(d) Title. When any progress payment is made under this contract, title to all parts; materials; inventories; work in process; special tooling as defined in the clause of this contract entitled "Special Tooling"; nondurable (i. e., non capital) tools, jigs, dies, fixtures, molds, patterns, taps, gauges, test equipment, and other similar manufacturing aids not included within the definition of special tooling in such "Special Tooling" clause; and drawings and technical data (to the extent delivery thereof to the Government is required by other provisions of this contract); theretofore acquired or produced by the Contractor and allocated or properly chargeable to this contract under sound and generally accepted accounting principles and practices shall forthwith vest in the Government; and title to all like property thereafter acquired or produced by the Contractor and allocated or properly chargeable to this contract as aforesaid shall forthwith vest in the Government upon said acquisition, production or allocation. Notwithstanding that title to property is in the Government through the operation of this clause, the handling and disposition of such property shall be determined by the applicable provisions of this contract such as: the Default clause and paragraph (h) of this clause; Termination for Convenience of the Government clause; and the Special Tooling clause. Current production scrap may be sold by the Contractor without approval of the Contracting Officer and the proceeds shall be credited against the costs of contract performance. With the consent of the Contracting Officer and on terms approved by him, the Contractor may acquire or dispose of property to which title is vested in the Government pursuant to this clause, and in that event, the costs allocable to the property so transferred from this contract shall be eliminated from the costs of contract performance and the Contractor shall repay to the Government (by cash or credit memorandum) an amount equal to the unliquidated progress payments allocable to the property so transferred. Upon completion of performance of all the obligations of the Contractor under this contract, including liquidation of all progress payments hereunder, title to all property (or the proceeds thereof) which had not been delivered to and accepted by the Government under this contract or which had not been incorporated in supplies delivered to and accepted by the Government under this contract and to which title has vested in the

Government under this clause shall vest in the Contractor. The provisions of this contract referring to or defining liability for Government-furnished property shall not apply to property to which the Government shall have acquired title solely by virtue of the provisions of this clause.

(e) Risk of Loss. Except to the extent that the Government shall have otherwise expressly assumed the risk of loss of property title to which vests in the Government pursuant to this clause, in the event of the loss, theft or destruction of or damage to any such property before its delivery to and acceptance by the Government, the Contractor shall bear the risk of loss and shall repay the Government an amount equal to the unliquidated progress payments based on costs allocable to such lost, stolen, destroyed or damaged property.

(f) Control of Costs and Property. The Contractor shall maintain an accounting system and controls adequate for the proper administration of this clause.

(g) Reports—Access to Records. Insofar as pertinent to the administration of this clause, the Contractor will (i) furnish promptly such relevant reports, certificates, financial statements, and other information as may be reasonably requested by the Contracting Officer, and (ii) give the Government reasonable opportunity to examine and verify its books, records and accounts.

(h) Special Provisions Regarding Default. If this contract is terminated pursuant to the clause entitled "Default", (i) the Contractor shall, upon demand, pay to the Government the amount of unliquidated progress payments and (ii) with respect to all property as to which the Government elects not to require delivery under the clause entitled "Default", title shall vest in the Contractor upon full liquidation of progress payments, and the Government shall be liable for no payment except as provided by the "Default" clause.

(i) Reservations of Rights. The rights and remedies of the Government provided in this clause shall not be exclusive, and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this contract. No payment, or vesting of title pursuant to this clause, shall excuse the Contractor from performance of its obligations under this contract, nor constitute a waiver of any of the rights and remedies of the parties under this contract. No delay or failure of the Government in exercising any right, power or privilege under this clause shall affect any such right, power or privilege, nor shall any single or partial exercise thereof preclude or impair any further exercise thereof or the exercise of any other right, power or privilege of the Government.

§ 82.59–2 Direct labor and materials cost clause.

Progress Payments. Progress payments shall be made to the Contractor as work progresses, from time to time upon request, in amounts approved by the Contracting Officer upon the following terms and conditions:

(a) Computation of Amounts. (1) Unless a smaller amount is requested, each progress payment shall be (i) 90 percent of the amount of the Contractor's costs incurred of direct labor and material[1] only under this contract plus (ii) to the extent, if any, provided in the Schedule, the amount of progress payments made by the Contractor to its subcontractors and remaining unliquidated; all less the sum of previous progress payments.

(2) The Contractor's costs above-mentioned shall be reasonable, allocable to this contract, and consistent with sound and generally accepted accounting principles and practices. However, such costs shall not include (i) any costs incurred by subcontractors or suppliers, or, (ii) any payments or amounts payable to subcontractors or suppliers, except for completed work (including partial deliveries) to which the Contractor has acquired title, and except for amounts paid or payable under cost-reimbursement or time and material subcontracts for work to which the Contractor has acquired title, or, (iii) costs ordinarily capitalized and subject to depreciation or amortization except for the properly depreciated or amortized portion of such costs.

(3) The amount of unliquidated progress payments shall not exceed the lesser of (i) 90 percent of the costs mentioned in (a) (1) (i), above, plus any unliquidated progress payments mentioned in (a) (1) (ii), above, both of which are applicable only to the supplies and services not yet delivered and invoiced to and accepted by the Government, or (ii) ____ percent of the total contract price of supplies and services not yet delivered and invoiced to and accepted by the Government, less unliquidated advance payments. [For percentage here and in (a) (4), see the first bracketed instruction in (b), below.]

(4) The aggregate amount of progress payments made shall not exceed ____ percent of the total contract price.

(5) If at any time a progress payment or the unliquidated progress payments exceed the amount permitted by this paragraph (a), the Contractor shall pay the amount of such excess to the Government upon demand.

(b) Liquidation. Except as provided in the clause entitled "Termination For Convenience of The Government", all progress payments shall be liquidated by deducting from any payment under the contract, other than advance or progress, the amount of unliquidated progress payments, or ____ per cent [insert a percentage which is to 90 per cent as the amount of estimated costs forming the basis for progress payments is to the amount of the estimated total costs] of the gross amount invoiced, whichever is less. Repayment to the Government required by a retroactive price reduction will be made after recalculating liquidations and payments on past invoices at the reduced prices and adjusting the unliquidated progress payments accordingly. [For percentage for this paragraph, lower than the percentage computed pursuant to the above instruction and Part III of Appendix 5, see Part IV of Appendix 2.]

(c) Reduction or Suspension. The Contracting Officer may reduce or suspend progress payments, or liquidate them at a rate higher than the percentage stated in (b) above, or both, whenever he finds upon substantial evidence that the Contractor (i) has failed to comply with any material requirement of this contract, (ii) has so failed to make progress, or is in such unsatisfactory financial condition, as to endanger performance of this contract, (iii) has allocated inventory to this contract substantially exceeding reasonable requirements, (iv) is incurring costs, whether or not of the kinds eligible for progress payments under paragraph (a) (1) above, which are higher than the respective estimated costs used for establishing the liquidation percentage in paragraph (b) above, (v) is delinquent in payment of the costs of performance of this contract in the ordinary course of business, or (vi) has so failed to make progress that the unliquidated progress payments exceed the fair value of the work accomplished on the undelivered portion of this contract.

(d) Title. (Same as paragraph (d) of "Total Costs" clause.)

(e) Risk of Loss. (Same as paragraph (e) of "Total Costs" clause.)

(f) Control of Costs and Property. (Same as paragraph (f) of "Total Costs" clause.)

(g) Reports—Access to Records. (Same as paragraph (g) of "Total Costs" clause.)

(h) Special Provisions Regarding Default. (Same as paragraph (h) of "Total Costs" clause.)

(i) Reservations of Rights. (Same as paragraph (i) of "Total Costs" clause.)

§ 82.59–3 Schedule provision for progress payments to subcontractor. Where it has been determined (see § 82.61) that the contractor shall be reimbursed for progress payments made to subcontractors, the following language shall be inserted in the Schedule of the contract, in connection with the use of one of the progress payment clauses set forth in §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2.

PROGRESS PAYMENTS TO SUBCONTRACTORS

(a) The Contractor shall be reimbursed in accordance with the clause entitled "Progress Payments" for all of the progress payments made by the Contractor to subcontractors under subcontract progress payment provisions which (i) are substantially similar to and as favorable to the Government as that clause (and no more favorable to the subcontractor than that clause is to the Contractor), and (ii) make all rights of the subcontractor with respect to all property to which the Government has title pursuant to the subcontract, subordinate to the rights of the Government to require delivery of such property to it in the event of default by the Contractor under this contract or in the event of the bankruptcy or insolvency of the subcontractor.

(b) The Government agrees that any proceeds received by it from property to which it has acquired title by virtue of such provisions in any subcontract shall be applied to reduce the amount of unliquidated progress payments made by the Government to the Contractor under this contract. In the event the Contractor fully liquidates such progress payments made by the Government to it hereunder and there are progress payments to any subcontractors which are unliquidated, the Contractor shall be subrogated to all the Government's rights by virtue of such provisions in the subcontract or subcontracts involved as if all such rights had been thereupon assigned and transferred to the Contractor.

§ 82.60 General instructions for progress payment clauses. The instructions below apply to the clauses required by § 82.59 and set forth in §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2.

§ 82.60–1 Contracting Officer. The term "Contracting Officer" as used in this subpart means the Contracting Officer as defined in § 1.205–1 of subchapter A.

§ 82.60–2 Variation in percentages. The percentages stated in paragraph (a) (1) (i) of the clauses in §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2 are the normal percentages for the customary progress payments authorized by Part III of Appendix 5. Higher percentages may be provided in the manner and to the extent authorized by Part IV of Appendix 5. Lower percentages may be used in (a) (1) (i) of §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2 when agreed, and will be used for unusual progress payments when found adequate in accordance with the standards set forth in Part IV of Appendix 5.

§ 82.60–3 Total cost basis; percentage other than 75 percent. If a percentage other than 75 percent is specified in (a) (1) (i) of the total costs clause set forth in § 82.59–1, the percentage actually specified in (a) (1) (i) of the progress payment clause of the contract shall also be specified in (a) (3) (i), (a) (3) (ii), (a) (4) and (b) of the progress payment clause. (As to (b), see Part IV of Appendix 2.)

§ 82.60–4 Limited cost basis; other percentages. When the progress payment clause set forth in § 82.59–2 is used, the percentage actually specified in (a) (1) (i) of the progress payment clause of the contract will also be specified in (a) (3) (i). The percentage to be specified in (a) (3) (ii), (a) (4), and (b) of that clause will be computed in the manner provided in Part III of Appendix 5, except that a percentage higher than the percentage so computed may be specified in paragraph (b) if agreed. Subject to this exception permitting use of a higher percentage in (b) (or a lower percentage in (b) established pursuant to Part IV of Appendix 2), the percentage to be specified in (a) (3) (ii), (a) (4), and (b) will thus be a percentage which is to the percentage stated in (a) (1) as the amount of estimated costs forming the basis for progress payments is to the amount of estimated total costs of performance of the undelivered portion of the contract. This same principle will apply if a narrower cost basis, more limited than the cost basis stated in § 82.59–2, is utilized for progress payments. (See § 82.60–4.)

§ 82.60–5 Cost basis less than direct labor and material costs. Instead of the direct labor and material cost basis provided in § 82.59–2, a narrower and more limited cost basis for progress payments may be utilized for that clause, such as direct labor only, direct material only, or direct labor or material costs applicable only to certain specified items, or specified direct costs other than direct labor or material costs. Appropriate changes will be made in (a) (1) (i) of the clause set forth in § 82.59–2 when such a narrower and more limited cost basis is to be used. For example, if eligible costs are to be limited to direct material costs, the words "labor and" should be deleted from (a) (1) (i); or, if eligible costs are to be limited to direct labor costs, the words "and material" should be deleted from (a) (1) (i).

§ 82.60–6 Other protective provisions. When deemed reasonably necessary for the protection of the Government, the clauses set forth in §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2 may be supplemented by additional protective provisions, such as personal or corporate guarantees, subordinations or stand-bys of indebtedness, special bank accounts, and other protective covenants of the kinds outlined in item 18 of § 82.48–2.

§ 82.60–7 Liquidation percentages. (a) Liquidation percentages shall conform to Part III of Appendix 5 except as authorized by Part IV of Appendix 2.

(b) In the application of paragraphs A and B of Part IV of Appendix 2, when progress payments are at the rate of 75 percent of all costs, the minimum liquidation percentage of 70 percent would not apply if the estimated profit rate is less than 7.3 percent of total costs. If, for example, the estimated profit rate is 5 percent of total costs, the minimum liquidation percentage permitted by Part IV of Appendix 2 would be approximately 71.5 percent. At this 5 percent profit rate, assuming (1) price $105, (2) costs $100, and (3) progress payments $75, this minimum liquidation rate of 71.5 percent would be necessary for recovery of the $75 or progress payments from the $105 delivery billing (75÷105=71.5 percent, and 0.715× $105=$75.07). The same principles are applicable when, pursuant to paragraph C of Part IV of Appendix 2, a liquidation rate lower than the 70 percent minimum is to be established. For example, assuming an established profit rate of 8 percent of total costs of items for which final prices have been established, the minimum liquidation rate for those items would be 69.5 percent when progress payments are at the rate of 75 percent of total costs. Assuming, (1) fixed price $108, (2) costs $100, and (3) progress payments $75, the calculation would be: 75÷108=0.6944, and (rounding this upward to 0.695), 0.695×$108= $75.06.

(c) Part III of Appendix 5 provides the standards, and gives an example, for establishing the minimum liquidation percentage when progress payments are to be at 90 percent of costs of direct labor and material (or lesser percentages of more limited costs). In the application of paragraphs A and B of Part IV of Appendix 2, when progress payments are at the rate of 90 percent of costs of direct labor and material, examples of the minimum liquidation rates are—

(1) When costs of direct labor and material are 70 percent of total costs, and the profit rate is 5 percent of total costs, the minimum liquidation percentage would be 60 percent. Assuming price $105, costs $100, costs of direct labor and material $70, and progress payments $63, then 63÷105=60 percent. Application of the 60 percent liquidation percentage to the delivery price of $105 recovers the $63 of progress payments.

(2) On assumptions the same as example (1), above, except that costs of direct labor and material are computed at 80 percent of total costs ($80 of the total costs of $100), so that progress payments on the item are $72 (90 percent of $80), the minimum liquidation percentage would be 68.6 percent (72÷105=68.6 percent, i. e., 68.57 percent rounded upward to 68.6 percent). Application of this 68.6 percent liquidation percentage to the delivery price of $105 recovers $72.03 against the $72 of progress payments.

(d) In line with the standards set for progress payments based on 75 percent of all costs, calculation of minimum liquidation rates pursuant to paragraphs A and B of Part IV of Appendix 2, when progress payments are at 90 percent (or lesser percentage) of costs of direct labor and material (or costs more limited), will not take into account any amount of profit that exceeds 7.3 percent of total costs. Thus, on example (1) next above, (assuming profit rate of 7.3 percent of costs or any greater rate), the minimum liquidation percentage would be 58.72 percent (63÷107.3=58.72 percent).

§ 82.61 Subcontracts. Progress payments to subcontractors may be included in the base for progress payments to prime contractors only when provision therefor is made in the prime contract Schedule, in the manner set forth in § 82.59–3. Except as provided below, this provision may be included in the Schedule of the prime contract only if the contractor agrees in writing that its progress payments to subcontractors, to be included in the base for progress payments pursuant to this Schedule provision and paragraph (a) of §§ 82.59–1 or 82.59–2, will be limited to those subcontracts in which there is expected to be a long "lead time", approximating six months or more between the beginning of work and the first delivery, for subcontractors which in the opinion of the prime contractor meet the standards for customary progress payments outlined in Part III of Appendix 5. However, this limitation does not apply to subcontracts providing for "unusual" progress payments on prime contracts as described in Part IV of Appendix 5, when the inclusion of such unusual progress payments on the subcontracts has been approved in the manner set forth in Part IV of Appendix 5.

§ 82.61–1 Subcontractor progress payments. When provision is made in the contract Schedule for inclusion of unliquidated progress payments made to subcontractors, the percentage for reimbursement on account of progress payments made to subcontractors will ordinarily be stated at 100 percent, i. e. "all". However, in the discretion of the Contracting Officer, a percentage less than 100 percent may be specified in this provision of the Schedule. When a percentage less than 100 percent is so specified, this lesser percentage will control the amount of progress payments to be made pursuant to (a) (1) (ii) of §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2 and the maximum limit on unliquidated progress payments on account of unliquidated progress payments to subcontractors under (a) (3) (i) of §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2.

§ 82.61–2 Adaptation of uniform clause for subcontracts. Contracting Officers are not required to review or approve subcontracts merely because they provide for progress payments. However, they shall check and review subcontracts providing for progress payments to the extent appropriate in the ordinary course of administration of the progress payment clause of prime contracts. The duty rests on the prime contractor to see to it that its subcontracts providing for progress payments, to be included in the base for progress payments pursuant to the Schedule provisions set forth in § 82.59–3, conform to these provisions of the contract Schedule (§ 82.59–3). In adapting the clauses set forth in §§ 82.59–1, 82.59–2 and 82.59–3 for use in subcontracts, to conform to § 82.59–3, the subcontract progress payment clause should have appropriate changes to reflect the position of the prime contractor as purchaser and of the subcontractor as vendor, and to indicate that the progress payments under the subcontract are being made and administered by the prime contractor. However, the title provision of the progress payment clause of the subcontract shall provide for the vesting of title directly in the Government, as set forth in §§ 82.59–1 (d) and 82.59–2 (d), and the subcontract will not substitute the prime contractor for the Government as the holder of title under that paragraph of the subcontract. In that title paragraph of the subcontract, reference to the prime contractor should, however, be substituted for the word "Government" in the parenthetical expression concerning drawings and technical data, and also in the second sentence of the paragraph. In the subcontract counterpart of §§ 82.59–1 (g) and 82.59–2 (g) entitled "Reports—Access to Records" the references to "Contracting Officer" and "Government" should not be deleted, but may in each case be expanded so as to refer to the "Contracting Officer or the prime contractor", (§§ 82.59–1 (g) (i), 82.59–2 (g) (i)) and to the "Government or the prime contractor" (§§ 82.59–1 (g) (ii), 82.59–2 (g) (ii)). With regard to the subcontract counterpart of the "Special Provisions Regarding Default" (§§ 82.59–1 (h), 82.59–2 (h)) only the substance of the first three lines of that paragraph (with reference to the prime contractor substituted for "Government"), is required for conformity to the provisions of § 82.59–3.

§ 82.62 Letter Contracts. When progress payments are to be made under letter contracts or similar preliminary contractual instruments, incorporation of one of the clauses set forth in §§ 82.59–1 and 82.59–2 is required except as follows:

(a) Section 82.59–1 (a) (4) or § 82.59–2 (a) (4) will be replaced by a provision limiting the aggregrate amount of progress payments made under the letter contract to a stated amount, not exceeding 75 percent of the maximum liability of the Government under the letter contract (or such lesser percentage as may be applicable in accordance with the last two sentences of § 82.60–4 if the clause set out in § 82.59–2 is to be used). Separate limits may be prescribed for separate specified parts of the work.

(b) Until unit delivery billing prices are specified, § 82.59–1 (b) or § 82.59–2 (b), concerning liquidation will not be operative, and will be supplemented by the additional provision set out below:

Progress payments made hereunder shall be liquidated in the following manner, unless previously liquidated pursuant to paragraph (b):

(1) If this letter contract shall be superseded by a fixed price-type contract (Part 3, Subpart D), unliquidated progress payments made hereunder shall be liquidated by deducting the amount thereof from the first progress or other payments which shall be made under such contract.

(2) If this letter contract shall be superseded by a cost-reimbursement type contract, progress payments made hereunder shall be liquidated by deducting the unliquidated amount thereof from the first payments which shall be made under such cost-reimbursement contract.

(3) If this letter contract shall not be superseded by a contract calling for the furnishing of all or part of the articles or services covered hereby, unliquidated progress payments made hereunder shall be liquidated by deducting the amount thereof from the amount payable under the provisions of the Termination clause for this letter contract.

(4) If this letter contract shall in part be terminated and shall in part be superseded by a contract, the unliquidated progress payments made hereunder shall be allocated by the Government for the purpose of liquidation to the terminated portion of the letter contract and to the superseding contract in such proportions as the Government shall deem to be equitable, and the part of such progress payments allocated to each shall be liquidated in accordance with the applicable provisions of subdivisions (1), (2) and (3) of this paragraph.

(5) If the method of liquidating progress payments provided above shall not result in the full liquidation thereof, the Contractor shall forthwith pay the unliquidated balance to the Government upon demand.

(c) Any superseding definitive contract will contain appropriate provisions, carried forward from the letter contract, for liquidation of progress payments made under the preliminary instrument. When the superseding contract provides for progress payments, the progress payment clause will be supplemented by further provision as follows:

The costs, previous progress payments, aggregate progress payments, and unliquidated progress payments, mentioned in paragraph (a) of this progress payments clause, include the costs incurred and progress payments made under the letter contract which has been superseded by this contract.

§ 82.63 Transition. Contracts in existence on the effective date of this Subpart E will continue to be administered in accordance with their provisions and the regulations in this part. The transition to uniform use of a progress payment clause set out in this part (§ 82.59) will be accomplished in an orderly and reasonable manner and as promptly as practicable, as set forth below.

§ 82.63–1 Separate contracts. To the greatest extent feasible, procurement effected after the effective date of this part, and involving the establishment or continuation of progress payments, will be accomplished by separate new contracts rather than by amendments of existing contracts. Separate new contracts (including definitive contracts superseding existing letter contracts and instruments effecting new procurement under existing basic or master agreements) that are entered into within 60 days after the effective date of this Subpart E need not use a clause set forth in § 82.59 if tentative agreement has been reached concerning a progress payment clause based on costs and conforming to Appendix 5.

§ 82.63–2 Existing indefinite quantity contracts. During the specified term of existing indefinite quantity contracts (not including any extension of such term) existing progress payment provisions conforming to Appendix 5 with regard to progress payment percentage and rate of liquidation (or with liquidation as authorized by Part IV of Appendix 2) do not need to be replaced, incident to new procurement under such contracts, by a clause set forth in § 82.59.

§ 82.63–3 Supplements, amendments and modifications; when new clause not required. When it is found necessary to effect new procurement by amendment of a contract (see § 82.63–1) already providing for progress payments based on costs, rather than by a separate contract, it is not required that the amendment include a clause set forth in § 82.59 if the progress payment clause already in the contract provides for progress payments not exceeding 75 percent of total costs or 90 percent of direct labor and material costs and also provides for liquidation conforming to Part III of Appendix 5 or Part IV of Appendix 2. However, in these cases, a clause set out in § 82.59 should be substituted for the existing progress payment clause whenever feasible.

§ 82.63–4 Supplements, amendments and modifications; gradual operation of new clause. (a) When a contract provides for progress payments at rates exceeding 90 percent of direct labor and material costs or exceeding 75 percent of total costs, and it is found necessary to accomplish additional procurement by an amendment rather than by a separate new contract (see § 82.63–1), the amendment should, whenever reasonable and practicable, substitute a clause set forth in § 82.59 for the progress payment clause of the contract, so as to limit all future progress payments on the entire contract to 75 percent of future total costs or 90 percent of future costs of direct labor and materials. When such substitution is made, substantially the following provision should be added:

For the purposes of paragraph (a) (1) of this clause, (i) progress payments made or to be made to the contractor on progress billings submitted to the Government on or before the date of this amendment (in the total amount of $--------), shall be excluded in computing the "sum of previous progress payments" and (ii) costs (and progress payments to subcontractors) (in the total amount of $--------), relating to the progress payments so excluded shall also be excluded in computing costs (and progress payments to subcontractors) eligible for progress payments under this amendment. The amount of progress payments unliquidated at the date of this amendment ($--------), and the amount of progress payments included in progress billings pending at the date of this amendment ($--------), aggregating ($--------), shall be liquidated at the rate of -- percent instead of the percentage stated in paragraph (b) of this clause. Paragraphs (a) (3) and (b) of this clause shall not apply until liquidation of the aggregate amount of progress payments made or billed at the date of this amendment. Paragraph (a) (4) does not apply.

The expression "(and progress payments to subcontractors)" will be deleted if not applicable. Billings for progress payments pending at the date of the amendment will be paid in accordance with the progress payment clause in effect before the amendment. The rate for liquidation of unliquidated progress payments outstanding and to be outstanding pursuant to progress billings pending at the date of the amendment will be specified in accordance with the principles stated in Part III of Appendix 5 and Part IV of Appendix 2.

(b) When, in the circumstances described in paragraph (a) of this section, it is not reasonable and practicable to substitute a clause set forth in § 82.59 so as to limit all future progress payments on the entire contract to 75 percent of costs or 90 percent of costs of direct labor and material as the case may be, the amendment (incorporating a clause set forth in § 82.59, with percentages as specified in Appendix 5 and Appendix 2) ordinarily will provide for segregation of costs attributable to work under the amendment, segregation of payments under the amendment, and administration of progress payments under the amendment on the same basis as if the amendment were a separate new contract. However, when it is found that it will be expensive or otherwise impracticable to separate costs of deliveries attributable to the amendment from those attributable to the other portion of the contract, the amendment will provide for one or the other of the arrangements described in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section.

(c) When the last sentence of paragraph (b) of this section, is applicable (and paragraph (d) of this section, is not applied), the amendment will include a clause set forth in § 82.59 (with percentages conforming to Appendix 5 and Appendix 2), with provision that it will become operative as herein provided. The amendment will provide for continuation of progress payments pursuant to the existing progress payment clause and for their liquidation pursuant to Part III of Appendix 5 or Part IV of Appendix 2, until (1) the aggregate amount of progress payments made under the contract, including progress payments previously made, equals (2) the aggregate amount of progress payments that would have been made at the previously established rates if the contract had continued without this amendment (less reductions from time to time to reflect decreases in anticipated total progress payments, resulting from any partial termination of the contract), and (3) when the amount described in item (1), above, equals the amount described in item (2), above, future progress payments will be governed by the progress payment clause included in the amendment, except that liquidation of the amount of unliquidated progress payments then outstanding will continue at the higher rate required to conform to Appendix 5 or Appendix 2 until liquidation of such amount, and (a) (4) (§§ 82.59–1 (a) (4), 82.59–2 (a) (4)) will not apply.

(d) When the last sentence of paragraph (b) of this section, is applicable (and paragraph (c) of this section, is not applied), the amendment will substitute a clause set forth in § 82.59 instead of the existing progress payment provision, but with the percentage specified for future progress payments being a weighted average percentage arrived at by dividing the amount described in item (1), below, into the amount described in item (2), below (and with the special liquidation provision described in item (3), below):

(1) The total of all future costs, eligible for progress payments, expected to be incurred for performance of the contract and this amendment.

(2) The sum of (i) the total of all future costs, eligible for progress payments, that would have been incurred for performance of the contract without this amendment (not including costs expected to be incurred on account of this amendment) multiplied by the percentage for progress payments theretofore specified in the contract, and (ii) the total of all future costs, eligible for progress payments, expected to be incurred solely on account of this amendment, multiplied by not more than 75 percent (or by not more than 90 percent if eligible costs are limited to direct labor and material).

(3) When such substitution is made, special provision will be added to require that (1) the unliquidated progress payments outstanding at the date of the amendment (and any progress payments made thereafter on progress billings pending at the date of the amendment) will be liquidated in the manner outlined in Part III of Appendix 5 or Part IV of Appendix 2, e. g., at 90 percent of delivery billings if those progress payments had been made at 90 percent of costs, or at percentages authorized by Part IV of Appendix 2, and (2) that liquidation at the percentage specified in the progress payment clause substituted by the amendment will begin when liquidation at the higher rate mentioned in item (1), next above, has been accomplished.

§ 82.63–5 Supplements, amendments and modifications concerning progress payments. Amendments, supplements, and modifications of existing contracts which increase the rate or percentage of progress payments, or enlarge the base for progress payments, or reduce the rate of liquidation of progress payments, or make new provision for progress payments shall conform to these regulations and in particular to § 82.59.

§ 82.64 Contract financing office clearance. The following types of provisions for progress payments require submission through channels and prior approval by the contract financing office (§ 82.16):

(a) Those involving progress payments at rates exceeding 90 percent of direct labor and material costs or exceeding 75 percent of total costs, except as authorized by § 82.63–4;

(b) Those involving deviations, as defined in § 82.58–10;

(c) Those exceptional cases, involving unusual risks, described in § 82.16;

(d) Those involving contractors as to whom it is known that within the preceding twelve months (1) request for advance payments has been denied for financial reasons by the contract financing office, or (2) application for guarantee of a loan to the contractor or for increase or extension of maturity of a guaranteed loan, has been disapproved for financial reasons, or (3) an approved application for guarantee of a loan or for advance payment to the contractor has lapsed or has been withdrawn; and

(e) Those involving contractors named on the consolidated list of contractors indebted to the United States, commonly known as the "Hold-Up List".

§ 82.65 Coordination. The coordination described in the third paragraph of Part IV of Appendix 5 is required for all cases mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 82.64.

§ 82.65–1 Control lists. To give effect to § 82.64 (d), pertinent information will be exchanged between the several contract financing offices, and distributed through normal channels to Contracting Officers.

§ 82.65–2 Hold-up list. To give effect to § 82.64 (e), and for other proper purposes, the "Hold-Up List" there mentioned will be distributed through normal channels to Contracting Officers.

§ 82.66 Contractor's Request. All invoices for progress payments on contracts containing the progress payment clause set out in § 82.59 (with or without the modifications authorized by § 82.63–4), and on contracts containing any deviation from that clause approved pursuant to §§ 82.64 and 82.65, will be supported by the contractor's request in the following form,[1] with any supporting information that may be reasonably required. This form of request will also be utilized as soon as practicable (unless incompatible with contract provisions) in connection with progress payments based on costs under existing contracts and other contracts (§§ 82.63–1, 82.63–2, 82.63–3) not containing one of the progress payment clauses set out in § 82.59. The use of this form is subject to the instructions which will be included on reproductions of the form.

§ 82.67 Audit. For the making of progress payments, principal reliance will be placed on the adequacy of the contractor's accounting system and controls (§ 82.52) and on the reliability of the contractor's certificates. To conserve administrative effort, hold down expense, and promote prompt payment of proper progress billings, audit before the making of progress payments will be kept to the minimum necessary for the protection of the interests of the Government. Pre-audit, that is, audit before the making of a progress payment, will be limited to those situations in which there is reason to question the reliability or accuracy of the contractor's certificate, or reason to believe that the contract will involve a loss. Post-review or post-audit will be made when considered desirable by the Contracting Officer to determine the validity of any progress payment made on the contractor's certifications.

§ 82.68 Administration; general. Progress payment clauses cannot be self-executing, and require careful administration to insure against over-payments and losses. It is necessary for adequate supervision of progress payments that the administering office keep itself informed concerning the contractor's overall operations and financial condition, since difficulties encountered and losses suffered in operations outside the particular progress payment contract may affect adversely the performance of that contract and the liquidation of the progress payments. For contracts with those contractors whose financial condition is doubtful or not strong in relation to progress payments outstanding or to be outstanding, or whose management is of doubtful capacity or whose accounting controls are found by experience to be weak, or who are encountering substantial difficulties in performance, full information concerning both the progress under the contracts involved (including the status of subcontracts), and concerning the contractor's other operations and financial condition, should be obtained and analyzed at frequent intervals, with a view to the better protection of the interest of the Government and the taking of such action as may be proper to make contract performance more certain. If there is reason to doubt only minor elements of the costs involved in a progress billing, only the doubtful amounts should be withheld, subject to later adjustment, and the amount clearly due should be paid without awaiting resolution of the differences. So far as practicable in each case, all cost problems, particularly those involving indirect costs, of a kind likely to create disagreements in future administration of the contract, should be identified and resolved at the inception of the contract. See further, the second paragraph of Part V of Appendix 5.

§ 82.69 Adjustments; retroactive price reduction; refunds. When a retroactive price reduction has been made effective, i. e., by supplemental agreement or by unilateral determination pursuant to the price redetermination provision of the contract, the last sentence of §§ 82.59–1 (b) and 82.59–2 (b) requires adjustments so that the amount of unliquidated progress payments and the amounts paid or payable for supplies or services accepted will give effect to the price reduction. In this situation, the retroactive price reduction means that too much has been paid or billed for deliveries, and that from those delivery billings too much has been applied as a reduction of the unliquidated progress payment balance. The necessary adjustments would be (a) recomputation of total cash delivery payments on the basis of the reduced billing price resulting from the retroactive price reduction, and repayment by the contractor of the difference between the total recomputed payments and the total cash delivery payments that had been made, and (b) increase of the unliquidated progress payment balance by the excess of the total amounts previously applied to reduce the unliquidated progress payment balance over the amounts that would have been applied to reduce the unliquidated progress payment balance if the reduced delivery prices had been in effect from the date from which the redetermination is applicable. This same principle of upward adjustment of the unliquidated progress payment balance is also applicable in connection with interim refunds made by contractors pursuant to the provisions of incentive and price redetermination contracts, and in connection with voluntary refunds on such contracts.

§ 82.70 Maximum unliquidated amount. In all cases where the contract price is sufficient to cover all costs of complete performance, and liquidation of progress payments is effected in accordance with § 82.59–1 (b) or § 82.59–2 (b), the amount of unliquidated progress payments will never exceed the maximum limit provided by § 82.59–1 (a) (3) (i) or § 82.59–2 (a) (3) (i), unless liquidation percentages have been based on cost estimates that are less than actual costs. In such cases, if the contract involves a profit to the contractor, the actual unliquidated progress payment amount will always be less than the maximum limit stated in §§ 82.59–1 (a) (3) (i) and 82.59–2 (a) (3) (i) after the first delivery payment unless liquidation percentages have been based on cost estimates that are less than actual costs. So long as performance is satisfactory and there is no reason to believe that the contract will involve a loss to the contractor or that a liquidation rate fixed pursuant to Part IV of Appendix 2 or § 82.59–2 (b) is too low, there will be no need or reason to verify the relationship of the amount of unliquidated progress payments to the maximum limit prescribed by §§ 82.59–1 (a) (3) (i) and 82.59–2 (a) (3) (i). However, when the rate or quality of performance is unsatisfactory, or the rate of rejections is unduly high, or there is excessive wastage or spoilage, or it appears that unduly low costs have been attributed by the contractor to delivered items, or a loss to the contractor is otherwise indicated, or that the liquidation rate is too low, careful examination should be made to determine whether or not the unliquidated progress payments exceed the maxmium amount permitted by § 82.59–1 (a) (3) (i) or § 82.59–2 (a) (3) (i). The services of the cognizant audit agency should be utilized to the fullest extent available, together with the services of qualified cost analysis and engineering personnel as required. See § 82.66, Section III, General Instructions,[1] above, and § 82.71–6.

§ 82.71 Suspension or reduction of payments; general. For standards to be followed, see the third paragraph of Part V of Appendix 5. Sections 82.59–1 (c) and 82.59–2 (c) provide that progress payments may be suspended or their rate of liquidation may be increased, whenever any of the circumstances there described are found to exist. The rights reserved to the Government by those paragraphs are for the purpose of protecting the interests of the Government, fostering satisfactory contract performance, and guarding against overpayments and losses. Those paragraphs will be administered with these purposes in mind. Action taken pursuant to those paragraphs will be fair and reasonable under the circumstances of particular cases, and supported by substantial evidence. Findings made under those paragraphs will be in writing.

§ 82.71–1 Failure to comply with contract. Except for the purpose of correcting overpayments or obtaining amounts due from the contractor, action will not be taken pursuant to § 82.59–1 (c) (i) or § 82.59–2 (c) (i) for failure to comply with a requirement of the contract, if such failure has resulted solely from causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the contractor. For examples of such causes, see paragraph (b) of the Default clause in § 7.103–11 (b) of Subchapter A of this chapter. Compliance with the material requirements of the contract, within the meaning of §§ 82.59–1 (c) (i) and 82.59–2 (c) (i) includes compliance with all provisions of the progress payment clause.

§ 82.71–2 Unsatisfactory financial condition. If unsatisfactory financial condition, or failure to make progress, endangering contract performance, as described in § 82.59–1 (c) (ii) or § 82.59–2 (c) (ii), is found to exist, arrangements reasonably assuring contract completion without loss to the Government will be required in connection with the making of further progress payments and the making of other payments so long as progress payments are unliquidated. Within the meaning of §§ 82.59–1 (c) (ii) and 82.59–2 (c) (ii), performance of the contract includes full liquidation of progress payments. Further payments will be withheld so long as any progress payments remain unliquidated, only upon full consideration of all pertinent facts, and upon concluding that further payments will serve to increase the probable loss to the Government.

§ 82.71–3 Excessive inventory. When inventory allocated to the contract is found substantially to exceed reasonable requirements (§§ 82.59–1 (c) (iii) and 82.59–2 (c) (iii)), the simplest form of adjustment to correct or avoid overpayment will be to eliminate the costs of such excess inventory from the costs shown in item 7 [1] of the contractor's request set out in § 82.66. If that is not regarded as sufficient in a particular case, or if the adjustment in item 7 of the request will not accomplish full correction, additional deductions, to the extent necessary for the correction, should be made, to liquidate progress payments, incident to billings for payments other than progress payments. Transfer of such excess inventory from the contract should also be required. The expression "reasonable requirements" includes a reasonable accumulation of inventory for future use to assure continuity of operations.

§ 82.71–4 Delinquency in payment of costs of performance. The contractor's delinquency in payment of costs of contract performance in the ordinary course of business (§ 82.59–1 (c) (iv) or § 82.59–2 (c) (v)) may be an indication of unsatisfactory financial condition or other circumstances endangering contract performance and involving probability of loss to the Government. If such delinquency is not connected with poor financial condition that is so unsatisfactory as to endanger contract performance or to involve reasonably foreseeable loss to the Government, further progress payments and other payments will not necessarily be denied to protect the unliquidated progress payments and minimize risks of additional losses, and payments may be continued at the contract rate, or in reduced amounts, in connection with appropriate arrangements to (a) cure the contractor's delinquencies in payment of his costs of contract performance, (b) avoid further delinquencies, and (c) reasonably assure completion of the contract without loss to the Government. (See also, § 82.71–3.) Amounts claimed by subcontractors, suppliers and others, but disputed in good faith by the contractor, should not be considered delinquent until determined due by a court (or by arbitration if applicable). However, any such disputed amounts shall be excluded from costs of performance so long as they are disputed.

§ 82.71–5 Fair value of undelivered work. In connection with determining the relation of the amount of unliquidated progress payments to the fair value of the work accomplished on the undelivered portion of the contract (§ 82.59–1 (c) (v) or § 82.59–2 (c) (vi)) the principles stated in § 82.70 are applicable. In determining action, if any, to be taken, the Contracting Officer (utilizing available audit, engineering, inspection, and cost analyst services) will give full consideration to the degree of completion of contract performance, the quality and amount of work performed on the undelivered portion of the contract, the amount of work remaining to be done and the estimated costs of completion of performance, and the amount remaining unpaid under the contract. If the Contracting Officer finds that the fair value of the work done under the undelivered portion of the contract, in relation to the contract price, is less than the unliquidated progress payments, his actions will be governed by the principles stated in §§ 82.71–2 and 82.71–4. This fair value could not exceed the contract price of undelivered work under the contract, less the estimated total future costs of completion of the contract. When this fair value is found to be less than the amount of the unliquidated progress payments, all further payments on the contract will be controlled in such a manner as to hold the unliquidated progress payments within the fair value of the work done on the undelivered portion of the contract. See also, § 82.73–1.

§ 82.71–6 Erroneous costs estimates. When liquidation percentages (§§ 82.59–1 (b) and 82.59–2 (b)) lower than those called for by Part III of Appendix 5 are established pursuant to Part IV of Appendix 2, it may occur that actual costs and future costs of performance are higher than the estimated costs used to establish liquidation rates. In such cases (§§ 82.59–1 (c) (vi) and 82.59–2 (c) (iv)) appropriate increase of the liquidation percentage will be necessary to adjust for any underliquidation that may have occurred, to bring the amount of unliquidated progress payments within the limits of § 82.59–1 (a) (3) or § 82.59–2 (a) (3), and to assure the adequacy of future liquidations. Increase of the liquidation percentage will also become necessary even though Part IV of Appendix 2 has not been applied in fixing the liquidation percentage, when progress payments are based on costs of direct labor and material only (§ 82.59–2) or any limited cost base (§ 82.60–5), and actual costs forming the base for progress payments are higher than the estimated eligible costs used in establishing the liquidation percentage.

§ 82.72 Report of adverse developments. The required reports of adverse developments (§ 82.18) will include report of remedial or protective action taken or proposed. However, the filing of such reports shall not relieve the personnel responsible for administration of the contract from taking such action as is deemed proper, prudent, and beneficial to the Government.

§ 82.73 Government title. Since the clauses in § 82.59 give the Government title to all of the materials, work in process, and finished goods under contracts after the making of progress payments thereon, care should be taken to assure, to the extent reasonably necessary, that the title to the Government will be free of all encumbrances. The procedure in this respect will necessarily vary with the particular circumstances of individual cases. Ordinarily, in the absence of reason to believe that the Government title may be subject to encumbrance, the contractor's certificate will be relied on. If any arrangements or conditions are found that would impair the contractor's right of disposition of the property affected by the progress payments, appropriate arrangements should be made to establish and protect the Government title. The existence of any such encumbrance is a violation of the contractor's obligations under the contract.

§ 82.73–1 Loss, theft, destruction or damage. Sections 82.59–1 (e) and 82.59–2 (e) are not intended to apply to normal spoilage. The risk of loss as to property affected by the progress payment clause is on the contractor, except to the extent that by some special provision of the contract (such as that relating to aircraft in the open) the Government shall have expressly assumed the risk of loss. Such express assumption of risk by the Government is not made in the progress payment clause, the default clause, or the termination clause. Because of problems of administering the contract, especially those connected with property responsibility and inventory control, the risk of loss on property to which the Government holds title because of progress payments must be on the contractor to the same extent that it would be if the contractor held title to the property. This risk of loss carries with it the accompanying duty to repay to the Government the amount of unliquidated progress payments based on costs allocable to lost, stolen, or destroyed property or to the damaged portion of the property. If the Government has expressly assumed particular risks of loss, then, to the extent of such express assumption of risk by the Government, the contractor would not be obligated to repay to the Government the amount of unliquidated progress payments based on costs allocable to such lost, stolen, destroyed or damaged property. See, however, §§ 82.59–1 (c) (v) and 82.59–2 (c) (vi), as to future payments on the contract after such loss, damage, theft or destruction.

§ 82.73–2 Government-furnished property. Contract provisions referring to or defining liability for Government-furnished property do not apply to property to which the Government shall have acquired title solely pursuant to the provisions of the progress payment clause (§ 82.59–1 (d) or § 82.59–2 (d)). Property to which the Government has acquired title solely pursuant to the progress payment clause is not subject to Appendixes B and C of the Armed Services Procurement Regulation (§§ 30.2 and 30.3 of subchapter A of this chapter).

§ 82.73–3 Special tooling. When the contractor furnishes special tooling, as defined in § 13.101–5 of subchapter A of this chapter, pursuant to a special tooling clause (§ 13.504 of subchapter A of this chapter), and such special tooling is not to be delivered to the Government as an end item under the contract, the handling and disposition of such special tooling will be governed by the special tooling clause of the contract, even though title to such special tooling is held by the Government pursuant to the progress payment clause of the contract.

§ 82.73–4 Termination for convenience of the Government. After the giving of notice of termination under contract provision for termination for the convenience of the Government, the property to which the Government has title pursuant to the progress payment clause and which is a part of termination inventory will be acquired or disposed of in accordance with the provisions of the termination clause of the contract and of applicable laws and regulations. The acquisition or disposition of such termination inventory shall be governed by the termination clause, even though title to all or a portion of such inventory is in the Government pursuant to the progress payment clause of the contract.

§ 82.73–5 Scrap; excess property. (a) In the course of proper performance of contracts, contractors are permitted to sell or otherwise dispose of current production scrap in the ordinary course of business, notwithstanding the Government's title under the progress payment clause. Permission of the Contracting Officer for such disposal of scrap is not required. With the permission of the Contracting Officer and on terms approved by him, contractors may also acquire or dispose of materials, inventories, or work in process to which the Government has acquired title pursuant to the progress payment clause of the contract, including transfer of such property to other work of the contractor. Proceeds of scrap disposal will be credited against the costs of contract performance. Costs allocable to property, other than scrap, so transferred from the contract will be eliminated from the costs of contract performance, and the contractor shall be required to repay to the Government (by cash or credit memorandum) an amount equal to the unliquidated progress payments allocable to the property so transferred from the contract.

(b) When (1) the contractor has completed all work called for by the contract, and (2) such work has been delivered to and accepted by the Government, and (3) progress payments made under the contract have been fully liquidated, and (4) the contractor has fully performed all its obligations under the contract (including the making of any payments to which the Government may be entitled under the contract, and including compliance with any other provisions of the contract, such as the termination clause or the special tooling clause or the Government-furnished property clause), any excess property remaining is to be regarded as having not been allocated or properly chargeable to the contract under sound and generally accepted accounting principles and practices, and thus outside the scope of the progress payment clause which would have vested title in the Government. Accordingly, the contractor holds title to such excess property and may deal with it as he desires.

§ 82.74 Interpretations. It is important that this part and the clauses set forth herein be applied fairly and uniformly for all contractors. When a serious question of interpretation or application of this part arises within a procuring activity, and is regarded as being of general importance, if the circumstances reasonably permit the obtaining of an advance opinion on the question from departmental headquarters, the question should be presented, through procurement channels, to the procurement policy office of the department primarily interested, namely the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, Office of Naval Material or Deputy Chief of Staff Materiel. If the circumstances do not reasonably permit request for advance opinion, report of an interpretation made (if regarded as important and of general interest for uniform application or interpretation of this part) should be made to the appropriate one of the procurement policy offices mentioned. Those offices are expected to take appropriate and timely action to obtain the views of interested offices of the other departments, including the contract financing offices (§ 82.16). When questions submitted are considered to be of importance in the general interest of uniformity and of fair and effective administration of this part, appropriate revision of this part will be considered in the manner outlined in § 82.3. In periods between any amendments of this part, it is contemplated that information on important interpretations of general interest, reported to or made at departmental headquarters, will be made available to procuring activities for dissemination to interested purchasing offices.

DEFENSE CONTRACT FINANCING POLICY

References: (a) Memorandum dated 14 October 1950, from the Deputy Secretary of Defense, Subject: Defense Contract Financing Policy; (b) Joint Regulations (SR 715–35–5; NAVEXOS P–1006; AFR 173–133), dated 17 March 1952, Subject: Defense Contract Financing.

I. Purpose. The purpose of this directive, in additoin to the purpose stated below, is to revise reference (a) in order to (1) conform to Section 301 (a) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended by Section 4 of the Defense Production Act Amendments of 1953, (2) revise the order of general preferences for forms of contract financing so as to place guaranteed loans ahead of progress payments, (3) eliminate mention of the Munitions Board and to make appropriate references to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) instead of the Munitions Board, and (4) delete references to "direct loans".

II. Cancellation. Reference (a) is canceled.

III. Policy. The purpose of this directive is to establish basic contract financing policy for the Department of Defense to assure proper uniformity in policies, procedures, and forms, and to provide for application of the fundamental management principle of internal check and balance.

The term "financing" as used in this directive covers government guaranteed loans, advance payments, and progress payments (not including partial payments for delivery of one or more completed units called for under a contract) necessary for both performance and termination purposes, to the extent authorized by law (insofar as progress payments are concerned, it is contemplated that contract financing officers will participate in the development of appropriate standard contract provisions designed to avoid undue risk to the Government and would participate only in specific cases involving unusual financial arrangements and conditions).

Financing must support procurement and should be designed to aid not impede essential procurement, but should be so administered as to avoid the risk of monetary loss to the Government to the extent compatible with aiding essential procurement. To this end:

a. In terms of organization, the financing function should be separated from the procurement function, but close cooperation between the procurement and financing functions should be preserved at all times.

b. Procuring activities in placing contracts must give due regard to the financial capabilities of the supplier.

c. Government financing for production or services should be provided only if, and to the extent, reasonably required for prompt and efficient performance of government contracts and subcontracts.

d. Financing through guaranteed loans or advance payments may be made available to a supplier in cases where (1) the production or service is essential and (2) no alternative source is readily available without prejudice to the national defense. However, in connection with applications for guarantees of loans to be made to small-business concerns, and in connection with increases or extensions of maturities of guaranteed loans made to small-business concerns, and if they otherwise qualify, the factor of ready availability of alternative sources will not be considered, and the statement that the contracts or subcontracts involved cover materials or services which cannot be procured readily from an alternative source without prejudice to the national defense will be omitted from the Certificate of Eligibility.

e. It is recognized that adequate protection against the financial impact of termination of government contracts and subcontracts should encourage suppliers to invest their own funds in performance under such contracts and that financing for termination purposes will be an important aid to ultimate reconversion of industry to peacetime activities. Accordingly, termination financing may be made available, with appropriate protection of the Government's interest, either in connection with or independently of performance financing.

f. If a disagreement arises between the financing office and the interested procurement activity in any department as to whether, to what extent, or in what form, financing should be furnished, the matter will be referred immediately to and resolved in the higher echelons of authority responsible respectively for financing and procurement functions, subject to any issue being resolved ultimately by the Secretary of the Department concerned.

When financing through loans or advance payments is requested, the interested procuring activity shall certify that the case meets the requirements set forth in d above, and shall accompany such certification with adequate supporting data pertinent to the case.

Uniform financing policies and, so far as practicable, uniform procedures and standard forms are to be used by the Military Departments and, to the extent mutually agreed upon by the Military Departments, facilities and personnel are to be used in common. In formulating such policies, procedures, and forms, due regard shall be given to the desirability of following, so far as consistent with present circumstances, the policies and procedures developed during World War II.

In determining what form of financing shall be recommended or made available to suppliers, the following order of preference should generally be observed, recognizing that there may be valid exceptions in specific cases or classes of cases:

a. Private financing (without governmental guarantee).

b. Guaranteed loans (with financing institutions participating to an extent appropriate to the risk involved).

c. Progress payments.

d. Advance payments.

The responsibility for insuring uniform administration of financing in accordance with this directive shall be in the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller). Specific cases need not be referred to the Office of the Assistant Secretary (Comptroller), unless policy or important procedural problems are involved, and the day-to-day financing operations shall be the responsibility of the Military Departments.

Responsibility for financing in each Department shall be in the Under or Assistant Secretary responsible for the comptroller function, with the focal point of such activities at departmental headquarters although contract financing offices may be established at the operational level determined by that Department.

There shall be a Contract Finance Committee composed of a representative of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) as Chairman, a representative of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) and two representatives of each Military Department (one representing procurement and one representing the contract finance office), which Committee shall meet upon call by the Chairman, upon his own initiative or when requested by a member of the Committee. This Committee shall advise and assist the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) in assuring proper and uniform application of policies and the development of procedures and forms, and may from time to time recommend to the Secretary of Defense through the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) and the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) such further policy directives on the subject of financing as may appear desirable. For matters involving guaranteed loans, a representative of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System may be invited to meet with the Committee. The Committee also may from time to time secure the advice of representatives of other branches of the Government and other persons and may invite such representatives and persons to its meetings.

The policies stated herein are effective immediately, and all departments and agencies concerned are directed to initiate action immediately to conform thereto. Appropriate conforming changes will be made in reference (b) and in the procedures of the Military Departments.

C. E. WILSON,
Secretary of Defense.

APPENDIX 2

[DoD Directive 7800.4, November 16, 1956]

DEFENSE CONTRACT FINANCING POLICY—SMALL BUSINESS CONCERNS

References: (a) Department of Defense Directive No. 7800.1, dated 30 October 1953, Subject: Defense Contract Financing Policy; (b) Department of Defense Directive No. 7840.1, dated 22 April 1954, Subject: Defense Supply Contract Financing—Progress Payments Based on Costs; (c) Department of Defense Directive No. 7830.1, dated May 31, 1956, Subject: Defense Contract Financing Policy—Advance Payments; (d) Joint Regulations (SR 715–35–5; NAVEXOS P–1006; AFR 173–133), dated 17 March 1952, Subject: Defense Contract Financing.

I. Purpose. It is the purpose of this directive (1) to insure that the need for advance or progress payments by contractors will not be treated as a handicap in awarding contracts, (2) to facilitate and accelerate the making of progress payments requested by small suppliers under Government contracts, (3) to emphasize the usefulness and desirability of providing proper contract financing assistance to small-business concerns, and (4) to supplement the above references for these purposes.

II. Contract awards—Financing not a Handicap. Prudent contract financing supports procurement and production and fosters the small-business policy by providing necessary funds to supplement other funds available to contractors for contract performance.

The need for advance payments or for progress payments or for a guaranteed loan (with reasonable percentage of guarantee) shall not be treated as a handicap in awarding contracts to those qualified contractors who are deemed competent and capable of satisfactory performance (ASPR 1–307; ASPR 2–406; paragraphs 204–205 of reference (d)). The ability of the contractor to perform the contract, including the availability of money or credit necessary for performance, must be reasonably assured in all cases. Within established policy, awards which are otherwise proper must not be deterred by the necessity for providing reasonable contract financing. A contractor deemed reliable, competent, capable and otherwise responsible, must not be regarded as any less responsible by reason of the need for reasonable contract financing provided or guaranteed by a military department. In selection of an appropriate method for provision of funds, contractors will not be expected to seek or obtain loans or credit from agencies of the Government outside the Department of Defense.

III. Progress Payments. A. Reference (b) contemplates that provision for the customary progress payments described in its Part III, subject to the standards and limitations therein provided, will be made as a matter of course when requested by contractors who are known (from experience or adequate pre-award investigation) to be reliable, competent, capable of satisfactory performance, in satisfactory financial condition, and to have an adequate accounting system and controls. The long "lead time" or preparatory period in these cases, normally approximating six months or more between the beginning of work and the first delivery, and the accompanying pre-delivery expenditures that may have a material impact on the contractor's working funds, are regarded as making this type of progress payment "reasonably necessary" within the meaning of reference (a), and as making the general preference for private financing, including guaranteed loans, not applicable to this class of cases. Hence, such customary progress payments will be provided in contracts upon request, subject to the limitation provided by Part III of reference (b), for discouragement of progress payments on relatively small negotiated contracts of the stronger and larger contractors who are not small-business concerns. If a small-business concern, and the contract involved, meet the standards for customary progress payments (Part III of reference (b)) the smallness of the contract shall not deter the making of provision for customary progress payments to such small-business concerns.

B. Requests for proposals shall state that contract provision for progress payments will be made in conformity with regulations.

C. Requests for proposals and invitations for bids shall specify that the need for advance or progress payments conforming to regulations will not be considered as a handicap or adverse factor in the award of contracts. (When invitations for bids do not provide for progress payments, the words "or progress" will be deleted from the statement required by this Part III. C.)

D. Whenever, incident to formal advertising, the Contracting Officer considers (1) that the period between the beginning of work and the required first production delivery will exceed six months, or (2) that progress payments will be useful or necessary by reason of unusual circumstances that will involve substantial accumulation of pre-delivery costs that may have a material impact on a contractor's working funds (including but not limited to substantial small business setasides expected to involve a relatively large pre-delivery accumulation of materials, purchased parts or components) the invitations for bids shall state that upon written request by the prospective contractor a progress payment clause (to be included in the invitations for bids or identified by appropriate reference therein, and to be the appropriate one of the contract clauses at 75 per cent of total costs or 90 percent of costs of direct labor and material) will be included in the contract at the time of award. These invitations for bids providing for progress payments shall also state that bids including requests for progress payments will be evaluated on an equal basis with those not including requests for progress payments.

E. The standards and procedure prescribed by the first two paragraphs of Part IV of reference (b) will not apply to the cases mentioned in paragraph D of this Part III, next above.

F. In connection with requests for provision of progress payments, or advance payments, there must be timely action, no unwarranted delay, and no hesitation to make proper contract financing provisions.

IV. Progress Payment Liquidation. A. The method for liquidation of progress payments prescribed by Part III of reference (b) will not apply if, at the inception of a contract (on the basis of satisfactory cost estimates) or thereafter by amendment (based on satisfactory data on cost experience and estimated future costs) the parties shall agree on a percentage rate of liquidation which will (1) effect liquidation of the amount of progress payments involved in each invoice from which liquidation of progress payments is to be made (i. e., recovery of the portion of costs for which progress payments have been made), (2) permit payment to the contractor of not more than the cost of items delivered and accepted (less allocable progress payments) and his earned profit on those items, and (3) insure that unliquidated progress payments will not exceed the percentage specified in the contract, of the costs forming the base for progress payments, applicable only to that portion of the contract which has not been delivered, accepted and invoiced.

B. However, when progress payments are to be made at 75 percent of the total costs, this percentage for liquidation of progress payments, lower than that prescribed by reference (b) to the extent appropriate, shall not be fixed at a rate less than 70 percent except as provided in C, below. If the progress payment percentage of total costs is less than 75 percent, comparable relationship between the progress payment percentage and the above minimum liquidation percentage shall be maintained. Similar principles as to minimum liquidation percentages shall be applied when progress payments are to be made at 90 percent of the costs of direct labor and material, or on a more limited cost base, or at lesser percentages of limited costs.

C. With regard only to items for which final prices have been established under contracts, progress payment liquidation percentages conforming to the standards stated in A, above, but less than the minimum liquidation percentages stated and outlined in B, above (e. g., less than 70 percent when progress payments are based on 75 percent of total costs) may be established by amendment of contracts upon submission of satisfactory information by the contractor showing separately (1) the cost of items that have been delivered, accepted and invoiced, (2) the cost of work not delivered, accepted and invoiced, (3) the estimated costs of completion, and (4) an applicable profit on the items for which final prices have been established that is higher than the amount of profit permitted to be released by application of the progress payment liquidation percentage then specified in the contract.

D. Reference (b) is hereby revised as set forth above. Liquidation percentage rates as described herein, less than those prescribed by reference (b), will not be established initially or by amendment except on the basis of satisfactory cost data and estimates furnished by the contractor. Contracts may be amended to reduce the liquidation rate not more frequently than once in each period of twelve months.

V. Advance Payments. Circumstances will occur, especially on contracts with small-business concerns, in which advance payments will be more beneficial to the interests of the Government and more suitable to the situation of the contractor than other methods of contract financing (paragraph 404 of reference (d)). If, incident to a bid or proposal, or after award of a contract, an otherwise qualified contractor is found to require advance payments, there should be no hesitation in recommending to higher authority that advance payments be established.

VI. Acceleration of Payments. Payments must be made promptly on all contracts when due. It is of continuing importance that there be acceleration of all proper payments earned by contractors, including progress payments. When there are reasons to doubt the prudence of continuing progress payments in cases involving performance difficulties or financial deterioration, decision must be made promptly and with proper regard to the harmful effects of delay on the continued operation of the contractors concerned.

VII. Small Business—General. Immediate and continuing attention must be given at all levels to insure that constructive measures will be taken to facilitate and accelerate necessary contract financing assistance to small suppliers. Every reasonable effort must be made to assist small suppliers in the resolution of their problems relative to the financing of contract performance, as well as to assist them in understanding and complying with the requirements of performance as to payment forms, inspection and cost accounting.

VIII. Effective Date. This directive shall be made effective within 30 days after the date of issuance.

C. E. WILSON,
Secretary of Defense.

APPENDIX 3

[DoD Directive 7800.2, 12 March 1954]

DEFENSE CONTRACT FINANCING POLICY

Reference: (a) Memorandum from the Deputy Secretary of Defense, dated February 1, 1951.

I. Purpose. The purpose of this directive is to revise reference (a), and to apply its principle to all contract financing.

II. Cancellation. Reference (a) is canceled.

III. Policy. Guaranteed loans under Section 301 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, will be used primarily for working capital purposes. Such guarantee authority will not be used for loans for facilities expansion.

It is not the intent of this directive, however, to preclude guarantees in cases in which a relatively small part of the loan might be used for facilities expansion of a minor or incidental nature; provided, that the borrower's financial condition is such that the facilities expansion will not delay or impair repayment of a guaranteed loan which would be granted on a commercial banking basis.

Since advance payments and progress payments should be self-liquidating from contract performance, they also will not be used to finance fixed asset acquisitions for contractor ownership.

These limitations are not intended to apply to contracts under which facilities are being acquired for Government ownership.

C. E. WILSON,
Secretary of Defense.

APPENDIX 4

[DoD Directive 7830.1, May 31, 1956]

DEFENSE CONTRACT FINANCING POLICY—ADVANCE PAYMENTS

References: (a) Department of Defense Directive No. 7800.1, dated 30 October 1953, Subject: Defense Contract Financing Policy; (b) Department of Defense Directive No. 7830.1, dated 7 November 1951, with attachment, Subject: Defense Contract Financing Policy—Advance Payments; (c) Department of Defense Directive No. 7830.3, dated 8 May 1952, Subject: Defense Contract Financing Policy—Advance Payments.

I. Purpose. It is the purpose of this directive to revise and combine references (b) and (c), and (1) eliminate the requirement for interest charge on advance payments on contracts for the management and operation of Government-owned plants, (2) increase the interest rate on new interest-bearing advance payment provisions to 5 percent, and (3) conform the records clause requirement for advance payments under Title II of the First War Powers Act to the general records clause requirement under that Act.

II. Scope. This directive supplements reference (a). It applies to all advance payments hereafter authorized, whether pursuant to the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947, as amended, the First War Powers Act, 1941, as amended, or pursuant to any other legislation except Section 602 of the Defense Appropriation Act, 1956 (P. L. 157, 83d Congress, 69 Stat. 314).

III. Policy. A. Advance payments should be used sparingly and care should be taken to see that advances outstanding are sufficient for but do not exceed the actual reasonable requirements for the contracts. The amount of the advance payment in any case should be based upon an analysis of the cash flow required under the contract, and as a general rule should not exceed the interim cash needs arising during the reimbursement cycle.

Generally, except for (1) nonprofit contracts with nonprofit educational or research institutions for experimental, research and development work, and (2) contracts solely for the management and operation of Government-owned plants, advance payments should not be authorized unless no other means of adequate financing is available to the contractor, and the amount of the authorization is predicated upon use of the contractor's own working capital to the extent possible.

B. The advance payment agreement should provide for deposit of all payments into special bank accounts and should include suitable covenants to protect the Government's interest. Advance payments under such authorizations should be limited to the contractor's financial needs, and withdrawals from the special bank accounts provided therefor should be closely supervised. The terms governing advance payments should include as security, in addition to or in lieu of the requirements for an advance payment bond or other security, provision for a lien in favor of the Government, paramount to all other liens, upon the supplies contracted for, upon the credit balance in any special account in which such payments may be deposited, and upon the material and other property acquired for performance of the contract.

C. Interest will be charged on all advance payments hereafter authorized, at the rate of 5 percent per annum on the unliquidated balance; provided, however, advance payments may be approved without interest when in connection with nonprofit contracts with nonprofit educational or research institutions for experimental, research and development work, or on contracts solely for the management and operation of Government-owned plants, or, in unusual cases when specifically authorized by the Under or Assistant Secretary responsible for the comptroller function. In this connection, contracts for acquisition of facilities at cost, for Government ownership, in combination with or in contemplation of supply contracts or subcontracts, will be treated as ordinary profit contracts requiring interest on advance payments.

Contracts with interest-free advance payments, hereafter authorized, should provide that the contractor will charge interest at the rate of 5 percent per annum on sub-advances or down payments to subcontractors, and that interest charged on such sub-advances or down payments will be credited to the account of the Government. However, interest need not be charged on sub-advances on nonprofit subcontracts with nonprofit educational or research institutions for experimental, research or development work.

D. Except as provided in Part IV, below, the responsibility and authority for making determinations and findings with respect to advance payments, and in each case for approval of contract provisions for advance payments, or for approval of the terms and conditions thereof, shall be in the Under or Assistant Secretary responsible for the comptroller function in each military department. The Government may not be committed, in any manner, directly or indirectly, to make an advance payment without the approval of the Under or Assistant Secretary responsible for the comptroller function (or in appropriate cases, of the persons to whom advance payment approval authority has been delegated in accordance with Part IV), and no procurement involving advance payments may become final until such approval is obtained.

E. If a disagreement arises between the contract financing office and the interested procurement activity in any department as to whether, to what extent, or in what form, financing should be furnished, the matter will be referred immediately to and resolved in the higher echelons of authority responsible respectively for financing and procurement functions, subject to any issue being resolved ultimately by the Secretary of the department concerned.

F. Each department shall submit reports of financing activities at such times and in such form as may be prescribed by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller).

IV. First War Powers Act, as amended. Pursuant to the First War Powers Act, 1941, as amended, and Executive Order No. 10210 of February 2, 1951, the Department of the Army, the Department of the Navy, and the Department of the Air Force are authorized to make advance payments under contracts heretofore or hereafter made, without regard to other provisions of law relating to contracts, including advance payments under contracts awarded on competitive bids after formal advertising, and to amend such contracts to provide for advance payments.

All contracts and amendments to contracts providing for advance payments made under the authority of the above-cited Act and Executive Order shall—

1. Make reference to the Act and the Executive Order;

2. Include a finding that the national defense is facilitated thereby; and

3. Include the clause for "Examination of Records" required under that Act or the clause set forth in ASPR 7–104.15.

Complete data shall be maintained by each department as to all contracts and amendments to contracts relating to advance payments made pursuant to the above-cited Act and Executive Order.

Pursuant to the above-cited Act and Executive Order, the authority in each case to approve contract provisions for advance payments, or to authorize the terms and conditions thereof, may be delegated within each department to the Under or Assistant Secretary responsible for the comptroller function, with power of redelegation under such Under or Assistant Secretary no further than, to the Comptroller of the Army (and an alternate within his office) in the Department of the Army, to the Assistant Comptroller, Accounting and Finance (and an alternate within his office) in the Department of the Navy, and to the Deputy for Contract Financing to the Assistant Secretary (Financial Management) of the Air Force (and an alternate responsible to such Deputy for Contract Financing).

APPENDIX 5

[DoD Directive 7840.1, 22 April 1954]

DEFENSE SUPPLY CONTRACT FINANCING—PROGRESS PAYMENTS BASED ON COSTS

References: (a) Department of Defense Directive No. 7800.1, dated 30 October 1953, Subject: Defense Contract Financing Policy; (b) Department of Defense Directive No. 7840.1, dated 15 February 1954, Subject: Defense Supply Contract Financing—Progress Payments Based on Costs.

I. Purpose. It is the purpose of this directive to clarify certain questions that have arisen under references (a) and (b), with particular regard to the general order of preference for forms of financing stated in reference (a), the requirement of references (a) and (b) that Government financing be provided only when reasonably necessary, and the provision of reference (b) that progress payments should be only supplementary to private financing, including guaranteed loans.

II. Cancellation. Reference (b) is canceled.

III. Standards for Customary Progress Payments Based on Costs. It is not and has not been the policy of the Department of Defense that the proper use of progress payments should be stopped or unreasonably curtailed. Progress payments are sometimes necessary and useful to supplement the working funds available to defense contractors of all sizes. It should seldom be necessary for progress payments based on costs to exceed 90 percent of direct labor and material costs, or 75 percent of total costs, of the work done under the undelivered portion of the contract.

Certain types of production contracts involve a long "lead time" or preparatory period, normally approximating six months or more between the beginning of work and the first delivery, and may require contractor's pre-delivery expenditures that will have a material impact on the contractor's working funds. Familiar examples include, among others, contracts for aircraft, engines, complex items of electrical or electronics equipment, heavy handling equipment, production machines and equipment, tanks and other items of heavy ordnance.

Progress payments have been traditional and customary on this class of contracts, on the basis of not more than 75 percent of total costs or 90 percent of direct labor and material costs, of the work done under the undelivered portion of the contract. Higher percentages have been provided in recent years. Such higher percentages, for future procurement, will be regarded as unusual, and not within the category of customary progress payments.

When requested by contractors who are known (from experience or adequate pre-award investigation) to be reliable, competent, and capable of satisfactory performance, to have an adequate accounting system and controls, and to be in satisfactory financial condition, provision for progress payments up to but not exceeding the percentages and bases specified above, in the class of contracts described above, is regarded as reasonably necessary within the meaning of reference (a). In such cases it is not necessary to require projections of cash receipts and expenditures or other demonstration of actual reasonable need for progress payments. To this extent, for this class of contracts, the general preference for private financing, including guaranteed loans (reference (a)), does not apply.

When costs other than for direct labor and material are in the base for progress payments, the percentage of the contract price of delivered items to be applied for liquidation of progress payments will be not less than the percentage of costs upon which progress payments are based, e. g., when progress payments are based on 75 percent of all cost, liquidation will be at a rate not less than 75 percent of the contract price of separate items as they are delivered. When progress payments are based on 90 percent (or specified lesser percentage) of the costs of direct labor and material, the rate of liquidation of progress payments will be not less than 90 percent (or the specified lesser percentage) of the percentage of estimated total costs represented by the estimated costs of direct labor and material. Thus, for example, if the base for progress payments is 90 percent of the costs of direct labor and material, and if estimated costs of direct labor and material are 70 percent of total estimated costs, liquidation will be at a rate not less than 63 percent (90×70) of the contract price of separate items as they are delivered.

This directive is applicable to all contracts of the class described above, whether such contracts are large or small, and to all contractors regardless of the size of the contractor. However, in order to minimize administrative effort and expense, progress payments will be discouraged on relatively small contracts of the stronger and larger contractors, e. g., contracts for less than $1,000,000, unless the circumstances of a group of such contracts, for contemporaneous performance, make such contracts the approximate equivalent of a larger contract that would have a material impact on the contractor's working funds.

IV. Standards for Unusual Progress Payments Based on Costs. Progress payments based on costs, other than progress payments of the class and within the limits set forth in part III of this directive, above, will be regarded as unusual, and will require special approval. This is deemed necessary for the purpose of minimizing risks, and in order to establish and maintain the greatest practicable uniformity with regard to such progress payments within and among the military departments. Any contractor seeking provision for progress payments that is "usually", within the meaning of this directive, will be required to demonstrate fully his actual need therefor, with due regard to the preference for private financing, including guaranteed loans (reference (a)). Requests for "unusual" progress payments shall be approved only under exceptional circumstances and must have the specific approval of the head of a procuring activity (ASPR 1–201.4) or of a general or flag officer designated for that purpose.

Such cases must involve a preparatory period requiring contractor's pre-delivery expenditures that are large in relation to the contract price and in relation to the contractor's working capital and credit. Contract provisions for progress payments in this category will be only supplementary to private financing, including guaranteed loans, in amounts necessary for contract performance. The percentage rates and cost bases for progress payments on new procurement in this category will be determined on a minimum basis commensurate with the contractor's production schedule requirements and minimum inventory lead time, with due regard to the contractor's projected cash needs, cash resources and their planned application.

For the time being, all requests involving progress payments at rates exceeding 90 percent of direct labor and material costs or exceeding 75 percent of total costs, if regarded favorably by the head of a procuring activity (ASPR 1–201.4) or by a specially designated general or flag officer within a procuring activity, will be forwarded, with supporting information, for approval of a designated office or person at departmental headquarters of the military department directly concerned. Such office or person may be the contract financing office at departmental headquarters (reference (a)), or such person or persons, located at departmental headquarters and responsible to the Under or Assistant Secretary responsible for the comptroller function, as may be designated for this purpose by such Under or Assistant Secretary. Such requests, before approval, will be coordinated speedily with representatives of the other military departments and of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller). When approval is given by the contract financing office, or other designated representative of the Under or Assistant Secretary above-mentioned, such approval will ordinarily extend to future contracts with the same contractor, so that resubmission of future similar requests for unusual progress payments to that contractor need not be required unless so indicated on the initial approval or thereafter required by the approving authority after review of the contractor's current condition and circumstances.

V. General Considerations. Progress payments require careful administration to insure against overpayments and losses. In all cases the physical progress of the work should be evaluated periodically to assure that the progress payments are fairly supported by the value of the work actually accomplished on the undelivered portion of the contract in conformity with the contract requirements. Also, the unliquidated progress payments should not be permitted to exceed the percentage specified in the contract, of the costs forming the base for progress payments, applicable only to the partially finished undelivered portion of the contract.

The extent of supervision required, whether for loss prevention or for avoidance of overpayments, should vary inversely with the experience, performance record, reliability, quality of management, and financial strength of contractors, and with the adequacy of their accounting system and controls. Review should be of a kind and degree that will be sufficient, consistent with the circumstances of individual cases, to provide timely knowledge of circumstances that would adversely affect contract performance and the liquidation of progress payments, and timely opportunity for any action that may be appropriate for the protection of the Government. Particular care must be taken to assure that the unpaid balance of the contract price will be adequate to cover the anticipated cost of completion, or that the contractor has adequate resources to complete the contract if the unpaid balance of the contract price is inadequate to cover costs of completion.

In the process of reviewing individual progress payments already existing or hereafter established, action to reduce or slow down progress payments or to increase liquidation rates (unless justified on other grounds, such as overpayments or unsatisfactory performance) should be consistent with contract provisions, and never taken precipitately or arbitrarily. Any such reduction of progress payments on active contracts (other than normal liquidation pursuant to the contract) should be effected only after notice to and discussion with the contractor, and after full exploration of the contractor's financial condition, existing or available credit arrangements, projected cash requirements, effect of progress payment reduction on the contractor's operations, and generally on the equities of the particular situation. Where contract performance is satisfactory, and there is neither overpayment nor anticipated loss proper progress payments, adequately verified, will be paid promptly when earned and billed in accordance with contract provisions, even though the terms of the particular contract may make the payment discretionary rather than mandatory, and such proper payments will not be held up or denied because of the contractor's lack of need for the payment.

The standards set forth and referred to in this directive are equally applicable to situations where it is contemplated that contracts will provide for progress payments based on progress payments made by a prime contractor to a subcontractor. However, when progress payments have been made by a prime contractor to a subcontractor pursuant to the provisions of the applicable prime contract and subcontract, the progress payment to the prime contractor to reimburse him for such progress payment to the subcontractor may include the full amount of his progress payment made to the subcontractor when so provided by the prime contract.

Cost reimbursement contracts will not be used as a means or for the purpose of avoiding the standards applicable to progress payments.

Progress payments measured by a percentage of physical completion will not be used as a substitute for progress payments based on costs, in situations where progress payments are ordinarily based on costs.

VI. Effective Date. This directive is effective upon issuance. It has equal application to production contracts and to contracts for research and development. It applies to new contracts involving progress payments based on costs, to new supplements or amendments increasing quantities under existing contracts, and to any amendments or supplements providing for progress payments based on costs under any contracts not presently providing for progress payments. Part V, above, is also applicable to existing contracts, whenever consistent therewith. Copies of this directive will be distributed promptly by the military departments to all personnel concerned with the making of contract provisions for progress payments based on costs, or with the administration of such progress payments. It is contemplated that additional directives will deal more comprehensively with progress payments, particularly progress payments based on percentages of physical completion.

Secretary of Defense.

(2) Applicability. This section is applicable to all commands of the Army establishment.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this section, the following definitions apply:

(5) Dental care. As used in this section, medical care will include dental care unless otherwise specified.

(6) Domiciliary care. Care which is normally given in a nursing home, convalescent home, or similar institution to a patient who requires personal care rather than active and definitive treatment in a hospital for an acute medical or surgical condition. (c) Authorization. Authorization for medical care is under the jurisdiction of the commanding officer of the medical or separate dental treatment facility concerned. Persons requesting treatment will be required to furnish positive identification satisfactory to the commanding officer concerning their eligibility for medical care.

(d) General restrictions—(1) General. Medical care and related adjuncts thereto furnished nonmilitary personnel will not exceed the care furnished members of a uniformed service or interfere with the primary mission to furnish care to members of a uniformed service.

(2) Availability of facilities. The furnishing of medical care to other than members of a uniformed service serving on active duty or active duty for training and retired members placed on the temporary disability retired list who require hospitalization in connection with the conduct of periodic physical examinations will be subject to the availability of space and facilities, and the capabilities of the professional staff. Civilian employees of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Office of Secretary of Defense (not beneficiaries of the Bureau of Employees' Compensation), and persons who contribute to accomplishment of oversea commander's mission (paragraph (x) (1) of this section) will be furnished medical care subject to the availability of facilities only in the absence of adequate civilian medical facilities as determined by the appropriate major commander. Nonmilitary personnel should not undertake travel to an Army medical treatment facility without first ascertaining whether and when accommodations will be available. When personnel are furnished medical care subject to the availability of facilities and subsequent to admission it is determined that the care required is beyond the normal capabilities of the facility, transfer to other uniformed services or Federal medical treatment facilities will be accomplished. When the required treatment can be readily afforded by the admitting facility by utilizing resources, monetary or otherwise, available to the commanding officer, treatment may be provided at the facility.

(3) Dental care. Dental care for personnel listed in paragraphs (k), (l) (1) and (2), (m), (r) and (s) (1) (vii) of this section will be limited to emergency dental treatment for the relief of pain or acute septic conditions, or for dental conditions associated with serious illness requiring hospitalization. If the emergency is such that it is not possible to procure this authorization on Form PHS 894 (HD), authorization may be by letter signed by an officer of the same service as the patient; or, if no officer is available, by letter signed by the patient himself. Such authorizing letter, whether signed by an officer or by the patient, will show the patient's full name, organization, serial number, grade, and diagnosis (if known), and will state that he is on active duty. It will also state the reason for medical care by Army medical treatment facilities (instead of Public Health Service facilities).

(ii) Authorization for emergency outpatient care in continental United States, its Territories, possessions, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Beneficiaries may be furnished outpatient care only in an emergency when immediate care is necessary. (ii) Authorization for emergency outpatient care in continental United States, its Territories, possessions, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Beneficiaries may be furnished outpatient care only in emergency when immediate treatment is necessary. The commanding officer of the Army medical treatment facility will take the action indicated in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, with a view to procuring authorization.

The authorization will show the patient's full name, organization, grade, and diagnosis (if known), and will give other identifying data (such as "civilian employee, field service, PHS"). It will also state that the employee is on active duty.

(4) Enrolled Indians (or members of Indian tribes) in the continental United States, and Indians, Eskimos, and Aleuts in Alaska—(i) Enrolled Indians (or members of Indian tribes) in the continental United States. A letter of authorization for medical care will be prepared and signed by the medical officer in charge of an Indian Health Area Office. When, in case of genuine emergency, it is necessary to admit a patient prior to obtaining written authorization, the commanding officer of the Army medical treatment facility will telephone or telegraph the nearest Indian Health Area Office as soon as possible, giving all available information respecting the patient's status as a Public Health Service beneficiary, in order that the case may be investigated with a view to issuance of the required letter of authorization.

(ii) Indians, Eskimos, and Aleuts in Alaska. Authorization for medical care will be as indicated in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph except that the authorization will be signed by the Alaska Native Health Service, Public Health Service, Juneau, Alaska.

(5) Dental care. In addition to the dental care provided under the conditions outlined in paragraph (d) (3) of this section, in overseas areas (other than United States possessions and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico) such complete dental service is authorized as the Army dental officer considers necessary pending the time of the patient's return to the continental United States, to a United States possession, or to the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

If medical care is furnished in an emergency without the required written authorization, it is the responsibility of the commanding officer of the Army medical treatment facility concerned to obtain proper written authorization as soon as possible from the appropriate individual or officer as indicated in subparagraphs (1) (i), (2) (i), and (3) of this paragraph. The term "dependents of foreign service personnel" will be construed to mean those individuals included in the definition of the term "dependent" appearing in §§ 577.60 to 577.70, in addition, a mother, sister, or daughter of a male officer or employee, regardless of age, or dependency, who acts as the official hostess for an officer or employee who has no wife residing with him at the post.

(1) Foreign service personnel and their dependents who are beneficiaries of the State Department, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency outside the continental United States. Foreign service personnel and their dependents, who are beneficiaries of the above agencies may be furnished the services covered in subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph under the provisions of section 941 (a) and (b), respectively, of the Foreign Service Act of 1946, as amended. The authorization will show the individual's full name, the diagnosis, if known, and will state that the individual is a citizen of the United States on duty abroad in the foreign service employment of the State Department, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency, naming the type of service and the place of duty (such as "clerk, State Department, Tokyo"). In the case of dependents, authorization will be prepared by the immediate superior officer of the dependent's principal, or, if there is no immediate superior officer, by the principal himself. The authorization will show the dependent's full name, the diagnosis, if known, and will state that the principal is residing abroad with his or her principal. It will give also the full name and relationship of the dependent's principal, with the statement that the principal is a citizen of the United States on duty abroad in the foreign service employment of the State Department, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency, giving the place and type of employment. In either case, the authorization for inpatient care will also state that the individual is entitled to inpatient care at the expense of the State Deparment, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency under the provisions of section 941, Foreign Service Act of 1946.

(ii) Outpatient treatment. Outpatient treatment at the expense of the above agencies is authorized only when treatment is furnished for a condition which results in hospitalization or treatment required for post-hospitalization followup, in which case report will be made to the Surgeon General on DD Form 7A (Report of Treatment Furnished Pay Patient; Outpatient Treatment Furnished (Part B)). All other outpatient treatment furnished will be at the expense of the individual patient and collection will be made locally from the individual.

(iii) Physical examination and immunizations. Physical examinations including periodic physical examinations (usually biennial) and immunizations necessary in connection with such examinations may be furnished upon presentation of authorization completed as indicated in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. In addition, the authorization will include the nature of the service desired, the reason therefor and contain the statement that the individual is entitled to these services at the expense of one of the above agencies. Copy in triplicate of the proper physical examination form will be inclosed with the authorization showing in detail thereon the exact extent of the physical examination required (i. e., all procedures in connection therewith). When immunizations are requested in addition to physical examinations, the type of each immunization will be stated specifically.

(iv) Adjuncts. Prosthetic devices and hearing aids will not be furnished.

(2) Foreign service personnel and their dependents (not beneficiaries of the State Department, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency) outside the continental United States. Foreign service personnel (not beneficiaries of the above agencies) who are citizens of the United States on duty abroad and their dependents when domiciled abroad with their principals.

(i) Inpatient care. Authorization for the foreign service personnel listed in the opening portion of this subparagraph will be prepared as indicated in subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph, except that it will state that medical care will be at the expense of the individual patient.

(ii) Outpatient treatment. All out patient treatment will be at the expense of the individual patient and collection will be made locally from the individual.

(3) Foreign service personnel and their dependents who are beneficiaries of the State Department, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, and the United States Information Agency inside the continental United States. Foreign service personnel and their dependents who are beneficiaries of the above agencies may be furnished the services outlined in subdivisions (i), (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph, respectively, under the provisions of section 943 of the Foreign Service Act of 1946, as amended.

(i) Preemployment physical examinations and immunizations. Preemployment physical examinations and immunizations of applicants for appointment as officers or employees in the foreign service of the State Department, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency, together with immunizations necessary in connection with such examinations.

(ii) Periodic physical examinations. Periodic physical examinations (usually biennial) of foreign service personnel of the above agencies who are on duty or leave in the continental United States.

(iii) Physical examinations and immunizations. Physical examinations and immunizations necessary in connection with such examinations and immunizations in addition to physical examinations for dependents of foreign service personnel of the above agencies.

Authorization for the service covered in subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph will be prepared by the Department of State, Department of Agriculture, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency. The authorization will give the full name of the examinee, stating the nature of the service desired and the reason therefor. Copy in triplicate of the proper physical examination form will be inclosed with the authorization, showing in detail thereon the exact extent of the physical examination required (i. e., all procedures in connection therewith). When immunizations are requested (in addition to physical examinations), the type of each immunization will be stated specifically. For instructions concerning the disposition of physical examination forms and the authorizations for physical examinations and immunizations, the provisions of subparagraph (1) (iii) of this paragraph will apply.

(4) Evacuation from Army medical treatment facilities overseas and extent of medical care in the continental United States. Those foreign service personnel and their dependents listed in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph who are hospitalized in Army medical treatment facilities overseas, whose condition would require retention in such hospital for a prolonged period of time, may be evacuated to the continental United States through Army medical evacuation channels as soon as transfer is possible without detriment to the patient. No dependent will be evacuated to the continental United States who is not a citizen of the United States. Prior to evacuation, the medical treatment facility commander concerned in the case of foreign service personnel will obtain the concurrence of the nearest State Department, Agriculture Department, International Cooperation Administration, or the United States Information Agency office or installation (whichever is applicable). In the event the nearest office or installation referred to above is not the office of employment of the foreign service persons, the nearest office or installation will obtain the necessary concurrence from the foreign service person's superior.

(m) United States Soldiers' Home. Members of the United States Soldiers' Home within the continental United States.

(n) Applicants for enlistment and registrants. Applicants for enlistment and registrants while under military control whose physical fitness for military service cannot be determined without hospital study for a period not to exceed three days. In addition, applicants for enlistment who suffer acute illnesses and injuries while awaiting or undergoing enlistment processing at recruiting main stations or at Armed Forces Examining Stations may be furnished emergency medical care including hospitalization.

(o) Prisoners—(1) Prisoners of war and internees. Prisoners of war, persons interned by the Army, and other persons in military custody or confinement. Prosthetic devices, prosthetic dental appliances, and spectacles will be furnished prisoners of war as required by the Geneva Convention of 1929.

(2) Prisoners (punitive discharge executed) hospitalized beyond expiration date of sentence. Prisoners of Army and Air Force (punitive discharge executed) may be hospitalized beyond expiration date of sentence until disposition can be made to some other medical facility.

(p) Female personnel of the Armed Forces (separated)—(1) General. Female personnel of the Armed Forces separated under honorable conditions because of pregnancy, or who, although separated under honorable conditions for reasons other than pregnancy, are shown by the record of terminal physical examination to have been pregnant at the time of separation.

(2) Application. Female personnel of the Army who desire maternity care will request it in writing at the time of their separation. Requests will be addressed through the commanding officer of the installation where separation is accomplished to the surgeon of the Army area in which they plan to live following separation. Requests will include forwarding address and a copy of separation orders. The indorsement by the commanding officer of the installation, where separation is accomplished, will indicate eligibility for maternity care and any pertinent data as to status of pregnancy.

(3) Extent. The extent of maternity care for female personnel referred to in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph includes prenatal care, hospitalization, confinement, and postnatal care either in a hospital or as an outpatient for 6 weeks following delivery.

(4) Newborn infants. No charge is made for newborn infant patients while the mother is a patient in the medical treatment facility. In those cases where the mother is discharged from the medical treatment facility and it is necessary for the infant to remain as a patient or where the infant is readmitted as an individual patient, charges will be made at the rates prescribed for the mother in each case. If newborn infant patients require medical care subsequent to the postnatal 6 weeks' period, disposition will be made to private, welfare, State, or Federal agencies.

(q) Individuals requiring medical evaluation. Individuals who require medical evaluation in connection with consideration of their case by the Army Board for Correction of Military Records.

(r) Season (not beneficiaries of the Bureau of Employees' Compensation). Civilian seamen in the service of vessels operated by the Department of the Army or the Military Sea Transportation Service listed in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, are still in the service of a vessel, although not on board and not engaged in their duties, as long as they are under the power and jurisdiction of competent Department of the Army or Military Sea Transportation Service authorities. Cases of traumatic injury or occupational disease incurred in the course of employment should be treated as Bureau of Employees' Compensation beneficiaries.

(1) Civilian seamen in the service of vessels operated by the Department of the Army. For a reasonable time. Those entitled to care by the Public Health Service will be furnished medical care only when facilities of that service are not available except in emergencies. Authorization for such care will be granted upon presentation of a certificate from master or other appropriate administrative authority which may be dispensed with only in emergencies.

(2) Civilian seamen in the service of vessels operated by the Military Sea Transportation Service. For a reasonable time. Those entitled to care by the Public Health Service will be furnished medical care only when facilities of that service or Naval facilities are not available except in emergencies. Authorization for such care will be granted upon presentation by the seaman concerned of a duly executed Bureau of Employees' Compensation Form CA–16 (Request for Treatment of Injury Under the United States Employees' Compensation Act). In cases where immediate treatment is required and the employee concerned does not have the required Form CA–16, the nearest Military Sea Transportation Service command will be requested to submit a duly executed Form CA–16.

(3) American seamen. American seamen to include both officers and members of the crew outside the United States, its Territories, possessions, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. This category includes seamen aboard ships of United States Registry such as those aboard Department of Defense time-chartered vessels of commercial operators; those aboard time-chartered vessels other than time-chartered vessels referred to above in emergency to save life or prevent undue suffering; and those on privately owned and operated vessels. A seaman, whose condition would require retention in an Army medical treatment facility for a prolonged period of time may be evacuated through Army medical evacuation channels as soon as transfer without detriment to the patient is possible, when lack of transportation facilities prevents evacuation through the local ship's agent. No seamen in the service of a vessel of foreign registry will be evacuated to the continental United States.

(s) Nationals of foreign governments, excluding specific categories of Canadian personnel listed in paragraph (t) of this section. (1) Nationals of foreign governments within the continental United States to include the following:

(i) Foreign military personnel in the attaché system carried on the current "Diplomatic List" (Blue), published by the State Department.

(iii) Foreign military personnel on duty in the United States at the invitation of the Secretary of Defense or one of the military departments.

(iv) Foreign military personnel accredited to joint United States defense boards or commissions, or assigned to full-time duty with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization when stationed in the United States.

(v) Military Assistance Program (MAP) trainees assigned or attached to United States military units within the continental United States for training.

(vi) Civilian Mutual Assistance Program (MAP) trainees assigned or attached to United States military units within the continental United States for training.

(vii) Dependents of personnel listed above when they are residing with their principals, except dependents of civilian MAP trainees.

(viii) Foreign personnel covered in agreements entered into by the Secretary of Defense or one of the military departments to include but not limited to United Nations Force personnel of foreign governments who provide military assistance to the United Nations effort in Korea.

(2) The following policies will govern the furnishing of medical care to nationals of foreign governments (hereinafter referred to as foreign personnel):

(i) Inpatient care will be limited to cases which, in the judgment of the commanding officer of the medical treatment facility concerned will be benefited by hospitalization for a reasonable time but not in excess of 90 days. Those patients requiring merely domiciliary care or suffering from chronic conditions (e. g., tuberculosis, mental diseases, degenerative neurological diseases), will be admitted only in case of extreme necessity, where such admissions will save life or prevent undue suffering.

(ii) MAP trainees who have been selected by their country for training in the United States are presumed to be in good physical condition and free from communicable diseases as a prerequisite to selection. If upon arrival in the United States, it is discovered that the trainee cannot qualify for training by reason of physical and/or mental disability, and will require more than nominal medical treatment before entering training, the trainee will be returned to his country immediately or as soon thereafter as his condition permits travel. When the trainee is disabled after starting his training, and, in the opinion of the commanding officer of the medical treatment facility concerned in consultation with the commanding officer of the training facility concerned, such disability will prevent continuation of the training for a period in excess of 90 days, the trainee will be returned to his home country as soon as his condition permits travel.
